Take Care of Yourself.
DODD'S NERVINE is a PURE TONIC,—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE,—gives increased energy to the STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS and other viscera,—and SUPPLIES FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. IT OPERATES SOOTHINGLY,—is as PLEASANT TO TAKE as any wine,—and with SLEEP and GOOD DIGESTION, which IT PROMOTES, RESTORES the afflicted to SOUND HEALTH OF BODY, and to QUIETNESS OF MIND. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatsoever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative powers. See pamphlet accompanying each bottle.
Some folks can't get Sleep Nights,
Dodd's Nervine is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that GOOD SLEEP is better than all medicines.
LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.
The Nervine is also one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. See pamphlet.
Children's Diseases.
For WHOOPING COUGH Dodd's Nervine is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in MEASLES, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. See recommendations in pamphlet. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no opium in any form.
Be Careful what Medicines you take.
Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to the nervous health and are ALWAYS followed by depressing REACTION. The strength that Dodd's Nervine gives is the STRENGTH OF HEALTH and COMES TO STAY. Beware of the whiskey preparations that have laid the foundations of so many habits of intemperance. Whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise, let the villainous compounds alone. Better die of honest disease than be burnt up by the fires of alcohol. For the ingredients that compose Dodd's Nervine see pamphlet on each bottle. For sale by Druggists and Country Stores. THURSDAY, MARCH 3, 1870.

VOTERS IN MASSACHUSETTS.—By a late official returns, it appears that "The whole number of legal voters last year was 262,120, and of these 112,632 paid only a poll tax." On these facts a coppery exchange remarks:—

"Of course, nearly all of the latter are laboring men, who are dependent upon their daily labor for the daily support of their families. These men are not allowed to vote unless they have paid their poll tax."

Neither these men, nor any other men, are allowed to vote in that State, unless they have paid their full tax, whether great or small. The same paper adds these remarks:—

'The whole number of votes cast at the last election in that State was about 137,000, or less than the number of those who pay more than a poll-tax. From this we can form some idea of the influence of laboring men in the management of public affairs in that State, and we can also see from it what they might do if they were allowed to exercise their right of suffrage, and would unite in a resolute purpose to reform existing abuses.'

If any reader should infer from these statements, that all the men, who don't vote in Massachusetts are only Poll Tax men,—he would deceive himself very grossly. Thousands of them are men of property, and many of large property.

It is meanly intimated, in the last extract, that laborers are not allowed their suffrage, — but it is false, — for they can vote, and those of them who pay a poll tax generally do so. Those who do not choose to pay it, are never troubled with a suit: they only stay away from the polls, which they have the right to do, if they please.

SAN FRANCISCO BAY VIEWS.—No. 5. From the top of Taylor and California streets, we obtain a panorama of landscape scenery combined with water, so enchanting that I would almost challenge the world to produce its equal. Three-fourths of the city falls like drapery from the various elevations, and spreads out before us like a map. The more dense blocks give way here and there, showing green spots, until the streets are lost in the surrounding hills. Synagogues, churches, halls, public buildings of almost every variety greet the eye as it wanders among the network in search for noted objects. Hark! list a moment, and catch on the morning air the busy hum of a bustling city. The smoke from ten thousand fires is curling up lazily from the chimney tops, and to the left we see the smoke and steam from forge and boiler ascending in a perfect cloud, obscuring Goat Island from view. Above this we look and see the rolling hills stretch away, overlapping each other in graceful folds, running hither and thither as though seeking to find some fitting place to lie down in repose, in some happy valley. So we shall ever find them, always there, for nature has done her work well.

Just over and beyond the hills to the westward, a thin gauzy vapor from the ocean is rising, but the sun will soon scatter this. Looking down the bay we see the jutting points, the hollows and rounds where the bay finds its way into bay-views, into quiet little nooks where the ducks love to wander, and where the decoys are waiting for them. Further on, as far as the eye can reach, is a long, low beach, near where the Shell Park Race-course is located; beyond this we cannot see this morning, as a haze shuts down over the view; and there the bay looks like an interminable sea.

Sunshine and shadow render the hills, with their furrowed sides, more bold, for while the deep shade rounds their forms, the light raises the object up to prominence. The verdure by the same rule is varied, for in the deep gorges it is dark almost to blackness, and as it comes up to the sunlight the color brightens, until the pure emerald is seen, in the patches of wild oats on the hill sides. And higher up, on the more bleak parts, it is brownish, from the earth shade blending in the stunted growth of the wild cereal.

It is now eventide, and the pleasure yachts are gliding out from the wharves, the breeze just filling their white sails sufficiently to make them glide lazily along. Little boats are rowing about, seeming mere specks as compared with the ships at anchor, or moored off South Point.

With this I will close the hill-side views, as I would not weary you with too much detail. But any one who can afford a few days' trip to this city, will be amply repaid for the trouble and expense by the beauty and magnificence of our scenery. My next will be concerning our bay defences.

LOSS OF THE ONEIDA.—56 persons saved—no officers saved except the surgeon—complete list of the saved. American vessel of war Oneida, which left Yokohama on the 23d January, on her homeward voyage, left her anchorage about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and the accident occured at 7 o'clock on the same evening. As the Oneida steamed out of the harbor, the crews of the various vessels and the men at work in the forts, gave cheers and wished her a happy voyage. On passing out of the harbor, her fires were banked and steam blown off.

While the officers were at dinner, at about 7 o'clock, the look-out man shouted, "Steamer's lights ahead," and a midshipman gave the order to port her helm. Everything seemed quiet on board of the other steamer. This leads to the belief that she had not observed the Oneida, although her lights were burning brightly. The steamer, which proved to be the Bombay, of the Peninsular and Oriental line, came right on and struck the Oneida on the starboard, abaft the gangway, about half-way between the main and mizen rigging. A hole was cut through her, by which the whole interior of the ship was rendered visible. The binnacle, wheel and rudder were carried away, and two men standing at the wheel were instantly killed.

The Bombay did not stop after crushing through the Oneida, though the guns of the latter, which happened to be loaded, were almost instantly fired to attract her attention and bring her back. Orders were given to lower the boats, but only one life-boat was available, the others having been crushed. The life-boat was manned by Dr. Stoddart, the boatswain, and fifteen of the crew. Five guns were fired, but before the sixth could be discharged the Oneida sunk, it being within ten minutes after she was struck.

None of those saved saw a man or heard a voice on board the Bombay. They report that when it became evident that there was no hope of saving the ship, the officers gathered round Captain Williams, and he was heard to say that if the ship went down he would go with her. The life boat was obliged to leave the sinking ship to avoid being swamped.

After rowing about awhile, the crew of the life-boat seeing none of the crew floating, not one of the 160 who went down, unwillingly bent their boat's head landward, about five miles distant. On landing, the natives kindly treated them, and obtaining the assistance of guides they started to walk to Yokohama, which city they reached at daylight the next morning. The Bombay was immediately ordered to the scene of the wreck, and succeeded in saving 39 men who had got into the cutter, which floated when the ship went down.

Several other vessels, one with Minister De Long on board, proceeded to the scene of the disaster during the day, but no more lives were saved. The Japanese government sent boats and apparatus to search for the wreck, and, if necessary, to buoy the spot. The passengers on board of the Bombay were quite surprised when they heard of the calamity that had befallen the vessel they had struck, but declare that they neither heard any request from the Oneida to stay by them or minute guns fired. A naval court has been demanded by the captain of the Bombay. The officers and men of the Oneida numbered 176, only 56 of whom, including Dr. Stoddart and two junior officers, survived the disaster.

The following is a list of the saved:—Isaac J. Yates, master; James Stoddart, surgeon; Nicholas Anderson, acting boatswain; W. W. Crowinshield, captain's clerk; Wm. Anderson, Thos. Bigby, Wm. A Bennett, Henry Bennett, Michael Doyle, Wm. Britmey, Charles Brown, Pat Cunningham, F. J. Connolly, Robert F. Dyer, Henry Gerney, J. Green, James Auston, Wm. Holtz, Wm. Henry, John Danes, Isaac Jones, James Jordan, Geo. W. Kauffman, Wm. C. King, John Kelley, Thomas Lyon, James P. Long, John Long, James McDonald, Edward Mulvell, Philips McDonald, Michael C. Hale, Michael McNulty, Peter Norman, Robert F. Bard, Washington Postley, Charles Regan, Edward Reilley, Wm. Roach, John Rushby, Albert Rugert, John Sweney, Peter Smith, Henry Saunders, Thomas Stevenson, Abraham Stoblhoff, Patrick Frahay, Thomas Speers, John Squires, James Stanley, William Taylor, Wm. Tinker, Edward Tate, William Tryol, Henry Neil, Christian Yarger, and five Chinese boys.

The latest accounts say that the Oneida's guns were heard at Yokohama, 20 miles from the scene of the disaster, and that the feeling against Capt. Enge, of the Bombay, is terrible; as he could not but have heard the guns and cries, and might have easily rescued nearly all the drowning men. He did not even report the disaster on his arrival in Yokohama. It is also reported that the Oneida was short of boats before the accident, having lost several previously in a typhoon.

The Temperance Mass Meeting at Dover City Hall, Monday evening, drew a large audience, two-thirds of which were ladies. Nearly all of the clergymen participated in the talk, and no two agreed on any well settled policy or mode of action.

Israel B. Brown of Barrington is the name of a man who has done considerable "hefty" work in his day. Though born in Strafford, he lived some forty years in Maine, and in that time built with his own hands, which must be tolerably tough, twelve thousand rods of stone wall, stoned a hundred and eight cellars and fifty wells, besided doing a lot of light work, such as laying bridges, abutments and blasting and spliting stone. On a wager of $100, one time, this busy little Israel B. built in one day, alone and unaided, eight rods of stone wall five feet thick at the bottom, four feet at the top and four feet high.

An employee of the B. & M. R. R., had business to Great Falls, a short time since, and offered to pay his fare on the P., G. F. & C. R. R., when he was informed that he was entitled to a free ride, as he was a Railroad man. In the afternoon of the same day, business called him to Dover; and he was compelled to pay his fare both ways, notwithstanding the fact that he was an employee of the road. Quite a contrast between the two roads.—Roch. Cour.

Miss Hannah L. Edgecomb, a young lady well known in Great Falls, died in the City Hospital, Boston, from the effects of an amputation of a leg.

Maj. Thomas L. Smith, a druggist, in Dover, was presented by Col. Geo. H. Pierce, in behalf of the honors, with a gold policebadge, valued at $25, appropriately inscribed. His new "beat" includes the corner of the street opposite his place of business.

STATE TEMPERANCE SOCIETY DEAD. Three years ago last November, at a State Temperance Convention, called for the purpose and largely attended, a State organization was effected. At the annual meeting two years ago the attendance was less, yet the meeting was a spirited one; and soon afterwards the Executive Committee put an Agent into the field, who lectured in various places during the year. At the annual meeting a year ago the attendance was very much smaller, but efforts were made to have the campaign for the year a vigorous one. The State was divided into some twenty districts, and an agent appointed in each, to lecture and get up temperance meetings in each town. Rev. E. Adams, of Concord, also became State Agent. Mr. A. visited some towns and lectured; but the district organizations amounted to next to nothing, in some districts two or three meetings being held and then the whole abandoned, while in some none were held. No annual meeting of the State Society has been held this winter, so we suppose the Society has died of Consumption. If it is not already buried it will be, and probably "without benefit of clergy."

This state of things is reproachful if not lamentable. If the work is a good one, why neglect it and suffer it to run down? Does the interest in the Temperance Political Party absorb and destroy the interest of a State organization? Only a part of the friends of temperance as yet are interested in the temperance political party. There has been a State Society and County Societies before, but all were allowed to die. There have been Temperance papers published in Concord, one in Exeter and one in Portsmouth; but all died after a short time. It is proposed now to publish one at Tilton, in the interest of the Temperance party. We hope if any more organizations of societies shall be had, or papers published, wise men will first sit down and count the cost, lest beginning to build and not being able to finish, all mock them.

TEMPERANCE FOREVER.

—A gentleman in Mayence lately gave a maid-servant the following "character:" "The bearer has been in my house a year—minus 11 months. During that time she has shown herself diligent—at the house door; frugal—in work; mindful—of herself; prompt—in excuses; friendly—towards men; faithful—to her lovers; and honest—when every thing has vanished." The services of this attractive creature ought to be in great request.

New Publications Received.

Since Every Saturday changed its form and appeared with illustrations, it has been more widely sought after. In March, the publishers announce they will begin in their journal Mr. Dickens' new story. It will be published in the pages of Every Saturday, simultaneously with the appearance of the novel in London.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alteratives and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Fever is present. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes softer and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating, that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

The Responsibilities of the Liver.

The liver has a very important part to perform in the animal economy. Its function is two-fold. The fluid which it secretes tempers the blood and regulates the bowels, and upon the quantity and quality of the secretion depends, in a great degree, the adaptation of the blood to the requirements of the system and the due removal of the refuse matter which remains in the intestines after the work of digestion has been accomplished.

One of the principal uses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to tone and control this somewhat unruly organ. The antibilious properties of the preparation are scarcely secondary to its virtues as a stomachic. Its operation upon the liver is not violent like that of mercury, but gradual and gentle. Instead of creating a sudden tumult in that sensitive gland, it regulates its action by degrees. Hence, it is a safe remedy for bilious disorders, while mercury, being a tremendous excitant, is not. The more naturally and quietly a diseased organ can be restored to its normal condition the better, and it is the peculiar property of the harmless vegetable alterative to reinforce and regulate without exciting or convulsing.

The success which has attended its use as a remedy for affections of the liver is proverbial. Persons of a bilious habit who take it habitually as a protection against the attacks to which they are constitutionally liable, pronounce it the best liver tonic in existence. The symptoms of an approaching fit of biliousness can hardly be mistaken. A pain in the right side or under the shoulder blades, a saffron tinge in the whites of the eyes, sick headache, a feeling of drowsiness, low spirits, loss of appetite, constipation and general debility are among the usual indications of a morbid condition of the liver, and as soon as they appear the Bitters should be resorted to in order to ward off more serious consequences.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chesistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Koeciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. In damp weather they are more frequent than in dry. These plasters give relief at once, and need to be always in the drawer, handy.

PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Allentown, Penn., April 4, 1865.

Messrs. T. Allcock & Co.

Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had been very lame in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly, JOHN V. N. HUNTER.

25,000 SOLD BY ONE DEALER.

Messrs. J. Balch & Son, of Providence, R. I., write, Nov. 1868: "We have sold the Porous Plasters for twenty years, and, at retail and jobbing, must have sold twenty-five thousand altogether. They are well liked. ja13dawlm

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was crazy, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

Price 50 cts. Sold by the Druggists, Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. ja13dawlm

☞ This (Thursday) evening is the last, we understand, of Mr. Durant's stay here. The church has been filled at the various services during the week, and will doubtless be so this evening. Much interest has been manifested.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—Seeing a small boy, apparently about 12 years of age, so intoxicated that he could hardly go, on Tuesday, suggested to my mind the following query: "Had he been partaking of that 'healthful beverage of which so much has been manufactured and sent abroad?'" TEMPERANCE.

☞ There is to be a Republican Meeting at the Temple, Saturday Evening, March 5th, at which Gen. James W. Nye, of Nevada, popular and eloquent, and one of the most effective speakers in America, will discuss the political questions at issue in New Hampshire. The Cornet Band will furnish music. Gallery reserved for ladies.

☞ The City Marshal has a list of nine dogs, against whom complaints of biting are made. Perhaps if the sufferers were the children of some of those who think it a hardship to pay a small license for the public welfare, it might change their opinion. Worthless dogs (not good, useful dogs) are a much greater tax on the community than on their owners, even when they pay the legal assessments; and it is estimated that their are 100 dogs "whom nobody owns," taxably in this city—and whom the new license law alone seems able to reach.

Any true man likes a good dog; and it would seem that most sensible persons will agree that there are too many valueless curs in the city, and that the growing nuisance needs abating. Every year the city is called upon to pay for sheep killed by (nobody's) dogs; and a very intimate friend of ours had more than a score of half grown chickens killed in his own premises by neighbors curs last year. And what right has any man to keep barking dogs to run after every passer-by, or to make night hideous, even if on their own ground? The good dogs are worth paying for—the bad curs we hope have had their day.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

GOSPORT, Isles of Shoals, Feb. 27.

Messrs. Editors:—Noticing in your issue of Feb. 12th, a quotation from the New York Nation, that the articles of Mrs. Thaxter in the Atlantic Monthly were giving universal satisfaction, I write that this is far from being the case at Star Island. No writing, either from male or female, has given such universal dissatisfaction, and caused so much indignation among the inhabitants, as those articles. The base caricatures of some of our worthy ancestors, in the January number, merits our condemnation. Yours truly, (in behalf of Star Island,) A RESIDENT NATIVE.

THE ALARMING INCREASE OF WOMEN. The social-science philosophers of Great Britan are becoming alarmed. They have discovered that the disproportion between men and women is increasing so rapidly in that country as to threaten an overwhelming redundancy of the feminine gender. The statistics appall them. Out of every hundred women in Great Britain, above twenty years of age, it has been ascertained that fifty-seven are wives, thirteen widows, and thirty spinsters. Of a little under three million women between twenty and forty in England and Wales, one million two hundred and forty-eight were unmarried. The English philosophers recommend a wholesale hegira of females to the United States; but this would not help them much, as there is a large excess of women in this country. Massachusetts, with a population of twelve hundred thousand, had forty thousand more women than men at the taking of the last census.

Scraps.

The Neponset (Mass.) Dye Works were destroyed by fire, Wednesday, and seven women burned to death.

Steamship Golden City is lost—all hands saved.

Admiral Porter has been "blowing up" the Haytiens.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

PUBLIC LIBRARY.—Messrs. Editors:—In reference to an article on the above subject in one of your late papers, I send you the following extract from the second number of the "Old and New" magazine. Such an "Experiment Club" as is here described might, I think, be easily got up in Portsmouth, to which I would gladly do myself the honor to subscribe the first five dollars.

There is not a town of 5000 people in America, in which there are not 20 person who would gladly spend five dollars a year for books. Let these 20 form the Reading Club of the town—admit all applicants till the maximum of 30 members be reached. No matter if they have never heard of each other's names. Suppose there are 20 members. Let them pay five dollars each to a common Treasurer. Let him and the President be a Purchasing Committee. With $50 a year they can take ten of the best magazines. With $20 more they can buy one new book a week as the year goes by.

Arrange the names of the members of the club, in the order of their residences, on a printed list to be pasted on the cover of each book. Then you will start with ten magazines and ten books. Let each subscriber have one. At the end of the week let him pass it to the person next him on the list, and receive one from the person above him. With every week a new one is put in circulation. With every month ten new magazines are put in. Every family of the 20 is at its wit's end to keep up with the supply. The gentle moral suasion which compels the reader to finish in a week his well-filled "Galaxy," or "Old and New," is itself a sufficient stimulus.

When the year is ended, sell your books and magazines to the members of the Club. That will give you some 40 or 50 dollars to add to the next year's subscription. This system * * ought to be tried. It has been developed in England to such an extent, that central London establishments are carried on on a gigantic scale, merely in the business of feeding these local clubs, and such individuals as avail themselves of the same machinery. No other system can so effectually supply the want of a well-conducted Public Library.

Yours, PROVIDENCE.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle Office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle. ☞ Subscriptions may commence any time.

☞ Hon. James W. Nye, U. S. Senator from Nevada, will address the Republicans of Portsmouth and vicinity at the Temple, Saturday evening, March 5.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.—When the blood is well supplied with its iron element, we feel vigorous and full of animation. It is an insufficiency of this vital element that makes us feel weak and low-spirited; in such cases, the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron) can supply this deficiency, and its use will invigorate us wonderfully.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, assures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 153 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the LOAN have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only to the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.

P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. f22dlw3m

THE ISLES OF SHOALS.

GOSPORT.—The following article on this noted place, was furnished by Rev. Lucius Alden of Newcastle, and published in a valuable book called The New Hampshire Churches, which was issued in 1856:

Gosport is a small town of 102 inhabitants, on the Isles of Shoals, which are seven in number, chiefly in New Hampshire, but partly in Maine, and situated about 10 miles S. S. East from Portsmouth harbor in the open sea; composed of ledges of rock of granite, slate, gneiss and green stone, with but little soil fit for cultivation. They were discovered in 1614, by the celebrated navigator Captain John Smith, who published the first map and chart of New England and its coast. He gave them his own name, which, however, has not been retained. They were settled at an early period for the purpose of pursuing the fisheries, and as affording a secure retreat from the incursions of the Indians. Business was here prosperous. And here the elder Wm. Pepperell, father of the illustrious Baronet, laid the foundation of his ample fortune. Besides the fisheries, there were, in after times, salt works, a wind mill and an entensive rope walk. Previous to the war of the Revolution, there were from 300 to 600 inhabitants.

A Meeting-house was erected previous to 1641, on Farm Island, now the site of the Appledore House, a place of popular resort in the warm season. The first minister was Rev. Joseph Hull from England. He was settled in Weymouth, Mass., in 1635, and labored in the ministry at the Isles of Shoals after 1639. He was succeeded by Rev. John Brock from Shadbrook, England. He was born in 1620, graduated at Harvard College, 1645. He remained here from 1646 to 1649, when he was settled in South Reading, Mass. where he died June 18th, 1688. It was said of him, "He dwells as near to heaven as any man upon earth." The next minister was Rev. Samuel Belcher, a native of Ipswich, Mass. He graduated at Harvard College, 1659. He labored here sometime about 1672, and was settled in West Newbury, Mass. 1698, resigned in 1711, and died at Ipswich, March 10th, 1716, aged 74.

About this time a new Meeting-house, 48 ft. by 38, was built on Star Island. Previous to the close of the 17th century, Rev. Samuel Moody preached awhile here, as he had also in Newcastle. He was son of Rev. Joshua Moody of Portsmouth, and graduated at Harvard College 1689. Early relinquishing the cirical profession and assuming that of a military officer, he was commaner in an expedition against the Indians at the Eastward. In 1705 he was stationed at St. John's Fort, Newfoundland, and in 1709 at Casco. He corresponded with father Rale, French Catholic missionary at Norridgewock, and was repeatedly the organ of communications between the Indians and our Government during the war. He was finally located at Falmouth, now Portland, Me. and was regarded as the leader of the colony there. He died April 5th, 1729.

Rev. Joshua Moody supplied from 1707 to 1732. He was a native of Salisbury, Mass., and graduated at Harvard College 1707. He was employed as a teacher of youth, at Hampton, sometime previous to his death, which occurred at Newbury, Mass., 1768, at the age of 82.

He was followed by Rev. John Tucke, a native of Hampton. He was the first Pastor ordained at this place. Rev. Jabez Fitch of Portsmouth delivered a discourse, at his ordination, from Matt. 4: 19—"I will make you fishers of men." His salary was £110 per annum. To this was added £50 towards a house. He practiced medicine among the people of his charge, as was not unusual with ministers, at that period. "He was esteemed a good man and a devoted minister."

During his ministry, occurred a great Revival of Religion in New England. A convention of ministers was called to confer upon it, in July 1743, on the day succeeding the commencement. Rev. Mr. Tucke, being unable to attend, addressed a communication to that venerable assembly, from which the following is an extract: "Providence is now sending sickness into my family, so that I cannot be in Boston this week; I therefore send my thoughts in writing. I acknowledge the work, in this land, to be a blessed work of God; and I believe it is the duty of Christ's ministers to give an open, conjunct testimony unto it. We have a revival of religion among us. I beg your prayers for my family, my people and myself. I am, with all due regards, Your humble servant. Gosport, July 4th, 1743."

He departed this life Aug. 12th, 1773, aged 72. On the monument erected to his memory—a superb horizontal slab of freestone, at Star Island, is the following inscription: "Underneath are the remains of Rev. John Tucke, A. M. He graduated at Harvard College, A. D. 1723; was ordained here July 26., 1732; and died Aug. 12, 1773, aged 72. He was affable and polite in manners; amiable in disposition; of great piety and integrity; given to hospitality; well learned in history and geography, as well as general science; and a useful physician, both to the bodies and souls of his people. After his death, Rev. Jeremiah Shaw supplied till 1775, when most of the inhabitants were dispersed, in consequence of their exposure to the enemy, then invading the country—but a few families remaining here.

In the year 1800, the number of inhabitants was 120, in 15 families and occupying 11 houses. At this period, Hon. Dudley Tyng of Newburyport, in behalf of this people, solicited the aid of the Society for propagating the gospel among the Indians and others in North America; and an appropriation of $100 was made to sustain the preaching of the gospel. He also aided in building a Meeting-house 36 feet by 24, of stone, which was dedicated Nov. 14th, 1800.

Rev. Josiah Stephens was then employed in the ministry. He was a native of Killingworth, Ct. He had served in the Revolutionary War, was in the battle of Bennington; and is said to have maintained his habits of devotion amid the bustle of the camp. He deceased, July 2d, 1804. The following is the inscription on his monument: "In memory of Rev. Josiah Stephens, a faithful instructor of youth, and a pious minister of Jesus Christ, (supported on this Island by the Society for propagating the gospel) who died July 2d, 1804, aged 64 years. Likewise of Mrs. Susanna Stephens his beloved wife, who died December 10th, 1810." From the death of Mr. Stephens till 1824, there was only occasional preaching.

In 1822, a society of gentlemen, with a ladies' auxiliary society, was formed in Newburyport, for the religious instruction of the people of the Isles of Shoals, which supplied a teacher for about nine years; and also repaired the Meeting-house, the interior of which had been accidentally burned. In 1834 Rev. Samuel Sewall commenced preaching at Rye, where he had gone on business, March 15th, 1826, at the age of 61 years.

After the death of Rev. Mr. Sewall, the regular preaching of the gospel, by Congregational ministers, was suspended. Since that period, several ministers of various denominations have labored here, at different times. Rev. Origin Smith was stationed here, and labored very successfully, till he was obliged to leave from the impaired state of his health. Others have followed him in the ministry, viz: Rev. Messrs. Hall, Blodgett, Sumner, Eastman and Mason. The latter, after two years of very useful and acceptable services, from 1853, has now left, finding a change of clime essential to his health—having in a high degree secured the esteem and respect of the people here and of their benefactors abroad.

The Society for propagating the gospel, have again for several years past, afforded aid, appropriating from $150 to $250 per annum. Rev. A. P. Peabody, D. D., pastor of the South Church in Portsmouth, and a society of ladies there, have been active and persevering in their efforts for this people, their benefactions being liberal, frequent and long continued; among which may be mentioned the generous donation of $100 from Capt. Ichabod Goodwin, and the gratuitous supply of school and other valuable books, by the late venerable Dea. J. W. Foster.

As a benefactress of this people, it may be proper to mention the late Mrs. Jane Greenleaf, of Newburyport, concerning whom it is stated in her published memoirs: "There was one object, which she was specially and deeply interested in till her death,—this was the spiritual improvement of the people living on the Isles of Shoals. For the last thirty years of her life, she cordially co-operated with with those who sustained a mission there; and after she had entered on her 70th year, the principal care of providing ministers and teachers, and of raising funds for their support, was voluntarily assumed by herself, until her growing infirmities obliged her to relinquish it. In her journal, she often mentions receiving a few dollars for 'the Shoals' as a providential favor. These people were constantly remembered in her prayers; and much did she rejoice, when any report of their improvement reached her ears." On the 15th day of May, 1851, she fell asleep in Jesus—and with her own, these her spiritual "children arise up and call her blessed."

PRESIDENT GRANT'S LETTER TO MR. BOUTWELL.—During the revelations which followed the September gold panic, much reference was made to a letter addressed by the President to Secretary Boutwell, and left with Mr. Butterfield to be delivered to the Secretary on his return from Massachusetts to Washington about the middle of September. That letter was alleged to have been an endorsement of the Gould-Corbin theory of high gold. The letter is as follows:

NEW YORK CITY, Sept. 12.

Hon. G. S. Boutwell, Sec. Treasury:

Dear Sir—I leave here to-morrow morning for Western Pennsylvania, and will not reach Washington before the middle or last of next week. Had I known before making my arrangements for starting, that you would be in this city early next week, I would have remained to meet you. I am satisfied that on your arrival you will be met by the bulls and bears of Wall street, and probably by merchants also, to induce you to sell gold or pay the November interest in advance on the one side and to hold fast on the other. The fact is, a desperate struggle is now making and each party wants the Government to help them out. I write this letter to advise you of what I think you may expect, to put you on your guard. I think from the lights before me I would move on without change until the present struggle is over. If you want to write to me this week, my address will be Washington, Penn. I would like to hear your experience with the factions, at all events, if they give you time to write. No doubt you will have a better chance to write than I, for I have avoided a general discussion on the subject.

Yours truly. U. S. GRANT.

—A lady in Kansas, just from the East, the other day noticed an animal from the car window, and inquired of the pea-nut boy if it was a buffalo. The boy answered in a twinkling, 'the m's a mule.'

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Drawings, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on rejected application, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

TO FARMERS.—The rain that falls on the roof of a barn will water the cattle kept inside.

A smart woman with dry wood and soft water close at hand, has her work half done. Green wood cannot be burned. It is better to dry it by the heat of the summer sun, than in the stove.

Neighbors should combine and buy together a good horse-power, and then have their wood piles cut up with comfort and dispatch.

Farms soon run down that sell their hay. Mr. Mechi, the great English farmer, prefers that the products of his farm shall go to market on the foot.

Those who house their carts and wagons in Robin Hood's barn—all out doors—are often seen travelling to the blacksmith and wheelwright shop for repairs. The hubs of wheels are made of elm, a poor timber to bear exposure.

You had better not keep stock than allow their manure to be wasted. It must not burn and fire fang in great heaps, nor be washed away by water drenching from the eaves. The liquid portions should be absorbed by something, and the solid kept from heating and exposure.—N. E. Farmer.

CONCERNING HORSES.—To prevent balls of snow on horses'—let the hoof and fetlock be well cleaned, and then rub with soft soap previous to their going out in snowy weather. This will effectually prevent balls of snow from collecting on the foot; which will sometimes cause the animal to fall, and if not, makes his progress doubly toilsome.

For galls on horses' backs or necks—one of the most effective remedies known is an application of white lead moistened with milk. When milk is not at hand, common white lead paint will answer. If applied in the early stages of the injury, the cure is certain.

To cure scratches in horses, wash with strong soap suds, then with strong copperas water. Repeat twice a day until a cure is effected.

To test a horse's eyes, look at the eye carefully, when the horse is in rather a dark stable. Note the shape and size of the pupil, carry this carefully in your mind while you turn the horse about to a strong light. If the pupil contracts and appears much smaller than in the first instance, you may infer that the horse has a good eye; but if the pupil remains nearly the same size in both cases, his eyes are weak, and you had better have nothing to do with him.

An excellent liniment for wounds and bruises, sprains and swelling may be made as follows: A pint of good vinegar, a pint of soft soap, a handful of salt, and a table-spoonful of saltpetre. Mix thoroughly, in a bottle for use. This is very efficacious, and is cheaply and easily prepared.—Western Stock Company.

THE PIANO used at the concert of the Lowell Choral Society, 22d. Feb., was an Orchestral Grand, kindly loaned by the makers, Messrs. Hallet, Davis & Co., Boston, and most capitally did it subserve the purpose for which it is designed. This instrument is a recent and very great improvement upon the "concert grand," so called, and the case instead of being hollowed out on one side, is made nearly straight, so that both sides are alike. This gives one third more sounding board than has been before attained. The power of the instrument as shown in Huntington Hall, on the full accompaniment of the choruses, was immense and ample, while its equally delicate, sweet, liquid and yet brilliant tones, as displayed in the solo accompaniments, and the prompt response to the touch of the pianist, have never to our knowledge been surpassed. This instrument more completely supplied the place of an orchestra, and more fully sustained this great chorus, than we should have imagined possible. Messrs. Hallet, Davis & Co. have reached a point in the conception and manufacture of this instrument, in a great degree obviating what has been before deemed almost an absolutely necessity, viz: an orchestra for chorus purposes, which cannot fail to place this firm in the very front rank of piano-forte manufacturers in this country.—Lowell Courier.

TREES FOR HEALTH.—Mr. Elisur Wright in a recent article advocates the planting of trees in cities and their vicinity as essential to health. His position is that as trees purify the air, every dense population must have trees or they will die too fast. He gives many historical evidences of the purifying influence of absorbing atmospheric poison, and concludes by calling water-closets "the abomination of desolation." He is doubtless right in both respects; but trees it must be remembered should not be allowed to exclude light from our dwellings. Trees are useful, but an abundance of light is indispensable to health.

THE NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE.
DODD'S NERVINE,
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC,
And expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of
NERVOUS DISEASE, &c., &c.,

Coughs,	Neuralgia,	Female Weaknesses,
Colds,	Headache,	Painting Fits,
Fevers,	Convulsions,	Palpitation,
Agues,	Sleeplessness,	Restlessness,
Billiousness,	Dyspepsia,	Dizziness,
Constipation,	Liver Complaint,	Children's Troubles
Diarrhœa,	Consumption,	&c., &c., &c.

Take Care of Yourself.
DODD'S NEREVINE is a PURE TONIC,—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE,—gives increased energy to the STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS and other viscera,—and SUPPLIES FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. IT OPERATES SOOTHINGLY,—is as PLEASANT TO TAKE as any wine,—but with SLEEP and GOOD DIGESTION, which IT PROMOTES, RESTORES the afflicted to SOUND HEALTH OF BODY, and to QUIETNESS OF MIND. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatsoever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative powers. See pamphlet accompanying each bottle.
Some folks can't get Sleep Nights,
Dodd's Nervine is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that GOOD SLEEP is better than all medicines.
LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.
The Nervine is also one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. See pamphlet.
Children's Diseases.
For WHOOPING COUGH Dodd's Nervine is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in MEASLES, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. See recommendations in pamphlet. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no opium in any form.
Be Careful what Medicines you take.
Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to the nervous health and are ALWAYS followed by depressing REACTION. The strength that Dodd's Nervine gives is the STRENGTH OF HEALTH and COMES TO STAY. Beware of the whiskey preparations that have laid the foundations of so many habits of intemperance. Whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise, let the villainous compounds alone. Better die of honest disease than be burnt up by the fire of alcohol. For the ingredients that compose Dodd's Nervine see pamphlet on each bottle. For sale by Druggists and Country Stores. Price One Dollar. f17 4w

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, MARCH 4, 1870.

Mayor Putnam of Portland has been re-nominated at a citizens' meeting.

Ten deaths have ensued in consequence of a boiler explosion at Scranton, Pa. Twenty-five others were injured.

General Jordan has resigned as commander-in-chief of the Cuban army, and Bernabe Varrona has been appointed in his place.

More Cuban successes are reported.

Judge Strong of Pennsylvania has confirmed as Associate Judge of the Supreme Court.

Lewiston Republicans have failed at two meetings to agree on a candidate for Mayor.

[Miss Leclercq is Mr. Fechter's second wife.

John Bright is no better.

John G. Saxe fell on his arm and broke it.

Mr. Charles O'Conner, the eminent criminal lawyer in New York, is ill with the small-pox.

Mr. Wm. M. Shute of Boston, a well known hatter, died on Thursday, aged 66 years.

It is stated that Secretary Boutwell has advices from abroad which indicate his ability to fund several hundred millions at 5 per cent. and lower. The principal impediment to the prompt passage of the bill is the fact that at least fifty members of Congress have each a favorite plan of his own.

Senator Sumner is said to be preparing a speech in favor of reducing letter postage to one cent.

A Kentucky couple eloped on a handcar, the other day.

New Publications Received.

Beecher's Magazine, for March is a lively number of a good cheap magazine; monthly $1 per year.—American News Co., New York, agents.

Good Health, for March. This monthly is meeting with well deserved success. The publisher says, the success which has attended its publication, and placed it permanently among the Current Literature of the day, has made it necessary to remove the office of publication to No. 11 Bromfield Street, Boston, where, in future, all communications should be addressed to Alexander Moore.

The Lady's Friend for March, a beautiful steel engraving of Windsor Castle, the residence of Queen Victoria, is the opening embellishment.

New Hampshire Items.

Mrs. Mary Ann Hughes was arrested in Manchester on the 26th ult. for theft, and put in the third story of the City Hall. After midnight, she attempted to escape. Making a rope out of the bedclothes, she went out of a hole in the grated window about ten inches by twelve. After getting out her rope broke, and as she was a good sized woman she got banged and shaken up. It was a wonder that she wasn't killed.

On the night of the 27th ult. the waste works of Thomas L. Thorpe of Souhegan Village, (Merrimack,) was destroyed, with its machinery. Loss $5000; insured for $1500. The fire was occasioned by the dropping out of the lamp from the lantern of the watchman, on the floor of the mill.

On the evening of the 27th ult., several boys tried to escape from the third story of the Reform School, where they were confined, by tearing their bedclothes into ropes. A lad named Penny fell and broke both bones of his left arm. Such a noise ensued as warned the officers that something was wrong, and detection followed.

For the Chronicle.

The question of the Liquor Agency being disposed of, after eliciting much discussion, and affording great amusement to lovers of mathematical puzzles, it may interest some of your readers to try their skill on the following question, which actually occurred in Portsmouth in 1859.

A. was engaged in a manufacturing and mercantile business, with a stock of Merchandise valued at $700. B. entered as an equal partner with A. by paying into the firm $700 Cash. At the end of the year their books showed the following condition of the firm:—

A. had received from B. and from sales,	$7105.24
A. had paid out for merchandise, including the $700,	3971.22
B. had rec'd for sales, cash,	797.83
" " paid for mdse.,	112.41
Merchandise on hand,	2774.99
Bills Receivable,	652.84
Bills Payable,	2578.35

They propose to make a settlement of their affairs. If A. leaves the firm, what must he pay to B. in cash? If B. leaves the firm, what must he receive from A. in cash? If they remain together, how much must A. pay to B. in cash? **

MORE OF THE DOGS.—Our friend David Barker of Maine kindly sends us the rest of the Dog-gerel, which an invalid sister has copied from her scrap-book. This lady has not spoken above a whisper for fourteen years, and has been confined to her bed most of that time. We hope this "may serve to cheer her for a few moments, on her rough and cheerless passage to the Summer Land."

Mr. Barker has given original poetical readings in all sections of his own State, to universal acceptance; and we are glad to learn contemplates appearing in New Hampshire in that capacity another season. He is a lawyer by profession, and of course his special province it often is, "to make the worse appear the better reason"—hence his taking sides with "The Under Dog in the Fight."

We have before shown up "The Under Dog," the "Outside Dog," and "The Dog that goes in for the Right." We now add the rest of the family, although neither the licensed nor unlicensed dogs are mentioned (that is, poetically.)

THE UPPER DOG IN THE FIGHT.

BY JOHN SMITH.

The world likes success, and the mighty great [world
The peasant kicks and caresses the king;
I don't care a dime what other men say,
For this is the song to sing:—

The world gives applause to the man who succeeds,
And awards him honor and place,
So fill to the brim, and shout with strong lungs
To the rider that wins in the race.

The world hates the fool—the snivelling fool
Who soars but falls in his flight;
And talk as we please, we all hurrah
For the uppermost dog in the fight.

What right has a dog, the great world says,
To allow himself under at all?
He disgraces his race, and deserves to be killed,
To permit himself meanly to fall.

It might appease the world—the mighty great
And keep everything balanced right, [world,
Were there no upper dog and no under dog,
Could both be equal in the fight.

But for me I will shout with the strength of my lungs
Nor for cavilling fools will I stop,
For the dog of success, that glorious dog
Who looks sharp to keep up on top.

THE DOG THAT WON'T FIGHT AT ALL.

BY JOHN JONES.

I ask no applause from this mighty world,
As through it I'm jogging along,
Nor I don't care a copper what it says,
For this is my every-day song:

I love a good dog—a mighty good dog,
A dog that will always do right,
And will not stop with the quarrelsome dogs
That challenge him often to fight.

O, such is the dog to live in this world
With his ever quarrelsome race, [rows,
He minds his own business, and keeps out of
And he bears no mark of disgrace.

The world may call him a coward, and say
That his pluck they always shall doubt,
Unless he will fight with every low cur
That's growling and snapping about.

I don't care a cent, a "nary red" cent,
What others may say of his pluck,
They may call him a coward, a cowardly dog,
But he'll be the dog that's in luck.

Hurrah for the dog, the mighty good dog,
That to quarrel never will stop,
For he is the dog, if any such live,
That will always be found on top.

I never will shout for a quarrelsome dog
That wins in the fight or the fall,
But I'll shout for success as loud as I can,
To the dog that won't fight at all.

I will drink some ale, some cool Adam's ale,
(For I never drink any grog,)
And shout as loud as ever I can,
"Success to the peaceful dog."

We have also received the following, from another correspondent:

Dear Editors:—There seem to have been many barkers after the Dogs, but they appear to ignore the claims of The Noble Dog, and pass him without even a growl. Allow me, therefore, to put in a word for The Noble Dog.

Yours truly, C. G. C. C.

THE NOBLE DOGS.

BY C. G. C. C.

One sings of the Dog—of the "Under Dog
In the Fight," as he drives away:—
And stands for the dog unable to flog—
For the weakest one in the fray.

One chants for the Dog—for the "Outside Dog,"
That so dreads to receive a bite!
And is thus content to never repent
Of his failure to join in a fight.

One shouts for the Dog—for the "Upper Dog,"
That displays all his raging might;
Nor cares, save alone that he gets the bone,—
And no matter which has the right.

One praises the Dog—but, the Thoughtful Dog,
That avoids to engage the throng;
The dog that is brave, but never will rave
To defend what is right—by wrong!

And thus has poor Tray, in this joint display,
Found but little to cheer his life:
As all failed to sing and offerings bring
To the Dog in a noble strife!

But I'm for the Dogs—for the Noble Dogs!
Be they out of or in the "fight"—
For the faithful and true—the loyal ones too,
That will never forsake the Right!

For such shall, alone, at last get a bone,
And enjoy the rich feast so well—
Where hunger and need shall nevermore plead,
But abundance their kennel swell.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

PORTLAND, ME., Feb. 28.

Eds. Chronicle:—Last Thursday evening the Republicans nominated Hon. B. Kingsbury, Jr., for Mayor. Mr. K. is Judge of the Municipal Court, and is a sound man, excellent lawyer, square on the progressive movements of the day, and one whom the people delight to honor. He is a strong candidate. We hope he will be elected by a handsome majority.

We are surprised that you have so much to approve about Mayor Putnam. Mr. Putnam personally is a capital man and fine lawyer—but he is the candidate of the Falmouth Hotel liberal-liquor ring, the Democracy and the aristocracy. In your paper of the 24th ult., you remark "In trying to act impartially, he has made friends in the Republican ranks, and enemies among the fierce democracy." Mayor Putnam has not declined a nomination, only saying "No" a little easy, and "Yes" very loud.

A large mass of the Democracy are bitter against Putnam for preferring Republicans to Democrats, and for catering to the rich men.

The Falmouth-Hotel-Anti-Temperance-Conservative - Republican - Democratic-Portland-and- Ogdensburg - Railroad-Aristocracy-Ring is the one that is managing the city, and Mayor Putnam. The people insist upon no class distinction in politics. We think a warm contest is at hand, in which the issues will be Wealth vs. Masses, Liberal-rum vs. Stringent Temperance, True Republicanism vs. Mongrelism. If such is to be the case, then the masess will give the upper-crust a hard fight. SANCHO.

ALL MILITARY ORGANIZATIONS must have rank, and the staff of the navy,—the surgeons, who represent the medical profession, the engineers, who represent the vest iron, coal and machine interests, the paymasters, who represent the bankers and merchants,—demand that equality of rank which they are entitled to as citizens in the military service of their country, which will maintain the dignity of the professions and occupations which they represent, which harmonizes with the genius of our institutions, and works justly between the officers of the naval service. Is not one set of officers as loyal and intelligent as another?

Is not the head of the Navy, the Secretary, a civilian? Is a "staff" officer of seventy more dangerous to the service than his grandson in the "line," who may be an infant of twenty, and a second "executive," and who, by virtue of the received interpretation of "executive precedence," may refuse to allow his grandfather to visit his grandmother, or, indeed, to ask the only legal authority competent to grant such leave of absence? Ridiculous as this may seem, it illustrates the nature of the annoyance which the "staff" wish to destroy. Their appeal should receive the attention of the country and Congress.—Boston Advertiser.

A NEW NURSERY SONG.

Sippity sup, sippity sup,
Bread and milk in a china cup,
Bread and milk from a silver spoon,
Made of a piece of the silver moon!
Sippity sup, sippity sup.

Dippity dash, dippity dash,
Wash his face with a merry splash!
Polish it well with a towel fine,
O how his eyes and his cheeks will shine!
Dippity dash, dippity dash.

Rippity rip, rippity rip,
Untie his stringy with a pull and slip,
Down go his petticoats on the ground!
And away he dances round and round!
Rippity rip, rippity rip.

Trittery trot, trittery trot,
Off he goes to his pretty cot,
Where he falls asleep with a little song—
Where the angels watch over him all night,
Trittery trot, trittery trot.

PROPOSALS Will be received for 50 RedOak PILES, 25,000 4 inch Pine Wharf PLANK, For further particulars, apply to E. J. MARSHALL, 1w*26 Portsmouth Pier Counting Room.

An unknown schooner, (supposed to be a Rockland lime vessel,) ran on the east end of York Ledge early Thursday morning, bilged, and lays with her stern under water. Her sails are all set, mainsail half down. No men or boats on board. The naval tug Portfire went down to reconnoitre, Thursday.

Capt. John Gage died at Nashua, on the 26th ult., at the age of ninety-five years and four months.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alteratives and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Fever is present. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes softer and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating, that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

The Responsibilities of the Liver.

The liver has a very important part to perform in the animal economy. Its function is two-fold. The fluid which it secretes tempers the blood and regulates the bowels, and upon the quantity and quality of the secretion depends, in a great degree, the adaptation of the blood to the requirements of the system and the due removal of the refuse matter which remains in the intestines after the work of digestion has been accomplished.

One of the principal uses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to tone and control this somewhat unruly organ. The antibilious properties of the preparation are scarcely secondary to its virtues as a stomachic. Its operation upon the liver is not violent like that of mercury, but gradual and gentle. Instead of creating a sudden tumult in that sensitive gland, it regulates its action by degrees. Hence, it is a safe remedy for bilious disorders, while mercury, being a tremendous excitant, is not. The more naturally and quietly a diseased organ can be restored to its normal condition the better, and it is the peculiar property of this harmless vegetable alterative to reinforce and regulate without exciting or convulsing.

The success which has attended its use as a remedy for affections of the liver is proverbial. Persons of a bilious habit who take it habitually as a protection against the attacks to which they are constitutionally liable, pronounce it the best liver tonic in existence. The symptoms of an approaching fit of biliousness can hardly be mistaken. A pain in the right side or under the shoulder blades, a saffron tinge in the whites of the eyes, sick headache, a feeling of drowsiness, low spirits, loss of appetite, constipation and general debility are among the usual indications of a morbid condition of the liver, and as soon as they appear the Bitters should be resorted to in order to ward off more serious consequences.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which head is the basis. The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chemistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen PROF. CHILTON'S TESTIMONY.

Founded on a careful analysis, and certifying that Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye is not only a first-class article for changing the color of the hair, but ABSOLUTELY SAFE.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATION, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dying. TRY IT. ja13dawlm

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Koscziusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. ja13dawlm

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. In damp weather they are more frequent than in dry. These plasters give relief at once, and need to be always in the drawer, handy.

PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Allentown, Penn., April 4, 1865.

Messrs. T. Allcock & Co.

Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had a very bad pain in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly, JOHN V. N. HUNTER.

25,000 SOLD BY ONE DEALER.

Messrs. J. Balch & Son, of Providence, R. I., write, Nov. 1868: "We have sold the Porous Plasters for twenty years, and, at retail and jobbing, must have sold twenty-five thousand altogether. They are well liked. ja13dawlm

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see each accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

Price 50 cts. Sold by the Druggists. Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. ja13dawlm

TO STONE CONTRACTORS.

PROPOSALS for furnishing the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS. Sealed Proposals will be received at the Office of the Superintendent of Streets, City Hall, Boston, Mass., until March 17th, 1870, for supplying the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS during the year 1870. The blocks to be of the following dimensions, viz:—

Width, 3½ to 4½ in. Length, 6 to 8 in. Depth, 7 to 8 inches.

All the edges to be sharp and straight, forming right angles at their intersections both horizontally and vertically. The faces to be straight, split, and free from bunches or depressions.

Proposals to state the price per thousand blocks delivered on such wharf in the city proper, South and East Boston, as may be designated from time to time by the Superintendent of Streets. Also, the number of blocks which the proposer will deliver per month during the year. A sample of the blocks must accompany the proposal.

Proposals to be addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Proposals for furnishing City of Boston with Stone Paving-Blocks."

The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals. GEO. O. CARPENTER, 1tmh2 Chairman Committee on Paving. Boston, Mass., March 1st, 1870.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements to-day.

House to Let—Aaron Akerman.
Illinois Township Bonds—J. F. Shores, Jr.

☞ In the Board of Aldermen, Thursday Evening, (full Board) the Com. on Printing reported that there was no Report from the third School District, and recommended that all the Reports of the School Committees be printed when the 3d Dist. Com. shall make their report to the Board.

The Com. on Court House reported that the proposed improvements on the Court House, (painting and repairing outside and in, cutting large doors in basement, and building coal-shed in yard and removing fence,) will cost about $400. Voted that the Com. on City Lands and Buildings cause said work to be done.

Wm. Plaisted asked for use of 2d Ward Room for Spiritual meetings; and Rev. Mr. Harmon for use of 3d Ward Room for Mission School. Both referred to Com. on City Lands and Buildings.

A resolution to consider putting a new roof on the brick market, and otherwise improve the outside, was laid on table.

The Treasurer of the Ports. Sav. Bank gave notice that he claims the coupons on City Bonds in gold, and received greenbacks under protest. Amt. $842.

Mr. Hackett, Atty, for petitioners for the Summer St., extension, notified the Board that he had been requested to take legal measures to procure the building of said road. Laid on table for one week.

The petition of Mr. Hammond, for damages for land taken for Freeman's Point Road, deferred for another week.

The Joint Com. on School Houses were authorized to obtain the refusal of suitable lots for a new Primary School near the Creek. There are different opinions whether to locate it on Islington St., Creek St., or on the city's present lot corner of Madison and Middle Sts., but there are now 75 children needing accommodations north of the railroads.

☞ Hon. T. L. Tullock has the sympathy of all in his bereavement by the loss of his only child, who was the Paymaster on board the fated ship Oneida. T. L. Tullock jr. was a native of this city, and had just written his father at Washington, under date Jan. 23d, that the home pennant was hoisted, and farewells made with friends there; but alas! that devoted band have gone to their long home, and their farewells were final. Mr. Barstow was also well and favorably known in this city, and we believe was married to a Massachusetts lady but three days before he started on this voyage.

☞ Mr. Daniel S. Holt of Manchester, Chairman of the State Central Committee of the Labor League, made a very able speech at the Ward Room on State Street, Wednesday evening. He argued strongly against repudiation in any form and made a telling speech in favor of the rights of the workingmen of the country. The audience in attendance testified to their appreciation of his principles by generous applause. Mr. Holt spoke in Farmington, Thursday evening.

☞ The Democracy were to have a Pillsbury at the Temple, Thursday evening, to cheer their drooping spirits; not the New Hampshire Pillsbury, who has just left them in disgust, but a Maine Pillsbury imported for the occasion. The only thing suggestive about the down-easter is his name.

☞ Republican caucuses, this evening—at 7 o'clock in Wards Two and Three; at 7 1-2 o'clock in Ward One. In the second Ward there is but one member proposed for re-election, and he does not decline, notwithstanding outside reports. All the others have served their two years.

☞ Two hundred people attended the Democratic funeral services at the Temple, Thursday evening. The stage was encumbered with two persons and a score or more of empty chairs and settees. The "local" of the rebel hand organ brought up the rear behind the scenery.

☞ The President has nominated to the U. S. Senate, Chas. H. Lewis of Virginia, to be minister resident to Portugal; Commodore John A. Winslow, to be Admiral; Captains James H. Strong and James H. Frailey to be commodores.

☞ The lady who visited an invalid on a mission of love at No. 8 Hunking Street about a week ago, is earnestly desired to call again.

☞ It is reported that the U. S. S. Narragansett is to be fitted up immediately, to take the place of the Oneida.

HORTICULTURE.—John Rogers, Esq., Seedman and Florist at Kittery, has issued his "Descriptive Catalogue of Flower Seeds and New Plants," for 1870, which is worthy the attention of those interested in floriculture. He has greatly enlarged and improved his grounds during the past few years and they are now among the most attractive in New England. With an experience of nearly quarter of a century in the study and cultivation of the various kinds of plants, he is prepared to furnish those only of a reliable character and suc has are adapted to our New England climate.

His collection of roots, bulbs, and choice plants is very extensive, and can always be relied upon. We recently had the pleasure of visiting his green houses and were surprised at witnessing his extensive collection of choice and beautiful plants—many of them being exotics of rare beauty, and those of our readers who are lovers of flowers (and who is not?) should visit these green-houses and spend a brief period in viewing and examining the great variety of flowers there to be seen. The proprietor, Mr. Rogers, is au fait in all matters pertaining to floriculture, and has a cordial greeting for all.—Bid. Dem.

FINE CARRIAGES.—The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement in to-day's paper of Messrs. G. B. & S. W. Came, of Portsmouth. Having recently had the pleasure of going thro' the several departments of their Carriage and Sleigh Manufactory, we found it to be one of the most extensive and complete establishments of the kind in this section of the country; and from the style of workmanship and superior finish of their carriages and sleighs, we think they will vie with these of any similar one in New England.

Among the numerous orders they are now filling, we noticed a pony phæton for ex-Gov. Goodwin, and a light, two-seated carriage for Mr. H. R. Stoddard, of Portsmouth, which for elegance of design and beauty of finish can hardly be excelled. Those of our friends who intend purchasing carriages of any description the coming season, will do well to visit this well known establishment.—Biddeford Dem.

THE FEARNAUGHT HORSE STOCK is winning a good reputation. The old horse Fearnaught, sorrell, at Roxbury, has increased his service price to $150, and is limited to forty mares. His son Fearnaught Prince, black, at Stratham, serves at $50 still, we believe, and is a promising young horse. Mr. Brown, his owner, also has the only own brother to Fearnaught, a yearling stallion, brown, from which of course he expects great things; and the old dam is again in foal to Young Morrill, sire of both the Fearnaughts. This mare, a handsome, spirited bay, is 22 or 23 years old, and although heavy with foal, recently ran away with a sleigh, from striking her heels against the runner, and threw her veteran owner out, but fortunately without much damage to either. Fearnaught Junior, sorrell, five years old, owned by B. S. Wright of Boston, has won all the races he ever started in.

Mr. Nathaniel Wiggin of Greenland has the only horse of Fearnaught's get seven years old, we believe, a brown gelding.

☞ Mr. Trafton has decided to give his Promenade Concert on Thursday vening, March 17th.

☞ There is to be a Republican Meeting at the Temple, Saturday Evening, March 5th, at which Gen. James W. Nye, of Nevada, popular and eloquent, and one of the most effective speakers in America, will discuss the political questions at issue in New Hampshire. The Cornet Band will furnish music. Gallery reserved for ladies.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle Office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle. ☞ Subscriptions may commence any time.

IRON IN THE BLOOD.—When the blood is well supplied with its iron element, we feel vigorous and full of animation. It is an insufficiency of this vital element that makes us feel weak and low-spirited; in such cases, the Peruvian Syrup (a protoxide of iron) can supply this deficiency, and its use will invigorate us wonderfully.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
February 15th, 1870.
The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.
Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the
OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.
Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.
Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.
The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 153 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.
Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.
Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.
The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500, and $100.
They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or
The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or
The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.
The three classes will be known respectively as:
1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."
2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."
3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.
They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.
The interest is payable in MAY AND NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.
The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.
A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.
The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.
Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.
The present price is 90 and accrued interest.
A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.
Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.
P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.
☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. fmdawsm

REVOLUTIONARY ANECDOTES.

BRAD GREENE, OF PITTSFIELD, N. H. From many reminiscences concerning the early settlers of Pittsfield and adjoining towns, we select a homely sketch of Bradbury Greene, better known to old residents as "Brad Green." We never tire of the stories that have been reported to us of the revolutionary struggles of our ancestors, which combine all the witchery of romance and truth of history.

The Suncook Valley has abundant material to fill volumes of facts of this character, which will appear from time to time. But among the most adventurous characters was Bradbury Greene, who served through the war as a drummer. His life in the army was full of interesting events, and though he spent much of his life in relating incidents pertaining to his services in the army, they are mostly forgotten. Some, however, have been recollected, and are worthy, not only of a place in this humble sketch, but should find record in a more general history.

He was a young man full of fun and frolic, mother wit, music and adventure; and in those eventful times he had ample opportunity to gratify his roving propensities and display his versatile talents. He was an eye witness of the events which stand prominent in the revolutionary war, such as the battle of Bunker Hill, capture of Burgoyne and his army, execution of Maj. Andre, and more than all, at the capture of Lord Cornwallis. He was in several battles, but never wounded, though at one time a British bullet made a hole in his drum, much to his discomfiture and indignation.

At one time he was taken prisoner and kept as a body servant for a British officer. He was obliged to do the most menial services and to be ever ready at the officer's bidding. He had a brother who was a shoemaker in Boston, and at one time when blacking the officer's boots he espied his brother's name in them as maker. With his usual love of fun, he taunted the officer with stealing American boots and that of his own brother's make.

He was altogether too bright and active to be long retained in that situation, to do the menial labors required of him; and the officer thought so, and for fear he would attempt to run away, he obliged him to go without hat or coat. Brad knew enough to wait patiently till the right time came, but when it did come he was bound to show the British a lighter pair of heels than they were accustomed to see, even in Yankeedom.

One morning the officer sent him with a jug for milk; on his way he passed a large noble-looking horse, feeding by the roadside, and the thought flashed across his mind, "now is the time to run," and he was about to spring on him, when he happened to think there was no bridle or saddle, and the attempt would be rash and useless; but he thought of his garters; it was the work of an instant, he dropped his jug, whipped off his garters, tied them together, put them into the mouth of the horse, leaped upon his back and started. The horse proved to be as good as he looked, he ran as few horses could run, he seemed to catch the spirit and measured the distance between our young hero and the British, at a rate which rendered pursuit useless.

As usual, Brad was without hat or coat; but he road till night, when the horse voluntarily turned up to a farmer's door. The boys came out, and looking at the curious hatless and coatless stranger and then at the horse, ran back, opened the door and cried, "father, our horse has got home!" the farmer came out, and Brad asked if he could stay there that night. The farmer eyed him with suspicion, and said, "that is my horse, where did you get him?" Brad told his story to the farmer, who joyfully took him in and ministered to his wants. It seemed the horse had been stolen from this man by the British, and had now in this singular manner returned to the owner's door, bringing on his back and giving liberty to the young and daring Brad Green.

The next morning the farmer fitted him out with a hat, coat and the loan of another horse, and before night he was again within the lines of the American army.

This is one of the many incidents of this adventurous man. Another of a different character, though equally interesting, has been recollected. At the execution of Maj. Andre, Brad Green officiated as drum major, and tells the following story, which illustrates the power of music.

When Major Andre was marched from his place of confinement to the place of execution, escorted by a body of soldiers and officers, as he came in sight of the gallows he faltered and seemed for a time to lose his self-possession. He then asked that the band which was playing the dead march, would play some quicker tune, upon which they struck up "Charley over the water." He instantly caught the step and moved firmly on to the place of execution, and died like a brave soldier as he was.

On obtaining his discharge at the close of the war, Brad met with a beautiful girl in the State of New York, who being charmed with the romantic and adventurous spirit of our hero, was induced to join her fortunes with his. They were married, and coming with him to Pittsfield she was among the first to teach school at the village. They subsequently removed to the low house near the residence of Joshua Berry, late deceased, where she died, and where he continued to live till a short time before his death.

During the latter part of his life he drew a pension and lived comfortably. He became a professor of religion and was among the exhorters in the old Catamount meeting-house. But the habits contracted in the army would sometimes get the better of his profession; being conscious of this, he was accustomed to shout, "My dear brethren, I want you to do as old Brad says, and not as old Brad does!" He died at Gov. Seavey's, not far from his former residence, and was buried in the town burying-ground back of the town hall, where moulder the dust of several soldiers of the revolution and hundreds of the old residents of Pittsfield.—Pittsfield Times.

A GREAT COW.—The following account of an extraordinary cow, owned by Henry Saltonstall, Esq., and kept on his farm in West Peabody, Mass. is furnished by himself, and therefore may be relied upon as strictly accurate:

He bought her in 1861, of Thos. Motley of Jamaica Plains. She was then 2 years old. She is seven-eights Jersey and one-eigth Ayrshire, has the appearance of being a full bred Jersey, is very handsome, with all the marks of a large milker and weighs 950 pounds. She has always given an enormous quantity of milk, and it has always been difficult and sometimes impossible to dry her up for a few days before calving; but last year, as she was getting old, he determined no longer to defer keeping a record of her performances, which was the more easy as she ran sixteen months from calf to calf.

or more than six and a half tons of milk.

In July, on poor and dry pasture alone, this milk made twelve and a half pounds of butter a week, or a pound of butter from twelve quarts of milk. Her food was poor upland pasture, helped out for six weeks with green corn fodder, about a bushel of grain in all between grass and roots, and in winter dry hay and one peck of roots (carrots and mangolds) a day.

Subsequently to the above dates she gave in the rest of Total.

May, 1869,	31	do 19½	do	601	do
June, 1869,	30	do 17	do	510	do

A Total of 1,571 lbs.

In July we dried her by tying her up in the barn and feeding her with as little dry hay as we thought safe, and one pailful of water a day. She was milked for the last time July 28, after which she was turned out to grass till she calved again, August 14, 1869.

Thus, Mr. Editor, allowing the small quantity of 61 pounds for the first week in July, my cow Sybil gave me in fifteen months of continuous milking, fourteen thousand seven hundred pounds, or about seven thousand quarts of milk, being about fifteen and a half times her own weight. The average for the year was thirty-five and three-quarter pounds a day. Her milk was not measured every time it was weighed, but it is safe to say she gave seventeen quarts a day average for the year. Her greatest yield being sixty pounds, or nearly thirty quarts a day for several. For the fifteen months she gave an average of thirty-two and three quarter pounds or fifteen and a half quarts a day.

As for its quality, it will compare favorably with any cow but a pure Jersey; for though it is nothing great to make a pound of butter from twelve quarts of milk, as she did in July on poor food, still the product of twelve and a half pounds a week is not very often beaten, and as her flow of milk becomes less, its richness increases.

Such a cow as that is worth three or perhaps six common cows; and we publish this article in hopes of inducing some of our farmer readers to supply themselves with better bred and more profitable stock.

FARMING VS. TRADING.—The number of young men employed as salesmen and clerks in our City stores and offices who ever attain a competency, is very small indeed. You would scarcely believe that not ten in a hundred do more than barely support themselves, and make both ends of the year meet. Bright, hopeful and promising young men are daily leaving their fathers' farms and rushing into the cities, pleading for situations. This, too, when every one might be the lord of his own estate in five years from the day he reaches his manhood.—Exchange.

KEEP YOUR LAND GOOD.—We are apt to crop our land until the soil is exhausted or greatly reduced—indeed, crop it so long as any profit can be realized. This is very wrong; it is killing land; and its complete restoration thereafter is impossible. It can only be brought up to a profitable point by manure and labor; but never to original fertility, if that fertility was large.

The way is to seed down before the soil is reduced. Then there will be a better crop and a more certain crop. Land should be kept up. This is the great secret.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent issued, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the business of this large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

IN SORROW.

When thou art sorrowful, and cares around,
Crowd fast upon thee steps of happier days;
When thou believest brightest things can lend
The saddest echo to the gayest lays—
As men of old were fed with angel's food,
Go seek thy remedy in doing good.

When those to thee the dearest shall have died,
And each fresh day grows weary to thine eyes;
When every hope that others build upon,
Comes to thy senses with a sad surprise—
Take up the burden of another's grief;
Learn from another's pain thy woe's relief.

Mourners believe that sorrow may be bribed,
With tribute from the heart, not sighs nor tears
But nobler sacrifice—of helping hands,
Of cheering smiles, of sympathetic ears.
Oft have the saddest words the sweetest strain;
In angels' music let thy soul complain.

Then grief shall stand with half averted foot,
Upon the threshold of a brighter day;
And Hope shall take her sweetly by the hand,
And both kneel down with Faith to meekly pray.
Lifted from earth, Peace shall immortalize,
The heart that its own anguish purifies.

—Chambers' Journal.

RACE FOR A WIFE.—The difficulty of keeping asunder two young and loving hearts who have resolved to "beat as one," was illustrated in Hudson City, N. Y., on Sunday last. Miss Louisa Kempston, a beautiful and attractive girl, had inspired Adolphus Albertson, a young druggist, with a determination to win her or "pizen" himself with some of his own deadly drugs, and Louisa was willing to share his future fortune and fate.

But Louisa's father was stern and cruel, he did not like Adolphus or his drugs, and bade his daughter to take neither. Opposed by the cruel "parient," the young folks resolved to run away at the earliest opportunity. Louisa had packed up her clothing preparatory to her escape, which was to have been effected on Sunday the 6th inst.; but by some means the parents ascertained what she was about. They accused her and she confessed, adding that she would marry Albertson, in spite of them. Then they kept her imprisoned in their garret.

Albertson, however, was not to be foiled, and, with the aid of the friend at whose house they had frequently met, managed to get a line to Louisa, requesting her to keep a sharp look-out for a visit from him at any moment. Effecting an arrangement with two young men of the neighborhood, he took them at about daybreak, Sunday morning to the residence of Louisa's parents, and with a painter's ladder reached his affianced's prison.

It was the work of but a few seconds to help his Louisa down, but in getting out her trunk under excitement they lost their grip, and it fell with a crash on the pavement. Each, however, snatched an armful of clothing, and thus laden they dashed down the street and took refuge in a lager beer saloon.

The father, awakened by the noise, was soon in the street, and getting trail of their line of retreat by an article or two of the girl's clothing they had dropped, he pursued like a madman. At length he tracked them into the lager beer saloon, and thence the couple escaped through a rear door. Mr. Kempston, wide awake, made after them, and was joined by a friend, and Albertson's two friends also joined in the race. Down street they rushed, until Mr. Kempston was favored with a bird's eye view of the couple in the distance.

It was now a case of life or death. Kempston was closing on them, when one of Albertson's friends sprang in front of the old man and stumbled, upsetting the old fellow. The old man rose so badly buised by the fall that he gave up the chase and was helped home by his friend. The young couple escaped, and soon contrived to recover all the girl's clothing from the saloon where they had hidden it, and Sunday evening they were quietly married in Jersey City.

GERMAN VENTILATION.—The people in Berlin seem much opposed to ventilation, and will sleep in a room in which they have smoked the entire evening, without allowing any change of air to take place. A German lady told me that nothing could induce her to sleep with a window open. "Why!" she said, "it would be tempting Providence. I should expect nothing less than blindness." Another lady then said: "Oh, sometimes in the hot summer nights I have wished so much to open a window, but my husband would never allow it, and I myself should fear to lose my children if I allowed them to sleep with an open window."

I have seen only one ventilated building in Berlin: the elegant new Council House, which is the finest builing I have ever examined. I have been told that its construction has already occupied ten years, and that it may be as many more before the frescoes are completed. When I read, in American papers, of cities erected in as many months as this one building has already taken years, I see a portrait of the difference between the German and American nations. — *Cor. WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.
They are not a vile fancy drink. f17 4w

THE AMERICAN FAMILY
KNITTING MACHINE,
is presented to the public as the most Simple, Durable, and Compact and Cheap Knitting Machine ever invented.
PRICE ONLY, $25.
This Machine will run either backward or forward with equal facility; makes the same stitch as by hand, but far superior in every respect.
Will knit 20,000 Stitches in a minute,
and do perfect work, leaving every knot on the inside of the work. It will knit a pair of stockings (any size) in less than half an hour. It will knit Close or Open, plain or Ribbed work, with any kind of coarse or fine wooled yarn, or cotton, silk or linen. It will knit stockings with double heel and toe, drawers, hoods, socks, smoking Caps, comforts, purses, muffs, fringe, afghans, nubias, undersleeves, mittens, skating caps, lamp wicks, mats, cord, undershirts, shawls, jackets, cradle blankets, leggins, suspenders, wristers, tidies, tippets, tufted work, and in fact an endless variety of articles in every day use, as well as for ornament.
FROM $5 TO $10 PER DAY
Can be made by any one with the American Knitting Machine, knitting stockings, &c., while expert operators can even make more, knitting fancy work, which always commands a ready sale. A person can readily knit from twelve to fifteen pairs of stockings per day, the profit on which will be not less than forty cents per pair.
FARMERS
Can sell their wool at only forty to fifty cents per pound, but by getting the wool made into yarn at a small expense, and knitting it into socks, two or three dollars per pound may be realized. On receipt of $25 we will forward a machine as ordered.
We wish to procure active AGENTS in every section of the United States and Canadas, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered. Address,

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND BOTTLES PER ANNUM.
THE NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE.
DODD'S NERVINE,
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC,
And expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of
NERVOUS DISEASE, &c., &c.,
Coughs, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses, Colds, Headache, Fainting Fits, Fevers, Convulsions, Palpitation, Agues, Sleeplessness, Restlessness, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Constipation, Liver Complaint, Children's Troubles Diarrhœa, Consumption, &c., &c., &c.
Take Care of Yourself.
DODD'S NERVINE is a PURE TONIC,—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE,—gives increased energy to the STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS and other viscera,—and SUPPLIES FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It OPERATES SOOTHINGLY,—is as PLEASANT TO TAKE as any wine,—and with SLEEP and GOOD DIGESTION, which IT PROMOTES, RESTORES the afflicted to SOUND HEALTH OF BODY, and to QUIETNESS OF MIND. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatsoever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative powers. See pamphlet accompanying each bottle.
Some folks can't get Sleep Nights,
Dodd's Nervine is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that GOOD SLEEP is better than all medicines.
LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.
The Nervine is also one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. See pamphlet.
Children's Diseases.
For WHOOPING COUGH Dodd's Nervine is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in MEASLES, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. See recommendations in pamphlet. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no opium in any form.
Be Careful what Medicines you take.
Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to the nervous health and are ALWAYS followed by depressing REACTION. The strength that Dodd's Nervine gives is the STRENGTH OF HEALTH and COMES TO STAY. Beware of the whiskey preparations that have laid the foundations of so many habits of intemperance. Whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise, let the villainous compounds alone. Better die of honest disease than be burnt up by the fires of alcohol. For the ingredients that compose Dodd's Nervine see pamphlet on each bottle. For sale by Druggists and Country Stores. Price One Dollar. ff4w

Portsmouth, N. H.

SATURDAY, MARCH 5, 1870.

Nothing Much.

The impeachment of Auditor Wickliffe of Louisiana has resulted in his conviction on every article of the charges.

The brave commander of the ill-fated Oneida was a native of Castine, Maine.

Captain C. F. Hall proposed to make another search for a northwest passage. He intends to start with a 150 ton steam propeller, to be provided with sails. He will also have a topsail schooner of about 150 tons. His route will be into Jones' Sound, and thence by sea and land, as circumstances favor, to the pole. After taking his vessels as far as practicable, Captain Hall intends to use dogs and sledges.

The Alabama legislature has adjourned.

Women are employed on the police force of Constantinople.

Texas is out of school-teachers.

Gold, Friday, 113 1-4.

☞ When Gen. Grant was inaugurated as President, gold was 131 a 132. In one year it is down to 114 1-4. During the last year of Andy Johnson's administration, he received into the Treasury $368,000,000, and besides expending all this, incurred an additional debt of $6,000,000, making the total expenditures for the year $374,000,000. General Grant, in the first year of his administration, has gathered into the Treasury $394,000,000 instead of $368,000,000. General Grant's administration collected $26,000,000 more than during the last year of Johnson's administration; and reduced the public debt $87,000,000, whilst Johnson increased it $6,000,000, making an actual difference to the people of $66,000,000.

☞ We hope we are not dog-gedly obstinate, nor would we willingly be dis-cur-teous, or wish to bark up the wrong tree; but we have a scent which cannot well be shaken, that our dog-gish, wag-gish correspondents Barker and Collins, both belong to the same litter-ary circle—give the same paw; that the barkings of one are "the hair of the same dog" to the whinings of the other; in fact, that both puppies occupy the same kennel, or in other words, use the same pen—and oh, so pensively! We have no hesitation in taxing this upon this Bark-er,—for he is just the dog to do this thing—though he didn't get a clear license for it in this case. Bow, wow!

GETTING OUT FROM UNDER.—Matthew H. Taylor of Salem has declined the Labor Reform nomination for Senator in the Second District, and Rev. George M. Park of Gilford has declined the Temperance nomination for Commissioner of Belknap county. Both gentlemen have come out for Governor Stearns. Spurious Republican tickets are being circulated in Rockingham county, with the name of William H. Belknap for Register substituted for that of Folsom Dow, the Republican nominee.

☞ The great suit which has been before the courts so long for the settlement of the will of the late Miss Sylvia Ann Howland has come to an end by a mutual agreement of the parties to it. Mrs. Hetty H. (Robinson) Green consents to a disposal of the property in accordance with the terms of the will, and the expenses of both sides, amounting to $153,662 14 are to be paid out of the principal of the estate.

TEMPERANCE IN EARNEST.—Agreeably to a call issued by some of the prominent men of Barrington, a most enthusiastic and successful Temperance Meeting was held in the Congregational church on Thursday evening, 24th ult. Gilman Hall, Esq., was called to the chair, and opened the meeting with appropriate remarks, urging the importance of vigorous action in suppressing the traffic in intoxicating liquors. A large number of the citizens fearlessly committed themselves to the movement to suppress the traffic in the town, as will be seen by the following resolutions:

Resolved, That we whose names are here affixed do pledge our undeviating devotion to the cause of Temperance, and our determination to use all proper measures to suppress the traffic.

Resolved, That the sale of intoxicating liquor in the town of Barrington must be stopped.

Resolved, That no intoxicating liquor or cider be allowed on sale at the approaching election.

There were signed by the leading men of the town, and a committee of 7 was appointed to wait upon the dealers and inform them of the action of the citizens, and give the due notice to quit. This committee on the day following attended to their duty, and now woe be to him who is found transgressing the law. Measures will be taken to follow this action up.—Dover Eng.

THE DEMORALIZED DEMOCRACY DISAGREE.—Samuel B. Page, Chairman of the Democratic State Committee, is out with a card to "the faithful." He says:—

So far as the charges of infidelity to you on the part of your State Committee are concerned, they are false—those who make them know them to be false, and a moment's cool consideration on your part will convince you that they are false. Let any man who charges your Committee with infidelity to our cause, make his specifications, and we will meet him at any time and place, and prove that he is a foul liar and an arrant villain.

The charge made was that a majority of the Committee favored the substitution of the name of Flint, the Labor Reform candidate for Governor, in place of Bedel, Democrat.

The Concord Patriot of Thursday publishes an indignant protest against such action, from W. C. Sturoc of Sunapee, of which we give extracts, the italicising being our own.

I have received from the Secretary of the Democratic State Committee the package of Democratic votes for this town, accompanied by another bundle containing tickets whereon the name of Samuel Flint is substituted for that of our regular gubernatorial nominee, John Bedel. By the next mail I received a long letter of instruction and explanation, informing me that the State Committee had, by an almost unanimous vote, come to the conclusion that it was best to substitute Flint for Bedel, in view of matters to come up at the next session of the Legislature,—I mean the U. S. Senatorship.

Now it would make no difference to me if all the State Committee but myself should come to the conclusion to sell out the Democratic party. I should still be a minority of one on that Committee, to oppose any such miserable and degrading transaction. What right has any committee to trade off the votes of the honest Democratic yeomanry of New Hampshire in that style? Where did they get the power? In these days of rampant usurpation, would it not be well to watch within our own household? I do not deny that a state of things might be supposed, when, perhaps, in the case of the death of a candidate or his disability a few days before election, a substitution of another Democrat might be tolerated and ratified by the rank and file of honest voters; but acquiescence in a rotten bargain and sale of the kind now proposed, is not only insulting to the thirty-two thousand Granite Democrats, but it is casting a stigma upon the record of the Democratic party from which we shall not soon recover.

Comment, of course, is unnecessary. Sturoc and Page are (or were) leaders in the Democratic ranks, and now are at loggerheads. Page's bitter defence doesn't look like truth by the side of Sturoc's indignant letter.

New Hampshire Items.

"Prohibition Herald." A small but handsomely printed sheet, with the heading "Prohibition Herald" hails from the new town of Tilton. It is the advocate of prohibition, printed by C. F. Hill, and supposed to be edited by Rev. Dr. Barrows.

Joseph Noone & Son, of South Peterborough, annually make 100,000 pounds of wood into cloth. They also make, at their saw-mill, 8,000 boxes of clothes-pins a year. The firm employs 24 hands.

A gentleman in Salem named Burns, over 80 years of age, fractured his leg a short time since by losing his balance in an attempt to rise from his chair.

It is estimated, says the Coos Republican, that there are now held in the towns of Lancaster, Jefferson, Whitefield, Lunenburgh, Vt., and Dalton, at least 1,250 tons of starch. It is thought that the whole amount now held for sale in Coos County, reaches at least 2,000.

The town warrant and check list, posted for the annual March meeting in Sandown, was torn down and destroyed one night of the present week by some worthless villain. Suspicion rests heavily upon a certain person, and measures we understand, are being taken to bring him to justice.

At Brentwood, the house of John L. Gilman, near Crawley's Falls, was burned on Wednesday last, at about 10 o'clock, A. M.—The house was nearly new, and, we understand, not insured. Mr. Gilman is a poor man, nearly all his means being used in building this house. The cause of the fire was a defect in the chimney.—News Letter.

THE NEW COUNTIES.—The question is put to the voters of this county to answer next Tuesday—whether or no they will consent to the formation of the two new counties Monadnock and Amoskeag. The only answer we have from this section is, No. The good old county is well enough as it is, and a quite unwilling that any of its members should be set off from the family circle and do themselves the discredit of shirking their portion of the County debt, which would not be at all diminished by their removal.

—George Dixon of Michigan, who caused the death of his little son by ill-treatment, has been sent to prison for fifteen years. He expressed the opinion that the whole prosecution had been a conspiracy against him. He threw his little boy down and stamped upon his breast.

THE REIGN OF CRUELTY IN CUBA.—An Havana letter states that the Spaniards claimed to have captured correspondence showing that a Cuban Junta existed in Santiago. From forty to fifty persons—planters, merchants, lawyers, doctors, clerks, &c.—were at once arrested, and thirteen of the most prominent have been tried by a military commission, found guilty of disloyalty sentenced to death and executed. Senor Andres La Punti, the Grand Orient of the Free Masons of the Island, a very wealthy planter and a man unusually esteemed for his benevolence and fine abilities; Capt. Jose Villalongo, once an officer of the Spanish army; Don Jose M. Portondo, a planter, and two American citizens, Messrs. Charles Dumnery and John F. Portoundo, the first an American by birth and the second by naturalization, where among them. The Consul at Santiago reported the affair to the American Consul General at Havana, who has probably forwarded the facts to Washington.

The victims testified that they were members of a secret society, but that their association was a Masonic Lodge, and met only as Masons for Masonic purposes. This was only the worse for them, as the Catholic Priest denounced all Masons as traitors. Mr. Philips, Consul at Santiago, ably seconded by Mr. Ramsden, the British Consul, endeavored hard and long to save the lives of his two countrymen, Messrs. Dumnery and Portondo, but without success. The volunteers insisted upon their life blood being shed as well as that of their eleven Cuban associates, and thwarted all appeals made to the Lieut. Governor of the district to spare them. The two Americans were Free Masons, and therefore were sacrificed to Spanish intolerance and fanaticism.

Forty more were arrested, but were not executed at the time the above were shot, but probably have been. Consul Philips has asked that an American man-of-war be sent there, and the British Consul has also sent for a frigate. The excitement at Santiago was very great. A ship carpenter named Frederic Jordan, a British subject, had also been murdered by the volunteers at Santiago.

It is stated that the Cuban General Quesada, before being suspended by General Jordan, shot one hundred and thirty-five Spaniards, and subsequently General Jordan shot three hundred men in retaliation for the terrible murders of Cuban families and Cuban prisoners by the Spaniards.

An expedition safely landed at Covar Rubbias, near Las Tunas, with 1500 rifles, 300,000 cartridges and a ton and a half of powder for the Cubans.

The Americans at Havana and throughout the Island are alarmed at the position taken by the Captain General with the volunteers, and many are leaving.

YORK COUNTY.—Col. Luther Junkkins of York has recently started for the South on a business tour. He will go as far as Georgia, and be absent several weeks.

Mr. Abram Haley was found dead in his bed at Saco, on Sunday. Cause apoplexy. Deceased was about 55 years of age, and held the office of Deputy Sheriff in York County for many years.

Mr. C. H. Bragdon, of Biddeford, furnished a block of granite for the Lincoln monument at Springfield, Ill., which was 27 feet long and 25 feet deep, and only 30 lbs. of powder was used to take it out. This is probably the largest block of granite ever taken out, in that city. It will be taken to Quincy and finished, and thence to Springfield.

New Publications Received.

In its new form, Merry's Museum is not excelled by any of the Magazines for the young; and the March number, handsomely illustrated, is fully up to mark. At $1.50 a year, the Museum is one of the cheapest of the first-class illustrated magazines, but the publisher offers to do still better. For twenty-five cents he will send as samples the first three numbers of the current volume. Address Horace B. Fuller, 14 Bromfield St., Boston.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alteratives and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Fever is present. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes softer and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating, that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

The Responsibilities of the Liver.

The liver has a very important part to perform in the animal economy. Its function is two-fold. The fluid which it secretes tempers the blood and regulates the bowels, and upon the quantity and quality of the secretion depends, in a great degree, the adaptation of the blood to the requirements of the system and the due removal of the refuse matter which remains in the intestines after the work of digestion has been accomplished.

One of the principal uses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to tone and control this somewhat unruly organ. The antibilious properties of the preparation are scarcely secondary to its virtues as a stomachic. Its operation upon the liver is not violent like that of mercury, but gradual and gentle. Instead of creating a sudden tumult in that sensitive gland, it regulates its action by degrees. Hence, it is a safe remedy for bilious disorders, while mercury, being a tremendous excitant, is not. The more naturally and quietly a diseased organ can be restored to its normal condition the better, and it is the peculiar property of this harmless vegetable alterative to reinforce and regulate without violence or convulsing.

The success which has attended its use as a remedy for affections of the liver is proverbial. Persons of a bilious habit who take it habitually as a protection against the attacks to which they are constitutionally liable, pronounce it the best liver tonic in existence. The symptoms of an approaching fit of biliousness can hardly be mistaken. A pain in the right side or under the shoulder blades, a saffron tinge in the whites of the eyes, sick headache, a feeling of drowsiness, low spirits, loss of appetite, constipation and general debility are among the usual indications of a morbid condition of the liver, and as soon as they appear the Bitters should be resorted to in order to ward off more serious consequences.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; removes the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautifully black or brown. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory 6 Bond Street, New York.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chemistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen PROF. CHILTON'S TESTIMONY.

Founded on a careful analysis, and certifying that Cristnadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye is not only a first-class article for changing the color of the hair, but ABSOLUTELY SAFE. CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATION, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT. ja13dawlm

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only satisfy but give perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. ja13dawlm

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. In damp weather they are more frequent than in dry. These plasters give relief at once, and need to be always in the drawer, handy.

PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Allentown, Penn., April 4, 1865.

Messrs. T. Allcock & Co.

Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had a very bad pain in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly, JOHN V. N. HUNTER.

25,000 SOLD BY ONE DEALER.

Messrs. J. Balch & Son, of Providence, R. I., write, Nov. 1868: "We have sold the Porous Plasters for twenty years, and, at retail and jobbing, must have sold twenty-five thousand altogether. They are well liked. ja13dawlm

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay them. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, and others asking me to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see each accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

Price 50 cts. Sold by the Druggists, Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. ja13dawlm

LOCAL AFFAIRS

New Advertisements to-day.

Variety Store—A. Jackson.
Removal China Tea Store—Ar-Shows & Co.
Lost—Gold Sleeve Button.

☞ The China Tea Men have taken the store on Market and Hanover Sts., recently occupied by Mr. G. V. Rowe, and announce good teas and coffees at the lowest prices.

☞ Mr. Hackett sells at noon to-day a part of the ship Merrimack at auction. The Merrimack has proved a good investment for her owners, and is under the management of an able and efficient merchant.

☞ The Mechanic Fire Society held their regular quarterly meeting for business and supper, at the Franklin House, Friday evening. Their first set-down with the new host, Mr. Fuller, gave good satisfaction.

☞ Mr. Durant's Revival Meetings will be continued the coming week in the North Church, commencing Sunday evening and closing Thursday evening. Apropos to this, we publish a new Catechism on our 4th page this morning, from a religious correspondent.

☞ Mr. Wendell announces a very large sale of the Furniture, &c., at the Rockingham House, commencing next Wednesday morning, March 9th.—Also sale of Billiard Tables, Bar Fixtures, and other saloon fixings, at the Piscataqua House, on Saturday noon, Mch. 12.

☞ The Rockingham House is closed for repairs, and will be refitted and refurnished, and opened again in a few weeks, by the new landlord, Mr. Jas. S. Peirce of the Sagamore House.

The Kearsarge House is to be enlarged by taking in the large room lately occupied as the China Tea Store.

REPUBLICAN RALLY.—U. S. Senator James W. Nye, of Nevada, will address the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, this (Saturday) evening, at 7 1-2 o'clock. Senator Nye is a very interesting speaker and will no doubt have a large audience. The gallery is reserved for the ladies. The Cornet Band will furnish music for the occasion.

THE REPUBLICAN CAUCUSES in the various wards of this city were largely attended, Friday evening, and a brisk contest resulted. As the next legislature is to choose an United States Senator for a term of six years from the fourth of March 1871, there was more interest taken in the contest than usual, and candidates for Representatives were plentiful.

In Ward One, 372 votes were thrown; a heavy vote. Nec. for a choice, 187. Horton D. Walker had 366; Isaiah Wilson, 351; John H. Locke, 219; John H. Slater, 210; John H. Cheever, 156; Wm. R. Martin, 161; scattering, 25—and Messrs. Walker, Wilson, Slater and Locke were nominated.

In Ward Two, there were more votes thrown than ever before at a caucus. Francis W. Ham had 354; Frank W. Miller, 184; Chas. H. Sides, 183; John H. Flagg, 181; Albert L. Jones, 176; Aaron H. Hill, 172; J. C. Carr, 170; scattering 11; and Messrs. Ham, Miller, Sides and Flagg were chosen, 178 being necessary for a choice.

In Ward Three, Messrs. Joseph Grace and Alfred M. Hoyt were chosen, receiving 53 votes.

THE LIVE DEMOCRACY.—The Democratic meeting at the Temple, Thursday, evening, was feebly responded to. The "earnest feeling among the people" wasn't sufficiently developed. There were other things that took better with the demoralized hosts of the unterrified. The North Church was crowded to hear Mr. Durant. Some of the Democracy must have strayed in there, needing a revival. Others attended the colored ball, elsewhere, and Mr. Pillsbury had a lonesome audience. He had but one companion to fill the empty seats on the stage, but forgot that one as he launched logically forth in maintenance of Democratic doctrine.

The audience amused themselves by looking at each other, and a couple of boot-blacks in the gallery essayed a sensation by a game of fisticuffs for a large part of an hour. This excitement ended, and the speaker being still enraptured with himself, others in the gallery produced cards and indulged in euchre to their heart's content. This pleasant amusement was continued till the close of the exercises; then the wide awake Democracy in the gallery were awakened by a yell in the pit which ended their games in season for them to secure the cards and vamose in time to join their friends in attendance at the ball of our colored citizens. And so ended the "mass meeting."

We hope the "earnest feeling" will continue until after election. Too much exertion might be fatal to them just now.

NAVAL.—Lieutenant George E. Wingate has been ordered to the Sangus.

☞ Col. J. N. Macomb, corps of Engineers, U. S. A., has been ordered from Cincinnati to duty at Rock Island, Illinois.

☞ Rev. A. M. Averill of Holyoke, Mass., formerly of this city, has accepted a call from the Baptist Church in Ottawa, Kansas.

☞ The Life of Geo. Peabody, which was ready for publication, has been delayed by the Maine freshet, destroying the paper-mill.—It will be published between the 15th and 20th of March.

☞ The P., S. & P. Railroad Company pay a special dividend of $12 per share, gold, March 23d. This is the result of the compromise for back dividends, being the difference between gold and currency.

☞ A branding iron lettered Santee and found at Skibbereen has been indentified by the former master as belonging to the American ship Santee, of this port. This discovery leaves no doubt that she was the vessel which went down with all on board on the night of December 30, off Skibbereen.

DON'T KNOW BEANS.—Everybody talks about Pea Beans, but we never saw any of the real article until Col. N. Dennett showed us a handful the other day—entirely round, exactly like peas. They were raised by Mr. John Mooney of Christian Shore, who we believe has them for sale for seed, and pronounces them very nice eating.

APPLES.—We intended ere this to have stated that the Nodhead Apple, of which we spoke so enthusiastically last Fall, is not fit for this latitude. An experienced orchardist says it is the same as Greenleaf's Fine Red, and is too delicate for New England culture; that the tree is tender, a slow grower, very poor bearer, and the fruit very likely to be knarley and homely.

☞ "There will be a Social Assembly of those who feel that they can enjoy themselves rationally and respectably for a few hours, in the pleasant and innocent recreation of dancing, without the aid of intoxicating beverages, at Congress Hall, Friday evening, March 11th. Music by Cushing's full Band. Tickets $1, admitting a gentleman and two ladies; may be procured at the store of Geo. Hill, druggist, Market Square." So say the posters.

The sale of an interest in the excellent ship Merrimack at auction at noon to-day, affords an opportunity to secure an investment in a well-managed profitable ship.

MERCANTILE LIBRARY ASSOCIATION LECTURES.—For the next entertainment of this course, James P. Bartlett, Esq., will read Goldsmith's genteel comedy "She Stoops to Conquer." To commence at quarter to 8 o'clock.

The closing lecture by Albert R. Hatch, Esq., has been deferred to the 22d inst.

A CONTEMPLATED IMPROVEMENT.—A meeting of the male members of the Universalist church, of this city, was held on Tuesday afternoon last, for the purpose of taking into consideration the urgent demands for a new Vestry, with the addition of a Pastor's Library and Ante-rooms, together with that modern arrangement now being extensively introduced for Society meetings, a kitchen; the increasing membership of the Sunday School and the several church associations connected strenuously calling for more room and greater facilities. A committee was appointed to make examination and report plans and estimates toward a complete fulfillment of the desired object at an early day, this committee to report in three weeks. We learn that the Library of this school has just been increased by the purchase of one hundred new volumes. The Bible Class, we are told, has received an addition of nearly fifty members, since the commencement of Rev. Mr. Bicknell's pastorate.

ELECTION RETURNS.—We ask as a special favor, that town clerks, selectmen, or other friends in the neighboring towns, will send us the detailed result of their vote, immediately on the closing of the polls. Give us the Governor and Representative vote in full, with the names and politics of Representatives. We should also like lists of Town Officers, with their politics.

☞ The New Hampshire Gazette for this week, is now ready for delivery at the Chronicle Office. Price 5 cts. per copy—$2. per year. Contains all the Local and other reading from the Daily Chronicle. ☞ Subscriptions may commence any time.

MAPLE SYRUP—For sale by f8 BUTLER & LAIGHTON.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH, BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES, No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK, February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OF THE Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 153 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawtm

THE REVIVAL.—Messrs. Editors:—Observing that the good people of Portsmouth are in the midst of a great revival meeting, held in the North Church by Mr. Durant, the lawyer-preacher, I would respectfully suggest to the individuals who were invited to come forward for prayer, that they read the accounts of conversions recorded in Acts 2d, 8th, 9th, 10th, 11th, 16th, 18th, 19th and 22nd chapters,—and see if they have been instructed as the Apostles of Jesus Christ were authorized to teach, by the last and only commission that ever embraced all nations, recorded in Matthew 18th, 19th and 20th verses; Mark, 16:15, 16; Luke, 24:26, 47, 48; and John, 20:23; and that those who are instructing them in a way unauthorized in the Scriptures, read and answer the following questions:

1. Where did Christ or his apostles ever teach the doctrine of total hereditary depravity?

2. Where does Christ or his apostles authorize you to teach that the Holy Spirit operates by direct impact upon the hearts of sinners to regenerate them? John XIV. 17.

3. Where does Christ or his apostles authorize you to teach that sinners must pray for the Holy Spirit to come and regenerate their hearts? John IX. 31.

4. Where does Christ or his apostles authorize you to teach that the Holy Spirit must apply the Word to the hearts of sinners in regeneration?

5. Where does Christ or his apostles authorize you to teach that either sinners or saints are to pray for, or expect the baptism of the Holy Spirit?

6. Where does Christ or his apostles authorize by precept or example the baptism of infants?

7. Where do the words Infant and Baptism, or their equivalents, occur in the same verse or paragraph in the New Testament?

8. Where does Christ or his apostles authorize persons to become members of his Church on six months' probation?

9. Where does Christ or his apostles authorize the Church to change his laws and ordinances?

10. Are we, in the Christian era, living under the Old Covenant or under the New Covenant?

11. When was the Old Covenant "taken away" and the "New Covenant established or inaugurated?" Heb. VIII. 13. x. 9; II. also, Cor. III 6—14.

12. When was the remission of sins in the name of Christ first proclaimed to the world by divine authority, and upon what conditions to be enjoyed?—Luke XXIV. 46, 47.

13. Did not Paul say "But though we or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed?" Gal. I. 8.

14. Where did Christ or his apostles ever teach that we are saved by faith alone, that is, without works of any kind?

15. Where did Christ or his apostles ever teach that "Baptism was a nonessential," or that a person may choose between immersion, pouring and sprinkling?

16. Where was the water ever brought to the candidate instead of the candidate going to the water for baptism, in the New Testament record?

17. Where does Christ or his apostles authorize individual Christians, or Churches, to assume and wear any other names than those specified in the New Testament? Acts IV. 12, I. Cor. I. 11—18.

18. Where did Christ or his apostles authorize a single bishop or elder, a conference or association, to exercise authority over the churches of an extended territory? Acts XIV. 23, XX. 17; also, Titus I.

19. Why do you not give to mourning inquirers the full answer Peter gave on Pentecost to those who asked him what they should do? Acts II. 38—41. Or the full answer of Ananias to Saul? Acts IX. 17, 18. XXII. 13—16. Or the full answer of Paul to the jailor incorporating therein the action expressed in the historic connection? Acts XVI. 31—34.

20. Does not Christ say "But in vain they do worship me, teaching for doctrines the commandments of men?"—Matt. XV. 9.

Respectfully yours; ONE who advocates a complete restoration of the Faith and Practice of the church in the apostolic age. Rev. 2: 5, Jude 3, 2d Thes. 2: 1, 10.

—At one of the hotels in New York City, a few days ago, the landlord said to a boarder: "See here, Mr. B., the chamber-maid found a hair-pin in your bed this morning. It won't answer!" "Well,, replied the boarder, "I found a long hair in the butter this morning; that doesn't prove that there was a woman about." The two men looked at each other for about ten seconds, when each smiled and went on his way, no doubt pondering on the peculiarities of circumstantial evidence.

—As the sun, in all its splendor, was peeping over the eastern hills, a newly married man exclaimed: "The glory of the world is rising?" His wife, who happened to be getting up at the moment, taking the compliment to herself, simpered, "What would you think, my dear; if I had my new silk gown on?"

—The pen is mightier than the sword. A large tin sign in Detroit, representing a gold pen, was recently torn from its fastenings by the wind, carried up into the air, and descending, its point penetrated the back of a dog, killing him instantly.

THE EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA AT JERUSALEM.—An interesting letter from a lady of Jerusalem, gives a detailed account of the Emperor of Austria's reception at that city. From the time he landed at Jaffa the whole of his journey was a triumphal ovation. Turks, Jews, Christians and the warriors of the desert were there as an escort, mounted on Arab steeds, camels, dromedaries and other animals, and dressed in all the varied costumes of their respective tribes and nationalities. The display of Arab horsemen was imposing beyond description. The wild sons of the desert for once had laid aside their jealousies and feuds and combined to do honor to the Christian Emperor. His own immediate followers, though men of commanding stature and richly attired, appeared plain compared to the Arab horsemen with their flowing robes, long lances and waving streamers. Triumphal arches were thrown across the road at several points, ornamented with the Austrian and Moslem colors, and a beautiful maiden was delegated to present the Emperor with a bouquet of flowers, which he accepted and kissed.

When the Holy City met his gaze he dismounted, uncovered his head and prostrated himself in prayer upon the ground, "where God had walked the earth in human form!" The Jews and Christians regarded his presence as the fulfilment of two of the prophesies of Isaiah, "Kings shall come unto thee," &c., and again "The dromedaries of Midiam shall cover thee." His entry into the Holy City was announced by salvos of artillery and the singing of thousands. All the school children—Turks, Jews and Christians—led by their respective teachers, passed before him singing the sacred songs of their religion in sentiments of welcome. When he afterwards visited the scenes of our Lord's Passion, he invariably bared his head and bowed with reverence, no doubt deeply impressed with the idea that the places were holy ground. During his sojourn at Jerusalem the people greeted him everywhere with expressions of the warmest friendship. His escort to and from the city numbered over twenty thousand persons, mostly mounted on the finest Arabian horses.

A KNOTTY TEXT.—There was once an itinerant preacher in West Tennessee, who, possessing considerable natural eloquence, had gradually become possessed of the idea that he was also an extraordinary Biblical scholar. Under this delusion he would very frequently, at the close of his sermon, ask any number of the congregation who might have a "knotty text" to unravel, to speak it, and he would explain it at once, however much it might have troubled "less distinguished divines."

On one occasion, in a large town, he was particularly pressing for some one to propound a text; but no one presuming to do so, he was about to sit down without an opportunity to show his learning, when a chap who sat near the door, announced that he had a Bible matter of great "concern" which he desired to be enlightened upon. The preacher, quite animatedly, expressed his willingness and his ability, and the congregation was in great excitement.

"What I want to know," said the outsider, "is, whether Job's turkey was a hen or a gobbler."

The expounder looked confused, and the congregation tittered, as the questioner exclaimed, in a loud voice:

"I fotched him down on the fust question."

From that time forward the practice of asking difficult passages was abandoned.

AN OLD CITY—AND A HUGE STATUE. Eusebius, writing from Japan, for the New York Observer, gives the following description of some old curiosities:

At the end of two hours' ride, we reached Kamakury, the ancient capital of Japan. All that remains of a city, which must have been one of great magnificence, is a cluster of large temples, in which are preserved numerous relics of the Tycoons of other ages, and a grand avenue, near two hundred feet wide, leading down to the sea, some two miles distant. The site of the city, which was destroyed in war long, long ago, is now fertile fields.

Two miles farther on is the statue of Buddha. It is a lonely relic of a past age, having been erected, according to the best accounts, about 600 years ago. It is a real work of art, executed in bronze of the finest material, the joints between the several plates being so completely formed as scarcely to show a seam. The countenance is strikingly expressive of profound contemplation, completely fulfilling the traditional ideas of Buddha.

The height of the statue, which is in a sitting posture, is about forty feet. Considering the remote age in which it was produced, and the simplicity of the people at that period, it is a remarkable work of genius. The lofty temple, which must have enclosed it, has long since disappeared, and for centuries, in a lonely nook among the hills, this statute of the god has sat in silent meditation, exposed to the violent storms which come in from the neighboring sea, but apparently as fresh and uninjured as when it was erected.

A MEAN ACT.—On Wednesday evening, the 23d ult., a horse owned by J. C. Langford, Esq., of Candia, was discovered to be missing from his stable. He was at first supposed to be stolen, but in the morning was found in his usual place, in an exhausted condition. It was subsequently proved that two rowdies belonging in the vicinity, wishing to take a ride, entered the stable, and taking the horse had driven hard nearly all night, returning just before daybreak.—Mirror

LORILLARD'S "EUREKA"
SMOKING TOBACCO is an excellent article of granulated Virginia; for years introduced it is universally admired. It is put up in handsome muslin bags, in which orders for Meerschaum Pipes are daily packed.

LORILLARD'S YACHT CLUB
SMOKING TOBACCO is made of the Choicest leaf grown; it is anti-nervous in its effects, as the Nicotine has been extracted; it leaves no disagreeable taste after smoking; it is very mild, light in color and in weight, hence one pound will last as long as 3 of ordinary tobacco. In this brand we also put up orders every day for first quality Meerschaum Pipes. Try it and convince yourself it is all it claims to be, THE FINEST OF ALL.

LORILLARD'S CENTURY
CHEWING TOBACCO.—This brand of Chewing Tobacco is unequaled for equal or superior anywhere. It is without doubt the best chewing tobacco in the country.

LORILLARD'S SNUFFS
HAVE BEEN IN GENERAL USE in the United States over 110 years, and still acknowledged "the best" wherever used.
If your storekeeper does not have these articles for sale, ask him to get them; they are sold by respectable jobbers almost everywhere.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated to the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive ones in our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicide will cure the complaint. Leucorrhea or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield readily to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic or Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

JOHNNY, THE STOUT.

"Ho! for a frolic!"
Said Johnny, the stout;
"There's coasting and sledding—
I'm going out."

Scarcely had Johnny
Plunged in the snow,
When there came a complaint
Up from his toe:

"We're cold," said the toe,
"I and the rest;
There are ten of us freezing,
Standing abrest."

Then up spoke an ear:
"My, but it's labor—
Playing in Winter. Eh!
Opposite neighbor."

"Pooh!" said his nose,
Angry and red;
"Who wants to tingle?
Go home to bed!"

Eight little fingers
Four to a thumb,
All cried together—
"Johnny, we're numb!"

But Johnny, the stout,
Wouldn't listen a minute;
Never a snow-bank
But Johnny was in it.

Tumbling and jumping,
Shouted with glee,
Wading the snow-drifts
Up to his knee.

Soon he forgot them—
Fingers and toes—
Never once thought of
The ear and the nose.

Ah! what a frolic!
All in a glow,
Johnny grew warmer
Out in the snow.

Often his breathing
Came with a joke;
"Blaze away, Johnny!
I'll do the smoke."

"And I'll do the fire,"
Said Johnny, the bold,
"Fun is the fuel
For driving off cold."

—Hearth and Home.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE 2D.—When the N. H. Second went to the seat of war to help crush out the rebellion, commanded by Col. (afterward General) Marston, of Exeter, (since a member of Congress,) the sons of the Old Granite State residing in Boston and its vicinity received them at the depot there, escorted them in procession to the Music Hall, where they had an excellent dinner, the Cadets and other companies being out on the occasion. Governor Goodwin and several members of Congress and prominent citizens of this State, were also present, as well as many of the fathers and mothers of those who were marching away, many, alas, never to return.

The Second was an excellent regiment, composed mostly of young men of pure character, from farming towns, many of them quite young. When this regiment reached its place of destination on the battle-field, the Surgeon-General sent for the surgeon of the regiment, and requested a list of the medicines needed for their use. 'None needed, sir,' was the reply; 'we are supplied fully with everything of that kind. 'Well,' responded the Surgeon-General, 'what surgical instruments do you need?' 'None, sir,' was the reply; 'we have everything of that kind as well.' The next question of the Surgeon-General was, 'what do you desire from my department?' 'Nothing at all, sir,' responded the surgeon of the noble Second; 'we have a full supply of everything needed for our medical staff.'

And it was so. The good old Granite State, through its State officers, had supplied all these to this regiment, and no doubt to others also. Very praiseworthy on the part of the authorities. And will any one find fault, or be surprised to know that the sons of this State residing here, and in the regions round about hear, feel considerably proud of this and other good acts of their native commonwealth. She stood firm for the right and the true in the earliest struggle, in 1776, in the war of 1812, and in the slaveholders' rebellion, and so will she stand in all time.

FATE OF THE APOSTLES.—Matthew is supposed to have suffered martyrdom, or was slain in a city of Ethiopia.

Mark was dragged through the streets in Alexandria, in Eygpt, till he expired.

Luke was hanged to an olive tree in Greece.

John was put in a boiling cauldron at Rome, but escaped death. He died a natural death at Ephesus, Asia.

James the Great was beheaded at Jerusalem.

James the Less was thrown from a pinnacle and beaten to death.

Philip was beheaded.

Bartholomew was skinned alive.

Andrew was crucified and pounded while dying.

Thomas was run through with a lance.

Simon was crucified.

Matthias was stoned.

Barnabas was stoned to death.

Paul was beheaded by the tyrant Nero at Rome.

DR. J. WALKER'S
CALIFORNIA
VINEGAR
BITTERS.
They are not a vile fancy drink. f17 4w

THE AMERICAN FAMILY
KNITTING MACHINE,
Is presented to the public as the most Simple, Durable, and Compact and Cheap Knitting Machine ever invented.
PRICE ONLY, $25.
This Machine will run either backward or forward with equal facility; makes the same stitch as by hand, but far superior in every respect.
Will knit 20,000 Stitches in a minute,
and do perfect work, leaving every knot on the inside of the work. It will knit a pair of stockings (any size) in less than half an hour. It will knit Close or Open, plain or Ribbed work, with any kind of coarse or fine wooled yarn, or cotton, silk or linen. It will knit stockings with double heel and toe, drawers, hoods, sacks, smoking Caps, comforts, purses, muffs, fringe, afghans, nubias, undersleeves, mittens, skating caps, lamp wicks, mats, cord, undershirts, shawls, jackets, cradle blankets, leggins, suspenders, wristers, tidies, tippets, fancy work, and in fact an endless variety of articles in every day use, as well as for ornament.
FROM $5 TO $10 PER DAY
Can be made by any one with the American Knitting Machine, knitting stockings, &c., while expert operators can even make more, knitting fancy work, which always commands a ready sale. A person can readily knit from twelve to fifteen pairs of stockings per day, the profit on which will be not less than forty cents per pair.
FARMERS
Can sell their wool at only forty to fifty cents per pound, but by getting the wool made into yarn at a small expense, and knitting it into socks, two or three dollars per pound may be realized. On receipt of $25 we will forward a machine as ordered.
We wish to procure active AGENTS in every section of the United States and Canadas, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered. Address,

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND BOTTLES PER ANNUM.
THE NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE.
DODD'S NERVINE,
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC,
And expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of
NERVOUS DISEASE, &c., &c.,
Coughs, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses, Colds, Headache, Fainting Fits, Fevers, Convulsions, Palpitation, Agues, Sleeplessness, Restlessness, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Constipation, Liver Complaint, Children's Troubles Diarrhœa, Consumption, &c., &c., &c.
Take Care of Yourself.
DODD'S NERVINE is a PURE TONIC,—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE,—gives increased energy to the STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS and other viscera,—and SUPPLIES FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It OPERATES SOOTHINGLY,—is as PLEASANT TO TAKE as any wine,—and with SLEEP and GOOD DIGESTION, which IT PROMOTES, RESTORES the afflicted to SOUND HEALTH OF BODY, and to QUIETNESS OF MIND. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatsoever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative powers. See pamphlet accompanying each bottle.
Some folks can't get Sleep Nights,
Dodd's Nervine is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that GOOD SLEEP is better than all medicines.
LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.
The Nervine is also one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. See pamphlet.
Children's Diseases.
For WHOOPING COUGH Dodd's Nervine is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in MEASLES, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. See recommendations in pamphlet. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no opium in any form.
Be Careful what Medicines you take.
Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to the nervous health and are ALWAYS followed by depressing REACTION. The strength that Dodd's Nervine gives is the STRENGTH OF HEALTH and COMES TO STAY. Beware of the whiskey preparations that have laid the foundations of so many habits of intemperance. Whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise, let the villainous compounds alone. Better die of honest disease than be burnt up by the fires of alcohol. For the ingredients that compose Dodd's Nervine see pamphlet on each bottle. For sale by Druggists and Country Stores. Price One Dollar. f17 4w

This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid, it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. For sale by all druggists.

THE HARMONIOUS DEMOCRACY.—The Concord Patriot refers "Mr. Page to the letter of Mr. Surroc for one of the 'specifications' which he called for;" and says, "We shall now anxiously wait to see him prove Mr. S. to be 'a foul liar and an arrant villain.'"

The Patriot publishes, also, a letter from Gen. Bedel, raking down the State Committee for betraying him. Bedel says he shall "stick."

☞ At a meeting of the National Association of School Superintendents, at Washington, Wednesday, it was stated that $7,000,000 had been expended for the education of freedmen since the war, besides what was collected by themselves. One-half was disbursed by the Freedmen's Bureau, and the other half by Northern benevolent institutions.

THE RULING PASSION.—The will of the late Bishop of Manchester exhibits in a very marked degree "the ruling passion strong in death." His connection with his diocese was marked by many unhappy quarrels, and in his last will and testament he perpetuates a family feud which one might have thought would have been healed by the lapse of time. Many years ago his eldest married daughter one of his lordship's chaplains—a man of exemplary character—without the bishop's consent. She is excluded from all interest in her father's property, who explains his act in these terms: "This I do not in anger, but because I hold it a duty not to let such conduct as hers and the person she is married to prove successful."

Well well—says Uncle Toby—"his Lordship" must have been an aristocrat of the first water; and must also have been a most uncomfortable, miserable, old man, greatly to be pitied by sober christians,—while his transparent folly would invite the derision of all who laugh at fools.

—Mr. R. Digby Beste, a Roman Catholic gentleman, writing on the subject of the various contracts at Rome, tells the following story: "My son, of the Brompton Oratory, before starting to go to Rome for the great centenary gathering, desired his usual tobacconist in London to fill his box with choice snuff that he might have a good pinch to offer to the big wigs he should meet. 'Beware what you do, sir,' said the tradesman. 'A customer of mine had just the same fancy a few years ago, and, being at a party at Prince Torlonia's, offered him his box.' 'Captain snuff,' exclaimed the Prince; 'where could you have got it?' 'I brought two or three pounds with me,' said the Englishman, 'and, as you seem to like it so much, if you will send your snuff-box to my lodgings to-morrow morning, I will fit it for you. Prince Torlonia was the tobacco contractor; and next morning, instead of the snuff box, appeared to the astonished traveller two gensdarmes to sequestrate those two or three pounds of snuff from which it was to have been filled. "Hospitable, wasn't it?" says Mr. Beste.

☞ General Sheridan's plan for settling the Indian question is to establish an immense reservation on which the tribes shall all be located, subject to certain conditions, of which the following are the most important:—No tribe shall go outside the limits of the reservation without permission from the proper authority, the military officer in command in the district wherein such tribe may be located; any depredation of outrage committed upon settlers to atoned for by the prompt delivery of the offending parties; the United States to furnish ration to such tribes, and on such occasions, as may be deemed expedient. Gen. Sheridan is strongly opposed to the appointment of civilians as Indian agents, and is in favor of giving the military the entire management of the red men. He would treat them with kindness and justice, butis in favor of meeting out to offending tribes the severest punishment.

—The present feeling of the Southern people respecting political parties is aptly set forth in the following from the Norfolk (Va.) Day-Book: "We suppose our Democratic friends throughout the country are somewhat amazed at the haste the people of Virginia have manifested in being reconstructed and getting back into the Union under Republican auspices; but then they should remember that we waited very patiently for nearly four years for them to oust the Republicans, and as they failed to do so at the last Presidential election, our supply of patience gave out, and we had to 'reconstruct' without waiting four years longer for them."

CHRONICLES OF OLD TIMES.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

The Portsmouth Privateers of 1812.

NUMBER NINE.

In the Oracle of Oct. 1, 1814, we find three advertisements which throw some light on our Privateer Stories. One is headed Privateer Harpy, and reads thus: "The Crew of Privateer Harpy are required to repair on board said vessel This Day at 2 o'clock. The places of all delinquents will be supplied by other men."

The second is headed Privateer Harlequin, and reads: "The Officers and Crew of the Privateer Harlequin are directed to be on board, on Monday the 3d inst., by 10 o'clock. By order of the Agents. William Walker, Secretary."

And the third is "A libel by Thomas M. Shaw, Esq., commander of the private armed Brigantine Portsmouth"—against the Bristol schooner Columbia, a prize to the Portsmouth.—Her cargo was boards and fish.

The same captain also libelled, on the 16th of September, some goods taken out of the British sloop Nancy,—by the Portsmouth.

Yet the shipping lists, of the complete file of the Oracle, make no mention of the sailing of the Portsmouth, nor of her arrival, except these advertisements.

In the same paper, dated Oct. 1, it is stated that the lights in all the lighthouses have been ordered to be discontinued.—This was a war measure, to protect our harbors somewhat from the British ships of war that lined our coast, and blockaded our bays.

We find a number of friends who remember Captain Burbank very well, as the commander of the Thomas: one of them was taken prisoner with him in that vessel.—Capt. Burbank succeeded Thomas M. Shaw, as captain of the same privateer; and so there is no good ground for the distinction (in a former number,) between the Thomas No. 1, and No. 2. It was the same vessel, with different commanders.—The Thomas was a second hand vessel, and was hauled up, at the beginning of the war, on Brotton's Point, sawed in two, and lengthened about 15 feet, by a new piece amidships.

A retired shipmaster, who was intimate with him, describes Capt. Burbank as a very energetic young man, who was put in command of the Thomas because he had been so smart a lieutenant. When his vessel was chased by the British man-of-war that captured him, he threw overboard the guns, shot, &c., in hopes to escape; and this made the prize less valuable. He was censured for this by the captors, and used with some severity; but was suffered to be out in the streets of Halifax, on parole, as was the custom in respect to officers. He disappeared from that city, however, between two days, and walked all the way to Bangor; soon got home to Kennebunkport, and was promptly made a lieutenant on board another privateer,—a new brig, which was chased, when only a few hours out, by another British man-of-war. He repeated the same process of throwing over the guns and other heavy articles, and destroying many ship stores;—and being taken, was treated with more severity, put in prison with the privates, sent to Dartmoor prison, and kept in confinement till the Peace released him, in 1815.

The next time we get an item about the Portsmouth, is Oct. 22, 1814, when, in the Oracle of that day, we have a square on successful Privateering.

Wednesday, arrived at this port the fast sailing private armed brig Portsmouth, Shaw, from a short and successful cruise of 22 days.—A week after sailing captured British schooner Mary, Burroughs, from Halifax for Martinique, loaded with fish.—Oct. 4, captured ship James, Messenger, from London for Quebeck, with a cargo of dry goods, rum, gin, brandy, and 80 casks powder, besides clothes, &c., for the Canada army.—The James sailed from Spithead, Sept. 1, in company with a fleet having on board 8000 troops, and parted shortly before in a gale of wind, having been thrown on her beam ends and considerably injured—took from her 300 packages of dry goods.—Capt. Shaw politely furnished us with London papers.

The James was a ship of 260 tons.—In the Oracle of Oct. 22, Capt. Shaw, commander of "the private armed ship Portsmouth," libels the James as a prize. The same libel, the next week, calls the Portsmouth a brig.

The paper of Oct. 29 has the arrival of the prize ship James, and privateer Harpy, as follows:

Wednesday, Oct. 26.—Arrived at this port British ship James, with an assorted cargo of dry goods, crates, brandy, gin, &c., prize to the privateer Portsmouth, Shaw, mentioned in our last. This ship is considered one of the richest prizes which have been taken during the war.

Thursday, Oct. 27.—Arrived privateer sch'r Harpy, Nichols, of Baltimore, from a cruise of 20 days from this port, bringing in about 50 packages of British merchandise, and 60 prisoners, taken from different vessels captured on her cruise.

In the paper of Nov. 5, we have some remarkable privateering items, from another port.

The privateer Mammoth, of Baltimore, has arrived at Portland, loaded with woollen goods, principally blankets, captured from a transport,—she made 21 prizes, 18 of which were destroyed, and 275 prisoners, paroled.

A prize arrived at Camden on Tuesday last, to the revenue cutter, which the prisoners offered 40,000 dollars to ransom.

The Washington, 74, was launched Oct. 1, 1814,—and the coming on of gales of wind a few weeks afterwards, induced the British armed ships which had been anchored off this harbor, to take up their anchors and leave for Halifax.

New Hampshire Items.

The Concert of the Rockingham Musical Association given in the Exeter Town Hall last week, was a complete success. The house was well filled and the jubilee choruses were performed in a manner acceptable even to musical critics. The general management was most creditable to Mr. J. W. Chickering, who spared neither time nor trouble, for the purpose of furnishing this musical treat.

Mr. Osmund Spofford and Mr. John Elkins are about to erect a steammill, in Danville, for the purposes of sawing logs and planing and matching boards. A shingle mill will be attached, and also a saw for sawing staves. The whole cost will amount to some $5000 or $6000. The engine is being built at the Squamscott Machine works, South Newmarket. Mr. Norris Brown proposes to establish the business of stitching shoes, uting sewing machines to be worked by girls.

A young offender named Guy March, was recently caught by Mr. John S. Sanborn, entering his house at Danville by means of false keys. He has been suspected for some time of burglarious practices, and on the eventful day, Mr. Sanborn closed his house, as if to leave town with his family, yet remaining in the house. In the course of a couple of hours, the thief approached, applied his key, and entered, only to fall into the grasp of Mr. S., who was on the watch. He confessed to having entered several times before, and to have taken money and valuables; also, that he maliciously entered the premises of Mr. Stowell Eastman, and destroyed tools.

The death of Mrs. John Byers, of Rochester, occurred on Tuesday morning, on a sleeping car, between Worcester and Springfield, Mass. Mrs. Byers left home for Washington, two months since, in the hope of benefiting her failing health, which, however, continued to fail, and she was advised to come home, and was about two hours' ride from Boston when she died. She was accompanied by a daughter. She was a lady much respected by a large circle of friends.

It is said that Rev. Mr. Nutter, was the only collector of taxes in Rochester, who has put a tax payer in jail for refusing to pay his taxes. The case was that of Stephen York, who was recently confined at the county jail for four days, when he concluded that discretion was the better part of valor, and forked over the necessary 'spondulicks' to the collector, whereupon he was liberated. There have been several persons taken to Dover for refusing to pay taxes, but a sight of the dismal walls of the jail always brought them to time, and they came home wiser, if not better men.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, MARCH 3.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 1790; Sheep and Lambs 6300; Swine 400; number of Western Cattle 1455; Eastern Cattle 160; Northern Cattle and Working Oxen 175. Cattle left over —.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $13 00 @ $13 50; first quality $12 25 @ $12 75; second quality $11 25 @ $12 00; third quality $10 00 @ $11 00; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $7 50 @ $9 50 ℔ cwt, (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 8 @ 8½c ℔ lb; Country Hides 8c ℔ lb.

Brighton Tallow 7¼@ 7½c per lb; Country Tallow 6½c ℔ lb.

Lamb Skins $1 @ $1 50 each; Sheep Skins $1 @ $1 50 each; Calf Skins 17c ℔ lb.

The markets this week are quicker than they were last week, and prices are ½c ℔ lb lower for Beeves. There were some very nice Cattle from the Western part of the State; one pair sold for 15c ℔ lb, dressed weight, and the balance were taken at a commission, and a larger portion of the Cattle were sold yesterday. The supply from Maine was light and there were some very good Beeves among them.

Stores—Most of the Stores in market consist of Working Oxen and Milch Cows. Nearly all the small Cattle are brought up to slaughter.

Working Oxen—A fair supply in market. Most of the Working Oxen are brought from Maine. We quote sales at $162, $190, $210, $225, $240, $260, $170, $235 ℔ pair.

Milch Cows—There is not much change in the Cow trade from week to week. Prices depend a great deal upon the fancy of the purchaser. Prices range from $40 to $115 ℔ head.

Sheep and Lambs—Most of those from the West were owned by butchers or taken at a commission. We quote lots at $5 @ $8 ℔ head: ordinary $2 50 @ $4 25 ℔ head, or from 4 @ 8½c ℔ lb.

Swine—Store Pigs, wholesale 10 @ 12c ℔ lb; retail 10¼ @ 14c ℔ lb.

—At Lewiston the other day, a little boy some four or five years of age, left his mother in the sitting room and went into the kitchen where he amused himself for some time "playing horse" with his father's cane. After a while he became so unusually quiet that his mother went out to ascertain the cause, and was astonished to find the floor covered with several inches of water, the sink overflowing and water still running from the open valve. The little fellow looked up with a smile from the paper boat he was sailing: "Oh, mudder, I've had such fun! But," he added doubtfully, "I dess you'd better sottle dis up!"

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alteratives and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Fever is present. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes softer and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

The Responsibilities of the Liver.

The liver has a very important part to perform in the animal economy. Its function is two-fold. The fluid which it secretes tempers the blood and regulates the bowels, and upon the quantity and quality of the secretion depends, in a great degree, the adaptation of the blood to the requirements of the system and the due removal of the refuse matter which remains in the intestines after the work of digestion has been accomplished.

One of the principal uses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to tone and control this somewhat unruly organ. The antibilious properties of the preparation are scarcely secondary to its virtues as a stomachic. Its operation upon the liver is not violent like that of mercury, but gradual and gentle. Instead of creating a sudden tumult in that sensitive gland, it regulates its action by degrees. Hence, it is a safe remedy for bilious disorders, while mercury, being a tremendous excitant, is not. The more naturally and quietly a diseased organ can be restored to its normal condition the better, and it is the peculiar property of this harmless vegetable alterative to reinforce and regulate without exciting or convulsing.

The success which has attended its use as a remedy for affections of the liver is proverbial. Persons of a bilious habit who take it habitually as a protection against the attacks to which they are constitutionally liable, pronounce it the best liver tonic in existence. The symptoms of an approaching fit of biliousness can hardly be mistaken. A pain in the right side or under the shoulder blades, a sallow tinge in the whites of the eyes, sick headache, a feeling of drowsiness, low spirits, loss of appetite, constipation and general debility are among the usual indications of a morbid condition of the liver, and as soon as they appear the Bitters should be resorted to in order to ward off more serious consequences.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautifully black or brown. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory 6 Bond Street, New York.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chemistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. In damp weather they are more frequent than in dry. These plasters give relief at once, and need to be always in the drawer, handy.

PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Allentown, Penn., April 4, 1865.

Messrs. T. Allcock & Co.

Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had a very bad pain in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly,

JOHN N. HUNTER.

25,000 SOLD BY ONE DEALER.

Messrs. J. Balch & Son, of Providence, R. I., write, Nov. 1868: "We have sold the Porous Plasters for twenty years, and, at retail and jobbing, must have sold twenty-five thousand altogether. They are well liked. ja13dawlm

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers throughout a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctancy but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and I sell them.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—are oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

Price 50 cts. Sold by the Druggists. Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. ja13dawlm

TO STONE CONTRACTORS.

PROPOSALS for furnishing the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS. Sealed Proposals will be received at the Office of the Superintendent of Streets, City Hall, Boston, Mass., until March 17th, 1870, for supplying the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS during the year 1870. The blocks to be of the following dimensions, viz:—

Width, 3½ to 4½ in. Length, 6 to 8 in. Depth, 7 to 8 inches.

All the edges to be sharp and straight, forming right angles at their intersections both horizontally and vertically. The faces to be straight, split, and free from bunches or depressions.

Proposals to state the price per thousand blocks delivered on such wharf in the city proper, South and East Boston, as may be designated from time to time by the Superintendent of Streets. Also, the number of blocks which the proposer will deliver per month during the year. A sample of the blocks must accompany the proposal.

Proposals to be addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Proposals for furnishing City of Boston with Stone Paving Blocks."

The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals. GEO. O. CARPENTER,

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ We presume it is unnecessary to warn intelligent Republicans to beware of split tickets at the coming election. A plurality elects.

☞ One sixteenth of the ship Merrimack, of this port, was sold at auction on Saturday, by William H. Hackett, Auctioneer, to Charles H. Mendum, Esq., for $4190.

☞ The Granite State Base Ball Club, of this city, will re-organize for the season of 1870 this (Monday) evening, at the Hall over Messrs. Ferguson & Frye's store.

YE COD.—A Cod-fish weighing one hundred and five pounds was caught off the mouth of this harbor, on Friday last. It was on exhibition at Randall & Caswell's on Saturday, and is said to be the largest one ever taken in this vicinity.

MR. DURANT, who is speaking in Portsmouth on religious topics, is a New Hampshire boy and has been connected in various ways with men well-known in Portsmouth. His former partner in the Law was Joseph Bell, Esq., an eminent New Hampshire Lawyer. His present business partner is John Haven Cheever, a Portsmouth boy and a very keen, successful business man.

LOST AND FOUND.—On Saturday, Mr. Wm. D. Fernald of this city lost a wallet containing about $1200 in coupons, and on Sunday City Marshal Johnson informed the loser that Katie Brew, a little daughter of Mr. Nathaniel Brew, about 7 years of age, had found it, on the outside step leading to the office of the Aqueduct Company on Market Square. Mr. Fernald identified the wallet and contents, and satisfactorily arranged matters with the parties whose honesty had caused the recovery of what he had given up as lost.

☞ There were 779 votes cast in the Ward Caucuses, Friday evening. We hope that all who voted then will vote the Republican ticket to-morrow. There were 1114 votes thrown for Gov. Stearns last March, and but 965 for Mayor Adams, last November. In Wards Two and Three, last March, 947 votes were thrown for Governor Stearns, and in November, Mayor Adams had 799 votes in the same wards. Last Friday evening 726 votes were thrown for Representatives, in these two Wards.

PENMANSHIP.—We are informed that this branch is receiving special attention in all our public schools, being taught by Mr. Montgomery, who brings to his work the skill of a master and the ability to interest his pupils. Penmanship has been reduced to a system, with as regular gradations as any other branch or business even. Any of the systems well taught is vastly better than none at all, but the Spencerian is undoubtedly one of the best. With this system and so good an instructor, there is no reasonable doubt of success. We shall soon see the pupils showing that improvement that has been the result under his instruction at New Hampton and other places, as well as at his Writing Academy in this city.

THEATRE.—Mr. C. E. Bidwell's well known troupe open a short engagement at the Temple, this evening, with the new and fine orchestra, under the direction of A. W. Hayes. A well known Portsmouth musician, Mr. Thos. Critchley, plays the cornet, and has been travelling with the Bidwells on a liberal salary, for several weeks.

For this evening, the manager announces a new Comedy, "The Story of Peggy, the Actress," Dollie being cast as Peg Woffington, and Meldrum as James Triplet. The bill is a good one; Mr. Bidwell always caters well for the public.

GRAND REPUBLICAN RALLY.—Hon. James W. Nye of Nevada was greeted by a very large audience, at the Temple, Saturday evening. The Cornet Band was in attendance and discoursed fine music for the waiting multitude.

Ex-Governor Ichabod Goodwin was President of the meeting, with Messrs. Horton D. Walker, Wm. H. Y. Hackett, Alfred W. Haven, Isaiah Wilson, Geo. W. Pendexter, Daniel J. Vaughan, Wm. Simes, Chas. Robinson, Wm. H. Hackett, J. C. Carr, Chas. H. Sides, Lewis G. Davis, Samuel Adams, Wm. A. Vaughan Jr., Jos. A. Grace, Chas. W. Gardner and Chas. N. Osgood—as Vice Presidents; and Chas. A. Shannon, Henry, A. Yeaton, Chas. E. Plaisted and Chas. W. Bailey as Secretaries.

Mr. Nye was suffering from hoarseness, but made an energetic address, which was listened to throughout with close attention by the large audience. He was witty in his allusions and thoroughly Western in his style of delivery and quaint illustrations. His hearers were well pleased and would have insisted on a further continuation of his remarks, had his voice been in better order. As it was, the meeting adjourned, the voters being resolved to roll up a large majority on Tuesday for Governor Stearns.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Wm. W. Cutts, Town Treasurer and Collector of Kittery, died of heart disease, Saturday morning, at 9 o'clock, after a brief illness of half an hour.

☞ The report of the Ward Two Republican caucus, published by the rebel hand organ, as to the personalities indulged in by some of the excited contestants, is untrue in every particular.

A CLOSE VOTE.—At the Ward Two Republican caucus, Friday evening, the contest was a sharp one. The average vote for the ticket made up by the Executive Ward Committee was 180; for the opposition ticket, 175.

A QUESTION IN INTEREST.—A man has two notes of $2000 each, dated June 1st, 1868, bearing interest at 7 per cent, one note payable in one year, and the other in two years. For how much must he sell each note, Sept. 18, 1869, to realize 10 per cent. for the investment?

☞ We learn from a private letter that the Sch. George S. Fogg, on her recent trip from Boston to Norfolk, Va., lost a man overboard. His name was Hiram E. Collins, of Bangor Me., aged 24 years. It was blowing a gale of wind at the time and no assistance could be given the poor man.

VOTERS should not forget that the important measure for the formation of the new county of Amoskeag, which is intended to embrace the towns of Candia, Auburn, Londonderry, Derry, Windham and Salem, within its limits, is to be decided to-morrow. The principal argument in favor of division is that it will favor persons residing near Manchester.

Communication.

NEWCASTLE, March 8.

Messrs. Editors:—The fifth lecture before the citizens of this village was delivered by Mr. B. F. Dame of your city;—subject, Our Common Schools. It was a learned address, and one well calculated to awaken a new interest and zeal among the workers and lovers of our common schools. I think our State Superintendent of Education would do well to have this lecture delivered in every town and city in this State. S.

—The Kalamazoo (Michigan) Telegraph says the horse which Sheridan rode at Winchester was a coal black one, captured from the rebels in the northern part of Mississippi in 1862, and a fine Southern bred horse of great speed and bottom, and that it was presented to Sheridan in the early part of the summer of the same year by Lieutenant George Hodges of Kalamazoo.

COMPARATIVE WARMTH OF THE SEXES.—The Schenectady Star is puzzling itself over the conundrum why girls can dress as thinly as they do and still keep warm, and relates the following startling experience: "We once rode with a girl in an open cutter fifteen miles on one of the coldest nights of winter, and as we sat frozen nigh as stiff as a stake, our teeth chattering like castinets, she kept up an animated conversation, every now and then exclaiming: "Oh! isn't this delightful! Don't you enjoy it?" When we arrived at our destination, notwithstanding we were dressed a great deal warmer than our fair companion, she had to lift us out of the cutter and conduct us to the tropical atmosphere of a farm house. On the return trip we were frozen to death, and she drove the corpse home. It must be the girls are tougher than we men people."

MAKE THE NURSERY PLEASANT.—Have you a print, or a plaster cast, or blossoming plant, in the nursery where your children spend most of their time? Never mind about your "parlor" but is your nursery a pleasant place? Is there anything there upon the wall for little eyes to look at, and little minds to think about when they wake so early in the morning; or as they lounge about when a stormy day keeps them close prisoners? If not, see to it without delay.—Don't say, "I can't afford it;" "one shilling—two shillings, will do it;" if you will spare a few shillings more, so much the better. You know the effect a bright cheerful apartment has upon yourself even with all mature resources for thought and pleasure; think, then of the little children, reaching out their young thoughts like vine tendrils, for something to twine about—something to lean on—something to grow to—in fine, something to think and talk about. A blank, white wall is not suggestive or inspiring. Give the little nursery prisoner something bright.

ELECTION RETURNS.—We ask as a special favor, that town clerks, selectmen, or other friends in the neighboring towns, will send us the detailed result of their vote, immediately on the closing of the polls. Give us the Governor and Representative vote in full, with the names and politics of Representatives. We should also like lists of Town Officers, with their politics.

MAPLE SYRUP.—For sale by f8 BUTLER & LAIGHTON.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,

February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

OF THE

Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,

FISK & HATCH,

Bankers.

P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawâm

How to Burn a Building.—The Coos Republican gives the following account of a recent fire at Jefferson Mills, which we copy in full, as a remarkable case of stupid carelessness,—and yet, we are sorry to say not a singular case.

The two story frame store building at Jefferson Mills, owned by James H. Grant, of Newton Upper Falls, Mass., and occupied by Richard M. J. Grant, his agent, as a country store, and by David Holmes as a dwelling, was entirely consumed, Friday evening, the conflagration commencing about 6 P. M. The store building would cost at present rates about $1,500. The stock of goods was valued at $4,000. There was no insurance on the building, or on any of the property destroyed, save the stock in trade, which was insured for $2,500 in the Springfield Fire and Marine Insurance Co., of Mass. Mr. David Holmes lost all his household furniture and supplies, valued at several hundred dollars. N. R. Perkins, Esq., lost a clapboard machine worth eighty dollars. A portion of the stock, valued at $500, or thereabouts, was saved.

The origin of the fire, as given us by Mr. R. M. J. Grant, was as follows: About 6 P. M., he took a small kerosene lamp, lighted, and went into his back room, with a large kerosene lamp, for the purpose of filling it; placed his lighted lamp on the floor, set the large lamp by it, unscrewed the cap by which it was filled, took down a gallon kerosene can, filled the large lamp and set can on the floor by it—the can and large lamp being unstopped—lit a match to apply to the wick of the large lamp, when an explosion followed. Mr. G. was choked by the gas and by smoke, and somewhat cut by the broken glass, but by instinct, started for the front store—arrived there, the fresh air revived him, and he was enabled to crawl out doors, when he became senseless—aid having arrived, he was conveyed to Mr. J. H. Goodell's, where he was insensible far into the night.

He is still very poorly, but it is expected will recover without serious injury to his health. The family of Mr. Holmes had a narrow escape; the flames burst through the floor, and Mr. Holmes run with his wife and two young children, one a babe, just escaping the fire. Mr. Newell Homes rushed up stairs to save something, but having thrown out a bed, his retreat was cut off by the flames, and he was obliged to jump out of the window to escape.

This fire teaches two lessons, which we wish to impress forcibly upon every reader of this article.

1st. It is always dangerous to fill, or attempt to fill kerosene lamps by lamp-light—or to leave a can or lamp uncovered near a lighted match. And

2d, That the closest scrutiny should be used, to buy or burn no kerosene that has not been tested, and which is not fully up to the standard of pure non-explosive oil.

The late fire came near costing four lives and the warning should be heeded.

Moosehillock Deserted. — Mr. Huntington, the Assistant State Geologist, and his volunteer assistant, Mr. A. F. Clough, who have been wintering on the top of Moosehillock Mountain, for scientific purposes, changed base on Tuesday, the 1st. inst., and closed their observations. It is expected that many interesting facts will be developed when the result of their observations are made known fully. We learn that they demonstrated that the ocean was visible from the summit of the mountain, thus placing it among the points of land visible to mariners upon approaching our coast.

They also found the temperature on the summit, for weeks together, to be higher than it was at the base of the mountain, which they visited twice a week to obtain their supplies and mail matter. The highest rate of speed of the wind which they measured was 90 miles an hour, which blew in their glass window. The lowest point which the mercury reached was 17 degrees below zero. During the first part of the winter there was no more snow on the summit than at the base of the mountain, but for the last few weeks there was about one half more. The only sign of a wild animal which they discovered was the track of a wolf recently, a short distance below the house. They occupied the middle room of a house 90 by 40 feet, and got along comfortably.—Monitor.

—It is an old notion but a foolish one that it is better to sleep in a cold room than in a moderately warm one. Given good ventilation, and a fire in a sleeping room in cold weather is healthy. There is no gain in the chilliness of dressing and undressing in temperature near the freezing point, but the shock to the system is positively injurious. Nor is the ventilation of an open chamber window in cold weather so good a thing as some think. Ventilation from another room, through a door standing ajar, is preferable. The exposure from sudden night changes in temperature make the open window unsafe with even strong people: with feeble people it is dangerous.—Adv.

☞ A little girl got her evening prayer somewhat mixed the other evening. She kneeled down and gave vent to her feelings as follows:

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
Yes, my darling daughter,
I pray the Lord my soul to keep,
But don't go near the water."

—One million of the inhabitants of London never go to church, yet London contributes millions of money to convert Asia, Africa and the Indies.

Adventure with a Fox.—Mr. Chas. N. Colbath of Exeter, who delights in following the fox, recently witnessed the peculiar cunning of reynard. Mr. C., in company with Mr. Nathan Batchelder, started a fox in Kensington and the hounds drove him several miles to near the line of Hampton Falls and Kensington, where Mr. Colbath had stationed himself behind a large rock, awaiting the coming of the fox. In about two hours, the animal came leisurely trotting along near Mr. C., but out of gunshot, and leaped upon a wall to reconnoitre. This wall he walked to and fro about half an hour, occasionally listening to the hounds, hard at work on the scent a couple of miles off. Leaving the wall, he, the fox, walked to a huge pine stump and stretched himself upon it, meanwhile licking his body and alternately listening and changing his position.

In about an hour the hounds approached, but Mr. Fox did not start until they and Mr. Batchelder were in plain sight and within a very few rods from him. Then he walked off very quietly, coming gradually nearer Mr. Colbath, who shot him with the second barrel of his gun, the first having failed to discharge. Mr. Colbath accounts for the strange conduct of the fox, by supposing that he intended to let the hounds pass, had not he seen Mr. Batchelder, and then return to a field of ice, where he had baffled the hounds for so long a time, and thus escape. His weight was twelve pounds.—News Letter.

The Crown Princess of Prussia.—I have had several very good opportunities of seeing different members of the court, and at the royal ball at the Opera House saw all the notables together except the Crown Princess, who was not present. I have a great desire to see her, as she is much loved and admired by the people. When Frederick William, the Crown Prince of Prussia, brought his royal bride, Victoria of England, to Berlin, she was not willing to comply with those rules of court etiquette which demanded that she should not appear to love her husband, take no care of her children or household, and have little or no interest in her husband's people.

Her mother had broken bravely through these rules, and she determined to do the same. She insisted upon being wife as well as princess, and even went so far as to take her husband's arm when walking with him, and since she has had children, often always them to drive with her. I am told that every morning she goes over her palace sees that her servants are busy (which court servants seldom are), and that all is in the order she wishes. As the present Queen and most of her ladies are extremely luxurious, this womanly and wifely conduct pleased them not at all. But the brave princess persevered, held fast to the love of her husband and children, won that of the people, and finally conquered the respect of the court.—Cor. Boston Transcript.

Death of an Old Philadelphia Printer.—Isaac Ashmead, for a long period at the head of one of the principal printing establishments of Philadelphia, died in that city lately. Mr. Ashmead was born in 1790. He was connected as printer in 1821 with the Adult Sunday School Society, which was afterward merged into the American Sunday School Union, whose printing he had charge of until the time of his death. He was the first to introduce the present composition roller, and was the first in Philadelphia who used a power printing press, which was driven by horse power. He was also the first to use the hydraulic press for smooth-pressing the printed sheets. He was for many years in the Board of Directors of the Public Schools, and was a prominent member of the New School Presbyterian Church.

—Is not food made of too much consequence by most women in the entertainment of "company?" Is it a compliment to visitors to lay out the special effort to entertain them in a fine dinner, or supper, as if that were what they could best appreciate? If we could have the moral courage to set out a simple table and have more time for conversation and genuine "visiting," inviting our friends to tea would not be such a serious and expensive matter but that we could indulge in its pleasure, and real benefits far oftener than most of us do.—Advance.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Throat, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Concretions, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

A GIRL'S A GIRL FOR A' THAT.

Is there a lady in the land
That boasts her rank and a' that?
With a scornful eye we pass her by,
And a little care for a' that;
For Nature's charm shall bear the palm—
A girl's a girl for a' that.

What though her neck with gems she deck,
With folly's gear and a' that,
And gaily rides in pomp and pride
We can dispense with a' that;
An honest heart acts no such part—
A girl's a girl for a' that.

The nobly born may proudly scorn
A lowly lass and a' that;
A pretty face has far more grace
Than haughty looks and a' that;
A bonnie maid needs no such aid—
A girl's a girl for a' that.

Then let us trust that come it must,
And sure it will for a' that,
When faith and love, all arts above,
Shall reign supreme and a' that,
And every youth confess the truth—
A girl's a girl for a' that.

EARTH NOT OUR ABIDING PLACE.—It cannot be that earth is man's only abiding place; it cannot be that our life is a bubble cast up by the ocean of eternity to float a moment upon the wave, and then sink into darkness and nothingness; else why is it, that the aspirations that leap like angels from the temple of our hearts, are forever wandering abroad unsatisfied!

Why is it that the rainbow and the cloud come over us with a beauty that is not of earth, then pass away and leave us to muse upon their faded loveliness? Why is it that the stars that hold their festival around the midnight throne, are placed so far above the grasp of our limited faculties, forever mocking us with their unapproachable glory?

And, finally, why is it, that bright forms of human beauty are presented to our vision, then taken from us, leaving the thousand currents of our affection to flow back like cold and Alpine torrents upon the heart?

We are born for a higher destiny than that of earth. There is a land where the rainbow never fades, where the stars will be spread out before us like islands that slumber upon the ocean; and where the beautiful beings that pass here like visions, will stay in our presence forever.—G. D. Prentice.

YOUNG AMERICA WONDERS.—Wonder why mamma keeps Bridget home from church, to work all day, and then says it is wicked for me to build my rabbit's house on Sunday?

Wonder what makes papa tell such nice stories to visitors, about his hiding the master's rattan when he went to school, and about his running away from his schoolmistress, when she was going to whip him, and then shut me up all day in a dark room because I tried just once to be as smart as he was?

Wonder what made papa say that wicked word when Betsey upset the ink all over his papers, and then slap my ears because I said the same thing when my kite-string broke?

Wonder why mamma told Bridget, the other day, to say that she was not at home when Tommy Day's mother called, and then put me to bed without my supper every time I tell a lie?

Wonder why our minister bought that pretty cane, with the yellow lion's head on the top, and then asked me for my cent to put in the missionary box. Don't I want a jewsharp just as well as he wanted a cane?

Oh, dear! there are lots of things I want to know.

CROOKED LEGS.—An exchange says that bowed legs are not caused by a baby's being placed upon its feet too early, but to a habit children have of rubbing the soles of the feet together. They appear to enjoy the contact only when the feet are naked; they don't attempt to make it when they are socked. If this is true, the remedy is obvious; keep the baby's feet covered. Knock knees are ascribed by the same paper to a different childish habit—that of sleeping on the side with one knee tucked into the hollow behind the other. Where one leg has been bowed inward more than the other, the patient has always selpt on one side, and the uppermost member has been that most deformed. Here the preventive that suggests itself is to be careful every night to place the child to sleep in different positions. Indeed, all through life, it is well to sleep on both sides.

Mr. Spurgeon denounces Rev. Geo. Gilfillan's (United Presbyterian) latest book as "a whipped-cream decoction, which may pass with shallow pates as poetic, flowerly, and refined." What has excited this indignation is the critic's estimate of Whitefield, and also his views on the subject of eternal punishment. "The author may do his best or his worst," says Mr. Spurgeon; "Whitefield was a prince of preachers, and would that we had a hundred like unto him. If the preacher does not believe in an eternal, literal hell, he may chirp his delicate lays to fastidious hearers, and tinkle ears polite into rhapsodic ecstacy; but we, knowing the terrors of the Lord and the wrath to come, must be sensational enough to beseech them, both day and night, with tears, to be reconciled unto God."

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.
They are not a vile fancy drink. f17 4w

THE AMERICAN FAMILY
KNITTING MACHINE,
Is presented to the public as the most Simple, Durable, and Compact and Cheap Knitting Machine ever invented.
PRICE ONLY, $25.
This Machine will run either backward or forward with equal facility; makes the same stitch as by hand, but far superior in every respect.
Will knit 20,000 Stitches in a minute,
and do perfect work, leaving every knot on the inside of the work. It will knit a pair of stockings (any size) in less than half an hour. It will knit Close or Open, plain or Ribbed work, with any kind of coarse or fine wooled yarn, or cotton, silk or linen. It will knit stockings with double heel and toe, drawers, hoods, sacks, smoking Caps, comforts, purses, mats, fringe, algiatus, nubias, underseeves, mittens, skating caps, lamp wicks, mats, cord, undersbirts, shawls, jackets, cradle blankets, leggins, suspenders, wristers, tidies, tippets, tufted work, and in fact an endless variety of articles in every day use, as well as for ornament.
FROM $5 TO $10 PER DAY
Can be made by any one with the American Knitting Machine, knitting stockings, &c., while expert operators can even make more, knitting fancy work, which always commands a ready sale. A person can readily knit from twelve to fifteen pairs of stockings per day, the profit on which will be not less than forty cents per pair.
FARMERS
Can sell their wool at only forty to fifty cents per pound, but by getting the wool made into yarn at a small expense, and knitting it into socks, two or three dollars per pound may be realized. On receipt of $25 we will forward a machine as ordered.
We wish to procure active AGENTS in every section of the United States and Canadas, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered. Address,

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND BOTTLES PER ANNUM.
THE NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE.
DODD'S NERVINE,
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC,
And expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of
NERVOUS DISEASE, &c., &c.,

Coughs,	Neuralgia,	Female Weaknesses,
Colds,	Headache,	Fainting Fits,
Fevers,	Convulsions,	Palpitation,
Ague,	Sleeplessness,	Restlessness,
Biliousness,	Dyspepsia,	Dizziness,
Constipation,	Liver Complaint,	Children's Troubles
Diarrhœa,	Consumption,	&c., &c., &c.

Take Care of Yourself.
DODD'S NERVINE is a PURE STONIC,—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE,—gives increased energy to the STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS and other viscera,—and SUPPLIES FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It OPERATES SOOTHINGLY,—is as PLEASANT TO TAKE as any wine,—and with SLEEP and GOOD DIGESTION, which IT PROMOTES, RESTORES the afflicted to HEALTH OF BODY, and to QUIETNESS OF MIND. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatsoever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative powers. See pamphlet accompanying each bottle.
Some folks can't get Sleep Nights,
Dodd's Nervine is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that GOOD SLEEP is better than all medicines.
LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.
The Nervine is also one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. See pamphlet.
Children's Diseases.
For WHOOPING COUGH Dodd's Nervine is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in MEASLES, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. See recommendations in pamphlet. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no opium in any form.
Be Careful what Medicines you take.
Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to the nervous health and are ALWAYS followed by depressing REACTION. The strength that Dodd's Nervine gives is the STRENGTH OF HEALTH and COMES TO STAY. Beware of the whiskey preparations that have laid the foundations of so many habits of intemperance. Whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise, let the villainous compounds alone. Better die of honest disease than be burnt up by the fires of alcohol. For the ingredients that compose Dodd's Nervine see pamphlet on each bottle. For sale by Druggists and Country Stores. Price One Dollar. f17 4w

THE LOSS OF THE ONEIDA.—Secretary Fish has received a dispatch from the captain of the British steamer Bombay, which run into and sunk the Oneida, in which the commander says the Oneida was under both steam and sail at the time of the collision, and making about thirteen knots an hour, while his steamer was making but six, and he was cognizant of striking the Oneida, but says the jar was so light that he had no idea any injury was done to her, and therefore kept on his course. He makes no reference to hearing the guns of the Oneida. The truth of the matter is probably that the captain of the Bombay was fully aware of the collision, but kept on his course, for fear being found out if he should stop, as his company would therefore be compelled to pay damages.

JUST SO. — The Boston Advertiser says that Rev. Mr. Alger, at a late lecture, "traced the historic development of the various features of the doctrine of a local and material hell, from their simplest beginnings to their most complicated combination. Showing the mythological character of the whole doctrine, he analyzed the idea of punishment into its elements, pointed out its spiritual and remedial character, and illustrated its independence of special times and places." Much obliged for the information.

☞ The Christian Register states that Rev. W. C. Finney, formerly of this city, has resigned his charge at St. Joseph, Miss., where he has been located the past few months.

A UNITED STATES LIE.—On a bank note in hand, is this statement;—"This note is a Legal Tender at its face for all debts, public and private, except duties and imposts and interest on the public debt." But, says the United States supreme court, "this note is not a legal tender at its face value of debts contracted before 1862."

When our federal goverment issued its legal tender notes, it, by the act, coined so much money, and that in the exercise of its constitutional prerogative. It might have excepted debts contracted before the issue of legal tenders, but it did not. To make such an exception eight years afterward, is a pronounced and audacious falsehood. Integrity requires that Congress rebuke the Supreme Court by reversing its late legal tender decision, bidding it not to interfere henceforth with Congressional coinage enactments.

☞ We are much indebted to friends all about, for copies of the Gazette recently called for; and also for the Dog poems or pens. ELIOT.—Mrs. Lucy Parker of Eliot died Feb. 20th, aged 72 years and six months. She ate a handful of raw raisins, Saturday morning previous which produced inflammation, of which she died. She had a brother and a sister who died at just the same age, one from eating clams, the other from eating maple sugar She had for some time had a premonition that she should die in a similar manner.

An inmate of the alms-house in Eliot, was buried on the 20th instant. There are left but five paupers in the above mentioned town.—Biddeford Jour.

A CAPITAL NEW NOVEL.—"Red as a Rose is She," a new novel by the author of "Cometh Up as a Flower," is a very vivid and charming love-story, in which the characters are drawn with unusual vigor, and the incidents have probability and freshness. "Cometh Up as a Flower," and "Not Wisely, but too Well," the preceding novels by the same author, attracted no little attention on account of their spirited character-sketching; they exhibited, indeed in this particular, a really striking power. 'Red as a rose' has the same quality. A better-drawn heroine, or one more truly full of a delicious human nature, no recent fiction has supplied. The interest of the story is most absorbing, and altogether, it is one of the most readable books of the season. Published by D. Appleton & Co., New York, who will mail a copy to any address, post-paid, on receipt of sixty cents; or the three books by the same author, for $1.50.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

SPONGE. — Some fifteen or twenty months since I procured some samples from the "Elastic Sponge Co." for experiments. I believe it is rendered permanently elastic by being moistened with glycerine. Some I have kept all this time in a warm dry place. I took samples of the sponge, curled hair and feathers, dried them in a stove oven, and weighed out 50 grains of each. I took up a board in the cellar-bottom and put them under it. Weeks after I weighed them,—the feathers weighed 89 grains; the hair, 77; but the sponge, 190! I then put them in a cold room absolutely unaffected by any fire, and kept them all this winter; the sponge dried down to 70 grains exactly; and, curiously enough, the feathers and hair weighed 75 grains each, to less than a half grain. Sponge would seem less liable to gather dampness in a cold room than hair or feathers. I find a sponge pillow weighed rather less than three-fourths asmuch as one filled with live goose feathers. I. F. H.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

PORTLAND, ME., March 5.

The U. S. Supreme Court decision threatens to cause considerable complication and disturbance to the investments and debts contracted prior to Feb. 25, 1862. Mayor Putnam has already called the City Council's attention to the fact that there are $930,000 in outstanding City bonds dated previous to February 25, 1862.

In the Maine Legislature on the 14th a resolution was introduced instructing the State Treasurer to pay all the outstanding debts of the State contracted prior to Feb. 25 1862, in gold and silver coin. The funded debt of the State Jan. 1st was $8,100,900, including the loan of 1869 for reimbursement of war debts. Of this, $6,916,900 has been borrowed since the date of the legal tender act and is consequently payable in legal currency. The sum of $1,184,000 was borrowed before the passage of said act, and by the recent Kentucky decision is payable in gold. The amount falls due—$8000 of it March 1, $254,000 Oct, 5th, and the rest in installments payable in 1871 and so on till 1878. Specie payments will undoubtedly be resumed before the last payments and the discrepancy between gold and legal tender will not be of any considerable amount. The resolution was introduced as a Scare-Crow.

It was referred (and buried) to Com. on Federal Relations. Nobody, however, need be frightened. It is a harmless joke and Maine will pay all its debts and interest honorably and legally.

Considerable feeling exists between the Mayor and friends against the School Committee, and the appropriation is likely to be exceeded by some $5000—like some others of the present city government. Expenditures last year $42,240 10 — appropriation this year $44,450—already expended $35,999 10, some $13,500 more being required.

Amt. foreign exports from Portland for 1869 was $13,900,527; domestic Merchandise exported $1,872,484; total $15,773,011. Foreign imports, $15,080,742, of which $12,494,189 was for goods in transit. SANCHO.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

FRESH BEEF AND VEGETABLES.

OFFICE OF NAVY PAYMASTER, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 8, 1870.

SEALED PROPOSALS, endorsed will be received at this office until 2 o'clock P. M., on the 14th day of March, for the supply of 25,000 Pounds of Fresh Beef and 25,000 pounds of Fresh Vegetables, at the PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD and STATION, as required.

The Beef must be of good quality, and equal to the grade necessary to make the best mess beef, and be delivered in equal proportion of fore and hind-quarters. The Vegetables must be of the best quality the market affords, and the Beef and Vegetables must be offered for by the pound.

Bonds, with approved security, will be required in one-quarter the estimated amount of the contract, and twenty per cent. in addition will be withheld from the amount of each payment, as collateral security for the due performance of the contract, which reservation will not be paid until the contract is fully complied with.

Every offer must be accompanied by a written guaranty, signed by one or more responsible persons, that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation within five days, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the articles proposed.

No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by such guaranty, and the Department reserves the right to reject any proposal unless the responsibility of the guarantors is certified to by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside, and unless the license required by Act of Congress is furnished with the proposal, as well as to reject any proposal not considered advantageous to the Government.

It is to be understood that in case the stipulated quantity of either article shall be delivered, leaving a balance due on the other article, the contract may be considered as completed in full, at the option of the Department.

Blank forms for bidders furnished at this office.

—A little girl in a primary school, who was diligently printing out a letter to be sent to a very dear friend, puzzled her teacher by wanting to know how to spell "tunkin." Light broke in when it was found that she wanted to tell her friend that she loved her "more than—'tunkin' tell!"

—One of the ex-Confederate exiles who sought "their rights" by migrating to Brazil after the surrender of Lee, now writes a most piteous appeal to our government to "send a ship and bring the last of them away" and to do it soon if we "expect to find them alive."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alteratives and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Power is present. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes softer and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating, that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

The Responsibilities of the Liver.

The liver has a very important part to perform in the animal economy. Its function is two-fold. The fluid which it secretes compares the blood and regulates the bowels, and upon the quantity and quality of the secretion depends, in a great degree, the adaptation of the blood to the requirements of the system and the due removal of the refuse matter which remains in the intestines after the work of digestion has been accomplished.

One of the principal uses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to tone and control this somewhat unruly organ. The antibilious properties of the preparation are scarcely secondary to its virtues as a stomachic. Its operation upon the liver is not violent like that of mercury, but gradual and gentle. Instead of creating a sudden tumult in that sensitive gland, it regulates its action by degrees. Hence, it is a safe remedy for bilious disorders, while mercury, being a tremendous excitant, is not. The more naturally and quietly a diseased organ can be restored to its normal condition the better, and it is the peculiar property of this harmless vegetable alterative to reinforce and regulate without exciting or convulsing.

The success which has attended its use as a remedy for disorders of the liver is proverbial. Persons of a bilious habit who take it habitually as a protection against the attacks to which they are constitutionally liable, pronounce it the best liver tonic in existence. The symptoms of an approaching fit of biliousness can hardly be mistaken. A pain in the right side or under the shoulder blades, a saffron tinge in the whites of the eyes, sick headache, a feeling of drowsiness, low spirits, loss of appetite, constipation and general debility are among the usual indications of a morbid condition of the liver, and as soon as they appear the Bitters should be resorted to in order to ward off more serious consequences.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chesistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says; "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These afflictions are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Allentown, Penn., April 4, 1865,

Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had a very bad pain in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly, JOHN V. N. HUNTER.

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated in my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by-many, thoughtlessly, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I know my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Bunions, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

Price 50 cts. Sold by the Druggists, Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. ja13dawlm

TO STONE CONTRACTORS.

PROPOSALS for furnishing the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS. Sealed Proposals will be received at the Office of the Superintendent of Streets, City Hall, Boston, Mass., until March 17th, 1870, for supplying the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS during the year 1870. The blocks to be of the following dimensions, viz:—

Width, 3½ to 4½ in. Length, 6 to 8 in. Depth, 7 to 8 inches.

All the edges to be sharp and straight, forming right angles at their intersections both horizontally and vertically. The faces to be straight, split, and free from bunches or depressions.

Proposals to state the price per thousand blocks delivered on such wharfin the city proper, South and East Boston, as may be designated from time to time by the Superintendent of Streets. Also, the number of blocks which the proposer will deliver per month during the year. A sample of the blocks must accompany the proposal.

Proposals to be addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Proposals for furnishing City of Boston with Stone Paving-Blocks."

The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals. GEO. O. CARPENTER, 14tmh2 Chairman Committee on Paving. Boston, Mass., March 1st, 1870.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements To-Day.

Theatre—C. E. Bidwell.
Proposals for Beef, &c.—Edwin Putnam.
Promenade Concert—W. I. Trafton.
New Book—Foster Shores & Co.

☞ James P. Bartlett, Esq., will give one of his admirable Readings before the Mercantile Library Association, this (Tuesday) evening, commencing at a quarter to eight o'clock. The selection will be Goldsmith's genteel comedy "She Stoops to Conquer," which is very popular, both in this country and in Europe. Mrs. John Wood has given a dinner recently, to a company of actors and critics in London, in honor of the one hundredth performance of "She Stoops to Conquer" at her theatre. Mr. Bartlett who is an enthusiastic admirer of Goldsmith's genius, will of course give an appreciative rendering of the famous play.

All who were present at Mr. Bartlett's previous appearance, will want to hear him to-night. The Officers of the Association will be in attendance to wait upon ladies to seats. A general invitation is extended to all lovers of polite literature to be present.

There will be no postponement on account of stormy weather, or the defeat or success of anybody's candidates—stoop they never so much to conquer.

☞ Mr. Durant, the revivalist, preached in the new Methodist meeting house at Kittery on Sunday forenoon; at Newcastle in the afternoon; and at the North meeting house in this city in the evening,—to large congregations. He also held forth to the Navy Yard workmen, in one of the ship-houses, at noon on Monday, and in the Methodist church in this city in the afternoon.

THE THEATRE.—Manager Bidwell has now one of the best travelling troupes in the country and his fine new orchestra delighted the audience in attendance at the Temple, Monday evening, between the acts, while Dolly, Lillie Wilkinson and Meldrum were received with favor. Mr. Bidwell announces the "Octoroon" for to-night.

☞ The Granite State Base Ball Club held their annual meeting last evening. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year. President, James H. Dow, Vice President Chas. S. Frye, Sec. Samuel Donnell Jr., Treas. Foster Shores, Directors, Merrill Spalding, M. Henry Hackett, Wm. S. Hazel.

☞ Plummer, the Shoe man, is one of the biggest and best advertisers that was ever located in this vicinity. And Bidwell is the best Theatrical manager that has appeared for a many a year. Both of them evidently agree with Horace Greeley, that a trader who pays more for store-rent than for advertising misses it.

REPUBLICANS! do not forget that this is election day, and every vote is needed to re-elect Gov. Stearns over Bedel, Flint and Barrows. Work hard all day, get out the voters early, make a grand rally for the election of the excellent Republican candidates for the legislature in Sebastopol, and then celebrate.

☞ Mr. Charles L. Abbott, formerly of this city, is a member of the Texas House of Representatives; and we are pleased to see, still clings to his old political faith. His name is recorded among the "yeas" on the 14th and 15th Constitutional Amendments.

☞ Government proposes to lay in a stock of beef and vegetables at this Naval Station, and Paymaster Putnam advertises for proposals for the whole amount, to-day; viz., 25,000 pounds beef and 25,000 pounds vegetables.

Portsmouth Vote, 1869.

☞ We would urge upon Republicans the necessity of electing Republican Representatives to the legislature, the Democrats and Labor Reform men are laboring in other parts of the State to get control of the legislature.

☞ By the decision of the U. S. Supreme Court, the city of Portsmouth has to pay $33,700 of the city debt in gold, that being the amount contracted previous to the passage of the legal tender Act, Feb. 25, 1862.

☞ A plurality vote elects all county officers. A majority of all the votes cast is necessary to elect all other officers.

☞ Mr. Joshua M. Bickford is the Republican candidate for re-election as Representative from Newcastle.

☞ See that your name is on the check list. Voting commences at 9 o'clock, this morning.

The Congregational church at Winchester has recently received a present of $200, toward defraying expenses for the current year, the joint gift of Mrs. Emily Jewell, widow of the late Pliny Jewell, Esq., of Hartford, Conn., and her sister, Mrs. Clarissa Clapp, of Winchester. The pastor, Rev. E. Harmon, has had a note for $400, which he owed to Mr. Jewell, returned him by the heir of the latter.

Rev. Samuel Lee is supplying the Congregational church in New Ipswich. Mr. Lee was the former pastor; and is one of the best scholars and pastors in the State.

The fruits of the recent revivals in Laconia and Colebrook are said to be 300 converts in the former place, and over 100 in the latter.

Abraham G. Jones, a printer, is the Republican candidate for Mayor of Concord.

☞ Mr. D. H. Montgomery of this city, has been appointed State Agent in New Hampshire, for the sale of the beautiful Photographs of Palmer's last and most admired work, of sculpture, The Angel at the Sepulchre.

Matthew, 28th chapter, 2d and 3d verses. "And behold, there was a great earthquake; for the Angel of the Lord descended from Heaven, and came and rolled back the stone from the door, and sat upon it. His countenance was like lightning, and His raiment white as snow."

These pictures are in various sizes, from cards at 25 cts., up to large and exquisites pictures at $5 and $10—but all very beautiful, and in the highest style of the art. We commend them to all lovers of sacred subjects, and all who appreciate a fine picture.

ELECTION RETURNS.—We ask as a special favor, that town clerks, selectmen, or other friends in the neighboring towns, will send us the detailed result of their vote, immediately on the closing of the polls. Give us the Governor and Representative vote in full, with the names and politics of Representatives. We should also like lists of Town Officers, with their politics.

A DISTRESSING COUGH causes the friends of the sufferer almost as much as the sufferer himself, and should receive immediate attention. Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry speedily cures coughs, colds, influenza, sore throat, &c. It will always relieve consumption, and in many well attested cases it has effected a perfect cure.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD LOANS have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 20 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 153 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only to the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.

P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawtm

MATHEMATICAL CALCULATIONS.

THE INTEREST PROBLEM.—"H.," of Dover, says: "I contend that the example should be performed by true discount, and not by bank discount. I do not see any reason for commencing June 1st, any more than any other time. If the propounder of the question had wished to commence at any particular date, he should have so stated, but he says six months — so six months should be reckoned.

The amount of the note that B. owes A., for six months, is $772.50, as all say. The present worth of this, allowing 12 per cent. per annum, is $728,77. To prove that this is correct, the amt. of $728.77 for 6 mos., at 12 per cent. per annum, is $772.50.—I should like for 'Sancho' to prove his work. If he tries it I think he will find himself short $3.10 at the end of six months."

[The answer given by the propounder of the question is $726.75.—Editors Chronicle & Gazette.]

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

CLINTON, MASS., March 4.

Messrs. Editors:—In this week's issue of the Gazette, your readers are informed of the wonderful fact that a child has been born in your city having one ear! Please, sirs, will you inform them whether you have ever known of a child being born there that had not one ear?

Now a word with you and your reader, if you please, about the "Liquor Agency." I make no pretensions to mathematical ability, but I offer the following solution of the question:

Agent rec'd from town, cash,		$32.17
" " liquor, in value,		57,54
Amt. rec'd at first,		$89.71
Expended for liquor,		59.91
Leaving in his hands,		$29.80
Sales of liquor during the year,		102.97
Liquor on hand at year's end,		31.37
Amount,		$164.14
Less Agent's salary,		25.00
And you have left,		$139.14

which it seems to me is the amount due the town from the agent, if there is no catch in the statement of the question.

I have carefully examined the solution as given by A. M. H. I think I know who he is; and if I do, I can assure him I do not covet a meeting with him on questions of mathematics. But it seems to me that he has made no use at all of the $57.54 which is named as the value of the liquor the agent received when he took the agency, together with the $32.17 in cash. Leaving that out, the answer is $81.60; but add to that answer the $57.54 and you have my answer, $139.14. May I ask why A. M. H. makes no use of the $57.40.—or, if he does make use of it, where? I. F. W.

SOUTH MALDEN, MASS., March 4.

Your Town Agent Problem was answered wrong, double entry to the contrary notwithstanding, by A. M. H., A. H. N. and J. P. C. They make no account of an item of $57.54 delivered to him in liquors, the same as cash. He must account for this, for $32.17 of town money, and $102.97 paid into the agency by purchasers. To offset, he has a charge of $25, paid into his individual pocket, and $59.91 paid for liquors. The balance against him is therefore $107.77. Of this he pays $31.37 in liquors; the rest, $76.40, must be paid in cash. I am no accountant, but I guess the items would be arranged something as follows:—

Agent to Agency,	Dr.
To cash,	$32.17
" stock,	57.54
" sales,	102.97
Amount,	$192.68
Contra,	Cr.
By cash,	$76.40
" stock,	31.37
" purchases,	59.91
" salary,	25.00
Amount,	$192.68

Yours, I. F. H.

E. S. W. sends us the following:—

	Dr.
To amt. rec'd from town,	$89.71
" " paid for liquors,	59.91
Amount,	$149.62
	Cr.
By total sales,	$102.97
" liquor on hand,	31.37
" loss in transaction,	15.28
Amount,	$149.62
	Dr.
To loss by transaction,	$15.28
" agent's fees,	25.00
" liquor returned,	31.37
" cash paid or due town,	18.06
Amount,	$89.71
	Cr.
By amt. rec'd of town in cash and liquor at starting,	$89.91
Loss by transaction,	$15.28
Agent's salary,	25.00
Total loss by town,	$40.28

J. L. R. arrives at the same answer by analysis.

I understand the following is a correct solution to the liquor question:—

Paid for liquors,		$59.91
Salary,		25.00
Amount,		$84.91
Rec'd cash from town,		$32.17
" " " sales,		102.97
Amount,		$135.14
Less amt. expended,		84.91
Amount due town,		$50.23

The liquors received, and $57.54, gives acct. in cash for sales. Liquor left to amt. of $31.37, charged as paid, will not be reckoned; and

It seems as though the following was correct:—

	Dr.
Cash rec'd,	$32.17
Liquors,	57.54
Cash from sales,	102.97
Total receipts,	$192.68
	Cr.
Paid for liquors,	$59.91
Salary,	25.00
Liquor on hand,	31.37
Total expenses,	$116.28
Balance against agent,	$76.40
Less liquor on hand,	31.37
Agent owes town,	$45.03

Yours, W. A. C.

[Note.—W. A. C. gives the agent credit for "liquor on hand" twice, or he would have got $76.40 in answer.—Eds. Chron.]

Several other correspondents make the amount due the town, $50.23.

Messrs. Editors:—After reviewing the liquor question, I am led to the conclusion that the town suffered a loss of $40.28 in the business.

Amount of sales,		$102.97
Amt. paid for liquor,	$59.91
Salary,	25.00	—84.91
Agent owes town,		$18.06
Amt. rec'd from town at start,		$89.71
Agent owes town,	$18.06
Liquor on hand,	31.37	—49.43
Loss to town,		$40.28

Yours, N. D.

[Does a hired Agent owe for losses by his transactions? If so would he not claim the profits, should there be any?—Eds.]

A brilliant correspondent of the Taunton Gazette solves the problem thus:—

1st invoice furnished by town,		$57.54
2d " " " agent,		59.91
Amount,		$117.45
Town paid on 2d invoice,	$32.17
Agent " " " "	27.74	— and charged it to the town, so it is evident the town owned all the liquor.

Amt. of sales,		$102.97
Paid by agent on 2d inv.,	$27.74
Agent's salary,	25.00
Amt. stock on hand,	31.37	—84.11
Agent owes town,		$18.86
Town's 1st invoice of grog,		$57.54
Paid by town on 2d invoice,		32.17
Amount,		$89.71
Am't due from agent,	$18.86
Stock on hand,	31.37	—50.23
Loss to town,		$39.48

"The reason for accounting for the second invoice as I have in the above, was, to let the 72 teachers, and all others, who have figured on the sum, know why the $32.17 was received at the beginning of the year, for I do not think any of them can tell. I will give my ideas of it; but can't say positively. I think the agent was on hand early in the morning to commence business; a customer was on hand also, with his flask, and wanted to try the liquor; the agent dropped the proof-glass into the pipe and let it fill; the customer tried it, turned up his nose, and left; the agent left also, locked the door behind him, to prevent any more noses being turned up in his absence; struck a B line for the telegraph office, sent a telegram to the city for a pipe of A 1 nose proof liquor; the liquor was forwarded by express, noon train, with bill, C. O. D., $59.91.

The agent then went to the Town Treasurer with the bill; the clerk opened his check book, found he had $32.17 in the bank, so he filled up a check for that amount; the agent received it and paid the balance himself, resumed business, and continued through the year. I cannot see why there should be any question to cause "a law suit," unless the agent thought his salary was small and struck for higher wages, so was told that his services were not longer needed, he could make up his account, and thought his indebtedness (as he had accounted for all the liquor received,) should offset the liquor tried by his customers."

Another solution in the same paper, by book-keeping, (double entry,) is similar to the one left at this office by A. M. H.

Prof. E. T. Quimby, of Dartmouth College, who propounded the question, says that the following is the correct solution:—

Cash rec'd of town,	$32.17
" " from sales,	102.97	—$135.14
Cash paid for liquor,	59.91
Salary,	25.00	—84.91
Amount due town in cash,		$50.23

—The proposition to send John P. Hale to Concord in Mr. Wheeler's place and make him Speaker is considered by Mr. Wheeler and his friends as decidedly cool even for the month of March. Although such propositions may be entirely in order upon the two year plan of the party in sending Representatives, yet all things considered, it is looked upon as rather "crowding the mourners."—Dover Local Recorder.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous combination use till they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unlit tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long course is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicide will cure the complaint. Leucorrhea or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic or Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Freight always taken at low rates, and for warded with despatch.
New York Express Freight Train leaves Boston at 1.30 P. M.; goods arrive in New York next morning about 6 A. M. Freight leaving New York reaches Boston on the following day, at 9.45 A. M.
For tickets, berths and staterooms, apply at the Company's office at No. 3 Old State House, corner of Washington and State Streets, and at old Colony and Newport Railroad Depot, corner of South and Kneeland Streets, Boston.
Steamers leave New York daily, (Sundays excepton,) from Pier 39 North River, foot of Chambers Street, at 5 P. M.

NOT PARTED.

They are not parted, though their feet
Have wandered far in different ways,
And though they nevermore may meet
On winter eves or summer days.
It matters not though realms divide,
Though boundless seas between them roll;
For still, defying wind and tide,
Heart yearns to heart, and soul to soul.

They are not parted—only those
Are parted whom no love unites;
Their absence breaks not our repose,
Who have no share in our delights;
They may be by our side, and still
As far from us as pole from pole,
Who lack the sympathetic thrill
Of heart to heart and soul to soul.

THE U. S. INCOME TAX.—We have seen several articles, complaining of this tax;—but none have stated the reasons for its repeal or abatement, better than the Chicago Advance, in article from which we copy some extracts below, appending a few Notes of dissnet and assent. The Advance says:—

The reason for not renewing the Income Tax at all are briefly these: The tax is a war measure and should be disused so soon as the necessities arising out of the war will permit it; its enforcement puts the government for the the time in the attitude of an inquisitorial, prying, meddlesome authority, and to that extent engenders a feeling of antagonism between the people and the government of their own choosing; (1) it does violence to what may be called the Commercial Instinct, which naturally and properly rebels against the attempt to give forcible publicity to every citizen's private business affairs and financial condition; (2) it furnishes a constant and powerful temptation, even to men of average honor, to smirch their souls with a self-excused lie in order to bring their income below the taxable point; it thus becomes a source of demoralization to the people in a greater degree than all other taxes combined.(3) The Government, in its own interest, needs to lessen, rather than knowingly increase, the evil influences that have already done so much in our land to obliterate in the minds of business men the dividing line between honesty and dishonesty—between a sterling and a spurious integrity. "Lead us not into temptation."

If it be deemed necessary to reimpose the Income Tax for a short period, the reasons in favor of reducing the rate and increasing the exemption are these:

We no longer need to raise so large a sum from this source as heretofore. To just the extent that we reduce the number persons subject to the tax, and lighten the burden of the tax itself, to this extent we obviate the acknowledged evil results of levying the tax. Five per cent. is too high a rate to be successfully collected, just as two dollars per gallon was too high a tax on whisky.(4) The amount involved makes the temptation to fraud so strong that the law partially defeats its own object. Thousands who have paid no income tax under the present rate, would report taxable incomes if the rate were reduced to three per cent.(5)

For this reason the change of rate would not by any means subtract two-fifths of the yield of the income tax. Increasing the exemption from one thousand to two thousand dollars would be simply lightening the general burden of the tax by exempting from its provisions the class least able to pay it. As now levied, the tax is a real and a grievous burden to thousands of small-salaried men who are taxed in a hundred others ways through the enhanced cost of city living and whose scanty wages leave no margin beyond bare family expenses. The income tax paid by many of these, diminishes to just that extent the reasonable comforts of life.(6)

NOTES—By Uncle Toby.—1. We see no reason why any man with a large income should not be taxed for it; nor why he should deem it impertinent or inquisitorial, to be asked How large an income have you, that is taxable?—This is done in Great Britain: and surely our wealthy men need not put on any higher airs than the English Aristocracy.

2. No man needs to be credited for a larger income than he really has: and the reputation of a large income helps any man's credit.

3. The average of honor is a great way below par, if the honorable man may lie about his income.

4. There is some force in this reasoning.

5. We do not feel so sure about the thousands; tho' doubtless there would be some such cases;—and three per cent. would do very well.

6. Reducing the rate to 3 per cent. increasing the exemption to $1500 or $2000, would obviate the only real objections to the tax, which are found in these last words. It cannot be successfully denied, that the Income Tax in this country, as well as in England, reaches a class who are the best able to pay, who otherwise would go almost untaxed.

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.
They are not a vile fancy drink. f17 4w

THE AMERICAN FAMILY
KNITTING MACHINE,
Is presented to the public as the most Simple, Durable, and Compact and Cheap Knitting Machine ever invented.
PRICE ONLY, $25.
This Machine will run either backward or forward with equal facility; makes the same stitch as by hand, but far superior in every respect.
Will knit 20,000 Stitches in a minute,
and do perfect work, leaving every knot on the inside of the work. It will knit a pair of stockings (any size) in less than half an hour. It will knit Close or Open, plain or Ribbed work, with any kind of coarse or fine wooled yarn, or cotton, silk or linen. It will knit stockings with double heel and toe, drawers, hoods, sacks, smoking Caps, comforts, purses, muffs, fringe, afghans, nubias, underseleeves, mittens, skating caps, lamp wicks, mats, cord, undershirts, shawls, jackets, cradle blankets, leggins, suspenders, wristers, tidies, tippets, tufted work, and in fact an endless variety of articles in every day use, as well as for ornament.
FROM $5 TO $10 PER DAY
Can be made by any one with the American Knitting Machine, knitting stockings, &c., while expert operators can even make more, knitting fancy work, which always commands a ready sale. A person can readily knit from twelve to fifteen pairs of stockings per day, the profit on which will be not less than forty cents per pair.
FARMERS
Can sell their wool at only forty to fifty cents per pound, but by getting the wool made into yarn at a small expense, and knitting it into socks, two or three dollars per pound may be realized. On receipt of $25 we will forward a machine as ordered.
We wish to procure active AGENTS in every section of the United States and Canadas, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered. Address,

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND BOTTLES PER ANNUM.
THE NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE.
DODD'S NERVINE,
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC,
And expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of
NERVOUS DISEASE, &c., &c.,

Coughs,	Neuralgia,	Female Weaknesses,
Colds,	Headache,	Fainting Fits,
Fevers,	Convulsions,	Palpitation,
Agues,	Sleeplessness,	Restlessness,
Billiousness,	Dyspepsia,	Dizziness,
Constipation,	Liver Complaint,	Children's Troubles
Diarrhœa,	Consumption,	&c., &c., &c.

Take Care of Yourself.
DODD'S NERVINE is a PURE TONIC,—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE,—gives increased energy to the STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS and other viscera,—and SUPPLIES FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. IT OPERATES SOOTHINGLY,—is as PLEASANT TO TAKE as any wine,—and with SLEEP and GOOD DIGESTION, which IT PROMOTES, RESTORES the afflicted to SOUND HEALTH OF BODY, and to QUIETNESS OF MIND. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatsoever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative powers. See pamphlet accompanying each bottle.
Some folks can't get Sleep Nights,
Dodd's Nervine is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that GOOD SLEEP is better than all medicines.
LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.
The Nervine is also one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. See pamphlet.
Children's Diseases.
For WHOOPING COUGH Dodd's Nervine is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in MEASLES, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. See recommendations in pamphlet. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no opium in any form.
Be Careful what Medicines you take.
Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to the nervous health and are ALWAYS followed by depressing REACTION. The strength that Dodd's Nervine gives is the STRENGTH OF HEALTH and COMES TO STAY. Beware of the whiskey preparations that have laid the foundations of so many habits of intemperance. Whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise, let the villainous compounds alone. Better die of honest disease than be burnt up by the fires of alcohol. For the ingredients that compose Dodd's Nervine see pamphlet on each bottle. For sale by Druggists and Country Stores. Price One Dollar. f17 4w

Portsmouth, N. H.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 9, 1870.

THE ELECTION.—Tuesday was as fine a day, for the annual State election, as could be wished. The going was good and sleighs were scudding swiftly about town, carrying voters to and from the polls. The Democracy seem to have been very nearly paralyzed by the action of their State Committee and didn't go manfully at work, shoulder to shoulder, as of yore, except in Ward Three. In this boasted Sebastopol, they labored from morning till night to save their candidates for Representatives from defeat. They kept the polls open until about 9 o'clock and declared 7 plurality for Bedel, and a few more for their candidates for Representatives.

In Ward One, the Democrats ran a split ticket, having the name of Mr. S. W. DeMeritt for Representative, in place of Mr. John H. Slater. Mr. DeMeritt spoiled their fun by publishing a card repudiating the movement. The Republicans of the Ward gave Gov. Stearns 247 majority over all.

Ward Two gave Gov. Stearns 309 majority over all, and was the first Ward to declare its vote, as usual.

The vote of the city is 1782 against 1980 last year. Gov. Stearns had 248 majority last year and now has 542—a gain of 294. Labor Reformers and independent Temperance men seem to have been few and far between, here.

Portsmouth gives large majorities against the propositions for the creation of Amoskeag, and Monadnock and a Constitutional Convention. Just what the majorities are we are unable to say, because of the non-receipt of the vote on these measures in Ward Three.

Wm. H. Belknap, present incumbent, candidate for Register of Deeds in this county, supported by the Democrats, Temperance men, Labor Reformers and many strong personal friends in the Republican ranks, gains largely on Folsom Dow, the Republican nominee, but not enough, probably, to elect him. Portsmouth gives Dow 82 less majority than for Gov. Stearns.

☞ A Clergyman formerly of this city, a staunch friend of temperance and labor, is writing us a private letter, says:

"I read with interest all accounts of political matters with you. I trust that Gov. Stearns will be re-elected by a handsome majority. The "Temperance" men are not wise. "Labor Reform" is a humbug in the interest of the Copperocracy of the State. How poor is the memory with many persons. They forget everything, but they pay dearly for their forgetfulness sometimes."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alterativas and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Fever is present. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes softer and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating, that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

The Responsibilities of the Liver.

The liver has a very important part to perform in the animal economy. Its function is twofold. The fluid which it secretes temperes the blood and regulates the bowels, and upon the quantity and quality of the secretion depends, in a great degree, the adaptation of the blood to the requirements of the system and the due removal of the fecal matter which remains in the intestines after the work of digestion has been accomplished.

One of the principal uses of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to tone and control this somewhat unruly organ. The antibilious properties of the preparation are scarcely secondary to its virtues as a stomachic. Its operation upon the liver is not violent like that of mercury, but gradual and gentle. Instead of creating a sudden tumult in that sensitive gland, it regulates its action by degrees. Hence, it is a safe remedy for bilious disorders, while mercury, being a tremendous excitant, is not. The more naturally and quietly a diseased organ can be restored to its normal condition the better, and it is the peculiar property of this harmless vegetable alterative to reinforce and regulate without exciting or convulsing.

The success which has attended its use as a remedy for affections of the liver is proverbial. Persons of a bilious habit who take it habitually as a protection against the attacks to which they are constitutionally liable, pronounce it the best liver tonic in existence. The symptoms of an approaching fit of biliousness can hardly be mistaken. A pain in the right side or under the shoulder blades, a saffron tinge in the whites of the eyes, sick headache, a feeling of drowsiness, low spirits, loss of appetite, constipation and general debility are among the usual indications of a morbid condition of the liver, and as soon as they appear the Bitters should be resorted to in order to ward off more serious consequences.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, the "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chemistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen PROF. CHILTON'S TESTIMONY.
Founded on a careful analysis, and certifying that Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye is not only a first-class article for changing the color of the hair, but

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.
What the Doctors Say:
AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."
ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."
NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.
Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, or they are slow.

A HUMBUG.
How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.
It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.
But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, others that they used to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.
I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see each accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

FRESH BEEF AND VEGETABLES.
OFFICE OF NAVY PAYMASTER,
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 8, 1870.
SEALED PROPOSALS, endorsed "Proposals for Fresh Beef and Vegetables," will be received at this office until 2 o'clock P. M., on the 31th day of March, for the supply of 25,000 pounds of Fresh Beef and 25,000 pounds of Fresh Vegetables, at the PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD and STATION, as required.
The Beef must be of good quality, and equal to the grade necessary to make the best mess beef, and be delivered in equal proportion of fore and hind-quarters. The Vegetables must be of the best quality the market affords, and the Beef and Vegetables must be offered for the pound.
Bonds, with approved security, will be required in one-quarter the estimated amount of the contract, and twenty per cent. in addition will be withheld from the amount of each payment, as collateral security for the due performance of the contract, which reservation will not be paid until the contract is fully completed with.
Every offer must be accompanied by a written guaranty, signed by one or more responsible persons, that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation within five days, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the articles proposed.
No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by such guaranty, and the Department reserves the right to reject any proposal unless the responsibility of the guarantors is certified to by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside, and unless the license required by Act of Congress is furnished with the proposal, as well as to reject any proposal not considered advantageous to the Government.
It is to be understood that in case the stipulated quantity of either article shall be delivered, leaving a balance due on the other article, the contract may be considered as completed in full, at the option of the Department.
Blank forms for bidders furnished at this office.

MR. DURANT'S LECTURE TO CHRISTIANS.—The Methodist meeting-house was occupied on Monday afternoon, by a good congregatian, mostly women, in spite of the snow-storm, to hear Mr. Durant preach to Christians, of whom the audience was presumed to be composed.

Reading for a lesson, a few verses from the 21st Chapter of John's gospel, the speaker proposed to consider the obstacles which prevented many from leading a cheerful, happy, joyous Christian life.

These obstacles were:—Relying on an Emotional Experience, which was not necessary, nor required, nor suggested, in the Bible:—Relying on a Conversion: — making a cold, barren profession of religion, and leading a life of formal membership. The speaker here suggested that no emotion, no excitement, no preparation was needful; but that each person present, no matter how despondent or doubtful, might come now to Jesus with full confidence that Jesus was his [Savior] and that he belongs to Jesus.

Two other obstacles were then named; skepticism about the Scriptures, in Christians:—and ignorance of the Bible, the study of which was commended. And last but not least, a Selfish Religion, supposed to be very common, was a grand obstacle in the way of the cheerful, happy, joyous, Christian Life,—which he described as certainly within the reach of all who would enter heartily on Christian work for the good of others.

There was another fine suggestion, not new, but valuable, that christians in their prayers, make too many petitions, but do not abound in thanksgiving.

Mr. Durant considered these faults, as very common in the New England churches, certainly so, in the Evangalical churches; and he had found doubts and fears of their own religious state prevalent among their members. He made special mention of two ladies, who professed to have been seeking religion many years, and who pretendedly stumbled over the doctrine of election, which he somehow perceived one of them did not believe, which could not be explained, and with which they had, as he assured them, no business.

The speaker's manner was lawyer-like, persuasive and colloquil, after the manner of a counseller before a jury.

The impression of the whole discourse on our mind was, that the speaker, whose opportunities of knowing the fact are very great, finds gloom and despondency abounding among the people of New England who readily believe the Evangelical views.—And we could not resist the conclusion, that a more Scriptual and less selfish view of pure and underfilled religion would make more cheerful christians. Certain we are, that a real, hearty, constant trust in our Heavenly Father, not only preserves from despondency, under trials, but also makes life full of hope, joy, and peace. U. T.

REAR ADMIRAL WINSLOW. — The Portsmouth correspondent of the Boston Journal writes that Rear Admiral Winslow, "although a Southerner by birth, comes from the best Massachusetts stock, being the seventh generation from John Winslow, brother of Edward Winslow, Governor of Massachusetts Bay, and consecrator of Plymouth Rock.

A singular circumstance in his history is the fact that Raphael Semmes, who commanded the Alabama, was an intimate friend and took part with him in the naval engagements of the Mexican war. The "Somers," which Mr. Semmes was attached to, was capsized in a squall and thirty of her crew were lost. Semmes was saved and was the guest of Mr. Winslow, at Vera Cruz, occupying the same room. Twenty years thereafter these two officers met off the coast of France, deadly enemies, and sailing under different flags. A final conflict followed, and when it was over the rebel Semmes was again swimming for life, not toward the flag of his country and to find shelter in his friend's room, but away from it, and from the former friend, to seek protection under a foreign flag. The two meetings stand in strange and striking contrast to each other."

☞ The date of building the first schooner was 1714, and the French and English war referred to yesterday was declared in 1744.

In the new Interest question, on Monday, both dates should have been 1869.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

NODHEADS AGAIN.—Messrs. Editors: I have a tree of this variety of Apple in my garden, and it is a rapid grower and a clean limbed, healthy tree, and I don't believe it ever lost a twig or a bud by the cold. It is about a week later in leaving out and blossoming than most apple trees are, which I regard as favorable, as being less likely to be injured by frost. It bears full crops of the best apples every second year. I should not be willing to change it for any variety I am acquainted with. It stands in a mixed clay and gravelly soil, thoroughly drained and manured, and frequently worked. It may not be suited for the orchard or adapted to all kinds of soils and conditions, but my one tree does well and is a great favorite.

The drawbacks are that it bears but little fruit in the odd years, and that many of the apples are more or less knotty; and this suggests to me the query whether the real name is not Knothead instead of Nodhead. The latter name is not appropriate, as the apples grow in clusters, on as short stems as it is possible for them to fasten to the tree by. A large part of the apples are perfect; the skin is very thin, and the flesh in the best specimens has a yellowish tinge, and is the perfection of the apple in flavor and all good eating qualities. L. G. DAVIS.

☞ The Biddeford Journal says, "Mr. John Sise, Adjuster for the Security Ins. Co., of New York, has paid Mr. Geo. F. Bryant $1700, the amount agreed upon, as that company's loss at the recent fire in 'The Old Rock Store.' Also for the Hartford, $575 to Mr. Eastman. The adjuster for the Bay State has paid Mr. Bryant, $200." Mr. Sise travels a good deal on important insurance business, representing several of the largest Companies.

☞ We were forgetfully in error as to Mr. Tullock's family. The son he has lost was not born in Portsmouth, and was not his only child. The one born here is younger, named Seymour, and is still living. And at a political meeting in New York, a year or two ago, the little fellow leaving his father's side, was called by him, "Seymour! Seymour!" sufficiently loud to create some excitement until the matter was explained.

☞ Our thanks to the three Ward Clerks of the city, for detailed returns of election. Also to various friends in neighboring towns, for similar favors. Mr. E. Washington Brown, Clerk of the 2d Ward, is in his 11th year of service, we believe, and we think is thus the oldest official in the city. He never forgets the Chronicle on Election night, and we hope he will be re-elected for eleven years to come.

☞ Mr. Bidwell announces his last performance this evening, "Lady Audley's Secret." Meldrum and Dollie appear. The play is a good one and is well put on the stage.

PERSONAL.—We are especially indebted to Mr. E. O. Cole, the attentive and courteous operator of the Western Union Telegraph, for the returns which we give this morning.

☞ Mr. Wendell's great sale of Furniture at the Rockingham House, commences this morning.

New Hampshire Items.

Last Saturday afternoon as Mr. John L. Seavey, landlord of the Phenix Hotel in Concord, was driving down Main street, near the foot of Montgomery, and talking with a friend who was in another sleigh, he fell over in his sleigh, dropping his hat and reins, as it struck by a snowball. His horse started on a run, but was stopped at Stickney Block and Mr. Seavey was found to be dead. His age was about sixty; he leaves two sons and a daughter.

The stores of W. H. Jones and S. Tuck, at Nashua, were burned on Sunday. Loss $40,000.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,

BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,

February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS OF THE

Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only to the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,

FISK & HATCH,

Bankers.

P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawtm

Morning Chronicle.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

BOSTON, March 7.

A little strip of paper, hanging in a store window, attracted my attention a day or two since. It was about two inches in width and perhaps two feet long, yet it entitles its possessor to make the entire circuit of the globe, travelling first class. These tickets are issued by the Erie Railroad, and I fear me are the extent of enterprise in this direction, unless some one will issue tickets to visit the moon.

Bostonians have given up anticipating anything like winter. Our fairest prospects for a good sleigh ride have proved only delusions; — delusions, which, so far from being gilded, have ended generally in rain, slosh and mud. The mild weather is not universal, as these extracts from letters received on the same day last week, will show:

"HAMMOND, LA., Feb. 23.—We have been having very cold weather for several days, but to-day is spring-like. My peas and Irish potatoes are up and flourishing, and I've been planting radishes and lettuce. Next month I shall begin gardening in earnest.

"HAGERSTOWN, MD., Feb. 25.—It's terribly cold down here, and I hate it."

MARQUETTE, MICH., Feb. 23.—I believe you do not known anything about winter, this year, in Boston. We are buried in deep, deep snow, as dry and white as salt. The thermometer has remained 21 below zero for several days, and in our vicinity the mercury has reached 43 below zero, and in two cases has frozen entirely. The ice at our rink has been fine since October, and I skate a good share of the time."

For some days past I have noticed ripe strawberries in the windows of some of our fruit stores. I did not dare to do more than notice them, as a knowledge of their price would doubtless be about as useless a piece of information as most people would wish to acquire. M.

AT BIDDEFORD. — The corporators named in the charter granted to the Biddeford and Saco Horse Railroad Co. are to "proceed to business" soon.

Nathan O. Kendall contemplates building a hotel on Alfred street, at its junction with Bacon street, early this Spring.

During the last week the Police have tried to rigidly enforce the City Ordinance relating to "sliding in the street," and have been busy seizing the sleds of infringers on the Ordinance at the various cruising-grounds about Biddeford.

A man representing himself as mate of a vessel, flung his money about quite freely in various saloons one day last week. There was a motive for this, as afterwards appeared, for he proposed in several places to play a trick well known as "three-card monte." He found some persons green enough to be swindled out of their money, but while in a certain saloon on Main street, practising his trade, City Marshal Hill arrested him, quietly remarking he would "show him a game worth two of his." Being brought before Judge Jellerson next morning, he was made to disgorge the money he fleeced his victims of, and also to pay a fine of $25, and costs.

A Mr. Coburn, in one of Joseph Hobson's saw mills, cut his foot badly with an axe. Mr. John Rogers of Biddeford while chopping wood, cut off the fore finger of his left hand. Miss Victoria Bennett, while at work on the Laconia corporation, caught one of her fingers in a loom, injuring it so that amputation was necessary.

Mr. Abraham Haley, of Biddeford, was found dead in his bed. His wife called him to come to breakfast several times, and upon his not answering, went to his room, where she found him dead. He was between 50 and 60 years of age, and held the office of Deputy Sheriff in York county for several years.

As Mr. E. H. Banks, of Biddeford, was riding with two ladies, the sleigh-runner caught a stone, as he came rapidly around a corner of a street, stopping the sleigh so suddenly that the occupants were thrown over the dasher. Mr. Banks was dragged some distance by the frightened horse, and his shoulder was badly bruised and sprained. The ladies escaped unharmed.

The debris of the Velocipede Rink—destroyed by accumulations of snow on the roof—was sold to a Mr. Harmon of Saco, for $110.

The members of the 2nd Congregational society propose soon to bring out the Cantata of "The Haymakers." Biddeford Journal.

THE MURRAY CENTENARY FUND.—A more than ordinarily interesting meeting was held at the Universalist church at Salem, Mass. on Sunday afternoon, in aid of the centenary fund which is for the education of young men for the Universalist ministry. A very large congregation was present,—both pews and aisles being brought into requisition for the accommodation of those who desired to listen. Rev. A. J. Patterson of Roxbury and Mrs. M. A. Livermore of Chicago, made powerful presentations of the case — the short closing appeal of Rev. Mr. Patterson being peculiarly effective. The society was assessed twenty-five hundred dollars. The pledges realized nearly thirty-five hundred, which, with the sums in the hands of the Ladies' Aid Society and the family missionary boxes, will raise the amount to four thousand dollars. This is certainly a very handsome result for the Salem society.—Salem Gazette.

The Coach Maker's Journal for March, has numerous engravings, for practical use. Published in Philadelphia.

EVERETT, (late South Malden,) Mass., has at length become (3d March) a distinct Town, after a three years' struggle with the clique that has long controlled Malden. The centre of this little, thrifty, quiet country-village is 3 1-3 miles exactly north of Bunker Hill. It is almost entirely without nuisances, and is building up rapidly. Till some years past it was practically further from Boston than Malden, Medford or even more distant places. Now it has two railroad stations (10 tickets for 80 cents) and hourly horse-cars (12 tickets for $1); time 15 minutes by steam, 45 by horse. The place is well watered, and some of its copious springs rarely or never freeze. Houses always for sale, rarely to rent.

☞ The Congregational Church in Candia has given $14.51 to the American Tract Society. The late Ruth Eastman of Deerfield left a legacy to the same Society, $378.37 of which has been paid. Richard Upton, late of Stratham, left a legacy to the same, which has been paid, $142-88.

DAVID YOUNG'S ALMANAC. — This publication was of the old school, which predicted the weather; and those predictions, says the N. Y. Observer, "were, of course, as often wrong as true."

David Young's Almanac, year after year, had a great popularity in New Jersey, where the weather prophet lived and died. It is reported of him that one warm, bright summer day he was riding on horseback through a country road, with which he was not familiar, and, being in doubt, he stopped and asked a man if this was the road to Morristown. "Yes," said the farmer at work near the fence in the field, "but you must make haste or you will get a wet jacket." David saw no signs of rain, and being wise as to weather, jogged on without fear. Soon a summer cloud darkened the sky, and down came a shower of rain which made the almanac man send for shelter. Here was something for him to learn. The shower over, he remounted and retraced his steps to the prophetic farmer. Finding him, thus spake David:

"My friend, I have come back to ask you for your sign of rain: I am in the weather line myself, and will give you a dollar if you will explain to me the secret, for I am sure you must know more about it than I do."

"Give me the dollar," said the farmer; and, taking it, he proceeded:

"Well, you see all about here we take David Young's almanac, and whenever he says 'look out now for rain,' we know it's going to be 'fair;' and when he says 'fair,' we know it will rain sure. Now, this morning, I was looking in the Almanac, and it said for to-day, 'Fair weather;' so I knew for sartin it would rain aforenight."

David Young, Philom, hit his horse with the switch and rode away—a sadder, but not a wiser, man.

MILLIONAIRES AND MONOMANIA.—During the latter part of his life, the famous London banker, Nathan Rothschild, was said to be always in fear of assassination.

"You must be a very happy man, Mr. Rothschild," said a guest at one of the splendid banquets for which his Piccadilly house was famous.

"Happy! me happy!" he exclaimed. "What happy! when just as you are going to dine you have a letter placed in your hands, saying—'if you do not send me £500 I will blow your brains out.' Me happy!"

One day two strangers were admitted into his private room at the bank. They were tall foreigners, with moustaches and beards such as was often seen in London thirty or forty years ago, and Rothschild, always timid, was frightened from the moment of their entrance. He put his own interpretation upon the excited movements with which they fumbled about in their pockets, and before the expected pistols could be produced, he had thrown a great ledger in the direction of their heads, and brought in a bevy of clerks by his cries of "murder!" The strangers were pinioned, and, then, after long questionings and explanations, it appeared that they were wealthy bankers from the continent, who, nervous in the presence of a banker so much more wealthy, had some difficulty in finding the letters of introduction which they were to present.

—The family sitting-room should be the attractive room of the house. Other rooms may be pleasant; it should be the pleasantest. Its furniture, its ornaments, its window views, should combine to make a magnet that will draw everybody there when their outside work is done. On this principle, there is less occasion that sleeping rooms should have special outlay of attractions. Still, the boys, as well as the girls, want a room where they can take their comrades for a retired chat now and then. The girls will generally manage that their own bed room shall have a carpet and curtains and the little et ceteras that make a pleasant place for visitors who come burdened with girl confidences and questionings. But the boy's room is usually a bare place. Perhaps they don't seem to care. But they do—if they don't know it. Perhaps they will not appear to notice if you "fix it up" with a pretty counterpane, a picture on the walls, etc. But they will notice it. And they will be tied to home all the tighter by it.—Adv.

—A Quaker gentleman, riding in a carriage with a fashionable lady decked with a profusion of jewelry, heard her complain of the cold. Shivering in her lace bonnet and shawl as light as a cobweb, she exclaimed: "What shall I do to get warm?" "I really don't know," replied the Quaker, solemnly, "unless thee puts on another breastpin!"

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on behalf of my clients, I feel it to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

BOOTS AND BREECHES.

BY E. E. REXFORD.

"Don't oo tall me 'oubby now,
Don't oo see my breeches?
If I'm little, anyhow
I've dot boots an' breeches now!"
(Oh! these childhood riches!)

"Papa's boots is just like mine,
On'y mine is neatest!
Oh! my dracious, how dey shine!
Pitty bootseys! you is mine!"
(Children days are sweetest!)

"An' my breeches! ain't dey gay?
Better, lots, zan dresses!
Dirls wear dresses, anyway,
But I tells 'em—'dit away!
Pants is best, I dresses!"

"Papa says I'm 'ittle man,
In my pitty clo'ses.
An' I dess my papa can Tell 'e trufe, if I'm a man,
'Cause my papa knowses.

By-and-by I'll have a knife
In my my 'ittle pottet!
Papa said he'd dit me one—
Dracious! dere's my father tum!
Bet a cent he's dot it!"

INDIANS IN CANADA AND THE U. S.—The United States Consul in Canada, Mr. Blake, having been instructed to inquire into the condition of the Indians of the "Six Nations" in that country, submits a Report containing a mass of information which it would be desirable for the world generally to have a closer intimacy with, than, we are sorry to believe, it is probable many will get. We may say, in brief, that he finds their conditions and prospects much better than any one in the States has been accustomed to think possible.

The old theory that the Indian will perish sooner than take on the character of a civilized being, appears to be thoroughly disproved by Mr. Blake's facts. He finds the Six Nations very far advanced in actual civilization, with tendencies that bear every mark of a steady growth in the same direction. They are engaged, quite uniformly, in agriculture, and many of them make good farmers.

He makes the remarkable statement that "they have made appreciable progress within the last few years; and are, on the whole, in comfortable and independent circumstances, and the taste for a wild hunting life is now almost extinct." There are many good carpenters, blacksmiths, shoemakers and traders among them.

Commissioner Parker, who is himself the son of an Indian chief, has given to Congress his first Annual Report in regard to Indian Affairs. A careful study of it would probably bring to light some facts and suggestions of more importance than we have seen. So far as the experiment has been tried, the attempt to deal with the Indians through the Quakers is satisfactory.

But Mr. Parker thinks it too early as yet, to form an opinion on the merit of the plan. He is far from sanguine as to the future of the savages on this continent, and is especially apprehensive that it may be found difficult to do anything with the wilder tribes, such as the Camanches and Apaches.

However, he believes the ferocious dogma of extirpation should be rejected from our code, and a sincere effort made to civilize them. To this end he recommends that no more treaties be made with them. To make a treaty with a tribe is to keep up its delusions of independence as a nation. No tribe has any such independence; and it is the belief in this shadow that is the explanation of half the wild and fearful misconduct of the different tribes.

Make no more treaties with them, says General Parker, but bring them at once down to the fact; which is that they are the wards of the Government, dependent on it, responsible to it, and having no outside rights or privileges. Holding them strictly to this notion and dealing with them on the basis of it, the Commissioners think that by kindness joined with firmness, they may ultimately be brought into the condition of citizenship. He does not, however, in recommending the abandonment of the treaty system, propose to interfere in any way with the faithful fulfilment of all treaties at present contracted.—Universalist.

PHOTOGRAPHING A SQUAW.—A Comanche Indian a few days ago brought his squaw to a pioneer artist to have her picture taken. The artist got the squaw in position, when the old Comanche thought he would investigate the mystery of making squaws' pictures. He accordingly raised the cloth and looked at the camera, when he was astonished to see his wife standing on her head. At this he grew indignant, and even beat her for assuming such an undignified attitude before the soldiers, but as she stoutly denied the offence, he continued his experiments, and at last came to the conclusion that a machine that could stand a squaw on her head in half a second, without her knowing anything about it, was exceedly bad medicine.

THE AMERICAN FAMILY
KNITTING MACHINE,
Is presented to the public as the most Simple, Durable, and Compact and Cheap Knitting Machine ever invented.
PRICE ONLY, $25.
This Machine will run either backward or forward with equal facility; makes the same stitch as by hand, but far superior in every respect.
Will knit 20,000 Stitches in a minute.
and do perfect work, leaving every knot on the inside of the work. It will knit a pair of stockings (any size) in less than half an hour. It will knit Close or Open, plain or Ribbed work, with any kind of coarse or fine worsted, yarn, or cotton, silk or linen. It will knit stockings with double heel and toe, drawers, hoods, socks, smoking Caps, comforts, purses, muffs, fringe, afghans, nubias, undersleeves, mittens, skating caps, lamp wicks, mats, cord, underskirts, shawls, jackets, cradle blankets, leggins, suspenders, wristers, tidies, tippets, tufted work, and in fact an endless variety of articles in every day use, as well as for ornament.
FROM $5 TO $10 PER DAY
Can be made by any one with the American Knitting Machine, knitting stockings, &c., while expert operators can even make more, knitting fancy work, which always commands a ready sale. A person can readily knit from twelve to fifteen pairs of stockings per day, the profit on which will be not less than forty cents per pair.
FARMERS
Can sell their wool at only forty to fifty cents per pound, but by getting the wool made into yarn at a small expense, and knitting it into socks, two or three dollars per pound may be realized. On receipt of $25 we will forward a machine as ordered.
We wish to procure active AGENTS in every section of the United States and Canadas, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered. Address,

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND BOTTLES PER ANNUM.
THE NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE.
DODD'S NERVINE,
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC,
And expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of
NERVOUS DISEASE, &c., &c.,

Coughs,	Neuralgia,	Female Weaknesses,
Colds,	Headache,	Fainting Fits,
Fevers,	Convulsions,	Palpitations,
Agues,	Sleeplessness,	Restlessness,
Biliousness,	Dyspepsia,	Dizziness,
Constipation,	Liver Complaint,	Children's Troubles
Diarrhœa,	Consumption,	&c., &c., &c.

Take Care of Yourself.
DODD'S NERVINE is a PURE TONIC,—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE,—gives increased energy to the STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS and other viscera,—and SUPPLIES FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It OPERATES SOOTHINGLY,—is as PLEASANT TO TAKE as any wine,—and with SLEEP and GOOD DIGESTION, which IT PROMOTES, RESTORES the afflicted to SOUND HEALTH OF BODY, and to QUIETNESS OF MIND. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatsoever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative powers. See pamphlet accompanying each bottle.
Some folks can't get Sleep Nights,
Dodd's Nervine is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that GOOD SLEEP is better than all medicines.
LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.
The Nervine is also one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. See pamphlet.
Children's Diseases.
For WHOOPING COUGH Dodd's Nervine is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in MEASLES, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. See recommendations in pamphlet. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no opium in any form.
Be Careful what Medicines you take.
Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to the nervous health, and are ALWAYS followed by depressing REACTION. The strength that Dodd's Nervine gives is the STRENGTH OF HEALTH and COMES TO STAY. Beware of the whiskey preparations that have laid the foundations of so many habits of intemperance. Whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise, let the villainous compounds alone. Better die of honest disease than be burnt up by the fires of alcohol. For the ingredients that compose Dodd's Nervine see pamphlet on each bottle. For sale by Druggists and Country Stores. Price One Dollar. f17 4w

THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1870.

THE SCALP HUNTERS.—The S. Flint Labor Reformers, under the lead of Tammany-Rolston and Alas-Goodale, started out on the war path in the late political campaign, resolved to take the scalps of Republicans and strike terror to their friends. They organized a convention at Concord and adopted S. Flint of Lyme for their candidate for Governor. The movement was organized in the interest of the Democracy and was looked upon favorably at first; but Labor Reform became a two-edged sword. Half the legally accredited delegates to the convention withdrew and organized a new labor league, which at this day is in a flourishing condition. The duplicity of the leaders of the Flint party was exposed and Republicans who took any stock in it were few.

Flint "struck fire" at the first click, but didn't go off readily. Time passed, and their prospects for scalps was small. But the Flint party had got up their blood and scalps they must have. They were on the war path and had as lieve scalp friends, as foes. So they whispered seductively in the ears of the Democratic State Committee, and lo, the serpent beguiled once more these virtuous descendants of Mother Eve—and they fell. As loyal followers of their great chief they should have defended and supported him; but instinctive treachery and yearning for the flesh pots of Egypt determined them on betrayal, and they held a war council. Their leader was slain and left unburied. Then rallied the wee sachems of Labor Reform, bent on raising scalps, and nobly to the work did they go: but when the battle was over and tomahawks hung low in their limpless grasp, it was found that out of their original enemies there were no trophies won worthy of consideration, while the only scalp they had been "raising" was that of the slain warrior of their allies, John Bedel.

THE ELECTION.—The Concord Patriot of Wednesday has some plain talk on the conduct of the Democratic State Committee, previous to the late election. It says:—

It will be seen that the Radicals are again triumphant, Gov. Stearns being re-elected by some 1000 majority. And there is no doubt that both branches of the Legislature are also Radical by about the majorities of last year.

Whoever looks over the returns published in this paper will be struck with the fact that nearly the whole vote for Flint has come from the Democratic party. Add the vote for Bedel to that for Flint and you get but little more than the vote for Bedel last year; while the vote for Stearns is about the same as last year; and he owes the decrease of his majority almost entirely to the Temperance movement, which has taken a few votes from him and called out a few hundred which were not cast last year.

The treatment which Gen. Bedel has received in this election—nay, the treatment which the Democratic party has received from the State Committee, is infamous; no other word expresses it fully. Gen. Bedel has literally "run on his own hook:" he has not only had no real aid from that Committee, but it has been actively and efficiently employed against him. For thirty days past, the managing members of that Committee have exerted their influence and directed their efforts to deprive him of the support which was pledged to him by the Democratic party.

The corrupt and intriguing members and agents of the Committee had sown the poisonous seed and it had taken root before their treachery was discovered. The party was demoralized by their intrigues, and all the efforts of true men to restore its morale upon the eve of battle, failed. But, thanks to the prompt action of brave and true men, the infamous purpose of the plotters to reduce the Democratic party to a mere faction—the "third party," also failed.

—Deputy Sheriff Mitchell of Alfred made a visit to several "gin mills" in Springvale, at all but one of which (Nason's) he seized a quantity of "forty rod," "Tibbett's," the "Railroad Saloon," and a place rejoicing in the euphonious name of "Hell's Smashes," each contributed their quota of the ardent, and the proprietors will probably have an opportunity to contribute a little money to the County Treasury next May.

GOOD PASSAGE. Ship Favorita, Greenman, has made the voyage from New York to San Francisco, thence to Liverpool and New York, in 12 months and 27 days; for two months of that time she lay at San Francisco.

THE LOSS OF THE ONEIDA.—Scene of the disaster—officers of the ship.—A gentleman who is familiar with China and Japan, (S. T. B.)—the same whose reminiscences of Anson Burlingame were recently published—writes as follows concerning the Oneida disaster in the Providence Journal:

In the East I have seen such utter disregard for the concerns, even for the lives, of Chinese and Japanese, on the part of steamship commanders—on the part of English commanders noticeably—that I am not exceedingly surprised that it has at last grown to be so great. The place where the Oneida is said to have gone down is in a portion of the bay, or it might be called the entrance to the Bay of Yeddo from the sea. On each side the coast is irregular, and hence makes the width in some places not more than two and a half miles, and in other places as much as six or eight miles. The marine track is generally near the northern and bluff side.

It is stated that the fires of the Oneida were "banked;" she had, then, only sufficient steam to get out of port, and must have been going slow, intending to depend upon her sails when once out of the bay—and she was an excellent sailer. The Bombay, a large iron steamship with high stem, anxious, as all of them are, to make a good run, was probably going fast, not less than ten or eleven knots. The Oneida must have had a bright light in her foretop, and two other strong lanterns, with Fresnel lens, one, a crimson one, in the port, and another, a green one, in the starboard main or mizzen rigging, and eight or ten feet above the rail. Nothing then could have prevented her being plainly seen but dense fog.

The evening of January 24, last year, was a charming clear night, and my diary records but two foggy nights in the month of January last, in Yokohama and vicinity. Beside, the messages do not allude to its being thick, and there seems not a shadow of excuse for the collision. The bay is so entirely land-locked, that the wind from no quarter can occasion a dangerous sea, and it cannot usually be called "rough." The whole affair seems a monstrous case of crime, without the slightest palliafion.

The Oneida was a beautiful vessel, and one of the gems of our naval marine. She was in the passage of Forts Jackson and St. Phillip, and the subsequent fighting on the Mississippi; was at the taking of Mobile, and had a most honorable record. She had steamed away from Yokohama with her homeward-bound pennant flying. Her officers were truly a set of the finest men I have ever met. Capt. (Commander) Williams, jolly and brave; his naval soubriquet was the synonym of good nature and zeal. The First-Lieutenant, Stewart, was a fellow of splendid physique, absolutely fearing nothing, a thorough sailor, and a true gentleman. The navigator, Lieut-Commander Muldaur, entering the service at the beginning of the war, and at the bottom of the list, had won himself so gallant and honorable a name that the regular service needed him, and he came into it, where he has since remained, a most worthy and finished accession.

The Paymaster, Thomas L. Tullock, jr., of Washington—I never saw any one that had met him that did not love him. Gentle and winning in his deportment, his personal attractions, for a man, had such tenderness and grace, that before you knew it he had won your affection and esteem. A most honorable war record had been followed by a spotless official and private reputation. Dr. Frothingham, retired and unostentatious, was not only a good surgeon and a faithful officer, but was keenly alive too, and an earnest advocate of those movements which result in blessings to mankind. Acting Chief Engineer Littig, heading his list and grade, was all that a good officer and amiable mess-mate, and an honorable man, can be.

One of the other engineers, Barstow, was, I think, a nephew of one of our late esteemed citizens; and these men, young and most worthy, not only fitting but brilliant representatives of America and her naval service, looking upon the beautiful shores of Japan for the last time, the near future bright with promise of family reunion, thus cut off by most inconceivable stupidity, it looks like inhuman crime. The time must have been immediately after their dinner, when almost to a certainty they had gathered together, smoking and talking of their return home. Every soul in the ship must have been wide awake, and it was the hour of greatest leisure throughout the vessel.

☞ Hon. Charles A. Shaw, of Biddeford, has associated Mr. Horace Woodman of Saco, with himself, as a proprietor of "The Wide World" published at Boston, Mass., which has been recently much enlarged and improved.

—At a printers' festival, in Minnesota, Judge Goodrich made a speech, in which he referred the invention of printing to a higher antiquity than is usually ascribed to it. He undertook to prove that the patriarch Job knew all about it, by quoting from the following passage: "Oh that my words were now written! Oh that they were printed in a book! That they were graven with an iron pen and read in the rock forever!" The judge considered this undoubted evidence that Job understood the art of writing, engraving, stereotyping and lithographing. He mentions them in their regular order, as they have been discovered. This is probably the origin of the term "Job Printing."

—Apropos of a possible contest between General Butler and Ben Perley Poore for a seat in the next Congress, the Chicago Evening Post says:—

"Sad words for the district whichever win,
For in either case it must have Ben."

☞ Senator Revels spoke recently at a meeting of the Congressional Temperance Society in the Metropolitan Church, in Washington, and his remarks will compare favorably with those of other Congressmen at public gatherings. He advocated total abstinence, condemned the social use of wines and liquors, and urged the organization and support of temperance societies. It is to be hoped that some of his white colleagues in the Senate will be benefitted by his advice on this subject, and that they will follow his example.

☞ A Washington special says that the heavy fall of gold excites comment in Congressional circles. The opinion of the shrewdest political financiers is that specie resumption will not occur this year, notwithstanding the recent decline in gold. Rumor says Mr. Boutwell holds this also. Another dispatch says that Secretary Boutwell would have preferred that the premium remain for a time at 18 or 20, but he will not interfere in any manner with the gold market, and will pursue the line of policy heretofore marked out.

GOODS AND GOLD.—During the war, one description of printed goods manufactured in a New England town sold as high as forty to forty-five cents per yard. Cotton was high and gold was above two hundred. These goods have been falling, and from thirty cents they fall gradually, till they are now sold by the manufacturer's agents at 12 1-2 cents per yard, and there is a good profit left. Before the war these goods averaged 10 to 10 1-2 cents per yard. It will thus be seen that we are gradually but surely approaching our former status, though the high price of labor and heavy taxation will probably prevent an immediate return to original low prices.

THE COAL TRADE. — The Mauch Chunk Coal Gazette expresses the opinion that prices touched bottom in the Scranton sale of last week. The decline has led to a partial suspension of operations in the Lehigh coal region, which may become general. But whether a prolonged and general suspension occurs or not, the market will be eased and prices must advance. Coal cannot be sold at the curent rates at a profit, and operators are becoming tired for nothing. In view of the prospects of an interruption in production, dealers are inclined to hold off for an advance, and look for better prices. Coal will certainly be cheaper this year than it was last, but this winter's prices are no criterion from which to estimate those of the coming spring and summer.

THE GOLD MARKET. — The Boston Advertiser of Wednesday says:—

Gold seems to be on its last legs, and is growing weaker every day. The decline is watched with anxiety by thousands whose interests are directly affected by its downward progress. There is no reason to suppose it will go below par, but, judging by the way it is thrown upon the market, there appears to be little confidence in its stopping at any point much above. No resistance appears to be made to the decline, even if there is any disposition to withstand it.

The scene in New York on Tuesday is thus described:—

The popular stampede to sell gold was revived with vigor this morning, and once more the gold room was the great point of attraction. At an early hour there was a large assemblage of operators around the cooling fountain in the centre of the room, and immediately there was a rush to sell. The price slowly receded from 112 3-8 to 112. At this stage the operators cheered and yelled in the most frantic manner. After a while the price reacted to 112 1-4, where it remained some time. After meridian the pressure to sell was again renewed, and down went the price to 111 7-8, the lowest figure yet reached in the present downward movement. As soon as this quotation was made the crowd indulged again in wild demonstrations of joy, and cries of "Specie payments," and "Gold room to be closed in twelve days," were heard throughout the room.

Occupational Ailments.

Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in the scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanatous roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopoia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters, nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among official or advertised medicines.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiful black or brown. ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WCOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I daily use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had a very bad pain in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly,

Messrs. J. Balch & Son, of Providence, R. I., write, Nov. 1868: "We have sold the Porous Plasters for twenty years, and, at retail and jobbing, must have sold twenty-five thousand altogether. They are well liked." ja13dawlm

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

FRESH BEEF AND VEGETABLES.

OFFICE OF NAVY PAYMASTER,
PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 8, 1870.

SEALED PROPOSALS, endorsed "Proposals for Fresh Beef and Vegetables," will be received at this office until 2 o'clock P. M., on the 14th day of March, for the supply of 25,000 pounds of Fresh Beef and 25,000 pounds of Fresh Vegetables, at the PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD and STATION, as required.

The Beef must be of good quality, and equal to the grade necessary to make the best mess beef, and be delivered in equal proportion of fore and hind-quarters. The Vegetables must be of the best quality the market affords, and the Beef and Vegetables must be offered for by the pound.

Bonds, with approved security, will be required in one-quarter the estimated amount of the contract, and twenty per cent. in addition will be withheld from the amount of each payment, as collateral security for the due performance of the contract, which reservation will not be paid until the contract is fully complied with.

Every offer must be accompanied by a written guaranty, signed by one or more responsible persons, that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation within five days, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the articles proposed.

No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by such guaranty, and the Department reserves the right to reject any proposal unless the responsibility of the guarantors is certified to by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside, and unless the license required by Act of Congress is furnished with the proposal, as well as to reject any proposal not considered advantageous to the Government.

It is to be understood that in case the stipulated quantity of either article shall be delivered, leaving a balance due on the other article, the contract may be considered as completed in full, at the option of the Department.

Blank forms for bidders furnished at this office.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements To-Day.

Notice to Ladies—Dr. B. C. Perry.
Best Family Groceries—Lafayette Laighton.
Price of Coke Reduced—Aaron Akerman.

☞ Philharmonic Rehearsal on Monday evening, as usual,—not this (Thursday) evening.

☞ Twenty-six men were discharged from the Equipment department at the Navy Yard, on Wednesday.

☞ On Tuesday, the foundry at the South End, at the Point of Graves, took fire on the roof, but was extinguished without a general alarm.

☞ Fayette Laighton knows how to buy and how to sell good Groceries, and also how to write good advertisements. We hope we shall always have a caterer as good, to select Figs, &c., for our taste.

☞ Rev. Samuel Sewell, who began in 1824 to preach at Gosport, continued to do so till his death, which took place at Rye, in 1826, at the age of 61. The omission of a line, in our account of the Shoals last week, made the above statement obscure.

☞ Auctioneer Wendell will continue the sale of Furniture, &c., at the Rockingham House this (Thursday) morning; and we are desired to state the nicest articles will be sold to-day, —carpets, two fine pianos, mirrors, parlor furniture, China ware, &c.

☞ The Fairy Operetta of "Laila" is to be again performed at Kittery, this (Thursday) evening, at the Christian Church, commencing at 8 o'clock,—by a large singing class under the direction of Prof. J. C. Cram. Its first performance gave the utmost satisfaction, and this repetition is a complimentary benefit to the Professor from his pupils.

☞ Mr. Frank Kiernan has purchased a lot on the new Union Street, and is laying the cellar for a new house. Several others are to be commenced there, with the opening of Spring. It would seem that many of the mechanics and others who have had steady employment at the Navy Yard or elsewhere for years,—ought, aside from sickness or misfortune, (or expensive follies or vices,) to be able to own a house over their heads.

☞ Mr. J. P. Bartlett read Goldsmith's laughable Comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer," before a full and very intelligent audience, at Mercantile Hall, Tuesday evening; and the very pleasant entertainment thus afforded, was highly appreciated by all. The plot and its development are most amusing, and its presentation was admirable,—the numerous male and female characters being each distinctly presented in manner and intonation. We never enjoyed an elocutionary entertainment more than this.

President Marvin of the Mercantile is a joker, and in introducing Mr. Bartlett, made a good hit by styling the subject he Grecian Bender!

George W. Haven, Esq., was announced as the lecturer for next Tuesday evening; and Mr. Hatch follows, we believe, on the 22d inst.

Under President Marvin, Secretary Hazlitt, Treasurer Akerman and others, —the P. M. L. A. is resuming its old position of value and importance.

HONORED AT HOME. — It gives us, and will the Republicans and others who voted on election day for Hon. Wm. B. Small for Senator, great pleasure to ascertain that he received such a highly complimentary and justly deserved vote in his own town of Newmarket. It is well known that this town is Democratic, and gave Bedel 16 more votes than it did Gov. Stearns. The returns show the senatorial vote there to be, for William B. Small, Rep., 196; for Aaron H. Mellows, Dem., 184; giving Mr. Small a majority over Mellows of 12 votes—22 votes more than Gov. Stearns received.

OBITUARY.—Died in North Hampton, March 8th, Miss REBECCA FRENCH, aged 63 years. "She had not an enemy in the world, and was much loved and respected by all who knew her." So writes one of her neighbors, and we add, that her undoubted and attractive christian character and amiable temper were the pleasure and delight of many hundreds of ministerial and other visitors at her father's parsonage during his long ministry: and that she was the stay and staff of their old age, to both her venerable parents.

She was the eldest daughter of Rev. Jonathan French, D. D.; and as a daughter, sister and friend, was estimable and admirable. The family, church and social circle in which she moved, suffer a severe loss; but to her, "to live was Christ, and to die is gain."

Her funeral is to take place on Friday afternoon, at half past 2 o'clock.

ADDITIONAL ELECTION RETURNS.—Newington gives Stearns 37, Bedel 62 Democratic loss, 6. Frederick W. DeRochemont, Democrat, Representative.

Greenland gives Stearns 83, Bedel 96, Barrows 1. Republican loss, 1. Chas. W. Pickering, Democrat, Representative.

Seabrook elected a Democratic Representative, Joseph Chase. Gov. Stearns had 156; Bedel 158: Flint 16. Republican gain, 6.

In Dover, Gov. Stearns received 1028 votes, Bedel 274, Flint 238. Republican gain 37. Seven Republican representatives were chosen, including Hon. S. M. Wheeler, Speaker of the present House of Representatives.

In Farmington, Gov. Stearns had 296, Bedel 94, Flint 116. Republican gain, 58. Two Republican representatives elected.

Rochester voted as follows; Stearns 356, Bedel 154, Flint 240. Republican loss, 219.

Manchester and Farmington have each chosen one member of the anti-Flint Labor League to the legislature.

Returns from 202 towns give Stearns, 32,987; Bedel, 22,864; Flint, 6898; Barrows, 1159. The remaining towns will give only about 5000 votes, and will leave Governor Stearns' majority at about 1200, and the House of Representatives about 20 Republican majority, 6 Republican Senators, 4 Democratic, 1 Labor Reform and 1 vacancy.

A special from Concord received at the Western Union office in this city, Wednesday evening, says returns from 205 towns give Stearns 1000 majority.

STRATHAM. — Moderator, John O. Wiggin; Selectmen, Isaiah W. Tuttle, John O. Wiggin, and John Ayers—all Dems. Town Clerk, Joseph S. Staples, Rep. Supt. Sch. Com., John J. Scammon, Dem.

NEWINGTON.—Moderator, Valentine M. Coleman; Town Clerk, Thomas B. Hoyt; Representative, Frederic W. DeRochemont; Selectmen, Samuel Furber, Nehemiah Pickering, Charles W. Nutter,—all Dems.

The President and Secretary Cox have strongly urged on Congress the necessity of keeping good faith with the Indians if we expect them to keep at peace with us.

New Hampshire Items.

It is said that the Wolfeborough Town Collector has not only done the collecting, but has also acted as Town Treasurer, for which the Treasurer de facto paid him $25, and charged the town $125,—the Treasurer himself giving but one day's time to the matter! $100 per day is pretty good pay for a Labor Reformer!—News.

On Saturday, Feb. 19, the rush of ice and logs swept before it one pier, and et down two spans of the bridge across the Bearcamp River at West Ossipee. The water being so high, the stage driver was not able to cross the river at the lower bridge, and was obliged to carry the mail across on his back as best he could.

As Hiram Pray was passing with his ox team over a cove on the intervale, near Ossipee village, on the 23d ult., the ice gave way, and his four oxen went down, together with the sled. The water was about four feet deep, with a muddy bottom. Mr. P. succeeded in unyoking the oxen, and getting one of them out. Not succeeding with the others, he went three-quarters of a mile for help; but before the others could be rescued, they were so completely chilled that it was found necessary to kill them.

SUGAR HOUSE SYRUP, for Sale by A. A. PAYNE.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH, BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES, No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK, February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.

P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22daw3m

WASHINGTON'S BOYISH LOVES.

MISS GRIMES—MISS CAREY.—Irving, after saying that at 15 Washington "had acquired the magic of method, which of itself works wonders," adds:—

"In one of these manuscript memorials of his practical studies and exercises, we have come upon some documents singularly in contrast with all that we have just cited, and with his apparently unromantic character. In a word, there are evidences in his own handwriting, that, before he was fifteen years of age, he had conceived a passion for some unknown beauty, so serious as to disturb his otherwise well-regulated mind, and to make him really unhappy.

Why this juvenile attachment was a source of unhappiness, we have no positive means of ascertaining. Perhaps the object of it may have considered him a mere school-boy, and treated him as such: or his own shyness may have been in his way, and his "rules for behavior and conversation" may as yet have sat awkardly on him, and rendered him formal and ungainly when he most sought to please. Even in later years he was apt to be silent and embarrassed in female society. "He was a very bashful young man," said an old lady, whom he used to visit when they were both in their nonage. "I used often to wish that he would talk more."

Whatever may have been the reason, this early attachment seems to have been a source of poignant discomfort to him. It clung to him after he took a final leave of school in the autumn of 1747, and went to reside with his brother Lawrence at Mount Vernon. Here he continued his mathematical studies and his practice in surveying, disturbed at times by recurrences of his unlucky passion. Though by no means of a poetical temperament, the waste pages of his journal betray several attempts to pour forth his amorous sorrows in verse. They are mere common-place rhymes, such as lovers at his age are apt to write, in which he bewails his "poor restless heart, wounded by Cupid's dart," and "bleeding for one who remains pitiless of his griefs and sorrows." The tenor of some of his verses induces us to believe that he never told his love; but, as we have already surmised, was prevented by his bashfulness.

"Ah, woe is me, that I should love and conceal, Long have I wished and never dare reveal."

It is difficult to reconcile one's self to the idea of the cool and sedate Washington, the great champion of American liberty, a woe-worn lover in his youthful days, "sighing, like furnace," and inditing plaintive verses about the groves of Mount Vernon. We are glad of an opportunity, however, of penetrating to his native feeling, and finding that under his studied decorum and reserve he had a heart of flesh, throbbing with the warm impulses of human nature.

Tall, atheletic, and manly for his years, his early self-training, and the code of conduct he had devised, gave a gravity and decision to his conduct; his frankness and modesty inspired cordial regard, and the melancholy, of which he speaks, may have produced a softness in his manner calculated to win favor in ladies' eyes.

According to his own account, the female society by which he was surrounded had a soothing effect on that melancholy. The charms of Miss Carey, the sister of the bride, seem even to have caused a slight fluttering in his bosom; which, however, was constantly rebuked by the remembrance of his former passion—so at least we judge from letters to his youthful confidants, rough drafts of which are still to be seen in his tell-tale journal.

To one whom he addressesas his dear friend Robin, he writes "My residence is at present at his lordship's, where I might, was my heart disengaged, pass my time very pleasantly, as there's a very agreeable young lady lives in the same house (Col. George Fairfax's wife's sister); but as that's only adding fuel to fire, it makes me the more uneasy, for by often and unavoidably being in company with her, revives my former passion for your Lowland Beauty; whereas was I to live more retired from young women, I might in some measure alleviate my sorrows, by burying that chaste and troublesome passion in the grave of oblivion," &c.

Similar avowals he makes to another of his young correspondents, whom he styles, "Dear friend John," as also a female confidant, styled "Dear Sally," to whom he acknowledges that the company of the "very agreeable young lady sister-in-law of Col. George Fairfax," in a great measure cheers his sorrow and dejectedness. The object of this early passion is not positively known. Tradition states that the "low-land beauty" was a Miss Grimes, of Westmoreland, afterwards Mrs. Lee, and who had a son named Harry who figured in revolutionary history as Light Horse Harry, and was always a favorite with Washington, probably from the recollections of his early tenderness for his mother.

Whatever may have been the soothing effect of the female society by which he was surrounded at Belvoir, the youth found a more effectual remedy for his love melancholy in the company of Lord Fairfax. His lordship was a staunch fox-hunter, and kept horses and hounds in the English style. The hunting season had arrived. The neighborhood abounded with sport; but fox-hunting in Virginia required bold and skillful horsemanship. He found Washington as bold as himself in the saddle and as eager to follow the hounds.—Irving's Life of Wasesington.

Correspondence of Chronicle and Gazette.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 23.

Messrs. Editors:—The long-wished-for rain is holding carnival with us; the sky wears a mask bedewed with tears, which fall copiously over the face of nature, on whom she has looked piteously for sometime, and now her grief knows no bounds, and the great drops fall in abundant showers, thus answering many prayers and sending gladness into many a ranchero's heart.

Springtime with us is winter with you. Snow-clad hills with you, and grassy fields with us; O how strange, and yet true. We are joyous amidst the rain, for we know that after that come the smiles of nature in her buds and flowers and the lovely fragrance of her breath; and we know that you, 'mid the falling flakes, are smiling with grateful joy as you glide over the snow-clad earth, and muse on the good time coming. God in his wise providence has so ordered these things, and those who need a more even clime can here sit under their own vine and fig tree, and bid dull care begone; and the sturdy sons of the North can well brave the storms of winter and reap the golden harvests in summer, while the ruddy-cheeked maidens spin and weave, and make the merry fireside gleeful with song, and home happy.

I must speak of Camilla Urso's great Festival,—her] freewill offering in aid of the Mercantile Library building,—which by the way is one of the finest buildings of its kind in the United States. It was the grandest musical entertainment we have ever had here. It is said that 30,000 people were present during the three days it continued. The first day 1200 singers, 200 instrumentalists, and a battery of 12 field pieces, held forth to 10,000 auditors. The second day the programme was composed of Cherubini, Mozart, Mendelsohn, Beethoven, Haydn, Handel, Von Weber and Rossini. Madame Urso's rendering of Beethoven was faultless, and won for her golden laurels. At the close of her performance it was announced that another concert would be added to the list, so great was the desire to see and hear her. Business houses were closed, so that all who wished could attend. The hotels were all full, and the crowd very great in the city; and if the weather had been pleasant, it would have been very gay on our principal streets.

Ole Bull gives his farewell concert this week; you see we are well provided with music. Yours, J. E. W. C.

LINES TO J. E. W. C.

O think of me when I am gone
To realms of bliss where angels dwell,
Where Jesus in his arms has borne
Me home to rest, and all is well.
Then when the evening shades appear
And stars shine in the darkened sky,
My spirit may sometimes be near,
Though unobserved by mortal eye.

When gentle breezes fan the sky
And grateful fragrance fills the air,
When Luna's light is seen on high
And shines so bright and pure and fair,
Then may you know that I am nigh
And ready to impart a kiss,
To bring you joy for every sigh
And fill your soul with heavenly bliss.

When in the house of God you kneel
And join to praise the Saviour's name,
My holy love you then shall feel
And Christ will grant you still the same.
Whene'er you fix your ardent gaze
On stormy sky or mountain slope,
To me your thoughts you'll sometimes raise,
And hear me whisper life and hope.

I. SUMNER C.

EPITAPH TO JULIA F.

Thou art gone to thy tomb—how peaceful thy slumber,
Since now thou art laid in thy clay-girded chamber;
Sweet, sweet is thy rest, and thy soul is delighted
With the seraphims' song that swells on the air.
We grieve for thy absence from a world so benighted,
Yet hope we may meet thee in mansions more fair.

☞ At the recent Methodist State Convention of New York, held in Syracuse, the subject of "Our position and duties as Christian citizens" was assigned to a special committee. The chairman, Rev. Dr. Peck of Albany, made a very interesting and sensible report, in which the following admirable statement of duties was enlarged upon and applied:

"First—No man has a right to sink his citizenship in his religion nor to surrender his manhood to any man or any number of men. Christians should therefore be intelligent, active and thorough in every department of government by the people.

Second—The moral element ought to be vital and controlling in politics, and Christian men are under special obligations to make energetic and persistent efforts to secure this result.

Third—When party commands the support of bad principles, bad measures, or bad men, all good men should refuse to obey.

Fourth—Christian citizens ought to rescue primary elections and the ballot from the control of vicious men.

Fifth—The politittical consciciences of American citizens should be formed and directed by the spirit of true Christianity, so that a high sense of public justice may control our elections.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulus affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painful y afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.

Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulus disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicide will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.

Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless. Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic or Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

IS IT SO?—The New York Economist, a very able paper, says:

"In New England there has been an average reduction of wages of from 25 to 30 per cent., as compared with the prices paid in October last,"

It says the price is approximating to specie rates, and will come to it, that is, to the price that ruled before the war. We have seen no such reduction in wages here. It says further:

"In 1860, when the wages of the best mechanics averaged $10 a week, they could save more money after supporting their families than they could in the war times when they received $25 to $30 a week. They had to give more labor for the same quantity of goods in 1866 than in 1860. Hence they were worse off with higher wages."

Have wages gone down with the price of gold? Is not the price of labor nearly as high as it was when gold was at the highest? Do not carpenters, masons, builders generally, ordinary day laborers—female house servants, get about the same? Is not the price of the school teacher, the preacher, the clerk, the agent, kept to the same figures? Is what the Economist says true? Do our farmers find they can hire help cheaper than they could three years ago?—Mirror.

WHAT AN OLD FARMER HAS NOTICED. That the success of farming is in experience.

That to ask a man's advice is not stooping, but often of much benefit.

That to keep a place for everything, and everything in its place, saves many a step, and is pretty sure to lead to goods, tools and to keep them in order.

That kindness to stock, like good shelter, is a saving of fodder.

That to fight weeds is to favor grain and do justice to your neighbors.

That in making home agreeable, you keep your boys out of the city.

That it is a good thing to keep an eye out on experiments, and note all, good and bad.

That it is a good thing to grow into farming—not to jump into it.

That it is a good rule to sell your grain when it is ready.

That the first mellow soil in spring is your mellowest, and should first be put to use.

That all of farming is summed up in the manure heap on the farm.

POOR ECONOMY.—It is poor economy to let your stone heaps lay in the field year after year, and mow around them. My method is to pick my rocks in piles in the spring, after harrowing in my grain and sowing my grass seed, which I think should not be harrowed in, only bushed or rolled. Stones can be picked much cleaner and cheaper then than at any other time. I haul them off in the fall, after taking off the grain, if the ground is not too wet; if so, any time after it freezes. Any farmer can find time to clear off his fields and fit them for a mowing machine. Clear out all the fast rocks and fill up the holes. See to it yourself, and don't trust it to the boys; once well done is twice done.

It is poor economy to drive your cattle to your neighbor's or to the spring to water, week after week, because your pump has failed. By so doing you not only trouble your neighbor, but you lose money every time you take your cattle from the yard. If your pump is old and worn out, get a new one at once. I find the Moss pump to be the cheapest and best pump now in use.

It is poor economy to hitch colts in the barn floor, where they are liable to get hung with the halter; poor economy to keep more hogs than you can well feed, and poor economy to feed meadow hay and straw to sheep, or barley to horses.

It is poor economy to get in debt for anything you do not need, or borrow with no prospect of being able to pay. —Maine Farmer.

SHOEING HORSES.—Two gentlemen connected with the British army—Mr. George Fleming, veterinary surgeon, and Col. Fitzwygram—have recently published works on the treatment of the horse, and both energetically protest against the paring and cutting away of the frog which often accompanies the operation of shoeing a horse. Nothing can be more barbarous than the cutting and carving of a horse's foot before shoeing, though on his skill in this many a farrier prides himself. The idea that the frog must not be allowed to bear on the ground, that the sole must be thinned till it "springs to the thumb," they say is a most pernicious one.

On this subject Mr. Fleming's precept is: "The sole, frog and bars must on no account, or under any conditions, except those of a pathological nature, be interfered with in any way by knife or rasp." At each shoeing the hoof must be shortened to its natural proportions, beyond which it has grown behind the protecting shoe, and it is this which forms the chief difficulty of the work, and is the criterion of the good workman.

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.
They are not a vile fancy drink. f17 4w

THE AMERICAN FAMILY
KNITTING MACHINE,
Is presented to the public as the most Simple, Durable, and Compact and Cheap Knitting Machine ever invented.
PRICE ONLY, $25.
This Machine will run either backward or forward with equal facility; makes the same stitch as by hand, but far superior in every respect.
Will knit 20,000 Stitches in a minute,
and do perfect work, leaving every knot on the inside of the work. It will knit a pair of stockings (any size) in less than half an hour. It will knit Close or Open, plain or Ribbed work, with any kind of course or fine wooled yarn, or cotton, silk or linen. It will knit stockings with double heel and toe, drawers, hoods, sacks, smoking Caps, comforts, purses, muffs, fringe, afghans, nubias, undersleeves, mittens, skating caps, lamp wicks, mats, cord, undershirts, shawls, jackets, cradle blankets, leggins, suspenders, wristers, tidies, tippets, tufted work, and in fact an endless variety of articles in every day use, as well as for ornament.
FROM $5 TO $10 PER DAY
Can be made by any one with the American Knitting Machine, knitting stockings, &c., while expert operators can even make more, knitting fancy work, which always commands a ready sale. A person can readily knit from twelve to fifteen pairs of stockings per day, the profit on which will be not less than forty cents per pair.
FARMERS
Can sell their wool at only forty to fifty cents per pound, but by getting the wool made into yarn at a small expense, and knitting it into socks, two or three dollars per pound may be realized. On receipt of $25 we will forward a machine as ordered.
We wish to procure active AGENTS in every section of the United States and Canadas, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered. Address,
American Knitting Machine Company,

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND BOTTLES PER ANNUM.
THE NEW ENGLAND FAMILY MEDICINE.
DODD'S NERVINE,
AND INVIGORATOR.
A THOROUGH TONIC AND STOMACHIC,
And expressly adapted to the relief and permanent cure of all forms of
NERVOUS DISEASE, &c., &c.,
Coughs, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses,
Colds, Headache, Fainting Fits,
Fevers, Convulsions, Palpitation,
Agues, Sleeplessness, Restlessness,
Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Dizziness,
Constipation, Liver Complaint, Children's Troubles
Diarrhœa, Consumption, &c., &c., &c.
Take Care of Yourself.
DODD'S NERVINE is a PURE TONIC,—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE,—gives increased energy to the STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS (and other viscera,—and SUPPLIES FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. IT OPERATES SOOTHINGLY,—is as PLEASANT TO TAKE as any wine,—and with SLEEP and GOOD DIGESTION, which IT PROMOTES, RESTORES the afflicted to SOUND HEALTH OF BODY, and to QUIETNESS OF MIND. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatsoever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative powers. See pamphlet accompanying each bottle.
Some folks can't get Sleep Nights,
Dodd's Nervine is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that GOOD SLEEP is better than all medicine.
LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.
The Nervine is also one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. See pamphlet.
Children's Diseases.
For WHOOPING COUGH Dodd's Nervine is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in MEASLES, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. See recommendations in pamphlet. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no opium in any form.
Be Careful what Medicines you take.
Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to the nervous health and are ALWAYS followed by depressing REACTION. The strength that Dodd's Nervine gives is the STRENGTH OF HEALTH and COMES TO STAY. Beware of the whiskey preparations that have laid the foundations of so many habits of intemperance. Whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise, let the villainous compounds alone. Better die of honest disease than be burnt up by the fires of alcohol. For the ingredients that compose Dodd's Nervine see pamphlet on each bottle. For sale by Druggists and Country Stores. Price One Dollar. f17 4w

Portsmouth, N. H.

FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1870.

THE LOSS OF THE U. S. STEAMER ONEIDA.—Capt. Eyre of the steamer Bombay, which sunk the Oneida, gives the following account of the sad disaster. He says it occurred on the 24th January, about twenty miles from Yokohama, at 7 P. M.; quite dark, Oneida being under all sail and steam, going thirteen knots. Bombay steaming head to wind, going eight knots. Bombay ported her helm, shutting in Oneida's green light. Oneida starboarded her helm, crossing the Bombay's bows, rendering collision unavoidable. The Bombay felt the shock so little that he did not think the Oneida could have been much damaged, and continued his voyage on to Yokohama.

The following are interesting extracts from a private letter from Surgeon Stoddard of the Oneida, to his father in Boston, dated at Yokohama, January 31st: We left Yokohama at 5 P. M., on the 24th, and 6.45 were run into by the Bombay on the starboard quarter, the whole of which was carried away. She struck us full with her sharp iron stem, and cut everything off as with a chisel.

The wheel steering gear, spanker boom, and gaff and poop cabin were carried away, and in fifteen minutes she sunk in fourteen fathoms of water, and out of a personnel of 25 officers and 150 men, 9 officers and 54 men are left to tell the tale. The ward room dinner was just finished at the time of the collision. It seemed to me as if the whole side of the ship was coming bodily in on the dinner table.

We all rushed on deck, and immediately everything was in the greatest confusion. As I stepped over the hatch combing, I saw a large steamer just leaving us. She was hailed by our executive officer and requested to stay by us, but as far as I could judge they steamed away as fast as they could go. I walked aft on the quarter deck and saw that everything was smashed to pieces. I then looked over the quarter and saw the extent of the damage.

I believed then that the ship would go down in two minutes, and rapidly concluded that every one must look out for himself. As I realized the position, I noticed that the wardroom boat, which hung at the port quarter, was manned by 12 or 14 men. I jumped on the rail and asked if an officer was in the boat. The men said "no," and seeing who I was, they said, "jump in, Doctor," and securing hold of me, two or three of them dragged me into the boat. I at once took charge, ordering a man at each fall to lower when ordered, having first cut all the fastenings with knives. We staid there until three or four minutes of the ship's going down.

During this time the boatswain and two or three men got into the boat, making the whole number seventeen. We were still hanging at the davits when the ship began to roll in that peculiar way which precedes foundering, and the boat was dashed against the side of the ship, threatening to dash her to pieces. I looked on the deck and saw no one abaft the mainmast and gave the order to lower away and hang by the fall. The fall got jammed, and had to be cut away with a knife. Had we been three minutes longer on the davits it would have been too late, as the vessel went down like a shot after starting, and the suction would have carried our boat down with the wreck.

I may mention here that when the boat was brought up to the Idaho, she nearly sunk alongside, and on examination it was found that several pieces were broken on her starboard side, and one of the planks was knocked an inch out of place. This must have been done by striking the side of the ship, and convinces me that we could not have saved any more in our boat, as she would have filled and gone down with a heavier load.

As the coxswain cut the fall a junk was seen close by under sail. We started for her, intending to bring her alongside if possible and save life. Being under sail, however, and going free, she rapidly left us. In about two or three minutes we gave it up, and on turning to go back to the ship found she had disappeared. We pulled to where we thought she had been, but seeing and hearing nothing, finally headed for the shore, and landed about 8:40 o'clock.

The English Consular Court is investigating the matter. All the officers of the Bombay have been examined. Mr. Delong, American Minister, is conducting the proceedings on our behalf.

The feeling against the captain of the Bomcay for not stopping, is intense, and if the court attempts to whitewash him, violence may be attempted. No vessel that has ever been in the eastern waters was so popular as the Oneida. Even the English officers say they would rather the misfortune would have happened to one of their own vessels. Of twelve officers eating dinner at the time of the collision, I am the only one left.

In the Court of Inquiry on the afternoon of Feb. 1st, the following testimony was given:

Lieutenant Clemens, of her British Majesty's ship Ocean, sworn—Upon the arrival of the Bombay, I went on board for our locked mail, and in conversation with Captain Arthur Wellsley Eyre, he said, "I have to-night cut the whole quarter off a d —— Yankee frigate, and I served her bloody well right, for I met her as I came up running out with her helm a-starboard. Either the doctor in the presence of the captain, or Capt. Eyre in the presence of the doctor, said her sides were so badly stove that as she drifted past us we could see into the officers' cabin.

CHRONICLES OF OLD TIMES.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

The Portsmouth Privateers of 1812.

NUMBER TEN.

We begin this chapter with some exploits of the privateers Grand Turk and Fox, from the Oracle of Nov. 19, 1814:

Thursday evening — arrived private armed brig Grand Turk, of Salem, Nathan Greene commander, from a cruise of 103 days, with 44 of her ship's company and 50 prisoners, having made 13 captures,—eight of which were manned and ordered for southern ports; burnt four, and delivered up one to the prisoners as a cartel; has boarded 36 sail of vessels on her cruise, among which was British brig Spectator, Thomas Hill, master, from Lanzerate for London, with a cargo of barilla, which vessel was captured in August last by the privateer Grampus, of Baltimore, and delivered up as a cartel with 33 prisoners,—supplied her with bread and water, of which they were in great want, being on allowance of one biscuit per man and one drink of water per day. The Grand Turk has brought in a quantity of fruit, sugar and gum, taken out of the Cossack, arrived at Salem.

Arrived at Salem on Wednesday, the private armed schooner Fox, Handy, of Portsmouth, from a cruise.—Sailed Aug. 26; 29th, recaptured sch. Ann & Lucretia, out of the Delaware; took out her crew, in consequence of the frigate Endymion being in sight—30th, captured brig Kingston Packet, with fish, &c., (arrived)—Sept. 4, made Cape Breton, and was chased 6 hours—6th, chased all day by a man-of-war brig—6th, captured Susan and Jane, from St. Johns, in ballast—7th and 8th, chased by a man-of-war brig—9th, captured transport ship Stranger—13th, sch. Retrieve, with fish, from St. Johns, burnt her—14th, captured the brig Concord, on the Banks, gave her up to the prisoners (44 in number) and sent her into Halifax as a cartel; same day, chased by a frigate—16th, 18th and 19th, also chased by a frigate — 31st, boarded French brig Ann Amelia, of Rochelle—26th, made Western Islands, from there cruised among the W. I. Islands—Oct. 17, was off Barbadoes, and cruised in those latitudes for 14 days, but saw nothing — 31st, off St. Thomas, was chased by a man-of-war brig—Nov. 1st, boarded letter of marque sch. Johnquille, 12 days from Egg Harbor, for St. Domingo,—she had recaptured a brig, prize to the Majestic razee, and had on board a midshipman and several prisoners—9th, off Bermuda, was chased all day by a man-of-war brig—saw no cruisers in the Bay; has brought in but three prisoners.

Same day — arrived brig Cossack, captured to the eastward of Halifax on Sunday last, by the Surprise privateer from Salem, who captured the day before, sch. Mary, from Halifax with fish, took out some and sunk her. The Cossack was from Alicant for England, cargo wine, brandy, cork-wood and fruit, was taken by the Grand Turk, 32 days since — retaken by the Bulwark, and again retaken by the Surprise—she has 100 casks and a few qr-casks wine, 1 pipe brandy, &c.

The Legislature of New Hampshire, a few weeks earlier than the above date, directed the long 18-pounder, which had been loaned to the Fox, to be sent to Fort Sullivan.

In the Oracle of Nov. 12, 1814, we find the following mishap, which befel the privateer America:

The privateer ship America, which sailed from this port on Tuesday of last week, arrived at Salem the Friday evening following, having struck on a wreck on George's Bank during the night, going 11 knots. She was chased into Salem by a 74, a frigate and two brigs. The seamen who had sold their shares have chiefly deserted, and the purchasers are tricked out of their money. On heaving down, to examine her bottom, the America fell over against a wharf in Salem, and carried away her main and mizzen masts.

On the 23d of November, Michael M'Clary, Marshal, and Saml. Larkin, Auctioneer, sold 350 packages of dry goods, which the Portsmouth, Capt. Shaw, had taken out of the ship James, and brought in here piled up on deck and everywhere;—also all the rest of the James' cargo, and the ship herself. Among the goods were two printing presses, and 80 casks of powder.

On the same day, they sold another cargo of dry goods, pianos, guitars, &c., brought in by the Harpy, Capt. Nichols.

On the 3d of November, 1814, our old enemy, and friend, the privateer Liverpool Packet, was off Chatham, boarding fishing boats, and looking out for adventures. She was said to have an American pilot.

In the New Hampshire Gazette of Nov. 15, 1814, we read this item:—

The private armed brigs Portsmouth and Harpy, have sailed from this port, on a cruise.

We suppose they had been gone several days;—the Portsmouth sailed Nov. 10th. She was commanded by Capt. Sinclair.

The U. S. sloop-of-war Wasp, Capt. Blakely, sailed in November; we think not far from the middle of the month.

The little privateer Fly, of Portland, (an old acquaintance,) went ashore near her own port Dec. 3, and was lost —guns saved.

The privateer brig Mars, Capt. Colt, sailed from this port Dec. 3, 1814, with a noble crew of 125 men: of her or them we never heard afterwards: and there is little or no doubt that the Mars, the Portsmouth and the Wasp, went to the bottom with all hands, shortly after Christmas, 1814.

The Mars was a British built brig, said to have been intended for a privateer or letter of marque: she was captured by the Fox, Capt. Handy;—and after lying some time at Langdon's Wharf, was hauled up, sawed in two, and lengthened by 15 feet amidships; heavily armed and ballasted, she went to sea with a large crew, as above stated, no more to return.

Her crew, and that of the Portsmouth, were largely drawn from the mechanics and working-men of this port; many of whom were not fond of privateering, nor of the war. But the great fire of December, 1813, had impoverished many persons here; business was dull and unpromising; and men who would gladly have worked, could find nothing to do. Privateering had enriched some persons, and given to many a present supply of money. These things induced not a few worthy men to ship in the privateers, and then sell half, or more than half, of their shares, to some friend who would furnish their families with money or goods, to feed and clothe them during the privateer's absence.

The loss of these men, in these vessels, was a sore calamity to their families, to their neighborhoods, and to the town, more readily imagined than described. Widows and fatherless children, for years afterwards, suffered poverty and privation, which the survivors keenly remember to this day;—but of which the present generation can have only a faint idea.

THE ELECTION.— Returns from 214 towns give Stearns 33,965; Bedel, 23,906; Flint, 7120; Barrows, 1138. Stearns' majority 1801. 19 towns remaining last year, gave Stearns 923, Bedel 1446. The Senate is composed of 6 Republicans, 4 Democrats and 1 Labor Reformer, there being no choice in No. 10. The House of Representatives consists of 174 Republicans, 114 Democrats and 14 Labor Reformers. Council, Republicans 3, Democrats 1, and one vacancy in 2d district.

Complete returns from all the towns in Rockingham County, give Stearns, 5594; Bedel, 3609; Flint, 964; Barrows, 178. Stearns' majority, 843, Republican loss from last year, 145. Rockingham County seems to have furnished two-thirds of Gov. Stearns' majority. Our Concord exchanges give Bedel one vote and Flint two votes more than they received in Portsmouth.

Gosport gives Stearns 8, Bedel 4. Republican gain, 3. Origen S. Caswell, Republican, Representative.

A later dispatch says there is no choice for Senators in the 6th, 8th and 10th districts. The House will therefore elect the Republican candidates, and the Senate will stand 9 Republicans, 2 Democrats and 1 Labor Reform. Returns from all but 13 towns give Stearns 1717 majority in 67,002 votes.

☞ Mr. Folsom Dow of Epping concedes the re-election of Mr. Wm. H. Belknap, the popular and competent Register of Deeds for Rockingham County. Mr. Dow was the regular Republican candidate.

—A very simple and effectual method of relieving cattle when choked, by eating roots or otherwise, is to cause the animal to repeatedly leap a fence, as high as it can be forced to jump. The effort of jumping will cause it to either swallow the obstruction or throw it up. Cattle have been saved by this method, when all others have failed.

—In Great Britain and Ireland, and also in various parts of the continent of Europe, weeding tongs made of wood or iron, shaped like large pincers and provided with grooves or teeth to hold the plants, are used by farmers for pulling thistles out of tillage and pasture land.

Occupational Ailments.

Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and critical age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanatous roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopœia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters, and are there the sum of the medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among official or advertised medicines.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alteratives and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Fever is present. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes fuller and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating, that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chemistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen PROF. CHILTON'S TESTIMONY,

Founded on a careful analysis, and certifying that Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye is not only a first-class article for changing the color of the hair, but

ABSOLUTELY SAFE.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Lozan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in health, and are painful and often dangerous. In damp weather they are more frequent than in dry. These plasters give relief at once, and need to be always in the drawer, handy.

PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Messrs. J. Balch & Son, of Providence, R. I., write, Nov. 1868: "We have sold the Porous Plasters for twenty years, and, at retail and jobbing, must have sold twenty-five thousand altogether. They are well liked." ja13dawlm

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ No business of importance in the Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening.

☞ Union Prayer Meeting, every day at 12:30, at Mr. E. A. Tilton's music room, on Congress Street. All are invited.

☞ Social Temperance Assembly, this evening, at Congress Hall. A nice party and "good time generally," expected.

☞ Several merchants in this city have commenced paying out silver for change. Hasten the good time when specie payment throughout the country is to be resumed.

☞ A Naval General Court Martial assembled at the Court room at the Navy Yard, Thursday, for the trial of Edward D. Laroche, a seaman on the Vandalia charged with smuggling liquor on board that vessel.

☞ We learn that Mr. Brewster of the Journal has sold the building recently occupied as his office in Ladd Street and purchased that he has just moved into, corner of State and Pleasant Streets—the exchange in ownership being made with Mr. J. C. Carr.

☞ Portsmouth voted as follows last Tuesday on the questions of organizing new counties and calling a Constitutional Convention.

ATTEMPT TO ROB A SOUTH BERWICK BANK. — On Tuesday night last, the watchman at the bank in South Berwick was aroused from his sleep and heard noises inside the bank, but outside the counter. He pulled a bell, the wire of which ran under ground across the street to the residence of a physician; and then he tried to light a match. The would be robbers fled and were seen by a dozen or more people awakened by the shouts of the watchman.

The bank doors are of steel, yet the villains forced them both in, before being discovered. Ex-Sheriff Paul who keeps a public house in South Berwick, says that one of the suspected men was at his house on the Friday previous, probably for the purpose of reconnoitring the bank premises.

On Wednesday, Mr. Paul tracked the villains to this city, and consulted with Marshal Johnson, who, on Thursday, found a light overcoat left by one of the parties at the "Steamboat House," on State Street, kept by Jere. Hennessey. The coat is a curiosity in its line, abounding in large pockets and many. The gentlemanly looking thieves were no doubt professionals, and had met with trouble somewhere, for the coat bears the stains of blood.

Mr. Hennessey states that two men were at his house on Tuesday, election day, and during the evening hired a horse of his son, (who got them a sleigh at Beacham's stable,) and started off, carrying a box with them. They said they were going away to gamble and would be back at two o'clock in the morning. They returned within ten minutes of that time with a third man and left town in Conductor Philbrick's train for Boston, a few hours after. It is known that one of them was one of the party of bank robbers whom Marshal Johnson started out of town last Fall. The pursuit is being kept up and the rascals may be caught yet.

A CADET APPOINTED FROM SALEM, MASS. Gen. Butler has appointed to the Cadetship of the Essex District at West Point, vacated by desertion, a young man named Charles Sumner Wilson of Salem, the son of Thomas C. Wilson, a private soldier, who died in the service of the United States. His widowed mother resides in Salem, where she has given him an excellent education at the public schools, and he is said to be well qualified for the appointment. It will be observed that he bears the names of the two Senators from Massachusetts, and the Boston Journal says his complexion is the same as that of the Senator from Mississippi.

—It frequently occurs in the spring, when the farmers are feeding their cows on rutabagas or turnips, that the milk becomes so strongly impregnated by their disagreeable taste and odor as to be unfit for butter-making. To obviate this, put a pinch of finely-powdered saltpetre into every gallon of cream.

THE NEXT LEGISLATURE.—Among the prominent, able and experienced members elect of the N. H. House of Representatives, are Hon. Horton D. Walker of this city, Hon. Ira Perley of Concord, Gen. James Wilson of Keene, and Hon. Sam'l M. Wheeler of Dover—the latter of whom was chosen Speaker last year, and probably will be again.

The delegation from Portsmouth consists of 8 Republicans and 2 Democrats, as usual of late years, and is not so strong in leading men as we sometimes send. There are but three members who went last year—Isaiah Wilson of Ward One, a master house-carpenter, and a sound, reliable man; Frank W. Miller, of the Chronicle, in Ward Two; and Samuel Langdon, farmer, in Ward Three, a good fellow and a fair representative of the Democratic party. Hon. Daniel Marcy, his colleague in Ward 3, is an improvement, at any rate, on the member who occupied the seat last year; and is, as he was, the only ex-Member of Congress elected to the House, we believe, except perhaps Gen. Jim Wilson.

Of our new members, Mr. John H. Slater in Ward 1, (an Englishman by birth, we believe,) is a capable business man, a very successful grocer, an active politician, has been an Alderman, &c., and will make a good working member. Mr. John H. Locke, also of Ward 1, is a young man, was formerly in the newspaper business, of late has been a surveyor at the Navy Yard—is we think somewhat identified with Temperance societies, and was put forward rather as a representative of the boys in blue, he having been a soldier from this city in the war, and wounded. He takes the place of Maj. D. J. Vaughan, who declined re-election.

In the second Ward, Mr. Francis W. Ham, watchmaker, and Mr. Charles H. Sides, hackman, are well known citizens of probity and good ability,—and both natives of the city, and about middle age. Mr. John H. Flagg, a man from the interior of the State, we believe, has been a resident here for a several years, and is a quarterman at the Navy Yard.

It was hoped that the Republicans of Greenland would be able to rescue their beautiful town from the ban of copperhead thraldom that money and other evil influences have placed upon it for some years; but the unscrupulous conduct of the Selectmen (as charged by the townsmen,) was too much for them, and we hear talk of a contest for the Representative's seat. The fairness of Mr. J. S. H. Frink, as Moderator, however, is acknowledged by all; and Mr. C. W. Pickering, who is re-elected Representative, is a gentleman of culture and ability.

Stratham presents a lamentable instance of long continued and suicidal family quarrels among the Republicans; and thus a strongly Republican town sends to the Legislature Brackett L. Jones, one of the most blatant copperheads in the State,—who on one occasion during the late war was hooted and almost booted by an angry and excited crowd in our streets, on account of his outrageous rebel talk; so that our City Marshal felt obliged to place the fellow in the Station House for safety, and afterwards to escort him out of town. We hope this lesson, of such a mis-Representative in the House for a year, will learn our Stratham friends a lesson.

☞ There are various ways of doing things. For our part, we do not believe in putting up any public or corporation building of wood; all such structures should be substantially built brick. Neither do we believe in pulling down one good building to put up another, as was done in the case of the High School, and in other cases of private property, to the public disadvantage. Aside from the location, which we never admired — why might not the City, when that fine School building was being located, have gone somewhere a mile out of the compact city, and bought several acres of land; and reserving a liberal lot for the school, have laid out and sold the balance in lots for building;—and thus while improving the city, help pay for the school? Enterprise is as necessary and beneficial to a City's success as to individuals.

SUGAR HOUSE SYRUP, for Sale by A. A. PAYNE.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH, BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES, No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK, February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other.

The importance of this Bond as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH, Bankers.

P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawsm

COLD-FRAME AND HOT-BED.—To carry on hot-beds on a large scale successfully, is almost an art in itself—requiring great skill in their structure and planting and in the use of mats and shutters. Early tomato plants, in a small way, may be raised in flower-pots or boxes in a warm kitchen window; as, also, may egg plants and peppers. When raising them in the house, the pot or box containing the seed should be placed quite near the stove, and the soil be keep well moistened until the plants begin to break ground, when they may be removed to a warm window. It is best, if practicable, to have but one plant in each pot, that they may grow short and stocky. If the seeds are not planted earlier than the middle of April, for out-of-door cultivation, a cold-frame will answer. Select the locality in the fall, choosing a warm location on a southern slope, protected by a fence or building on the north and northwest. Set pots on stout sticks in the ground, nail two boards to these, parallel to each other, one about a foot in height, and the other, toward the south, about four inches narrower; this will give the sashes resting on them the right slope to shed the rain and receive as much heat as possible from the sun.

Have these boards at a distance apart equal to the length of the sash, which may be any common window-sash for a small bed, while 3 1-2 feet is the length of a usual gardener's sash. If common window-sash is used, cut channels in the cross-bars to let the water run off. Dig the ground thoroughly (it is best to cover it in the fall with litter to keep the frost out) and rake out all stones or clods; then slide in the sash and let it remain closed three or four days, that the soil may be warmed by the sun's rays. The two end boards and the bottom board should rise as high as the sash, to prevent the heat escaping, and the bottom board of a small frame should have a strip nailed inside, to rest the sash on. Next, rake thoroughly in guano or phosphate or finely-pulverized hen-manure, and plant in rows four to six inches apart. Thin out the tomato plants when quite small, but allow peppers to remain rather thick at first, by reason of danger from depredation of the cut-worm.

As the season advances, raise the sashes an inch or two in the middle of the day, and water freely at evening with water that is nearly of the temperature of the earth in the frame. As the heat of the season increases, white-wash the glass and keep them more and more open until about the close of May, just before plants are set in open ground; then allow the glass to remain entirely off both day and night, unless there should be a cold rain. This will harden them so that they will not be apt to be injured by the cabbage-beetle, as well as chilled and put back by the change. Should the plants be getting too large before the season for transplanting, they should be checked by drawing a sharp knife within a couple of inches of the stalk. If it is desirable to dwarf the tomatoes and thus force them into a compact growth, transplant into another cold-frame, allowing each plant double the distance it before occupied.

The structure and management of the hot-house is much the same as that of a cold-frame, with the exception that being started earlier, the requisite temperature has to be kept up by artificial means, fermenting manure being relied upon for the purpose, and the loss of this heat has to be checked more carefully by straw matting, and in the far North by shutters also.

Horse-manure, with plenty of litter and about a quarter its bulk in leaves, if attainable, all having been well mixed together, is thrown into a pile, and left for a few days until steam escapes, when the mass is again thrown over and left for two or three days more, after which it is thrown into the pit (or it may be placed directly on the surface) from eighteen inches to two feet in depth, when it is beaten down with a fork and trodden well together. The sashes are now put on and kept there until heat is developed. The first intense heat must be allowed to pass off, which will be in about three days after the high temperature is reached. Now throw on six or eight inches of fine soil, in which mix a very liberal supply of well-rotted manure, free from all straw, or rake in thoroughly super-phosphate of guano at the rate of 2500 pounds to the acre, and plant the seed as in cold-frame.—J. J. H. Gregory, in Manchester Mirror.

CUNNING AS A FOX.—A marked instance of the cunning of the fox is related as having recently taken place in Framingham, Mass. A keen-scented hound dog had been upon the trail of a fox for several hours and was apparently coming close upon him, when all at once the bark of the dog ceased, and the parties who were on the look-out followed the tracks of the fox and dog, and to their surprise found their favorite hound drowned in a well over which the fox had leaped, apparently as a decoy or trap for the dog, which, while with his nose to the ground, and in hot pursuit, did not see it in time to leap or evade.

—It was a long while ago that a New Hampshire judge, in charging a jury, said: "The counsel for the State and for the prisoner have talked of law, as was right; but, gentlemen, you and I have something else to consider—it is not law we want, but justice."

—Mrs. Esther Morris, the female Justice of the Peace at South Pass, Wyoming, weighs 180 pounds, is very masculine in feature, and 57 years of age. On the occasion of her first Court day, she wore a calico gown. She makes a very impressive "court."

ROCKINGHAM CO. COMMON SCHOOL ASSOCIATION.—Two years ago last Summer the law relative to the State Superintendence of Common Schools was changed from a Board of Education of one Commissioner in each County, to a State Superintendent at a salary of one thousand dollars at least per year. Rockingham County has not yet been benefited by this arrangement but a trifle. One Teacher's Institute was held at Exeter last Spring. It was well conducted, but the attendance was not large.

About two years ago, by the efforts of the State Superintendent, a County organization of the friends of education was effected, called the Rockingham County Common School Association; of this Rev. James DeNormandie of Portsmouth was President. A year ago the annual meeting was held at Raymond. The meeting was fairly attended, although only about one-third of the towns in the County were represented. The exercises were made interesting. We noticed, however, at the time, some sad defects. The President, in some opening remarks, stated that at the last meeting of the Association there was evidently a lack of interest in Common School education, and very appropriately called upon the State Supreintendent to suggest plans to create a better interest. The Superintendent said he had none. We wondered at this. A skilful general is equal to every emergency, being full of wisdom, sagacity and enterprise. The plans work for the whole army.

The Superintendent, however, went on to urge the necessity of a State Normal School. That is needed, but the people must feel the worth of Common Schools and competent teachers before it can be had. There was another lack of business enterprise at this meeting. There was no report of the Treasurer. Fifty cents were paid for membership. The funds were not great. The Treasurer is an honest, reliable man, but the Society should know how the money is appropriated.

Is this organization dead? No annual meeting has been had this year. We have watched to see if there is any signs of life in this body. We are convinced that it does not breathe. We call upon the new State Superintendent to come to old Rockingham County, and see if any thing can be done to help on Common School education among us. The Superintendent is Mr. Hardy. MANY.

POTATO EXPERIMENT.—Last spring I planted my potatoes on newly broken ground in an old field which had been manured but very little for many years; so I thought I would try the experiment with the superphosphate, this time with proper care. I used Andrew Coe's, and put a great spoonful into each hill, leaving a certain number of hills without the phosphate; and at harvest I found, both by weight and by measure, that it had paid me just thirty per cent. on the whole cost of using it. But this is not all. My neighbors say their potatoes are rotting badly in the cellar. Mine are not. I never had them keep better. And I do not know how to account for this, unless it be owing to the effects of the phosphate. This I do know: my potatoes were all ripe and dug before the great rains came in the fall, which was not the case with those that rot and where the phosphate was not used. With what little experience I have had with this fertilizer, I should not feel safe in trying to raise potatoes on worn-out land without using it, until I can find something that is equally cheap and good for that purpose.—N. H. Statesman.

ECONOMY IN FEEDING.—Mr. Samuel Crane, formerly of Worcester, now a resident of Winthrop, Me., informs us that he has been experimenting for the last ten years upon the cheapest method of feeding horses. He says that he can keep a horse that weighs 1050 lbs. in good condition upon twelve pounds of hay and three pounds of oats per day. His practice is to cut the hay and mix with hot water, and give the horse all the water he will drink, always hot in the winter.—Worcester Ballad.

VEGETABLE CATHARTIC PILL,
LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILL,
—OR—
LA MEDICINE CURATIVE.
Mild, Certain, Safe, Efficient. It is far the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and at once relieves and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing injury to any of them. The most complete success has long attended its use in many localities; and it is now offered to the general public with the conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no pain; leaves the organs free from irritation, and never over taxes or excites the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin, blood, stomach, bowels, liver, kidney's,—of children, and in many difficulties peculiar to women, it brings prompt relief and certain cure. The best physicians recommend and prescribe it; and the person who once uses this, will voluntarily return to the use of any other cathartic.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and insidious enemy of the organism undermines the constitution, and lies in ambush of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Pain, Epilepsy, Convulsion, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic of Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

OLD POLITICS.—Let no one imagine, now, that political bitterness, and odd expedients, are new things.—In the Portsmouth Oracle of June 7th, 1815, we find the following extract from a Philadelphia paper:—

BLACK RECRUITS.—With other miserable shifts to keep up its exhausted army, our administration is now picking up all the worthless, disorderly and runaway negroes they can find in the streets and alleys of this city. We say nothing of their horrible stupidity in putting arms into the hands of these people, increasing their insolence and importance, and establishing a school for generals and captains, who may hereafter put themselves at the head of the blacks in the Southern States. All this it behooves Mr. Madison much more than us to look to. But we would call the attention of the public to the inscription on the flag carried about, with great pomp and parade, by these patriotic defenders of sailors' rights—"Down with the British Faction!" appears in gaudy colors. Now, it is absurd in any man to affect to be ignorant that by the British Faction, the administration and its minions, both black and white, mean to designate the federalists. We are therefore given to understand, that while the free white citizens of our country are to be marched to the conquest of Canada, these sable guards of his majesty are to be employed in putting down the federal party.

Did the above enlistment of black troops foreshadow the black regiments that were raised to put down the late rebellion? and does the political growl of 1815 resemble the growls of the defeated rebels and their allies, in 1865?

FEEDING HORSES.—We find that few farmers have any system about feeding their horses, or if they pretend to have, it is not very strictly adhered to, by either themselves or their employees. Now, all of us admit the advantages of regularity in meals for mankind, even though we wholly neglect it with our animals. And not only do we believe in meals at regular hours, but in uniform quantities or portions. Man, endowed with reason, seldom eats more than he wants; the animal without reason will eat far more than is good for him, and in some cases enough to cause death. Now much food is wasted by such irregularity of feeding, and the horses are not kept in near as good condition as those which receive less food in a proper way and at proper intervals.

Horses should never be allowed to become cloyed with any food. If too much hay is fed to them, they will blow upon it, pull it down, and trample it under their feet. As a general rule, about one-half of the hay that is fed is wasted. Cut feed is better for work horses. Oats are better for driving horses. When considerable grain is given, only a small amount of hay should be fed. If those who feed largely of hay will look carefully after the feeding, they will make a great saving thereby. What is true of the waste in feeding horses is to a great extent true in the management of fatted cattle. In brief, feed moderately and regularly, and always keep the animals in good condition.

RAISE SHEEP—EAT MUTTON.—Good mutton, well fatted and neatly butchered, is the most wholesome, nutritious and cheapest of meats. It grows quickly, and costs little to produce it, compared with beef and pork. Every farmer should have a few long-wooled Cosset sheep, at least—Cotswold or Leicesters. They are little trouble, and will keep fat on the orts of the cattle. They usually bring twin lambs, which will sell to the butchers for from $8 to $10 by the first of July. Their fleece averages from eight to fourteen pounds, with from sixteen to twenty-five per cent. shrink only. Their wool is now, and will be, in the future, worth thirty per cent. more than merino, which shrinks forty-five to sixty per cent., according to the family and treatment of the flock. Long wool makes strong, excellent and durable stocking yarn, though it is mostly used to make the brilliant, light and lustrous Orleans goods, for the apparel of our pretty women. Two such sheep will yield as much profit as a common cow, and five of them can be kept as cheap as a cow in milk. Their lambs and mutton would keep a farmer supplied with the best of fresh meat of one kind, as often as is necessary, the year round, and would make an agreeable episode to the eternal round of salt junk and pork, and be far more healthy than either. Those who eat principally salted meats show it in their complexion, their skin being less fair and smooth. Pork, at best, eaten constantly, produces irritation and eruptions of the skin.

— Milton Merrifield of Providence caught fifty-two rats in one night by exchanging a barrel of oats that had been often visited by rats, for one of water, covering the surface with chaff. The varmints unexpectedly pitched in, and met a watery grave.

—No person ever got stung by hornets, who kept away from where they were. It is so with nabbs.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the prepa rations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named W. B. Betell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from pain. I think I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I think it an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from agravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirmed old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable Buchu, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an act of justice to him, and as a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,

D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Consult him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cared with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Indeed, these find our rate of advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,

TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon behalf of your medicine. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, at so liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (upon trial, try). When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had made up my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and staying it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mad turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time. So I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu prepared to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified to be a wet bed in the daily morning anathemas of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.

I feel that a debt is cleared by the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from habit, may be spared punishment and pain (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most painfully inflicted upon them. PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 28, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have tried various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I dared

That men, whate'er their station,
By energy in thought and act
May rise to rule a Nation!

If he has 'grit' to push it!"

Grant built his cabin ably,
Nor of the ways were loth to tell
That led them up to glory!

To ill-luck never give in,
There's reason in the simple rhyme,
True energy must e'er win!

SAN FRANCISCO BAY DEFENCES.—I have heretofore adverted to these matters, but fearing that some may think we are not well fortified, I will take them on an ideal visit to them and make a special description of their nature and kind. Uncle Sam has taken the precaution to fortify the most important points first, and then to add such improvements as are thought necessary.

The "Heads" at the entrance are about a mile and a quarter apart, flanked on either side by forts,—on the north by Lime Point and on the south by Fort Point. The fort on the latter point is a circular building of massive masonry, faced with brick, and mounts three tiers of guns, two of which are in casemates and the other en barbette. From one fort a radiating fire opens; from the other a check-mating cross-fire unites to form a check to any foe who might desire to enter the Golden Gate. Should the intruding enemy pass the Heads, the Presidio batteries, ten in number, could be brought to bear; and should these fail, there is an elevated battery at Black Point, two miles distant, ready to oppose an advance; and nearly opposite to this, in the Bay, is Alcatraces Island,—called Alcatraz. This is a perfect salamander, rock-ribbed on all sides, and presents an unmistakeable warlike appearance. Its upper battery is one hundred and thirty feet from low water mark; and three tiers of guns show their teeth. In case of an attempt at forcing a passage by steamers, there is, on the north side of Alcatraz, the 18 gun battery at Blunt Point on Angel Island, to check any progress in that channel. On the south, Black Point, at San Jose bluff, frowns over the main channel. Uncle Sam has another island, Yerba Buena, better known as Goat Island, opposite the main channel to the east; and a series of batteries placed here, it would be impossible for any ship to gain a position to shell the city. Two hundred and fifty guns would be likely to make an impression on any hostile vessel attempting to enter our harbor. F. W.

Occupational Ailments.
Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanatous roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopœia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and a diaphoretic. All these elements are included in the Bitters, nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among official or advertised medicines.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alteratives and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Physic is present. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes softer and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating, that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.
This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiously black or brown. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory 6 Bond Street, New York.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.
Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis. The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chemistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.
What the Doctors Say:
AMOS WCOLLEY, M. D., of Koscinsko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."
ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."
NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.
Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, which that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."
ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,
Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. ja13dawlm

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.
Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. In damp weather they are more frequent than in dry. These plasters give relief at once, and need to be always in the drawer, handy.
PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.
Allentown, Penn., April 4, 1865.
Messrs. T. Allcock & Co.
Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had a very bad pain in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly,
JOHN V. N. HUNTER.
25,000 SOLD BY ONE DEALER.
Messrs. J. Balch & Son, of Providence, R. I., write, Nov. 1868: "We have sold the Porous Plasters for twenty years, and, at retail and jobbing, must have sold twenty-five thousand altogether. They are well liked. ja13dawlm

A HUMBUG.
How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.
It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers, through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was told by many, they thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.
But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.
I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.
Price 50 cts. Sold by the Druggists. Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. ja13dawlm

FRESH BEEF AND VEGETABLES.
OFFICE OF NAVY PAYMASTER, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 8, 1870.
SEALED PROPOSALS, endorsed "Proposals for Fresh Beef and Vegetables," will be received at this office until 2 o'clock P. M., on the 14th day of March, for the supply of 25,000 pounds of Fresh Beef and 5,000 pounds of Fresh Vegetables, at the PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD and STATION, as required.
The Beef must be of good quality, and equal to the grade necessary to make the best mess beef, and be delivered in equal proportion of fore and hind-quarters. The Vegetables must be of the best quality the market affords, and the Beef and Vegetables must be offered for by the pound.
Bonds, with approved security, will be required in one-quarter the estimated amount of the contract, and twenty per cent. in addition will be withheld from the amount of each payment, as collateral security for the due performance of the contract, which reservation will not be paid until the contract is fully complied with.
Every offer must be accompanied by a written guaranty, signed by one or more responsible persons, that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation within five days, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the articles proposed.
No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by such guaranty, and the Department reserves the right to reject any proposal unless the responsibility of the guarantors is certified to by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside, and unless the license required by Act of Congress is furnished with the proposal, as well as to reject any proposal not considered advantageous to the Government.
It is to be understood that in case the stipulated quantity of either article shall be delivered, leaving a balance due on the other article, the contract may be considered as completed in full, at the option of the Department.
Blank forms for bidders furnished at this office.
EDWIN PUTNAM,
mh8 Paymaster, U. S. Navy.

TO STONE CONTRACTORS.
PROPOSALS for furnishing the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS. Sealed Proposals will be received at the Office of the undersigned, at Stockton's Office, City Hall, Boston, Mass., until March 17th, 1870, for supplying the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS during the year 1870. The blocks to be of the following dimensions, viz:—
Width, 3½ to 4½ in. Length, 6 to 8 in. Depth, 7 to 8 inches.
All the edges to be sharp and straight, forming right angles at their intersections both horizontally and vertically. The faces to be straight, split, and free from bunches or depressions.
Proposals to state the price per thousand blocks delivered on such wharf in the city proper, South and East Boston, as may be designated from time to time by the Superintendent of Streets. Also, the number of blocks which the proposer will deliver per month during the year. A sample of the blocks must accompany the proposal.
Proposals to be addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Proposals for furnishing City of Boston with Stone Paving-Blocks."
The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals.
GEO. O. CARPENTER,
14tmh12 Chairman Committee on Paving.
Boston, Mass., March 1st, 1870.

☞ Sale of Billiard Tables, &c., by Mr. Wendell to-day, at Piscataqua House.

☞ Union Prayer Meeting, every day at 12:30, at Mr. E. A. Tilton's music room, on Congress Street. All are invited.

☞ First Assistant Engineer S. L. P. Ayres of Connecticut, on duty at this Navy Yard, has been ordered to Philadelphia for examination for promotion.

☞ Mrs. Nathaniel Brew desires us to say, that Mr. Wm. D. Fernald rewarded his little girl with $30 for finding his lost coupons, referred to a day or two since.

☞ Hon. Frank Jones has secured his supply of ice this season, (nearly 300 tons,) from Raymond. The ice in the pond at the Eldredge Brewery is not being cut as often this season as heretofore.

To Die or Not to Die.—Marshal Johnson announces that he arrested several unlicensed dogs, Friday, and if the owners would like to save their lives they must take out a license to-day. If not, the dogs will not another sunrise see. One hundred and seventy-five have already been licensed.

☞ A Republican of Ward One states that about 25 Democrats, (Hon. Frank Jones among them,) were in attendance on the Republican Caucus in that Ward, to "act in, advise or consent to" the nomination of candidates for Representatives. Whether they had left or were preparing to leave their own sinking party, our informant could not tell.

New Business Firm.—James P. Bartlett, Esq., has united with Messrs. T. E. O. & Wm. Marvin, under the firm style of Marvin Brothers & Bartlett, for the purpose of carrying on the business of making and introducing to the market the superior article of pure and tasteless Cod Liver Oil, which has attained such an enviable reputation here and abroad, during the short time the Messrs. Marvin have been engaged in putting it up. Mr. Bartlett is a man of large business experience, and is one of the comparatively few Portsmouth boys who have succeeded in business at home. The new enterprise has our best wishes, and we predict a continued success for the new firm.

Fire.—At Noon of Friday, the roof of Mr. Wendell's auction store on State St. caught fire by sparks from the chimney falling on the moss-covered shingles; but the flames were extinguished without great damage being done. This might not have been the case, however, and probably would not, but for the presence of mind of Mr. T. S. Nowell, and the fact that he keeps in his shoe establishment a portable Fire Extinguisher; and that seeing where the fire was, he ran for his magical little machine, and climbing into the attic with it, quickly put out the fire inside of the roof and furniture, and kept the flames under until the engines got a stream on. But for his promptness and efficiency, we might have had a large conflagration, and undoubtedly there would have been a good deal more damage done.

Mr. Nowell is a live man always, and deserves well of his country. We wish more people would follow his example, at least in providing themselves with the great protection of an American Fire Extinguisher — with one of which, if he had had it, he tells us he thinks he could have saved the Locke livery stable which burned near his residence a few years ago. We should not feel safe without an Extinguisher on our premises. They cost about $55.

The damage to the building is estimates at $500, and to Mr. Wendell's stock at $300 or more. Both insured.

The alarm of fire drew a large crowd to the spot, who gazed at the burning roof and each other for a short time, and were rewarded sensationally by opportunities for sport in the shape of dog fights, which were introduced by the managers between the acts of starting the fire and putting it out.

The Election.—Returns have been received from 228 towns, giving Stearns 35,814, Bedel 25,123, Flint 7264, Barrows 1157. Stearns' majority over all was 1270. Five towns remain to be heard from, which last year cast 70 votes—15 Republican and 55 Democrat. The Senate stands 6 Republicans and 1 Democrat. In five districts there is no choice. In the House the Republicans have about 50 majority.

City Matters.—In Board of Aldermen, Thursday evening, (full Board,) the Com. on City Lands and Buildings recommended that the request of Wm. Plaisted and others for use of Ward Room No. 2 for Spiritual Meetings, and asking for terms of same, be laid on the table,—which was done. They also recommended that Ward Room No. 3 be granted to Rev. Mr. Harmon for use of Mission School,—which was done.

The Com. on Streets, on the petition of Wm. Hammond, for further damages for land taken for Freeman's Point Road, —reported rather indefinitely and indecisively; and the matter was again referred to the same Com. for further report.

Dr. Dearborn appeared before the Board, to urge payment of his small-pox bills of last year. After considerable discussion, he was given leave to withdraw, on the bill for Mr. Plumer, and that for Miss Amazeen was referred to the Com. on Claims.

The Com. on Fire Dept. were given another week to report on a re-organization of the Dept.

The Summer Street extension was discussed, and most of the Board favored cutting the road straight, instead of by the line of the old lane, as was laid out by the Board of last year. Voted to visit the premises on Friday afternoon.

The officers of Rockingham Bank asked that $60,000 of City Bonds be-exchanged for Registered Bonds. Referred to Com. on Finance.

Petition of residents on Bridge Street, for new Common Sewer from Islington to Hanover St. through Bridge St., was referred to Com. on Sts.

Request from D. Austin, Esq., for return of $207 taxes on Nat. Bank Stock in Boston in 1867, and $247 or so taxed for $100, as estimated he had on hand or at interest in 1868,—both which he claims were improperly assessed, and paid by his agent in his absence—was referred to Board of Assessors to who a one have jurisdiction in the matter,—if, indeed, they have, after a tax is actually paid.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 Nassau Street, New York,
February 15th, 1870.
The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the Central Pacific-Railroad Company and the Western Pacific Railroad Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognised and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.
Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the
OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other.
The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.
Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.
Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.
The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.
Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.
Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.
The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500, and $100.
They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or
The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or
The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.
The three classes will be known respectively as:
1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."
2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."
3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.
They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. Principal and interest payable in gold in the city of New-York.
The interest is payable in May and November, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.
The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.
A Sinking Fund of $100,000 per annum is provided for the redemption of the Bonds, to take effect one year after the completion of the Road.
The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the Chesapeake and Ohio.
Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.
The present price is 90 and accrued interest.
A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.
Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.
P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.
☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawdm

Morning Chronicle.

THE ONEIDA DISASTER.—The New York Tribune publishes full particulars of the sinking of the Oneida. The American house of Walsh, Hall & Co., of Yokohama, sent out a merchantman, the Yangtze, to the scene of the disaster, in forty minutes after the news reached Yokohama.

The writer continues:—In the meantime, the captain of the storeship Idaho and the captain of the Russian corvette, who had been rowing wildly about the harbor in hopes to aid any of the survivors, were taken on board the Yangtze, three boats, filled with gallant Russian and American sailors to search the beach, were taken in tow, and at 7 o'clock we steamed down the bay, followed by the English sloop-of-war Sylvia, while the French steam-launch and an English tugboat were skirting the shores seeking for survivors.

The Bombay was ordered by Captain Stanhope, senior officer of the English fleet, to return and search for the men her captain had left to drown, and after the order had been twice repeated, the last time with a threat that Captain Eyre should 'return or he would make him,' that ship had gone ahead; when the Yangtze arrived to within two or three miles of the place of collision, we met the Bombay returning. Speed was slackened, and signals made for her to stop, which she partly complied with, answering our hail with a reply that she had thirty-nine more survivors aboard, and that no more were to be found anywhere in the bay near the scene of disaster.

We then lowered our boats and started to bring the men off to the Yangtze: but the captain of the Bombay put on steam, and, with our boats bearing the American colors at the bow en route to his ship to receive the men, he left us and started for Yokohama. This was very insulting, for every American and Russian on the Yangtze felt that to our ship belonged the rescued men. Minister De Long immediately gave orders to the captain of the Yangtze to put on every pound of steam and overhaul the insolent and defiant Bombay. The order was promptly obeyed, and the captain of the mail steamer, seeing that we meant mischief, concluded to take a prudent course and to lie to until Captain Mullen of the Idaho went along side, and there found the captain's clerk, William H. Crowninshield, and 15 men of the Oneida, who, with 23 more who had gone to Yokohama overland, had been saved in a boat launched just before the Oneida went down.

These men were transferred to the deck of the Yangtze, where they met with as warm a greeting and received as kind attention as ever man gave to a brother. Among all the crowd of rough men, who had braved death a hundred times perhaps, there was not one whose eyes did not testify to his deep emotion; it was a touching scene, and one never to be forgotten. After a further search, that resulted only in disappointment, the prow of the Yangtze was turned toward Yokohama, and we reluctantly left the spot where we knew were sleeping 106 good loyal American seamen, from whom we had parted but a few brief hours before.

On the return of the Yangtze all the vessels in the harbor were found to be draped in mourning. The opinion was general in Yokohama that Captain Eyre of the Bombay had been guilty of an appalling crime. Mr. DeLong chartered the steamer Aroostook to cruise in the vicinity of the wreck, the agent of her owners, Mr. J. P. Stearns, like a true American, offering to let the minister have the vessel, and trusting to the navy department to award such compensation for her use as they should think proper. The Aroostook succeeded in finding the exact location of the wreck, and divers were to have been sent down to secure the bodies of the unfortunate seamen.

Wm. W. Crowninshield, captain's clerk of the Oneida, was asleep below when the collision occurred. He was bruised severely, but managed to get on deck, and inquired of Paymaster Tullock how the disaster happened. He says:—

The steam whistle was blowing fiercely, and the guns were being loaded to fire as alarm notes, for it was certain that the ship was in a sinking condition. The most perfect discipline pervaded the crew, and no cry was heard or alarm was manifested. Taking a buried view, I saw that we could stay afloat but a short time, and I then climbed into the main rigging, when the guns were fired. This was about 10 minutes after the collision. The officer of the deck announced that the ship was going down fast, and ordered the crew to take to the rigging. Looking down, I saw the water pouring down the hatches abaft the mainmast. The ship went down stern first. I was taken under about 15 or 20 feet, and, on coming up, found myself near a boat for which I struck out, and when nearly exhausted was drawn on board by Master Yates. I saw many heads dotting the water, but the sea soon swept us away, and they were lost to view. The Bombay did not stop or send us boats; had she done so, nearly every man aboard would have been saved.

Master Yates' statement is as follows; when about two miles off Saratoga Spit, I saw the lights of the Bombay; she came right on, and struck the Oneida on the starboard gangway, cutting a hole in us to the water's edge, and through which the whole interior of the gun room was visible. She carried away our gig, binnacle-wheel and rudder, instantly killing two men at the wheel. All the officers who were not on deck rushed up (or were brought up, some being sick), and said an instantly shortened. It was evident to us all that the ship was a total wreck, and that she would go down in a few minutes. As the Bombay hauled away from the collision, Lieutenant-Commander Stewart shouted, "Ship ahoy! Ship ahoy! Lay to; you have cut us to the water!" This was repeated three times, but, as she paid no heed, our whistle was blown and three guns were fired. The order was given to "lower away the boats," but the life-boat was only available, as the cutter was shipped in "cradle" on board: the life-boat was manned and pushed away. As the ship was fast sinking, Capt. E. P. Williams, who was on the bridge, was asked to get on board, but he refused to do so, saying, "No, I shall stay in my ship if she goes down." Lieut.-Commander Muldaur walked up, touched his hat, said "Sir the ship is going down." "I know it," said the captain, "but what can I do? I have repeatedly asked for boats, but could not get them." At this moment the ship settled, the smokestack came over and forced the cutter from the ship's side, and she went down stern first. I made a great effort to save Lieutenant-Commander Stewart, but he sunk just before I reached him, saying as he went down, "For God's sake, save me!" He was quite ill at the time.

Captain Eyre's statement, that he did not hear the Oneida's guns, is ridiculed by the Yokohama people. The two vessels were not over a mile apart when the guns were fired, and at the city, which was eighteen miles distant, at least one hundred persons heard them distinctly. The steward of the Bombay, on arrival at Yokohama, went to the International Hotel, and there asserted that the Oneida had been run into, and a hole cut in her to the water's edge, so that he could see the men carrying some person on deck, and that she must soon have gone down. Thus it will be seen that it was known on that ship that the Oneida was seriously damaged.

A Naval Court of Inquiry was held and Mr. DeLong, the American minister, demanded that justice should be done, and announced his intention, when these proceedings were ended, to prosecute Eyre in Her Majesty's courts, on any charge that the evidence would show, even to the most heinous charge of murder. [Sensation in court.] He asked for the arrest of Eyre, and said he would prefer a written charge against him.

Capt. Eyre's testimony was as follows;—

At 6:15 on that day I saw a light a half-point on my port bow; it was a bright light; shortly afterwards I made out two lights—side-lights green and red. I ordered the helm to be ported, and kept on porting until I shut the green light in. The pilot and chief officer were standing by my side on the bridge; I turned the steam-whistle on myself. In shutting off the green light my pilot said, "We are well clear, sir." My orders were, "Port still, the rule of the road, and we will give her a wide birth."

The steam-whistle was then turned off. Almost immediately after this I saw the ship crossing my bows under full sail and steam, as far as I could see. I telegraphed and stopped the engines. As she got nearly ahead of me and close to, I put the helm hard-a-starboard to clear her. Immediately after this the collision took place, our starboard bow striking her starboard quarter. The shock was not at all great, nothing more than a graze. I then turned around and looked astern, and said to the pilot, "I do not think there is much harm done; if there is, we shall see signals, rockets or lights that she wishes us to go down to her."

I stopped the engines as nearly as I can tell about ten minutes. The chief officer came up to me and reported the ship making water forward. I then said, "I can see no signals of distress, and nothing can be wanted," and then steamed ahead for Yokohama, as the ship was making water and I had mails and passengers on board. But while standing and looking astern I asked the pilot, supposing the ship was hurt or that I should require it, where I could go for safety. The answer was, there is not the slightest fear, the spit is so near at hand a ship cannot go down. I then came up to Yokohama. Even after we got there I thought very little of the collision. I did not know what ship she was. I am a stranger to this port, never having been here before.

The night was dark, but could see the stars. I could not see, to distinguish from another object, a man a ship's width off. She was about one mile off when I saw the side lights.

Supposing I had put about and followed the Oneida, it would then have taken me half an hour. I supposed had the Oneida remained stationary, it would have taken me a quarter of an hour only. It would have taken fully ten to fifteen minutes to get my ship round, as there was a large sweep to make.

The Bombay has seven boats, viz: two life, two cutters, a mail, gig and jolly boat.

My instructions are to stop for nothing but to save life, and I did not think life was at danger in this case.

Lieutenant Clemens, of her British Majesty's ship Ocean, sworn—Upon the arrival of the Bombay, I went on board for our locked mail, and in conversation with Captain Arthur Wellsley Eyre, he said, "I have to-night cut the whole quarter off a d —— Yankee frigate, and I served her bloody well right, for I meet her as I came up running out with her helm a-starboard. Either the doctor in the presence of the captain, or Capt. Eyre in the presence of the doctor, said her sides were so bodily stove that as she drifted past us we could see into the officers' cabin.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD. The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painful y afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of the virtue or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.

Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipe as, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy Neuralgia, and a various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhea or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.

Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to this antidote. Liver Complaints, Torpidity Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer of the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic or Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

DARBY AND JOAN.

AN OLD ENGLISH BALLAD,

(Reproduced for the New York Observer.)

When Darby saw the setting sun,
He swung his scythe and home he ran,
Sat down, drank off his quart, and said,
"My work is done, I'll go to bed."
"My work is done!" retorted Joan,
"My work is done!" your constant tone;
But helpless woman ne'er can say
Her work is done, till Judgment Day.
You men can sleep all night, but we "Must toil." "Whose fault is that?" quoth he.
"I know your meaning," Joan replied,
"But, sir, my tongue shall not be tied,
I will go on, and let you know
What work poor women have to do:
First, in the morning, though we feel
As sick as drunkards when they reel,—
Yes, feel such pains in back or head
As would confine you men to bed,—
We ply the brush, we wield the broom,
We air the beds and right the room;
The cows must next be milk'd—and then
We get the breakfast for the men.
Ere this is done, with whimpering cries
And bristly hair the children rise;
These must be dress'd and dos'd with rue,
And fed—and all because of you.
We next"—here Darby scratched his head
And stole off grumbling to his bed;
And only said, as on the run,
"Zounds! woman's clack is never done."
At early dawn, ere Phoebus rose,
Old Joan resumed her tale of woes:
When Darby thus—"I'll end the strife,
Be you the man and I the wife;
Take you the scythe and mow, while I
Will all your boasted cares supply."
"Content," quoth Joan, "give me my stint;"
This Darby did, and out she went.
Old Darby rose and seiz'd the broom,
And whirl'd the dirt about the room;
Which having done, he scarce know how,
He hied to milk the brindled cow.
The brindled cow whisk'd round her tail
In Darby's eyes, and kicked the pail;
The clown, perplex'd with grief and pain,
Swore he'd ne'er try to milk again:
When turning round, in sad amaze,
He saw his cottage in a blaze—
For as he chanced to brush the room
In careless haste, he fired the broom.
The fire at last subdu'd, he swore
The broom and he should meet no more.
Press'd by misfortune and perplex'd,
Darby prepared for breakfast next;
But what to get he scarcely knew—
The bread was spent, the butter too.
His hands bedaub'd with paste and flour,
Old Darby labor'd full an hour:
But, luckless wight! thou couldst not make
The bread take form of loaf or cake.
As every door wide open stood,
In push'd the sow in quest of food;
And, stumbling onward, with his snout
O'erset the churn—the cream ran out.
As Darby turn'd, the sow to beat,
The slippery cream betray'd his feet;
He caught the bread trough in his fall,
And down came Darby, trough and all.
The children, wakened by the clatter,
Start up and cry, "Oh! what's the matter!"
Old Jowler barked, and Tabby mew'd,
And hapless Darby bawl'd aloud,
"Return, my Joan, as heretofore,
I'll play labor's full an hour:
Since now, by sad experience taught,
Compar'd to thine, my work is naught.
Henceforth, as business calls, I'll take,
Content, the plough, the scythe, the rake,
And never more transgress the line
Our fates have mark'd, while thou art mine."
Then, Joan, returned; 'us hence-fore,
I'll vex your honest soul no more:
Let each our proper task attend—
Forgive the past, and strive to mend."

IMPROVED SOAP BUBBLES.—We find in an exchange a paragraph which teaches the art of blowing soap-bubbles that will show the changing colors of the rainbow. The directions are as follows:—Take three-quarters of a pint of water that has been boiled and become cold, and put into it a quarter of an ounce of Castile soap, cut up fine. Put this into a pint bottle, and set it in hot water in a saucepan, on the fire; there let it remain an hour or so, now and then giving it a good shaking, till the soap is dissolved.

Let the fluid stand quiet for a few hours for the impurities and coloring matter of the soap to settle; then pour off the fluid and add to it four ounces of glycerine and your soap-bubble solution is ready. In an ordinary way you may blow the bubbles easy with a tobacco-pipe, but if you wish to attain scientific perfection, you had better employ a glass pipe. By adding a larger quantity of glycerine, you may make these bubbles so strong that you can play battledore with them.

THE LAW OF ADVERTISING.—In New York the other day the law of advertising was well elucidated. The publisher of a daily paper sued the Standard Life Insurance Company in the Supreme Court, for a bill of $773 on account of advertising. The company resisted payment on the ground that they had authorized but one insertion. There was no proof, however, of that. There was no order to that effect on the advertisement as sent in, and the company did not attempt to deny that they saw the advertisement continuing in the paper and failed to countermand it. The judge held that when an advertisement is received in a publication office without the number of insertions paid for at the time, the publisher can know nothing of the wish of the advertiser respecting the number of insertions desired, and as he can do nothing until advised by him whose business it is to attend to the matter, he can charge for every insertion given the advertisement until ordered out.

THE AMERICAN FAMILY
KNITTING MACHINE,
Is presented to the public as the most Simple, Durable, and Compact and Cheap Knitting Machine ever invented.
PRICE ONLY, $25.
This Machine will run either backward or forward with equal facility; makes the same stitch as by hand, but far superior in every respect.
Will knit 20,000 Stitches in a minute,
and do perfect work, leaving every knot on the inside of the work. It will knit a pair of stockings (any size) in less than half an hour. It will knit Close or Open, plain or Ribbed work, with any kind of coarse or fine worsted yarn, or cotton, silk or linen. It will knit stockings with double heel and toe, drawers, hoods, sacks, smoking Caps, comforts, purses, muffs, fringe, afghans, nubias, undersleeves, mittens, skating caps, lamp wicks, mats, cord, undershirts, shawls, jackets, cradle blankets, leggins, suspenders, wristers, tidies, tippets, tufted work, and in fact an endless variety of articles in every day use, as well as for ornament.
FROM $5 TO $10 PER DAY
Can be made by any one with the American Knitting Machine, knitting stockings, &c., while expert operators can even make more, knitting fancy work, which always commands a ready sale. A person can readily knit from twelve to fifteen pairs of stockings per day, the profit on which will be not less than forty cents per pair.
FARMERS
Can sell their wool at only forty to fifty cents per pound, but by getting the wool made into yarn at a small expense, and knitting it into socks, two or three dollars per pound may be realized. On receipt of $25 we will forward a machine as ordered.
We wish to procure active AGENTS in every section of the United States and Canadas, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered. Address,

NERVOUS DISEASE, &c., &c.,
Coughs, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses, Colds, Headache, Fainting Fits, Fevers, Convulsions, Palpitation, Agues, Sleeplessness, Restlessness, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Constipation, Liver Complaint, Children's Troubles Diarrhœa, Consumption, &c., &c., &c.
Take Care of Yourself.
DODD'S NERVINE is a PURE TONIC,—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE,—gives increased energy to the STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS and other viscera,—and SUPPLIES FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It OPERATES SOOTHINGLY,—is as PLEASANT TO TAKE as any wine,—and with SLEEP and GOOD DIGESTION, which IT PROMOTES, RESTORES the afflicted to SOUND HEALTH OF BODY, and to QUIETNESS OF MIND. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatsoever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative powers. See pamphlet accompanying each bottle.
Some folks can't get Sleep Nights,
Dodd's Nervine is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like music, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that GOOD SLEEP is better than all medicines.
LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.
The Nervine is also one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. See pamphlet.
Children's Diseases.
For WHOOPING COUGH Dodd's Nervine is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in MEASLES, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. See recommendations in pamphlet. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no opium in any form.
Be Careful what Medicines you take.
Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to the nervous health and are ALWAYS followed by depressing REACTION. The strength that Dodd's Nervine gives is the STRENGTH OF HEALTH and COMES TO STAY. Beware of the whiskey preparations that have laid the foundations of so many habits of intemperance. Whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise, let the villainous compounds alone. Better die of honest disease than be burnt up by the fires of alcohol. For the ingredients that compose Dodd's Nervine see pamphlet on each bottle. For sale by Druggists and Country Stores. Price One Dollar.

MONDAY, MARCH 14, 1870.

A REFRESHING PROPOSITION.—In the U. S. Senate, on Friday, a bill was introduced and referred to the naval committee to promote the securing of efficient seamen for the United States navy. It provides for the nomination every year by each representative and delegate in Congress, of one boy not over sixteen years old, in his district, after examination, as a naval apprentice, to serve till he is twenty-one, when he is to be promoted to the grade of seaman, and afterwards be eligible to promotion as a warrant officer.

The bill went over, and well it might. The Senator who could conceive such a brilliant idea, should be granted a leave of absence, in order that his brain might be recuperated and resume its wonted quietude. Gruel might restore him, if not made too powerful.

The nomination of naval apprentices would be a rich affair; and we are inclined to think the youngster who would accept it at the age of sixteen years for the sake of being promoted (!) to seaman at twenty-one would be fit to—fill the seat in the Senate now occupied by the astute Senator who introduced the above bill.

Fancy an M. C. rushing distractedly about, in search of some foolish boy to accept a naval apprenticeship!

There are boys about the streets of our large cities, who might be saved from a worse fate by being taken in charge by government, educated and furnished a naval home which would lead them to enter the service, perhaps, when they grow older— having no other home. But the sage who can make himself believe that it is a privilege to suffer apprenticeship for five years, for the sake of becoming a seaman, should change his diet for something that has more phosphorus in it.

Fine Cut.

A man named Hutchinson killed Col. John Wilder, a Kansas editor, by shooting him. Hutchinson had circulated a scandalous story about thel daughter of Judge Stevens, to whom Mr. Wilder was engaged to be married, and a brother of hers cowhided Hutchinson The latter believed Wilder to be the cause of his punishment, and threatened to shoot him on sight.

A man has two notes of $2000 each, dated June 1st. 1869, bearing interest at 7 per cent., one note payable in one year, and the other in two years. For how much must he sell each note, Sept. 18, 1869, to realize 10 per cent. for the investment?

N. D. makes the amount of 1st note, $2000; 2d note, $1948.72. Correct.

—The freaks of a horned owl, in the dark, at Stillwater, Minn., recently, convinced a lot of lumbermen that their camp was possessed of an evil spirit. The owl used to seize upon the hats of men out after dark and carry them off. It was finally caught and found to measure five feet from tip to tip of wings. It weighed fifteen pounds.

CONGRESS.—The Senate, on Friday, passed the funding bill after further amending it so as to make the time within which the 4 1-2 per cent. bonds may be paid forty, instead of thirty, years.

In the House, Mr. Cox made a remark about the gentleman from Massachusetts blowing hot and cold, saying one thing in the House and a different thing in New Hampshire.

Mr. Dawes submitted that either he himself did not know what he had said in New Hampshire, or the gentleman did not know it, for he had re-affirmed in New Hampshire every word that he had uttered in the House. He now re-affirmed every word that he had said in New Hampshire. In no word that he had uttered in the House had he ever said that the present administration was more extravagant than the administration of Johnson. He knew that it had been attempted in a two hours' speech [Mr. Butler's] to make him say that, but nowhere had he done so. He was ready to stand by all that he had said in either of his speeches on that subject. He submitted that his friend from New York could find no syllable of what he had uttered out of the House different from what he uttered in it. The figures he used in New Hampshire were the expenditures between the 4th of March, 1869, and about the middle of February, 1870, and not those from July, 1869, to July yet to come.

In reply to the allusion of Mr. Cox, Mr. Dawes sent to the Clerk's desk and had read a telegram stating that Governor Stearns' majority in New Hampshire was 1500, with a republican majority of 70 in the House and 11 out of 12 senators. [Clapping of hands.]

Mr. Cox remarked that two years ago the republican majority in New Hampshire was 3700, so that his friend from Massachusetts had been really useful to the democratic party and to the country. Mr. Cox, proceeding to criticise Mr. Dawes, said that he was always finding him nearly right, but always in conflict between his morals and his politics. [Laughter on the democratic side.] The gentleman had swallowed his own speeches. The only parallel for the feat was that of the Oriental juggler who took a torch and jumped down his brother's throat, and then took a torch and jumped down his own throat, leaving the spectators to tally in the dark. [General laughter.] The fact was that the gentleman had charged on the administration with all the quiet, earnest, persistent power he possessed, that it was profligate and extravagant, if not corrupt, and then went into New Hampshire to deliver a message from the President saying how very economical the administration was. He stood up in the House for practical economy, acting with the democratic side of the House, [laughter,] fighting his friends, fighting the most persistent and bold man that belonged to his party—the gallant leader of the republican party, Gen. Butler, [laughter,] and then at last he came and said, "Well, after all, my distinguished colleague [General Butler] was right." This administration is not extravagant; it only estimates extravagantly. [Laughter.]

A VOTE OF CONFIDENCE.—The Concord Monitor draws the following conclusion from the result at the polls:

"While Republicans are rejoicing, as we all are, over the result of the election, it will be well not to forget the pledges and professions of economy and reform to which we owe our success. If we forget, the people will not. If we fail to redeem those pledges, both in the State and National Government, the people will not the less persistently demand their redemption, and will not fail to withdraw the vote of confidence which they have just given."

We don't know nor believe, (says Uncle Toby,) that pledges and promises of reform, made by the Republican party, were the peculiar or principal cause of success. Other parties have made more noise about economy, but yet they were not successful.

The Democratic party, and the Labor Reform party, made large promises of economy and reform, and made them long and loud; but somehow the people did not believe them, and did not give them "a vote of confidence."

The Monitor has spoken often in the Economical strain; how much good it has thus accomplished, it is not safe to say, but some of its articles in that line were copied with approval by the Democratic papers before election, which was not a likely way to increase the vote for Governor Stearns. And it happens that in Rockingham County, where the principal Republican papers pursued a different course, we have given nearly two-thirds of the whole Republican majority in the State.

New Hampshire Items.

Mrs. Lucy Crawford, widow of Ethan Allen Crawford, well known as one of the pioneers settlers of the White Mountains, died at the residence of her daughter. Mrs. William Hayes, in Stoneham, Mass., Feb. 17th, deceased was born 1793. Ethan cut the first bridle path to Mt. Washington, and acted as guide to the early tourists. Mrs. Crawford was the first to publish a history of the White Mountains. Her remains will be taken to the White Mountains in the spring and interred beside those of her husband.

Col. William Kent, of Concord, is the oldest employee in the Boston Custom House. He is 77 years old, well and active, and voted this week for the 55th time in this State.

The Daily Bee is the name of a new paper started in Dover, by Abel B. Berry, formerly editor of the Pittsfield Times. We hope it may be successful.

A very destructive fire occurred in Ossipee, Saturday night, wholly destroying the extensive bedstead factory of L. D. Moulton. Sixty hands are thrown out of employ. Loss, $18,000—the third time Mr. Moulton has had his manufactory burned. He will no doubt build again immediately.

The Statesman says that men are living in Concord who remember when a check list was not used, even when voting for State officers. At the time Daniel Webster was first chosen Member of Congress from New Hampshire (1813,) no check list was use. The voters formed a line on the town-house hill, and the selectmen collected their ballots. Then, and many years afterwards, every voter was known by name to the leading men of the town.

By direction of the President, the unexecuted portions of the sentences of Thomas Brown and Alfred Brown, (colored,) condemned by a military commission to imprisonment for life, have been remitted, and the prisoners are to be released from confinement in the State prison at Concord. These men were convicted in June, 1865, at Millwood, Clark county, Va., of the murder of Addison Forer.

Rochester voted, on Saturday, to subscribe for fifteen thousand dollars of stock in the Concord and Rochester Railroad. The vote was 191 in favor to 66 against.

☞ We take pleasure in copying from a San Francisco paper the following notice of a vessel built by Messrs. Peirce & McMichael, both ship-builders well known in this city and vicinity. Mr. Peirce is a brother to Postmaster Peirce.

A New American Ship for the California Trade.—Although there is, and has been for a long time, an evident decline in American ship-building, our Boston cruisers seem determined to keep up the interest as far as it lies in their power, and every now and then we find a new ship sailing from that port. The latest of these, and one of the best which has come to our port, is the ship Comet, which arrived here a few days since from New York, making the trip in 111 days. The comet is what is termed a half-clipper, and was built by Messrs. Pierce & McMichael, of Chelsea, Mass., for the firm of Howes & Crowell, Boston. She is built in the most substantial manner, with heavy oak frame and copper-fastened. No expense has been spared to make her a perfectly solid and safe sea-boat. Elaborate decorations and unnecessary displays of workmanship have been sacrificed to solidity and durability. Her model, thought not exceedingly sharp, is an excellent one with a clean run. She is of 1157 tons burthen, 186 feet in length, 37 feet breadth of beam and 23 feet depth of hold. She has no forecastle, the men occupying a house on deck, while the cabin, which is finished in bird's eye maple, is a model of neatness and comfort. Capt. Benjamin Bray, who has made several voyages to this coast, is in command. The Comet and the Golden Fleece each made the trip in 111 days—the quickest of the season—but, from the difference in the models and the well-known sailing qualities of the Golden Fleece, the Comet would seem to have made the best time. She is now being discharged, and is turning out her cargo in splendid order.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—The Bennington, Vt., Banner of last week says: We have this week to record an almost miraculous escape from death by drowning. One day last week a little girl, eight or ten years old, daughter of Mr. John Keeman, who for a number of years has been in the employ of Messrs. Bradford & Sons, fell into the river through the ice, five rods above the brick knitting factory, going under the ice to the dam, which has six feet fall, with an apron of twenty feet—then under Walsh's machine shop to another dam, before reaching which latter point the water runs in a walled up and covered race-way, twenty rods. Just as she was going over the last dam, she was rescued by Mr. William Bradford, who, seeing her, hurried to her assistance, else she must have found a watery grave. As it was, strange though it may appear, she sustained no serious effects from her most narrow escape from a terrible death.

Occupational Ailments.

Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather impregnated—with the fluid extracts of sanatous roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopœia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters, nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among official or advertised medicines.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alterativas and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Five Pills are required. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes softer and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating, that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautifully black or brown. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory 6 Bond Street, New York.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chemistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen PROF. CHILTON'S TESTIMONY.

Founded on a careful analysis, and certifying that Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye is not only a first-class article for changing the color of the hair, but

ABSOLUTELY SAFE.

CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATION, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT. ja13dawlm

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM,

Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. Sold by all Medicine Dealers. ja13dawlm

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. In damp weather they are more frequent than in dry. These plasters give relief at once, and need to be always in the drawer, handy.

PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Allentown, Penn., April 4, 1865.

Messrs. T. Allcock & Co.

Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had a very bad pain in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly, JOHN V. N. HUNTER.

25,000 SOLD BY ONE DEALER.

Messrs. J. Balch & Son, of Providence, R. I., write, Nov. 1868: "We have sold the Porous Plasters for twenty years, and, at retail and jobbing, must have sold twenty-five thousand altogether. They are well liked. ja13dawlm

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance and told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I know my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Group, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

Price 50 cts. Sold by the Druggists, Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. ja13dawlm

FRESH BEEF AND VEGETABLES.

OFFICE OF NAVY PAYMASTER, PORTSMOUTH, N. H., March 8, 1870.

SEALED PROPOSALS, endorsed "Proposals for Fresh Beef and Vegetables," will be received at this office until 2 o'clock P. M., on the 14th day of March, for the supply of 25,000 pounds of Fresh Beef and 25,000 pounds of Fresh Vegetables, at the PORTSMOUTH NAVY YARD and STATION, as required.

The Beef must be of good quality, and equal to the grade necessary to make the best mess beef, and be delivered in equal proportion of fore and hind-quarters. The Vegetables must be of the best quality the market affords, and the Beef and Vegetables must be offered for by the pound.

Bonds, with approved security, will be required in one-quarter the estimated amount of the contract, and twenty per cent. in addition will be withheld from the amount of each payment, as collateral security for the due performance of the contract, which reservation will not be paid until the contract is fully complied with.

Every offer must be accompanied by a written guaranty, signed by one or more responsible persons, that the bidder or bidders will, if his or their bid be accepted, enter into an obligation within five days, with good and sufficient sureties, to furnish the articles proposed.

No proposal will be considered unless accompanied by such guaranty, and the Department reserves the right to reject any proposal unless the responsibility of the guarantors is certified to by the Assessor of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside, and unless the license required by Act of Congress is furnished with the proposal, as well as to reject any proposal not conforming to the conditions of the Government.

It is to be understood that in case the stipulated quantity of either article shall be delivered, leaving a balance due on the other article, the contract may be considered as completed in full, at the option of the Department.

Blank forms for bidders furnished at this office.

mh5 EDWIN PUTNAM, Paymaster, U. S. Navy.

TO STONE CONTRACTORS.

PROPOSALS for furnishing the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS. Sealed Proposals will be received at the Office of the Superintendent of Streets, City Hall, Boston, Mass., until March 17th, 1870, for supplying the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS during the year 1870. The blocks to be of the following dimensions, viz:—

Width, 3½ to 4½ in. Length, 6 to 8 in. Depth, 7 to 8 inches.

All the edges to be sharp and straight, forming right angles at their intersections both horizontally and vertically. The faces to be straight, split, and free from bunches or depressions.

Proposals to state the price per thousand blocks delivered on such wharf in the city proper, South and East Boston, as may be designated from time to time by the Superintendent of Streets. Also, the number of blocks which the proposer will deliver per month during the year. A sample of the blocks must accompany the proposal.

Proposals to be addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Proposals for furnishing City of Boston with Stone Paving-Blocks."

The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals. GEO. O. CARPENTER, 14tmh2 Chairman Committee on Paving. Boston, Mass., March 1st, 1870.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ Lieutenant Edward S. Keyser has been ordered to the receiving ship Vandalia.

THE TRUSTEES of the Public Library Fund acknowledge the receipt of $100 from Ex-Mayor Simes for the cause.

GEO. L. TREADWELL,
Treasurer.

☞ The head-eater of the rebel hand-organ vents his spleen on the men who betrayed the Democratic candidate for Governor and the party generally. A single quotation is sufficient to show the animus of the writer, and this is the quotation:—"Damn the man who betrays our cause." Go in, tomatoes!

COASTING ACCIDENT.—On Saturday, Chas. Smith, a youth of some 12 years, was run over by a passing wagon on Hancock Street, while engaged in coasting from Gates Street across Hancock via Pig-tail alley. He was somewhat bruised, and his scalp was severely cut. He was taken by the driver of the wagon to the office of Dr. Whittier, who dressed his wounds.

☞ The Assembly of the Temperance Society at Congress Hall, on Friday evening, was a very pleasant affair,—well attended, social, and of course well conducted. Dancing was kept up till about 1 o'clock—late enough—Cushing's full Band making the music:—those persons who have heard this Band render Mozart's glorious Twelfth Mass at the rehearsals of the Philharmonic Society, will not need to be assured that the Temperance folks had music at their dance.

Mr. Durant preached in the North Church, Sunday evening at seven o'clock, and will preach or conduct services at the same place at 7½ o'clock each successive evening of this week, including Thursday evening. There will probably be also some afternoon meetings for Christians in the Methodist Church.

Noon prayer-meetings are held every day at 12½ o'clock in Mr. Tilton's Music Hall, over S. B. Plummer's Shoe Store. ALL, both ladies and gentlemen, are invited to step in for a few minutes or longer, at their convenience. Twenty or thirty familiar neighborhood prayer-meetings were held in different localities throughout the city, on Saturday evening at half-past seven o'clock.

BURGLARS' TOOLS FOUND.—It is well-known that the burglars who broke into the bank at South Berwick last Tuesday night, had their headquarters in this city and were traced here two days after their departure. On Saturday afternoon, Capt. Lowrey found one of the most complete set of burglars' tools ever seen in New England, at low water-mark on his beach near the Kittery end of Portsmouth Bridge. They were in two large valises, made of very strong material. The tools included two jackscrews, a steel cutter, which no material can resist, priers, wedges, large and small, two cans of powder, a dark lantern, cold chisels and various other formidable appearing implements. In one valise was found a German almanac. The tools are of superior workmanship and but few of them have ever been used. They are mostly of steel and are pronounced to be the best made and the most effective ever seen hereabouts. There were 65 pieces in all, some of the largest being screwed together in pieces. Marshal Johnson took possession of them and the Police Station was visited by hundreds of citizens who desired to see them, Saturday evening.

☞ By reference to our report of Friday's Congressional proceedings it will be seen that Sun-set Shoo-fly Cox is more "bodder"-some to Mr. Dawes than to Gen. Butler. Messrs. Dawes and Butler are rival leaders of the House, and Cox tackled both. Butler floored him with a few words, but Dawes comes out as ridiculously from the encounter with Cox as Cox did in his mock defense of Butler.

☞ The James steam mills at Newburyport are to be sold by auction on the 6th of next month. This company, during the war, paid in about eighteen months nearly one hundred per cent. in dividends. The stock sold at $50 per share, but it has been offered at $8 per share.

—Five young devotees of the "white man's government" marched out of a California church with great parade on a recent Sunday because a colored citizen entered and was seated with the congregation. A local paper thinks this distressing attack of colorphobia quite ridiculous, as the bummers in question were eternally loafing in the barber shop of the aforesaid negro.

RELIGIOUS.—The Baptist Society at Wells, (Ogunquit,) under the pastoral care of Rev. George Moore Payne, is said to be in a highly prosperous condition. Mr. Payne's labors are being attended with great success, and during his brief pastorate large numbers have been added to the church.

The Methodist Society at Kittery (Foreside.) have recently increased their church accommodations by the addition of a Lecture Room in the basement of their church edifice. This society has had numerous accessions during the past year, and the pastor, Rev. Mr. Pillsbury, is unceasing in his efforts for the spiritual welfare of his people.

☞ The Funeral of Miss Rebecca French took place at North Hampton on Friday afternoon, as appointed. The religious services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Haines, in the new chapel, which was filled with the mourning family, and with sympathizing friends, including numbers from neighboring towns, who knew and honored the departed. The sermon was from Acts 9:36; "this woman was full of good works and alms-deeds which she did." The discourse was mainly a descriptive Eulogy on the deceased, as a model of active but unobtrusive piety, devotional spirit, and pure religion undefiled. The nine surviving brothers and sisters were present; two of the original eleven having passed away since all assembled last year to perform the last offices for the mother. The services, including the singing, were appropriate, commendably brief, and impressive, we trust, for good.

U. T.

☞ Mr. Luther Merrill Jr., formerly of this city, had a house, stable, carriage house and contents burned at Caribou, Me., Feb. 14. Total loss, $3000. No insurance. An appeal has been made for help by his townspeople.

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic;

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.

P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawSm

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF NAVAL COMMANDERS.—In commenting some days ago upon the case of Lieutenant Commander Seely, who was court-martialled for cruelty practiced upon certain seamen on board of the United States steamer Pawnee, of which he was executive officer, we made a comparison with the case of Surgeon Greene, who was most unjustly found guilty and severely sentenced because he declined to declare a sick man well when ordered to do so by his commanding officer. The judgment of the court that tried Dr. Greene was that he should be suspended from rank on furlough pay for two years, and be publicly reprimanded by the Secretary of the Navy.

In the case of Seely, the Secretary sent back the sentence of the court for revision several times, on the ground that it was not severe enough, and the utmost that he was able to extort was a sentence of suspension from duty, on furlough pay, for four years, with a public reprimand from the Secretary. The Secretary was obliged to confirm this sentence, or allow Seely to go unpunished. The Washington (D. C.) Republican quotes our article, and in its editorial endorsement of the opinions advanced by us with regard to this outrageous perversion of justice, it gives a piece of information that was not in our possession when we wrote. The Republican says, referring to the article in the Evening Telegraph:

"These views are fully in accord with the opinions already expressed in the columns of the Republican, and the case is the more remarkable for the reason that the first sentence of the court, for which the proceedings were sent back by the Secretary of the Navy, was indentically the same as that found by the remarkable court that sat in judgment on Dr. Greene's case; showing that, in the opinion of the line officers who composed these courts, the same punishment is due to a line officer who tortures men by cruel punishments and to a medical officer who endeavors to protect them. But a more important question arises here. What is the duty and responsibility of a commanding officer in the United States navy? Why is not the captain of the Pawnee even censured for permitting such cruelties in his command? Do naval officers mean when they talk about the authority and supremacy of the 'executive officer' that he shall have unlimited power over all on board ship, to the exclusion of the responsibility of the commander? If not, why is not Captain Clitz held accountable for these wrongs as well as his subordinates? Without professing to decide in such high concerns as naval usage and discipline, we are decidedly of the opinion that the staff officers of the navy are right in declaring that the only responsible authority on board ship must be the commanding officer, if discipline is to be maintained with justice."

The query of the Republican with regard to the responsibility of Captain Clitz in this matter is very much to the point. According to all the usages and regulations of the navy, the executive officer is merely the agent of the commander, who is personally responsible. Without extenuating in any degress the offence of Seely, we cannot help thinking that he was made the scapegoat in this instance, and the captain of the Pawnee ought to be held accountable for outrages perpetrated upon the men under his command, unless he can prove in most conclusive manner that he is blameless in thought, word, and dead, and that Seely acted entirely on his own responsibility, thereby usurping the prerogatives of his superior officer. General Sherman, in his letter to Admiral Porter on the subject of staff rank, said that he did not wish to sail in a ship with more than one captain—a remark, by-the-way, that had no relevancy to the matter under discussion—but if the executive officers of our men-of-war are to have the power and responsibility that the failure to inquire into the complicity of Captain Clitz with the crimes of Seely argues, the very condition of affairs deprecated by General Sherman will occur; and with two captains to obey, the officers of the line as well as the staff, not to speak of the men before the mast, will find life on board of our naval vessels intolerable, and the demoralization of the naval service will be complete.

This is the very condition of affairs that is being brought about by the jealousy of the line officers, who, fearful that the staff will gain some position and influence, are seeking to strengthen the hands of the executive officers, so that they will be able to maintain their own supremacy at all hazards. It is well for the naval service that such matters as these are being brought to light, and discussed openly and fairly in the newspapers of the country, for the people and their representatives in Congress will be the better able to judge what are the real evils that afflict the navy and render it unpopular, and will enable them the better to apply the necessary remedies. With regard to Capt. Clitz, we hope that such a pressure will be brought upon the Navy Department as will compel an inquiry into his conduct as commander of the Pawnee, and secure his proper punishment if he is in any degree implicated in the offences of Seely. Philadelphia Telegraph, March, 1.

—"Father, if Cherubims have no bustles to sit down upon, nor legs to stand on, what do they do when they get tired?" asked a juvenile hopeful. "Go hang yourself, and then you'll know," replied the affectionate parent.

—An old farmer, whose son has died lately, was visited by a neighbor, who began to condole with him on his loss. "My loss!" exclaimed the father; "no such think; it was his own loss—he was of age."

A KNOWING DUCK.—About a year ago, Mr. William Brown brought from Woodstock, Ontario, a fine large Muscovite drake. The bird was kept for a few days, and last Christmas morning disappeared. A few days since Mr. Brown was at Woodstock, and spoke to the man of whom he had purchased the duck, relating its loss. The Canadian informed Mr. Brown that the duck was there, and had been there nearly a year, and soon hunted up the bird, proving its identity by a mark on the foot. Upon comparing notes, it was ascertained that the duck arrived there on the evening of the 27th of December, having been not quite two days and two nights in flying back to its former home, a distance of 246 miles. It was brought here by express, in a box, and must have journeyed by instinct. Mr. Brown brought the bird back from Canada.—Jackson, Mich., Citizen.

—The Charlton Democrat says Mr. Dane, who lives near Garden Grove, has a rooster that has brought up a brood of chickens the past summer. When the little chickens were only two or three days old, the old hen was killed by the hogs, and Mr. Rooster became their protector. He has never deserted them until lately, and he is now "weaning" them. He would evince all the agony of a mother when danger threatened them, follow the little ones, and "cluck" just as naturally as any hen. He always gathered them under his wings at night, and has labored most zealously to bring them up in the way that they should go. Mr. Dane says he would not part with the tender-hearted rooster for any consideration and should he take a notion to lay eggs next year, he will be able to dispose of them at remunerative prices.

—Men sometimes die from very singular causes. A blacksmith in Monticello put a common axle in his fire to loosen the iron "thimble" from its outer edge, when, to his astonishment, it blew up, shooting jagged splinters into his body. Death ensued. It happened thus: The broken axle had been lying out in the rain for some time, and was pretty thoroughly saturated with water. There is frequently a considerable cavity between the thimble and the end of the axle. The water had rusted the bolt screw at the head of the thimble so as to render it perfectly tight, and the swelling of the wood had produced a similar effect at the other end. When the moisture in the chamber had turned to steam and afterward to gas in the intense heat, an explosion was the natural result.

—Judge William Strong, recently confirmed as a Justice of the United States Supreme Court, is a leader in the movement to secure a recognition of Christianity in the national Constitution. This fact should have secured his rejection, inasmuch as it proves his unfitness for a judicial position. The government of a country like this ought to have no official connection with any religious faith. All its citizens, be they Christians, Jews, Spiritualists, Mormons, Mahometans or atheists, should stand upon an equal footing under the Constitution and before the law. No man who does not see and comprehend and feel this, is qualified to interpret the one or administer the other.—N. Y. Atlas.

WOMEN AS GRAND JURORS.—The following is the address of Judge Dowe of Wyoming Territory, on the 7th inst., to the first grand jury partly composed of women ever summoned since the world began. A motion to "quash the the panel" had previously been argued and refused. The Judge said:

Ladies and gentlemen of the grand jury—It is an innovation and a great novelty to see ladies summoned, as we do to-day, to serve as jurors. The extension of political rights and the franchise to women is a subject that is agitating the whole country. I have never taken an active part in these discussions, but I have long seen that woman was a victim to the vices, crimes and immoralities of man, with no power to protect and defend herself from these evils.

I have long felt that such powers of protection should be conferred upon woman, and it has fallen to our lot here to act as pioneers in the movement and to test the question. The eyes of the whole world are to-day fixed upon this jury of Albany County. There is not the slightest impropriety in any lady occupying this position, and I wish to assure you that the fullest protection of the law shall be accorded to you. It would be a most shameful scandal that in our temple of justice, and in our courts of law, anything would be permitted which the most sensitive lady might not hear with propriety, and witness.

It seems to be eminently proper for women to sit upon the grand juries, which will give them the best possible opportunities to aid in suppressing the dens of infamy which are the curse of the country. I shall be glad of your assistance in the accomplishment of this object.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Mild when taken, it is unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermining the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it remains in secret infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various affections of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic or Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

REMARKABLE CHARITABLE BEQUESTS. Dr. Simeon Abrahams, a well-known, skillful and highly respectable Jewish physician of New York city, died in April, 1867, leaving a large estate. He had no wife, child or parent living at the time, and but one brother and sister. After providing for them, Dr. Abrahams' will contains the following bequests:

To the Hebrew Benevolent Society of New York, for the use of the Orphan Asylum connected therewith, $25,000; to the Jew's Hospital, now called Mount Sinai Hospital, $25,000; to the American Female Guardian Society, in Thirtieth street, between Fourth and Madison avenues, $5,000; Orphan Asylum on Bloomingdale road, near Seventy-first street, $5,000; the Eye and Ear Infirmary, $3,000; the New York Fire Department Fund, $1,000; New York Institute for Instruction of Deaf and Dumb, $8,000; Association for Relief of Respectable Aged Indigent Females, $20,000; Institute for the Blind, $2,000; Society for the Reformation of Juvenile Delinquents, $2,000; New York Dispensary, Northern Dispensary, Eastern Dispensary, Demilt Dispensary, Western Dispensary, Northeastern Dispensary, Northwestern Dispensary, $1,000 each; to the New York Opthalmic Hospital, $2,000; New York Juvenile Asylum, $3,000; New York Society for the Relief of the Widows and Orphans of Medical Men, $5,000; Nursery and Child's Hospital, $3,000; Colored Home in the City of New York, $5,000; Association for the Benefit of Colored Orphans, $5,000.

It now appears that the proceeds of the estate will not quite cover all the legacies, and the question is which shall have the preference, or shall an abatement be made in all in due proportion. The case is now before the Supreme Court, and no less than thirty-six lawyers are engaged in it, representing the various parties and institutions named in the will. It excites much interest on account of its unusual and complicated features.

In regard to the deceased, one witness said, that it was "a most remarkable fact, that among all the bequests which had been made by the testator, only two had been made to institutions sustained by the same religious faith as that to which he was attached. It seemed to him that this wealthy physician had taken extraordinary pains to find out the poorest and the most needy charities, and had done for them what he could."—New York Observer.

We honor this noble Jew, for his judicious benevolence. We do not know what complicated features there may be in the will: But if the 36 lawyers and their clients have common sense and common honesty they will compromise the matter by letting the provision for the Brother and Sister stand intact, —and decide the other legacies pro rata.

Exactly this thing was done in this city, forty years ago, by the executor of a small estate here, and all the legatees satisfied. This executor had been a judge, and was a good practical lawyer.

$265,200 PER YEAR FOR RUM. These figures, which a lady correspondent gives as the sum total spent in Dover for that which neither feeds nor clothes nor makes better, are pregnant and full of interest. Taking our Merchant tailors, seven in number and setting five of them at $40,000 and the others at $20,000 each, we have but $240,000. Less required to clothe our people than to furnish them with fire-water. We have eight dry good stores. It would be setting them high to say their receipts would average $30,000 each per year. Then we are paying more to ruin the brains of our young and old men, than we are to clothe God's "last best gift to man."

We complain of our taxes, and yet if this tax for deadly poisons was levied pro rata upon our voting population—1800—it would be one hundred and forty-seven dollars apiece!

These figures, $265,200, in comparison with others, loom up fearfully, but we are inclined to think them not over estimated. The ninety dealers, and those dependent upon them, have to be supported, and some well supported, too, upon the profits of this traffic. Call it half profit, $132,600; can the expenses of selling average less than $500 per year for each bar? and that would only leave $1000 for the support of each dealer and his family. These figures are worthy the attention of our citizens, particularly of those who pay this $265,200 per year.—Dover Local Record.

—A few days since, as an express train on the Berlin and Maine Railroad was passing Oak Hill, the cow catcher of the engine struck a horse attached to a sled which had got upon the track, and lifting him from the track and breaking the thills of the sled carried him along about a mile before the train could be stopped. Strange to say, the horse was taken off uninjured.

☞ Prof. Woodman, of Dartmouth College, who has been very ill, and is now very feeble, is said to be recovering from his fever.

and do perfect work, leaving every knot on the inside of the work. It will knit a pair of stockings (any size) in less than half an hour. It will knit Close or Open, plain or Ribbed work, with any kind of coarse or fine wooled yarn, or cotton, silk or linen. It will knit stockings with double heel and toe, drawers, hoods, sacks, smoking Caps, comforts, purses, muffs, fringe, afghans, nubias, undersleeves, mittens, skating caps, lamp wicks, mats, cord, undershirts, shawls, jackets, cradle blankets, leggins, suspenders, wristers, tidies, tippets, tufted work, and in fact an endless variety of articles in every day use, as well as for ornament.
FROM $5 TO $10 PER DAY
Can be made by any one with the American Knitting Machine, knitting stockings, &c., while expert operators can even make more, knitting fancy work, which always commands a ready sale. A person can readily knit from twelve to fifteen pairs of stockings per day, the profit on which will be not less than forty cents per pair.
FARMERS
Can sell their wool at only forty to fifty cents per pound, but by getting the wool made into yarn at a small expense, and knitting it into socks, two or three dollars per pound may be realized. On receipt of $25 we will forward a machine as ordered.
We wish to procure active AGENTS in every section of the United States and Canadas, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered. Address,

NERVOUS DISEASE, &c., &c.,
Coughs, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses, Colds, Headache, Fainting Fits, Fevers, Convulsions, Palpitation, Agues, Sleeplessness, Restlessness, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Dizziness, Constipation, Liver Complaint, Children's Troubles Diarrhœa, Consumption, &c., &c., &c.
Take Care of Yourself.
DODD'S NERVINE is a PURE TONIC,—harmonizes perfectly with the NERVE FIBRE,—gives increased energy to the STOMACH, LIVER, BOWELS [and other viscera,—and SUPPLIES FRESH LIFE for the waste that is constantly taking place. It OPERATES SOOTHINGLY,—is as PLEASANT TO TAKE as any wine,—and with SLEEP and GOOD DIGESTION, which IT PROMOTES, RESTORES the afflicted to SOUND HEALTH OF BODY, and to QUIETNESS OF MIND. It contains no opium, mercury or strychnine (so often used for nervous complaints,) and is wholly free from any deleterious drugs whatsoever. Tens of thousands are testifying to its curative powers. See pamphlet accompanying each bottle.
Some folks can't get Sleep Nights,
Dodd's Nervine is a COMPLETE SPECIFIC for sleeplessness. It soothes the throbbing muscle like magic, and tranquilizes the mind. And everybody knows that GOOD SLEEP is better than all medicines.
LADIES IN POOR HEALTH.
The Nervine is also one of the best remedies ever employed in the cure of the numerous and troublesome ailments known as FEMALE COMPLAINTS. See pamphlet.
Children's Diseases.
For WHOOPING COUGH Dodd's Nervine is administered with unexampled success. Mothers, remember this and save your little ones the agony of a most distressing complaint. It also works admirably in MEASLES, bringing out the rash well and leaving the bowels free and healthful. See recommendations in pamphlet. For the diseases which afflict CHILDREN WHEN TEETHING, nothing can furnish more instant or grateful relief. Remember, it contains no opium in any form.
Be Careful what Medicines you take.
Alcoholic stimulants are injurious to the nervous health, and are ALWAYS followed by depressing REACTION. The strength that Dodd's Nervine gives is the STRENGTH OF HEALTH and COMES TO STAY. Beware of the whiskey preparations that have laid the foundations of so many habits of intemperance. Whether under the name of Bitters or otherwise, let the villainous compounds alone. Better die of honest disease than be burnt up by the fires of alcohol. For the ingredients that compose Dodd's Nervine see pamphlet on each bottle. For sale by Druggists and Country Stores. Price One Dollar. f17 4w

Nameless Items.

A young lady living in Quincy, Illinois, has lost her voice from the effects of the sulphur used in making the lights in the tableaux in which she took part.

A Portland club has the following question proposed for discussion: — "Can a big man ache harder than a little man?"

California papers complain that the feminine element is getting to be disagreeably prominent in the public affairs of the State.

Yerger has escaped from jail at Jackson, Mississippi.

The Cunard steamer Samaria is overdue at New York.

The Duke of Montpensier fought a duel in Spain, Saturday, with Prince Henri de Bourbon, and killed his antagonist.

The steamship America, from Bremen, reports passing several large icebergs.

Governor Holden of North Carolina has called on the President for troops to preserve order in that State.

It is said that Associate Justice Nelson of the U. S. Supreme Court is to resign.

Gold, Monday, 112 5-8.

Judge Strong of Pennsylvania was worn in as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court on Monday.

The New York brokers are preparing for a grand stock movement, to enrich a few and ruin many.

The captain of the Bombay, which ran down the Oneida, has been suspended, not because of the collision, but because he neglected to inform himself of the seriousness of the damage that had been entailed and because he took no measures to preserve the lives of the drowning crew. He ought to be suspended by a rope.

☞ Portions of a wreck consisting of lime casks, planks, &c., were seen on Plum Island beach, Saturday morning, supposed to have been from a Thomaston or Rockland schooner, loaded with lime. One piece had on it the letter O, probably a part of her name.

New Hampshire Items.

The Methodist Annual Conference for New Hampshire, is to be held this year at Nashua, on the first Wednesday (6th day) of April.

Recently an ill-dressed man was seen helping another man, well-dressed and somewhat intoxicated, into an empty freight car standing near the depot at Pittsfield. It was a puzzle, until a few moments after the party of the first part emerged from the car dressed in the fine suit of his companion, for which he had exchanged his own dilapidated garb. When the inebriated individual recovered, he was so completely mystified he couldn't recognize himself.

On the 8th inst., Mr. R. K. Mason, of Wilmot, voted the Republican ticket. He has voted at every election in that town for sixty-nine years, and still walks erect, and reads without spectacles. Col. Wm. Kent, of Concord, voted for the fifty-fifth time in this State. Mr. Aaron Shute, within a few days of reaching his ninetieth year, and a Mr. Brown, in his ninety-fifth year, both voted in Concord.

The Democrats have this advantage in their representation in the Senate: They will secure a unity of action. Last year the party in that body was rent in twain on the question of electing a presiding officer. They also divided on the constabulary, and on several other questions. But there is no danger this year. The party can't split. The only question is, whether it shall go the old school doctrine or the new—the Patriot or the People policy. We reckon Senator Pitman, who has had some ten years' service in the Legislature, will stick to the old guard.

Elias A. Bryant, of Boston, has sold to E. P. Bryant a farm of 108 acres in Francestown, and in exchange has taken a pasture of 220 acres located in Washington.

In Littleton, on election day, Edward Waters slipped on some ice, while walking in the street, and thereby jostled one Ezra Knapp. The latter then turned on Waters, threw him down, breaking one of his legs, and severely kicked him after he had fallen. This was followed by a fight between the friends of both, which was terminated by the police. The Republic says the "critter" was at the bottom of the affair, and thinks it was "brutal and disgraceful in the extreme," but records no arrest.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

BOYS.—Boys of all ages are, always have been, and always will be, unqualified and unmitigated nuisances, without a single redeeming virtue in their characters. When mere infants they squall twice as loud as girl-babies, and twice as often—that is, girl-babies keep at it half the time, but boys never stop at all. It is quite possible, however, for a man of nerve to hold his own against even a boy-baby, if he can manage to separate the enemy from its natural ally, the mother; but no man ever yet won aught but defeat and disgrace in conflict with a boy old enough to give vent to the wickedness within him in articulate speech.

Boys invariably consider it disgraceful to do what they are told to, or not to do that which is forbidden; in justice to them it must be owned that no one of them has ever disgraced himself in either way. This accounts for their great facility in learning to swear—they are told that it is wrong; also for the difficulty in getting them to pray—they are afraid it would be doing right. A lady once complained to the writer that her boy, who was perfect in the use of every profane word and expression he had ever heard, would not learn the Lord's Prayer. She was advised to repeat the prayer to him once, then give him a terrible whacking, and threaten to punish him still more severely if she ever heard him repeat it; also to commend him whenever he used bad language. The result was just what any student of boy-nature would have predicted. Listening at his chamber door that very night, the fond mother heard her darling repeat the prayer three times, in a very loud voice, finishing off each time with "Now I lay me down to sleep;" and he was never known to swear afterwards.

Even those boys who are called obedient, always remind me of the old woman's trained dog. The old lady was boasting to a friend that the animal knew as much as a man; and to show off his great knowledge, she opened the door, and called out, "Here, you Jeff, go out doors." The dog slunk under the bed and escoaced himself in the old lady's crinoline. "There," said she triumphantly; "you see that a mere word from me makes him do exactly as he pleases." Boys mind just the same way.

One boy in a house is more destructive to peace than two powder-magazines in the cellar would be. If he is in the house you live in, he is certain to get your sacred meerschaum and try to smoke it. Then, when he gets sick unto death, his mother, instead of doing her duty and beating the little wretch, and humbly apologising to you for his trespasses—she hugs and kisses the juvenile demon, breaks the meerschaum all to pieces, and calls you "a heartless brute." Your only refuge is to go to the Lodge.

If you are a bachelor, and the boy lives in the same house as the "young woman you wait on," he becomes a perfect terror. If there is anything in the world which you particularly desire to keep secret, that is the very thing the boy is sure to find out, and tell in company, to your utter confusion; candy even, though dispensed with the most judicious liberality, will not induce him to forego the pleasure of humiliating you. I carried a message once from my friend Fred to his Jessie; and on entering the room where she was, I greeted her as I fancied it was my duty to greet the affianced bride of my friend—taking no notice of her four-year-old brother, who was playing on the floor. Soon after a very dignified lady entered the room, when the little wretch roared out, "O, man! are you going to kiss mother, the same as you did Jessie?" I at once became very hot, but the lady's reception of me was very cool, and I soon retired. The next day I had to go to the same place on business, and as soon as I entered the yard a ferocious bull-dog was let out of the house, and at once treed me on the high gate-post; and the only time I have met Fred since, instead of thanking me for my kind offices, he threw a claw-hammer, three pounds of ten-penny nails, and a large lump of putty, at my head. All this was the work of that little he-abomination.

Against a scolding wife a man may make some headway; "the Lodge" is an ark of refuge to him; but nothing can protect one from the malice of boys, backed up as they always are by their maternal ancestors. If women would only make their boys obey orders, the world would be a very passable place to live in; and they could do it if they liked, easily enough. If the first mutinous act was punished by the perpetrator being compelled to study the catechism and go to Sunday School, there would be no second offence. This plan has been successfully tried.

A gentleman of Palestine, named Herod, a number of years ago took energetic measures to reduce the number of boys in his district, and succeeded to a certain extent in so doing. For this he has been censured by some people; and even I, years ago, considered his conduct somewhat harsh. But a careful, unprejudiced study of boy-nature has forced me to alter my opinion, and I now think that Herod wasn't such a bad sort of a fellow, after all.

My aversion to boys rests solely on moral grounds; and it does not decrease as the objects of dislike increase in age. But that no person may have reason to assert that I am a sour old bachelor, I will state that all children and youths do not excite a feeling of antagonism in my breast—boys only have that effect upon me. PAKEHA.

New Publications Received.

RECORDS OF THE NAVY.—Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., Philadelphia, have just published, in a handsome octavo volume of 350 pages,—The Records of Living Officers of the U. S. Navy and Marine Corps,—with a History of Naval Operations during the Rebellion of 1861—65, and a List of the Ships and Officers participating in the great Battles. Compiled from official sources by Lewis R. Hamersly, late Lieutenant U. S. Marine Corps.—The work appears to be faithful and accurate, and must be valuable to officers in the Navy, and to others who wish authentic and reliable information in Naval matters. Being closely printed, it contains a very large amount of matter.

The North British Review for January has an interesting article on Dean Swift.

Reader did you ever take a glass of Speer's Sambuci Wine? If you never have, let us recommend you to do so; for after having tried it both as a beverage and a medicine, we boldly pronounce it the most palatable and efficient wine we ever drank. As a mere beverage even, we maintain it is the very choicest wine in use, being at once delicious in flavor, cheering in its effects, and cheap in price. As a medical agent, we have tried it effectually during the last ten days (after being prostrated by cholera morbus,) and have found it everything and more than what its proprietor claims for it.—Rahaway Register.

Nearly all Druggists keep this wine.

Occupational Ailments.

Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons employed in occupations, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree vitiated, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanatous roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopœia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters, nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among official or advertised medicines.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alteratives and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Fever is present. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes softer and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating, that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautifully black or brown. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory 6 Bond Street, New York.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scieptific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chesistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen PROF. CHILTON'S TESTIMONY.

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. In short they are more frequent than in dry. These plasters give relief at once, and need to be always in the drawer, handy.

PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Allentown, Penn., April 4, 1865.

Messrs. T. Allcock & Co.

Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had a very bad pain in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly, JOHN V. N. HUNTER.

25,000 SOLD BY ONE DEALER.

Messrs. J. Balch & Son, of Providence, R. I., write, Nov. 1868: "We have sold the Porous Plasters for twenty years, and, at retail and jobbing, must have sold twenty-five thousand altogether. They are well liked. ja13dawlm

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctancy; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial per some present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I know my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for most Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

☞ Union Prayer Meeting, every day at 12:30, at Mr. E. A. Tilton's music room, on Congress Street. All are invited.

☞ That tomato eater's "impressions" are always wrong, because he judges other people by his own standard. He'll ne'er see his like in this world.

P. M. L. A. LECTURE.—Mr. George W. Haven will deliver the next lecture of this course, this (Tuesday) evening, at quarter to 8 o'clock. His subject will be a new one.

☞ We learn that Rev. Mr. Durant, the Revivalist, worshipped last Sabbath morning with the Pearl Street F. W. B. Society, and made to the Sabbath School liberal donation.

☞ Messrs. John Stokell & Co. of this city have contracted to furnish the Navy Department with $25,000 lbs. Fresh Beef at 9 1-2 cts., and 25,000 lbs Vegetables at 1 1-2 ct. per lb.

☞ The jack screws in possession of City Marshal Johnson were stolen from a depot in Worcester. They were stolen in October last, found in a bank in Connecticut, which was robbed, and again stolen to help break into the South Berwick Bank.

☞ The great Dry Goods house of Mendum & Co. announce the very lowest prices; and the smaller but yet live Cheap Store of W. W. Henderson & Co., are doing likewise. Their new advertisements of both are worth reading and acting upon.

☞ Mrs. Susie F. Marcy of this city, (as we see announced in Boston,) sang two songs at a charitable Concert in Newton, Mass., on Thursday evening of last week; and is to appear at a Concert by Mrs. Long in Boston, on Wednesday evening of this week. She is one of the sweetest of singers.

THAT PROMENADE CONCERT and social dance, advertised by Mr. Trafton, will take place at Congress Hall on Thursday evening next. The Cornet Band and Tompson's Quadrille Band are to alternate in furnishing music, and plenty of music there will be. Tickets for the occasion, limited in number, may be had of E. A. Joy & Co. and the wide awake Manager.

☞ A Violent North-east snow storm on Sunday, mended the sleighing a little in this vicinity, but the genial sun of Monday soon undid the work.

The storm elsewhere seems to have been very severe, the snow drifting badly. It began in the West early on Saturday and in this city, the same afternoon.

The snow plow on the 8:25 A. M. train for Boston, Monday, went off the track beyond Newburyport, and delayed the down train one hour.

VISIT TO THE COUNTY HOUSE.—It was one of the gloomy days of January, when we were having "an open winter." Thompson speaks of "the inverted year." At the time of which we write, we had the inverted winter. The ground was bare, the atmosphere damp and unfavorable for the good animation of the body,—so that the mind sunk somewhat in gloom and despondency. In truth, we almost had "the blues." As a remedy we resolved to make our first visit to the County House. One way to be happy and contented in any lot is to visit the unfortunate and poor, who are below us in point of worldly blessings.

Our road led us to the Baptist meeting-house in Brentwood. To that place Rev. Samuel Shepard came from Stratham about 100 years ago. He was a zealous and successful preacher, and was the founder of several of the Baptist churches in this section. His remains lie in a retired spot away from the road; and we are surprised that no monument worthy of him has been erected to his memory, where his dust slumbers.

The County Farm is a mile or more to the eastward. The land on that road is rather low, and not the best for farming. Brentwood, however, as a whole, is a pretty good township of land. We soon were in sight of the County House—a noble looking building; in fact, to us, an imposing structure. We do not have such houses as they do in England. Some persons from that country look down upon the Presidential mansion at Washington when they see it, and say it is hardly equal to some of the residences of the nobles of their country. But our best houses and palaces are generally built with republican simplicity, for use and not for show.

The County House is 160 feet in length, by 34 in width in each wing, the central part being 54 feet wide. It is four stories high above the basement. We can only approximate as to the expense. Some six or seven thousand dollars were paid for the farm. The house, steam apparatus and furniture, cost twenty-four or twenty-five thousand mere, making in all about thirty thousand dollars.

We entered. We did not think it would be polite to merely look into the rooms, being obliged to open the doors in most cases, and gaze upon the inmates as we would upon wild animals; so we resolved to say a few words of cheer. But a female in a passage way anticipated us, beginning the conversation by saying, "I can see now that I was not thankful when I was well off." An important lesson; ingratitude towards the Giver of all is a fault, if not a sin.

Some are here of all classes, from idiots up to noble heads, intellectual faces and benevolent countenances. We introduced ourselves in many rooms by saying, "What a fine residence you have; how nice and convenient are your rooms." The response almost uniformly was that all was so, and that they were well provided for and were quite contented. Town and County charges are apt to be difficult to please. One that we knew when she was about to go there, and whom we told would have a good home, said to us on our visit, "I know how things are here, but I shall not tell."—The inmates at that time numbered 133.

As we left and rode away, we meditated on the blessings of Christianity. Such provision for those in indigent circumstances is a result of the Christian religion; it is not in history that heathenism ever had hospitals, or any provision for the relief of those in want, only in war, as martial policy dictated. AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. This hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,

February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $3,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic!

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,

FISK & HATCH,

Bankers.

P. S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawlm

EXETER, March 15.

POTATO CULTURE.—Messrs. Editors: The meeting of the Exeter Horticultural Society, on Saturday evening, was opened by Mr. Gardner Gilman, who presented 8 varieties of Potatoes, 5 of which he called South American, the seed having been brought by Capt. Chadwick last summer; and although planted in July, most of the varieties were of good size, and fine looking potatoes. He also presented the Jordan, which he says is as early as the Rose, a good yielder, and a good table potato. Mr. G. says lime or plaster and ashes make good dressing for potatoes. He plants on high upland, on new ground; makes the rows wide apart—also good distance between the hills. Hoes twice—thinks 175 to 200 bushels per acre a good crop.

Mr. John Flannegan says he can raise 5 bushels of potatoes to 1 of corn, on some grounds, with less labor; that it is much more labor to take care of corn crop than of potatoes. Would plant in drills one foot apart. Raised last season two lime casks full of Early Rose potatoes from 2 lbs. of seed.

John J. Bell, Esq., says he knew a person who laid his potatoes on grass ground, and covered them over with salt hay, (labor saving, surely,) and raised a good crop. Thinks a good crop is sure on burnt ground.

Mr. I. P. Cilley said his Early Rose potatoes had commenced to sprout, and asked what should be done with them! The question was discussed, and the conclusion arrived at to cut the sprouts off, and in pieces about one inch long, which will grow, and in due time each piece will be enough for one hill. Mr. Cilley thinks that of the varieties he raised last season the Garnet Chili is superior, a great yielder and an excellent table potato.

Mr. E. D. Lane raises three varieties, and prefers the Riley. Must be in good soil, and although not large, there are many and of fair size to a hill. Thinks the Riley can more safely be depended on for a good crop than any other variety.

Mr. W. M. Hunnewell raises mostly Davis Seedlings and Jackson Whites. Davis great yielder—sells in some markets better than any other potato; there is a great difference between the Davis and Damers Seedlings. Spreads manure, also puts it in hill; soil moist, sandy loam; likes a good portion of straw or hay; makes a large hill, and covers up all the straw in the hill; think it much better than to plow it in. Potatoes come out bright and clean; think straw alone will increase a crop of potatoes.

Messrs. Hayes and Cilley would not put manure in hill; think plaster in the hill a great addition. The soil changes the color and quality of any potato.

Mr. W. Currier prefers the Excelsior to either of 12 varieties he raised last year.—Mr. I. P. Adams favors a red potato with white inside to a white potato with white or yellow inside. C.

New Hampshire Items.

The Manchester Union mourns over the result of the election, and refuses to be comforted.—The Mirror on the contrary, is more spicy than usual. We take from it a number of the following items.

Stoddard, Swanzey, Epping and some other towns report the Representatives elected therein as Temperance Democrats. There are many varieties of Democrats this year.

The Lake Village Times glorifies over the election by a gigantic rooster, which has knocked over the Democratic goose, overturned the Temperance duck, and crows over the Labor Reform snipe that has been stuck in the fence.

It seems that the Labor Reform movement resulted to the loss of the Democracy in every section of the State. It was especially unfortunate in the Fourth District, where there was a shrewdly arranged and determined effort on the part of the Democratic Labor Reform, Wildcat Temperance Wing, and opponents of the Suncook Valley Railroad, to defeat R. L. French, Esq., the nominee of the Republicans, but the fates determined that they should not succeed. The Legislature will put matters right on the first week in June.

The following towns are unrepresented in the Legislature this year: Rochester, entitled to four members; Lancaster, two; Pembroke, two; Barnstead, two; Newton, one; Sutton, one; Rumney, one.

It is pretty certain that only Carroll, Grafton and Coos counties are Democratic—the other seven are Republican, except that Mr. Belknap, a Republican irregular nominee, is elected Register in Rockingham, and Mr. Boody is elected Register in Belknap.

"FASTING GIRLS.'—The death of the Welsh "fasting girl" has called out descriptions of several similar cases in the Englise papers, and among the rest one which tells how a young girl was cured of the similar illness.

In this instance the sickness lasted nearly four years. The third year the girl lost flesh rapidly and became so reduced that she could neither sit up nor walk. A tea spoonful of fluid, tea or broth, a few times a day, or a tinty biscuit, was about all she could be prevailed on to take; and her repugnance to this was so great that she would resist even to weeping before she would submit to swallow it. She appeared to be rapidly sinking, and was given over by her doctor.

A consulting physician of great eminence, who was called in, pronounced it one of those obscure affections of the nervous system which baffle all medical skill and treatment. There was no reason why she should not recover. He directed that food be given her peremptorily.

She was to take it as medicine ordered by the doctor. She was to be roused, and obliged to make efforts; to be taken out in the air, and required to drink a tumbler of milk between morning and evening, sipping it at intervals, and another between evening and morning; and after a few days meat was to be given her. This was done determinedly, and a strong will exercised over her accomplished it.

See had at this time no wish to recover—quite the contrary, and considered the efforts to restore her cruel. As soon as she could be moved she was taken away from the scene of her illness, and for nine months subjected to continual change from place to place. None of her family going with her, she became obliged to exert herself, the friends to whom she was sent being made aware that they must ignore her illness and expect her to throw it off as much as possible.

After six weeks she began to walk with crutches a little; by degrees her appetite returned; she took an interest in life, gained strength, occupied herself, and mixed with people. She returned home before the end of the fourth year completely cured—rosy, fat, active, lively, useful and thankful; and is now her mother's right hand—the most energetic of all her daughters.

NATURAL.—A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune follows closely upon Miss Anna Dickinson with a revelation concerning the mysteries of Mormonism. It seems that the Mormon girls who have not "got religion" are very much opposed to polygamy. "They had rather spend an hour," says the correspondent, "in the company of a congenial sinner, than a year in that of a saint, especially if the former is young, holds his head high, and is withal good-looking. There are occasionally such among the Gentiles, never among the Mormons."

It may also be interesting to know that the girls call the young saints "Cayuses," while the Gentiles call them "Yahoos." It also seems that one of Brigham Young's daughters became acquainted with a young Gentile, and their intercouse, which was mostly confined to the eyes, soon ripened into love. Tired of the surveillance to which they were subjected, they resolved upon an elopement.

The girl was to meet her lover, who was to be provided with a fast team, a few squares from her father's house, and as relays of horses had been arranged, there seemed to be nothing to prevent their escape to a land of matrimonial liberty. But the plan leaked out, and just as the girl was getting into her lover's buggy the police appeared and unceremoniously put her into one of her father's carriages (which was unaccountably on hand,) and either through policy or fear, the young Gentile was allowed to depart with no other punishment than the loss of his sweetheart.

After this it became known that the poor girls have organized a secret society among themselves for helping each other away, saving money for the purpose, and so forth; but they could not keep its existence from the knowledge of Brigham Young, who simply laughs at them, telling them that when they get religion they will be ashamed of such foolishness.

YORK COUNTY.—A town meeting in Berwick, took just an hour to elect all their officers and act upon the 17 articles of their warrant.

The County Commissioners are negotiating for a lot in the rear of the Court House at Alfred, to be used as a site for the new county jail.

Miss Sarah Peabody, an elderly and well-known maiden lady, was found dead in her bed last week. She resided alone and was possessed of considerable means. Rumor has it that the immediate cause of her death was poison, administered by her own hands, in the fear of ultimately coming to want.

At the Methodist Episcopal church in Kennebunk there is a quiet but progressive revival going on.

Mr. Geo. Dow, of Saco, ni non inventus est as well as funds to pay a number of debts he left behind him.

As Steamer No. 1 of Biddeford came round a corner at a pretty rapid speed it collided with a sleigh in front of the Eastern Express Office, in which Mrs. James Hooper was sitting. The sleigh was smashed into kindling wood, and Mrs. Hooper thrown out of the sleigh, but sustained no serious injuries.

Kennebunk Town meeting last Monday resulted in the election of the entire Republican ticket, and Kennebunkport ditto all but two officers.

Count DeMontalembert is dead.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.
The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.
Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites attack of enfeebling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infections throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly developes into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may suddenly be deposited in the lungs or heart; or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this SARSAPARILLA is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear.
Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various afflictions of the muscular and nervous systems.
Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicide will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac supplied gratis.
Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poison in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Dependent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections symptomatic or Weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

It will knit stockings with double heel and toe, drawers, hoods, sacks, smoking Caps, comforts, purses, muffs, fringe, afghans, nubias, undersleeves, mittens, skating caps, lamp wicks, mats, cord, undershirts, shawls, jackets, cradle blankets, leggins, suspenders, wristers, tidies, tippets, tufted work, and in fact an endless variety of articles in every day use, as well as for ornament.
FROM $5 TO $10 PER DAY
Can be made by any one with the American Knitting Machine, knitting stockings, &c., while expert operators can even make more, knitting fancy work, which always commands a ready sale. A person can readily knit from twelve to fifteen pairs of stockings per day, the profit on which will be not less than forty cents per pair.
FARMERS
Can sell their wool at only forty to fifty cents per pound, but by getting the wool made into yarn at a small expense, and knitting it into socks, two or three dollars per pound may be realized. On receipt of $26 we will forward a machine as ordered.
We wish to procure active AGENTS in every section of the United States and Canadas, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered. Address,

Small Talk.

The debt of the city of Portland is larger than that of the State of New Hampshire.

The fishing business of Marblehead is at low ebb. Some of the best vessels have been sold, and more are for sale. Last year at this time some were ready for sea.

The Vermonters are to vote indirectly on the woman suffrage question early in May.

Prim and Sumner deny that Prim has offered to sell Cuba.

John W. Collins, the young thief who embezzled and gambled away about $9000 from the Boston City treasury, goes to the State Prison for 30 months.

Edward J. Solomon, of Illinois, is confirmed as governor of Washington Territory.

The Supreme Court has decided that the clause of the act of 1868, providing for the removal of causes from State to Federal courts after judgment, is unconstitutional and void.

Emigration to Kansas is unprecedented, and the railways have had to increase their trains.

Washington has green peas.

The mixed jury of ladies and gentlemen at Laramie City, in a murder case, returned a verdict at 12 o'clock at night of "guilty of manslaughter in the first degree." The ladies were much fatigued.

The boiler of a portable saw-mill in Mellon, Ohio, exploded and killed seven men.

The Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs have decided, by a vote of 5 against 2, not to recommend the ratification of the St. Domingo treaty.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, on Monday, Mr. Sumner introduced a bill to strengthen the legal reserves of national banks, and to provide for the resumption of specie payments.

The House suspended the rules and passed, by a vote of 112 to 30, a joint resolution directing the payment of a year's salary as Supreme Court judge to the widow and children of the late Edwin M. Stanton, as consideration for his distinguished services to the country.

The navy appropriation bill was reported and made a special order for Thursday, the 24th inst.

REDUCTION OF THE NAVY.—A Washington special to the Boston Advertiser says that the House committee on naval affairs has not yet put its bill for the reduction of the navy into shape, but the subject has been so far considered as to show that the majority will favor a very considerable reduction, both in line and staff, and also in the number of ships in commission. Some of the committee think a reduction of between one fourth and one third of the entire force will finally be agreed upon. In considering the appropriation for the navy, Mr. Dawes' committee has had the matter of a reduction in view, and the amounts recommended to the House in its bill will be such as to necessitate putting several ships out of commission.

DRAWBACKS ON SHIPPING.—The House Congressional Committee have agreed to report a bill for the encouragement of shipbuilding. It remits duties on steel and iron without regard to the amount used per ton, advanced no further than rods, bars, bolts, plates, beams, and forgings. The time fixed for such drawbacks is ten years from July next.

☞ The Court of Inquiry on the Bombay-Oneida case, has suspended Capt. Eyre from commanding a British vessel for six months! Pshaw! what a mockery. He ought to be keel-hauled, branded with the mark of Cain, and "suspended" personally by the neck. He is a relative of the infamous Gov. Eyre of Jamaica memory.

New Hampshire Items.

Mrs. Susan S., wife of John W. Brown, died in Monroe, March 2d, at the age of seventy-one years and twenty-two days. Mrs. B. was a sister of Jedediah Buffum, and one of the oldest settlers in M. She was the largest woman in New England, weighing about five hundred pounds.

Peterborough voted on the 8th to raise, as a town, $653.49 to pay off all debts on the soldiers' monument.

Jaffrey is to remodel its Town House, $1000 of the expense to be paid by the town and the rest by individuals.

Rochester began on the 8th and voted three days. On the 10th a breathing spell was taken and more voting was done on the 12th. Four tickets were in the field, and no choice was the result.

A man has been found who didn't want office and won't have it. Wm. M. Potter, a Democrat of Gilford, on Tuesday was elected one of the Selectmen of that town by a handsome majority, and positively refused to accept the position.

David J. Sanborn of Rochester was stepping into a sleigh in front of the Town House, on the 8th, and a boy bit the horse with a snowball. A broken arm was the result to Mr. S.

John M. Weare, of Seabrook, Joseph Brown, of Kingston, and C. G. B. Ryder, of Dunbarton, are among the names of recent purchasers of Devon stock from the herd of H. M. Sessions, of South Wilbraham, Mass.

The residence of John L. Gilman, of Brentwood, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday morning of last week.

A young man, a brakeman on the Grand Trunk Railroad, was crushed to death at Mechanic Falls on Friday, while shackling some cars. His name was John Brooks and he belonged in New Hampshire.

At the recent election, in Manchester, a woman appeared at the polls and claimed the right to vote. But her name was not registered, and as she could not prevail upon the proper officer to put it on the list, she left the ward room in disgust.

The Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, at Manchester, is having built a pattern of steam fire engines in which the forward portion of the frame is curved so the wheels can run beneath it. These engines can be turned in a very narrow space.

The following towns are unrepresented in the legislature this year: Rochester, entitled to four members; Lancaster, two; Pembroke, two; Barnstead, two; Newton, one; Sutton, one; Rumney, one.

Dr. John E. Mason of Washington, D. C., formerly of Manchester, has recently given his valuable collection of minerals to the high school of Manchester.

South Newmarket occupied 2 hours in Town Meeting; and Kingston one day, instead of the usual three.

Exeter voted solid against establishing the county of Amoskeag, giving 327 nays and no yeas. On the revision of the Constitution, yeas 30, nays 195.

THE ELECTION.—The Statesman has official returns of the election from all places in the State, excepting Errol and Wentworth's Location, which last year gave forty-one Democratic majority. Reckoning these two towns on the basis of 1869, Gov. Stearns is re-elected by 1351 majority. The Republican canvass showed his re-election by 1182 majority, which is another convincing proof of the marvelous correctness of Republican canvasses. Especially in the last campaign does it reflect the highest credit upon Hon. E. H. Rollins, the faithful and efficient chairman of the Republican State Committee, whose great abilities as a political organizer and manager were never so conspicuously displayed as during the four weeks preceeding our recent election.

The Councillor election in the Fifth, or Coos, District where it was supposed a Democrat had been chosen, is said to be in doubt.

OLD SANDOWN ALL RIGHT.—The territorial limits of Sandown, Rockingham County, New Hampshire, are not very extensive, neither does it boast of a great many voters: but of late years it has been the scene of many a hard-fought political battle. The Democrats succeeded in carrying it year after year, but last spring the Republicans entered the contest with the determination to win a victory. Noses were counted, the campaign conducted in a very spirited manner on both sides, and the Republicans came out of the engagement with flying colors. They felt quite jubilant over their success; their opponents threatened a still more vigorous fight this year, but the returns show that the efforts they made to defeat the dominant party were useless, Colonel Geo. Marston, Republican, having been elected Representative by a handsome vote.—Boston Traveller.

—The Maine legislature has decided to adjourn this week.

THE FUNDING BILL.—The following is an abstract of the bill as it passed the Senate:—

The first section provides for the issue of $400,000,000 ten-forty five per cent. bonds, to be disposed of at par in gold or to be exchangeable for five-twenty bonds outstanding.

The second section provides for the issue of $400,000,000 of fifteen forty bonds bearing 4 1-2 per cent. interest, which may be sold at par in gold or may be exchanged for any outstanding bonds of the United States—ten-forties or five-twenties.

The third section provides for the issue of $400,000,000 twenty-forty bonds bearing four per cent. interest, which may be sold at par in gold or "exchanged at not less than par for any of the obligations of the United States outstanding at the date of the issue of such bonds," which would, of course, include three per cent. and legal tender.

The fourth section provides that these bonds and the income thereon shall be exempt from all taxation.

Section fifth provides for the establishment of agencies in the United States and Europe to aid in the negotiation of such bonds, and allows one-half of one per cent. of the bonds for the expenses of such negotiation.

Section sixth appropriates $150,000,000 gold annually from the duties derived from imports to pay the interest on the debt and the reduction of the principal, and also provides that all bonds bought and to be bought by the Secretary shall be destroyed.

Section seventh provides that on and after October 1, 1870, the national banks shall be compelled to exchange their present securities for those authorized by this act, and also provides than not more than one-third of the new bonds deposited shall be of either of the classes on which the interest is fixed at 4 1-2 or 5 per cent.

Section eighth provides that the bank circulation on these bonds shall not exceed eighty per cent.

Section ninth provides for the organization of new banks, with a capital of not less than $50,000 on the deposit of four per cent. bonds; and also provides that as circulating notes are issued an equal amount of legal-tenders shall be destroyed.

—The "black tooth" in pigs is exclusively American; the hog sometimes gets well, but not as soon as if he had had a clean wash and some castor oil, in place of barbarously breaking off his teeth.

A FAMILY MEDICINE.—We call the special attention of our readers to the advertisements of that favorite home remedy, PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER. It has been before the public over Thirty Years, and probably has a wider and better reputation than any other proprietary medicine of the present day. At this period there are but few unacquainted with the merits of the Pain Killer; but while some extol it as a liniment, they know but little of its power in easing pain when taken internally, while others use it internally with great success, but are equally ignorant of its healing virtues when applied externally. We, therefore, wish to say to all that it is equally successful whether used internally or externally, and it stands to-day, unrivalled by all the great catalogue of Family Medicines. It is sufficient evidence of its virtues as a standard medicine, to know that it is now used in all parts of the world, and that its sale is constantly increasing. No curative agent has had such wide-spread sale or given such universal satisfaction. It is a purely vegetable compound, and perfectly safe, even in unskillful hands. mh16

TO THE PEW-HOLDERS in the METHODIST MEETING HOUSE in GREENLAND.

Whereas, three-fourths of the PEW-HOLDERS in said MEETING HOUSE have signified their desire to repair, or modify said House, by signing a paper expressing their assent to a call of a Meeting of said Pew-Holders, to take into consideration the expediency of any enlargement, changes or repairs in said (Church) or Meeting House, therefore in pursuance of said desire and assent:—

The Pew-Holders in the METHODIST MEETING HOUSE in GREENLAND, are hereby notified and warned to meet at said Meeting House on SATURDAY, the 9th day of April, next, at 2 o'clock, P. M., to transact the following business.

1st. To choose a Moderator to preside in said Meeting.

2d. To choose a Secretary for said Meeting.

3d. To accept said Meeting will vote to repair said Meeting House, change its interior arrangements, in any degree change its location, make any additions thereto, or to permit such changes or additions to be made.

4th. To choose by ballot a committee of three persons, to examine the interest of each Pew-Holder, and to establish the proportion of each interest to the whole value of the property, and to assess the expense of such repairs, or the sum which such Meeting will vote to raise to defray such expense, upon the interest of each proprietor agreeably to the proportion established by said committee.

5th. To transact any other business that may legally come before said Meeting.

Given under my hand and Seal this 15th day of March, A. D., 1870. mh16d3t G. O. CLOUGH, One of the Pew Holders in said Meeting House.

Occupational Ailments.

Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanabous roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopœia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters, nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when in this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among official or advertised medicines.

Holloway's Pills.—The happy conjunction of rare vegetable aperients, alteratives and tonics, in these famous Pills, renders them the most efficacious medicine ever compounded for all complaints in which Fever is present. As soon as they begin to operate, the excited pulse becomes softer and more regular, the skin moist and the tongue more natural in its appearance. So entirely free are they from everything drastic or irritating, that ladies take them with confidence in the most delicate contingencies. Sold by all Druggists.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautifully black or brown. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory 6 Bond Street, New York.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chemistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I feel no use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet tried."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. In damp weather they are more frequent than in dry. These plasters give relief at once, and need to be always in the drawer, handy.

PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Allentown, Penn., April 4, 1865.

Messrs. T. Allcock & Co.

Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had a very bad pain in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly, JOHN V. N. HUNTER.

25,000 SOLD BY ONE DEALER.

Messrs. J. Balch & Son, of Providence, R. I., write, Nov. 1868: "We have sold the Porous Plasters for twenty years, and, at retail and jobbing, must have sold twenty-five thousand altogether. They are well liked. ja13dawlm

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had neglected to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

Price 50 cts. Sold by the Druggists, Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. ja13dawlm

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

New Advertisements To-Day.

Scale and White Lead Agency—J. H. Bailey.
Special Notice—Perry Davis & Son, Prov. R. I.
Notice to Pew-Holders—G. C. Clough.

☞ Sleighing is slain.

☞ Youths are getting into the marble season. Look out for heel holes dug in soft sidewalks.

☞ Sunday was about the most Wintry day of the season; and Tuesday was delightfully spring like.

☞ Ducks are enjoying themselves in the puddles. Other ducks, who dislike puddles, are looking at the new stocks in the stores of the merchants who advertise.

☞ Now is the time to try the Chemical Paint. B. Norton sells it at his Provision and Grocery store on Cabot Street. The paint is very cheap, handsome and durable.

☞ We give up a considerable portion of our space to-day to the excellent Address on Amusements, delivered several weeks since by Rev. Mr. DeNormandie, who has kindly loaned it for publication.

☞ The spring trade, it is hoped, will be good. Gold is lower than since 1862, and goods have tumbled. The poor rejoice, and the script tumbles out of their pockets; and in return the necessaries of life tumble into their homes. They know where to trade cheapest by consulting the advertisements of our enterprising merchants.

THE NAVAL APPROPRIATION BILL reported to Congress, on Monday, foots up $16,641,855. Among the items are $15,339 for the navy yard of Boston; $13,400 for that at Portsmouth; $13,900 each for the Washington and Philadelphia navy yards, and $14,500 for the Brooklyn yard.

We presume the $13,400 for this yard is the amount for the payment of civil officers in the "Yards and Docks" Department. The amount is nearly $3000 less than was asked for. The amount for material and for pay of mechanics and laborers, is not stated.

☞ Jos. G. has been trying guano on his vegetables. He says he put in a liberal supply of guano and cucumber seeds, covered them up and walked away. He had gone two miles, when he was overtaken by the growing vine, which wound about him and went on ahead, leaving him pinioned. He felt in his pocket for a knife to cut the vine and found there a cucumber, gone to seed. He recommends his experience to farmers but advises them to run away before the vines get used to the guano.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

CHEMICAL PAINT.—This is an excellent Paint for walls in dwellings, in place of paper. It will spread evenly, dry rapidly, and retain its shade perfectly with a beautiful surface and finish; and retain all its firmness, gloss and beauty for years, and can be washed with hot suds without injury. It cannot be excelled for iron fences, either for finish or durability, and costs less than any other good Paint. The sale of the Averill Chemical Paint is increasing every day. Call at the Grocery & Provision Store, No. 16 and 18 Cabot Street, and examine 40 different shades—where it is for sale by

B. NORTON.

☞ The N. Y. Tribune, in advising Congress how to retrench, says:—

Our Naval Service is too costly. We need not keep so many vessels afloat in a time of general peace. We have too many officers on duty, and far too many drawing pay for whom no duty can be invented. Congress ought to cut down our Naval establishment, and direct that all superfluous officers be mustered out. We cannot afford to pay men for doing nothing, nor to find or make work for those who have nothing to do.

It is monstrous impolicy to lay up old vessels in ordinary, and pay men to look on while they rot. Better sell them, if only for so much scrap-iron and oven-wood. When we come to want fighting vessels again, these will be found entirely out of date, if not ruined by corrosion. Sell them, if only to be broken up.

We have too many Navy-Yards. We believe both the Brooklyn and Philadelphia should be discontinued and sold out. If our Yard were forty miles up the Hudson, it would be safer from hostile assault or skulking treason, and it ought not to cost half to remove it that the present site would sell for. So the Charlestown Yard should be given up, or consolidated with the Portsmouth. It is thoroughly inbedded in a dense population, and should be promptly extricated. We would suggest Portsmouth, West Point, and some place just above New Orleans on the Mississippi (instead of Pensacola) as the locations for our three only Navy Yards, selling out all the others.

—Fairfield, Maine, cleared over twelve hundred dollars last year by its liquor agency, and this year it voted not to have one.

Time tests the Merits of all Things.
☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜
PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER
Has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to Americans. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the missionary and the traveler, on sea and land, and no one should travel on our LAKES or RIVERS without it.
It is a speedy and safe remedy for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, wounds and various other injuries, as well as for dysentery, diarrhœa, and bowel complaints generally, and is admirably suited for every race of men on the face of the globe.
Be sure you call for and get the genuine Pain Killer, as many worthless nostrums are attempted to be sold on the great reputation of this valuable medicine.
☞ Directions accompany each bottle.
Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle.
Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the glossy and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
February 15th, 1870.
The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.
Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the
OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other.
The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.
Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.
Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.
The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.
Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.
Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.
The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500, and $100.
They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or
The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or
The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.
The three classes will be known respectively as:
1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."
2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."
3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.
They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.
The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.
The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.
A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.
The mortgage is for $18,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.
Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.
The present price is 90 and accrued interest.
A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.
Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.

THE PLEASURES AND ACCOUNTABILITY OF YOUTH—being the third of a Series of Sermons to the Young—Preached on Sunday Evening, Feb. 6, 1870, by Rev. James DeNormandie, Minister of the South Parish.

Eccl. 11:9.—"Rejoice, O young man, in thy youth; and let thy heart cheer thee in the days of thy youth, and walk in the ways of thine heart, and in the sight of thine eyes; but know thou, that for all these things God will bring thee into judgment."

Two classes of persons are well-fitted to give advice — one from the standpoint of success, the other from the stand-point of failure, one relating the experiences of consecrated effort, the other, the experiences of a wasted life. We may speak as examples or as warnings.

Solomon tells us of a mind broken by passion; of a heart darkened by sensuality; of a life walk toiling under its self-imposed burdens. The wisdom is that as he looks over his debauched years, he remembers the nature and joy of a true youth—the folly and remorse were in forgetting the law of accountability, — the just judgment of God. In the light of his utter failure Solomon says that youth as well as everything else is vanity; and so it was to him. The worth of that life, is that like some great, red beacon-light it sheds a glow adown the ages, to warn those who are driven and tossed upon the sea of passion, where one life of promise and power went out and went down. But though Solomon and all the sensualists, since his day or before, may shout, and wail the vanity of life,—we try life by a nobler test, and nobler witnesses, and we know he was wrong. Ask Paul who says "ye are the temple of God"—if life is vanity, — and that great soul of faith answers, no. Ask Jesus as there falls from his lips the precious beatitude upon the pure in heart, if life is vanity, and that heart of inexhaustible sympathy and trust, answers, no! no! Ask ten thousand struggling aspiring spirits, and they all cry together, no, no, no. Ask your own souls whenever you have done or longed for anything noble,—and from their very depths they cry, no, no, no!

We make these two divisions: "The joy of a natural youth;" "The law of accountability." How beautiful is youth; with its freshness, its vigor, its fulness of health, its strength so easily renowned, its power of adaptability, its ever-reviving hope, its natural trustfulness, its generous sympathies, its pardonable prodigality, its inexhaustible resources. How attractive is youth, with its grace of health, with its winsome manners, with its taste for a good appearance, with its full round form unwasted by dissipation, with its fair, pure eye undimmed by the evil glance of lust, with the bloom of its cheeks undisturbed by the blast of passion, with its sweet breath uncorrupted by disease, or by filthy habits! How noble is youth, with its fiery zeal for fair play, with its cry for justice, with its admiration for true courage, with its rough, and sometimes too cruel sports, with its ardent ambition, with its devoted energy. How religious is youth, with its healthful desires, with its ardent friendships, with its trust to the future, with its longing and deep love; bearing all things, believing all things, hoping all things, enduring all things. Youth never faileth. I feel it something of a loss not to know every young man and woman I meet; to be glad with them in their overflowing joys, for joy in youth is great joy! To have a word of sympathy with them in their manifold perplexities and crushing disappointments, for trial in youth is not lasting, but crushing: to look into their eyes of purity and hope and say—rejoice young man, rejoice young woman in your youth, and let your heart cheer you in the days of your youth,—and walk in the ways of your heart, and in the sight of your eyes—but know ye that for all these things, God will bring you into judgment.

Our first and sure position is this, that the best thing for society will be when these natural instincts of youth for enjoyment, and for amusements are met and gratified in a natural and reasonable way. All the natural impulses of the heart are to be developed, and directed,—never to be crushed. Religion will never be what the world needs, never meet the needs of the soul, until it bends its whole energy to the task of guiding aright, and developing fully, this human nature which it has so long slandered and abused. No human being ever has had, and until he is something else than a human being, ever will have any other than this same nature that belongs to you and me, and was given to us by an Infinite Being who probably knew far better than the theologians just what nature he intended man to have. Every minister who talks about this depraved human nature in reality taunts and mocks Almighty God for not having made his creatures with infinite wisdom, and adapted them to their infinite ends. For thirty or forty thousand years, probably for ages more, generation has succeeded generation, but the human heart remains the same—and the higher, truer religion takes this nature as it comes today fresh from the Creator's hand, and strives to make it all God has designed it to be. These impulses and desires of youth for pleasure are then to be respected, to be educated, to be reasonably gratified, and constantly refined and elevated. This opens to us the question of amusements which is in itself so simple, that I greatly wonder it has ever appeared so complicated, or created so much discussion and feeling.

The great fault of the church, in treating of amusements has been, in itself creating the sinfulness it has attached to them,—in making amusements innocent in themselves be regarded as sinful. We shall never make a religious step forward until we put this matter upon the eternal foundation of its own simple principle. No young person will ever be won from any amusement that is fascinating to him, by calling it sinful, when he himself and you also know that in itself it is not sinful, and that what you mean is, that in its results or effects, or abuse, or from a too constant devotion to it, it is sinful. Put it before him in its true light then, that he wastes time, or money, or dissipates a character that ought to be given to more ennobling pursuits. Show him that amusements are for the recreation, not for the business, for the rest, not for the exhaustion of life. Above all, never make it appear that some game or play in which you may be particularly interested is innocent, and some other play or game which another may be fond of, is sinful. I have known a clergyman, whose hours at backgammon were limited only by those whom he could find to play with, regard a game of cards as a great evil; and another who would spend hours at a bowling-alley, severely censure the billiard-table.

It is no excuse that one rather than the other may be used for evil purposes. It is no excuse that one is more fascinating than the other—that should be the reason for engaging in it—dull amusements are no more to be commended than dull books or persons. At the top of the Great Egyptian pyramid I once saw some Arabs gambling with little pieces of white paper, but I could not therefore condemn the art of printing. It is utterly unworthy of ourselves to make these distinctions of the harm or harmlessness of any of these games or amusements, when not in themselves but in their abuse are these distinctions founded.

We need not fewer but more amusements. Our American life is ever worked, over anxious, too early worn out. We need in our spring, summer and fall days more out-door sports to give a healthier tone to the body and spirits—and in the winter we need more home sports, to make our homes attractive and satisfying,—and especially do our laboring classes need these games to give vivacity and brightness to the dulled and heavy minds of toil. The culture of the world seems to be about in proportion to the variety and enjoyment of its amusements and athletic sports. The safety and purity of that home where great attention is paid to its amusements, are pretty well assured. This whole question of amusements is one of very simple solution;—we need all those that help to good cheer of our not too-cheerfully life. One finds it in dancing,—strange, passing strange that these pious praters about religion should object to dancing, which seems to have been a part of worship in Bible-times: another finds it in music, another in one of various games of chance or skill, the ingenuity of man has invented: — and we need always that age should be the companion of youth, to make the hours reasonable, and to restrain excess, and above all that those who are the example of society in culture, or in religion, should be present with the young, to encourage enjoyment, to refine and rebuke coarseness, to banish and prevent immorality.

It should be the true object of the church to meet and satisfy all the social needs of human life, that are not elsewhere and otherwise met. The greater part of society is provided for by homes and the circles of friendship and acquaintance, but there are many, —alas how many, who need something more,—whose homes are homes of ceaseless toil; whose doors open to no sympathetic hearts; whose atmosphere has no spell of enchantment, no winning welcome; there are those who wander out for the attractions home does not furnish, for the sympathy kinship does not offer, for companionship that nearness does not endear. Every church should have hard by rooms where such persons may find all the amusements and refinements, and not these restrained by sanctimoniousness, but as free, and as freely to be enjoyed as amusements anywhere. Anything to keep these young people from the temptations of the street. Any expense for enjoyments in themselves innocent, to prevent the endless ruin of sensuality, that like the wild wave of an earthquake desolates a community by its shock.

The law of Accountability.—I am sure, my friends, I have granted all that you could ask, to the inborn love of the young for enjoyment, for gaiety, for every kind of amusement and recreation. I rejoice in all the gay scenes and sports of youth, in all that gladdens the eye, in all that delights the heart; as I believe most heartily in youth, so do I believe most heartily in the amusements of youth, — and countenance none of that nonsense that justifies one and condemns another simply because one is well and the other ill used, but there is a law behind, beneath and overtopping all these things, and to this law we turn,—the law of accountability, or God's judgments. My friends we shall never begin true living until we learn that everything in this universe from the springing grass-blade to the movements of a human soul is subject to perfect law,—law that because it is perfect cannot be infringed without a divine penalty. Some years ago in passing through the Philadelphia Mint, the director called our attention to the revolution of the great wheel that gave the motion to all the machinery of such complication and delicacy in a work of so much importance. It seemed to human eye perfect, a marvelous achievement of scientific skill; there was no unsteadiness, no chafing, no wabbling; for the least deviation would make the dies and the eagles valueless, in far off rooms. When we know that our dear Father God has so perfectly adjusted every part of this world that there cannot be the slightest deviation without disturbance, that the body cannot neglect its duty or its development without influencing the far-off soul, and that over every act however trivial, however mighty, hangs its inherent judgment, that because the Infinite God has appointed it cannot be wrong and cannot be escaped, then we shall indeed be the inhabitants of a new heaven and a new earth.

As a necessary conclusion from this solid and eternal foundation of God's law permeating all his universe, it follows that every young man and woman, as a part of God's universe, is subject every moment to the judgment of God for any violation of this eternal law. We have a nature given us to be developed, a nature of three-fold elements—physical or the care of the body, intellectual or the care of the mind, affectional, or our relationship to man and to God: and if we fail to regard this three-fold nature, we come under the judgment of God every moment.

Young people will never be won from these dissipations which ruin the body, from these ignorances which dissipate the mind, from these sensualities which deaden the affections, from unholy pleasures which squander the whole lifetime—by fear of any judgment-day, which, as in the olden time it was taught would come and from the dreadful tribunal issue a decision for eternity, for that day seems to the young far distant, and no pleading nor threatening can make it real, but the delusive heart places before them the promise of a change before that day comes. No theologian who teaches that, has ever told half the truth, or unfolded half of the solemn responsibilities under which we hold our gift of life. Every day is a judgment day:—and no infinite love, tender and compassionate, forbearing and forgiving beyond even our wildest dreams of love, can free us from those judgments which because they are of God must be, and because of God—must be just. Nor will all this teaching of eternal fire and punishment, which has now been tried for so many centuries and with a far greater balance of evil than of good effects, ever win the young to any noble living. It may be that those who talk so freely and hold over their listeners so unblushingly the everlasting terrors of the future have a more intimate acquaintance with the decrees of God and the powers of Satan, or the situation and nature of Hell than I, but it seems to me that a far more winning power to goodliness, and a far deeper understanding of christianity are to be found in that view of life which makes God's judgments attend every person who fails to develope the capacities God has given him. That we are to live forever is indeed a great motive for our ever living truly;—nevertheless a true, noble, religious man will live honestly, soberly, godly — simply for the reward of honor, truth and God, whether there be any future or not;—and he who is kept in the path of virtue merely from the fear of hell,—will at the best have a very low and ignoble and selfish life.

"The fear of hell's a hangman's whip
To hand the wretch in order;
But where ye feel your honor grip
Let that aye be your border.
Its slightest touches, instant pause!
Debar' side pretences;
And resolutely keeps its laws
Uncaring consequences."

And still again—Young persons will never be won into noble living by the approval or reproaches of their own consciences, unless also they have a care that their consciences be as St. Paul says good consciences; be enlightened, educated consciences; for education and the experiences of ages have just as much to do with conscience and faith as with any of our faculties. The truth is that while many a young person is strongly warned all the time by this voice of God speaking in his soul as he draws near to some temptation, or strongly rebuked by it after yielding to sinful pleasure, again and again while it grows fainter and fainter until he thinks nothing of its admonition;—he will yet yield to the pleasure, because for the temporary gratification, he ignores or is willing to dare the future punishment; or because the momentary pleasure is to him actually greater than any punishment he has found to follow it,—and all this is because of ignorance,—of igaorance of the far-reaching consequences of violation of God's law,—for I take it to be a logical and inevitable conclusion,—that the violation of an Infinite law—must be infinite in its consequences.

Now my young friends, if you have followed me to this conclusion so fearfully grand, so divinely encouraging, —our way and problem are very simple but unerring. We are placed in a perfect world, created, sustained, watched over by an infinitely wise, powerful and loving Being, who has made it and us subject to perfect law: —our judgment day is not one far off in the future,—it is here and now, and always;—and we are accountable to God not for one thing only, but for everything—for everything that concerns the body the mind and the soul—we may deceive ourselves as we will, we cannot deceive this law of accountability,—the keen judgment of Almighty God; we may go all through life deceiving others; we cannot escape for a moment this law of accountability,—the just judgment of Almighty God,—it is high as heaven, it is deep as hell, it is lasting as eternity, it is loving as God. No night-shadows so deep as to darken it; no day beams so bright as to blind it; no place so strange as to be unfamiliar to this law of accountability; no city throng so pressing and so multitudinous that in it we may elude the judgment of God; no loneliness so solitary that it does not search us out,—it has beset us behind and before and laid its hand upon us. We may forget it but it never forgets us,—like the faithful sentinel at his beat, it watches whether we revel or whether we sleep. Like the self-adjusting metre, its index-finger points to the Infinite our exact relation to him,—how much of our life is burnt out in the flame of passion,—how far it has been illuminated by the "light of life."

Then let us walk evermore in the thought of this accountability. We rejoice in our pleasures,—but we remember that if we waste our precious moments given us by God,—or forget to cultivate our minds, or to enrich our souls—a law that we cannot escape calls us into eternal judgment.

It was once my great privilege to watch during his last hours with one of the greatest educators of the world,—as his sight grew dim, and his voice faltered, and his strength ebbed away, he called a few of his students around him, and speaking through them to those who were absent he said, "tell those young men how beautiful a thing it is to learn God's Laws and to obey them."

Shall we not do it? Shall we have forever a youth of laxity, followed by an old age of remorse? Forbid it Almighty God. Let us then rejoice in our youth, in that overflowing fulness of health that is ours. Let us rejoice in these pleasures that give us such a keen joy,—in these moments of cheer and enliven our hours,—but let us keep ever over us the thought of God's judgment, not to make life too solemn; not to turn us from the ways of our hearts or the sight of our eyes—but to make us true.

God does not ask of you or me anything beyond our strength—to forego any joy, to deny any pleasure, so long as we do not neglect our higher duties and our higher life. God does not ask of us more than we can do—but he does ask reality, trueness, growth, of every one of us—he does ask a conscientious use of opportunity from every one of us—and he lays upon us his judgments if we neglect it:—and in the time of our youth, before custom has deadened the voice of conscience,—he rebukes us for every misstep, that we may be won to the beauty of holiness. I speak to the young, to those whose life has not hardened into routine, nor gone out in passion. I know you have done many things you regret,—but I do not believe that many of you have so constantly yielded to temptation, — that you feel no reproaches, no rebukings—from the voice of God in your souls;—that voice is the judgment of God calling you to account for wasted time, for unholy pleasure. Hear it I pray you,—and turn into the ways of pleasantness and peace. When in your path to guilty pleasure that voice startles, pleads with you—stop as if a lion had met you on the way—stop as if some angel with brandishing sword stood before you, stop and listen to the voice of God. Night after night you have looked up into the clear sky, and seen that far off, fair and quiet star, — or in stormy, nights you have looked and longed to see its steady, blessed light break from the parting clouds, — and thereby the mariner trusting the unfailing heavens, finds out two things, where he is, and his pathway home—and guided by that point of light comes safely borne over the deep, and anchors in his destined harbor.

So over every young man and woman is that far off, fair and quiet light which looks down upon all their actions, rejoices in all their joys, — and if they will but look for its guidance in all nights of radiant glory—or wait and long for its unfailing ray, in the darkness of the tempest of passions it will bring them safely to their promised haven of eternal peace,—beyond all the glories of life which the dreams of youth ever painted,

"I slept—and dreamed that life was beauty;
I woke—and found that life was duty.
Was my dream then, a shadowy lie?
Toil on, sad heart, courageously;
And thou shalt find thy dream shall be
A noonday light and truth to thee."

THE LORRAINE
VEGETABLE CATHARTIC PILL
LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILL,
—OR—
LA MEDICINE CURATIVE.
Mild, Certain, Safe, Efficient. It is far the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and at once relieves and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing any injury to any system. The most complete success has long attended its use in many localities; and it is now offered to the general public with the conviction that it will do all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no pain; leaves the organs free from irritation, and never over taxes or excites the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin, blood, stomach, bowels, liver, kidney's,—of children, and in many delicate peculiar to women, it brings prompt relief and certain cure. Leading physicians recommend and prescribe it; and no person who once uses this, will voluntarily return to the use of any other cathartic.

A. was engaged in a manufacturing and mercantile business, with a stock of Merchandise valued at $700. B. entered as an equal partner with A. by paying into the firm $700 Cash. At the end of the year their books showed the following condition of the firm:—

A. had received from B. and from sales,	$7105.24
A. had paid out for merchandise, including the $700	3971.22
B. had rec'd for sales, cash,	797.89
" " paid for mdse.,	112.41
Merchandise on hand,	2774.99
Bills Receivable,	652.84
Bills Payable,	2578.33

They propose to make a settlement of the affairs. If A. leaves the firm, what must he pay to B. in cash? If B. leaves the firm, what must he receive from A. in cash? If they remain together, how much must A. pay to B. cash? **

We have received but one answer to the above—from A. C. H.

If A. leaves the firm he must pay B. in cash, $799.55.

If B. leaves he must receive from A. in cash, $1649.05.

If they continue together A. must pay to B. $1224.30.

GRAFTING ORCHARDS. — Most men think when the tree is grafted the work is done, the tree will do the rest, and never look after the graft. The result is, either no graft grows, or a long, slim twig, crooked with water sprouts. Sometimes they will trim some limbs off and leave a water sprout for a graft, and when that bears fruit, they accuse the grafter of taking cuttings from the same tree, and then heap all kinds of abuse upon the grafter. They never think of laying blame on themselves for negligence.

Some say you must not trim the balance of the brush off the tree for two or three years, for fear of hurting the tree, when they will do other things more injurious to the tree. If a farmer wants better fruit, find what kinds bring the best price in market, and likewise find out what kinds are hardiest on your kind of soil, and the best bearers in your neighborhood. Reports from a different State or different soil from yours are of no use to you.

Be careful in sawing your limbs, keep the top an oval form, put in plenty of grafts, more on the west side than on the east, for the trees draw to the eastward, and as soon as the water sprouts get well started, pull them all off from the limbs that have been grafted. If the grafts make a good growth the first year, the next spring take all or nearly all of the balance of the limbs from the tree; if you leave any till the next spring, leave them so that they will not interfere with the grafts. Keep the tree clear from the water sprouts, which is easily done with the hand. If the grafts get too heavy, so they begin to crook about, strip some of the leaves off and the limbs will harden, and you will have thick, stocky grafts, and will soon heal the old stumps over, and you will soon realize a benefit from grafting old trees.

THE WHOLESOME PROPERTY OF APPLES.—There is perhaps no fruit more useful and more wholesome than the apple. Every housekeeper should lay in a good supply of apples, as it is the most economical investment in the whole range of culinaries. A raw, mellow apple is digested in an hour and a half. A more healthy dessert cannot be placed on the table than baked apples. If eaten at breakfast, with coarse bread and butter, they have a good effect on the general system.

HORSE TREATMENT. — There are a few common sense rules which, if followed, will commend themselves to the horse, as well as to the trainer, viz: 1st, Always feel kindly toward a horse, no matter what he does to you, and consequently never show "temper." Remember the horse knows instinctively how you feel. 2d, Never go near a horse if you are afraid of him; the horse will know it and take advantage of it before you acknowledge it yourself.

—Parsnip and onion seed can only be depended on to grow the year after it matures. Beans are safe for two years, as also are carrot, egg plant, and several of the pot herbs. Raddish, lettuce, spinach, parsley and asparagus for three years. Celery, cabbage, cauliflower and turnip seeds may be tolerably relied on for four years. Beet, mangels, tomato, squash, pumpkin, cucumber and melon are good for five to ten years.

RAPID GROWTH IN FOWLS. — Give good food mixed with milk; cooked meat chopped fine. Food to be constantly changed and given frequently, a little at a time. To this add warm roosting, a good run, and plenty of growing green food.

A NEW SPECIES OF PIG.—A farmer wrote as follows to a distinguished scientific agriculturist, to whom he felt under obligations for introducing a variety of swine: "Respected sir, I went yesterday to the cattle show to see all the nice pigs. I was astonished at not seeing you there."

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse." CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

PLANTATION BITTERS.
S. T. — 1860 — X.
This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid, it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. For sale by all druggists.

WHAT ARE
DR. J. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS.
They are not a vile fancy drink.

THE AMERICAN FAMILY
KNITTING MACHINE,
Is presented to the public as the most Simple, Durable, and Compact and Cheap Knitting Machine ever invented.
PRICE ONLY, $25.
This Machine will run either backward or forward with equal facility; makes the same stitch as by hand, but far superior in every respect.
Will knit 20,000 Stitches in a minute,
and do perfect work, leaving every knot on the inside of the work. It will knit a pair of stockings (any size) in less than half an hour. It will knit Close or Open, plain or Ribbed work, with any kind of coarse or fine wooled yarn, or cotton, silk or linen. It will knit stockings with double heel and toe, drawers, hoods, socks, smoking Caps, comforts, purses, muffs, fringe, afghans, nubias, undersleeves, mittens, skating caps, lamp wicks, mats, cord, undershirts, shawls, jackets, cradle blankets, leggins, suspenders, wristers, tidies, tippets, tufted work, and in fact an endless variety of articles in every day use, as well as for ornament.
FROM $5 TO $10 PER DAY
Can be made by any one with the American Knitting Machine, knitting stockings, &c., while expert operators can even make more, knitting fancy work, which always commands a ready sale. A person can readily knit from twelve to fifteen pairs of stockings per day, the profit on which will be not less than forty cents per pair.
FARMERS
Can sell their wool at only forty to fifty cents per pound, but by getting the wool made into yarn at a small expense, and knitting it into socks, two or three dollars per pound may be realized. On receipt of $25 we will forward a machine as ordered.
We wish to procure active AGENTS in every section of the United States and Canadas, to whom the most liberal inducements will be offered. Address,

IMPORTANT DECISION.—At the Supreme Court in Concord the decision was made in a suit brought against the defendant for necessaries furnished by the plaintiff to the defendant's minor son to the effect that, although the parent is under a moral obligation to provide his minor child with the necessaries of life, yet neither the common law or the statues of this State furnish any remedy whereby he can be made to pay for such necessaries if furnished to his child by a person, without his promise, expressed or implied, to pay for them, even if they were thus furnished to relieve him from actual want, any more than could a brother, other relative or a stranger; that such a promise cannot be implied from the morsl obligation of the parent to support his child, or from the statute of this State for the relief of poor persons, but may be implied from a palpable omission of duty on the part of the parent in neglecting to furnish his child with necessaries; and that when a person seeks to charge the parent upon such an implied promise, the burden of proving such omission of duty is upon him.

THE CONDUCTOR CASES. — At the term of the Supreme Court in Concord, last week, the case of the Concord Railroad vs. George Clough was disposed of in part. The question before the Court was upon the defendant's exceptions to the finding of the referees and his motion to recommit their report. The motion was denied, and the report was sustained so far as the $5635, which they awarded that the defendant should pay to the plaintiff in any event, is concerned. It will be recollected that the referees also found that the defendant should pay the plaintiff the further sums of $5500, and $2000, if the law renders him liable, upon the facts reported by them. The questions of law arising upon this branch of the case were continued to the June term, and an opportunity was given to the counsel on both sides to be heard further in relation to them, if they so desire.

☞ A Roller Plow, invented by Leavitt Hunt of Weathersfield, Vermont, is said to be a great improvement over all others. An adjustable roller near the front end of the beam and another at the rear of the plow, causes the plow to work much easier; and the forward one can be lowered so as to entirely clear the point of the plow in going on and off the field, or on the road.

The Concord Patriot ridicules the Labor Reformers, denounces the idea that there is any antagonism between labor and capital, and is not quite prepared to sell out the Democracy to the so-called Labor Reform Party.

Northwood voted two and a half per cent. of its valuation to the Concord & Rochester Road, provided said Road passes through Northwood. That isn't a very high bid for Northwood; the town ought to do better. $10,000 private subscription has been pledged in addition, on the same condition.

In the town of Columbia, Rev. Mr. Pattee, a Methodist clergyman, was elected Representative, in opposition to the regular Republican candidate. This makes the third minister elected.

A verdant couple who put up at the Sherman House in Concord, failed to turn off the gas properly, on retiring, and as a natural result a mighty stench arose, offensive unto the nostrils of all the inmates of the House.

The Republicans of Sandown and neighboring towns celebrated their victory in the late election by an oyster supper at the Town House, on the evening of March 11th. The Haverhill Cornet Band was in attendance. Representative elect, George Marston, presided, and brief and pertinent speeches were made by Hon. Nathan W. Gove of Concord, (a former resident of the town,) Dr. James F. Brown, N. S. Morse and J. Albert Hooke of Chester. The tasteful appearance of the tables and the quality of the eatables spoke volumes of praise for the ladies.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, on Tuesday, the House joint resolution appropriating to the widow of the late Edwin M. Stanton, a sum equal to one year's salary of an associate justice of the Supreme Court, was passed.

In the House, Mr. Butler of Massachusetts, from the reconstruction committee, reported a bill to admit Texas to representation in Congress, stating that it was identical with the Virginia and Mississippi bills, with the exception of an additional provision that its passage shall not affect the conditions under which Texas was originally admitted into the Union. Passed.

Secretary Fish transmitted to the Senate the names of the following States as having officially ratified the 15th Amendment:—North Carolina, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Michigan, South Carolina, Pennsylvania, Arkansas, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, New York, New Hampshire, Nevada, Vermont, Virginia, Alabama, Missouri, Mississippi, Ohio, Georgia, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Rhode Island, Nebraska and Texas.

STRAFFORD.—At length, we have the correct report of the Strafford election. At first, the two men elected Representatives were reported Democratic, then it was said they were Republican. We have a letter from Strafford to the effect that one, Cotton H. Foss, is a Republican, and that the other, Jeremiah Tasker, is a "third-party Democrat." It seems that there are three Democratic parties, the Republican, the Temperance and the Labor Reform, making six in the town. This year, the Republican and third Democratic party united and won, dividing the officers between the two organizations.—Manchester Mirror.

—The Maine railroad committee has agreed to report a bill chartering the following route:—To begin at some point on the European and North American Railroad, at or near the town of Bancroft, thence running northerly to some point at or near Houlton village, thence north to Presque Isle. It is not the route asked by either of the petitioners, but it is a compromise between the two.

—The friends of railroad consolidation have withdrawn from the contest in Maine.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

KITTERY, ME., March 16.

Messrs. Editors:—If you know any persons desirous of settling down in one of the most thriving (and respectable—barring the drinking-dens and the evils they create) towns in the country, just direc them to Kittery. After the purchase of $100,000 worth of real estate by Uncle Sam, the Commissioners of Valuation have added over 70 per cent. to the "estimates." In 1860 the valuation was $363,327; now it is $622,523; and adding the $100,000 sold to Government, gives a gain of $359,196 in 10 years. There has been an improvement of something like $50,000 in the village, about thirty houses having been built; but in the back parts of the town, property has deteriorated. K. M.

THE NEW TROTTING RULES.—Mr. George H. Smith, the Secretary of the National Association for the promotion of the interests of the American Trotting Turf, has published a report of the proceedings of the Turfmen's National Congress, with a copy of the Rules and By-Laws adopted, annexed. The Rules have been copyrighted for the benefit of the Association, and will be sold for the modest price of twenty-five cents per copy. There was much interest manifested in the proceedings of the National Congress, and this interest will induce every horseman to become an owner of a copy of the pamphlet just published by Mr. Smith. Consequently we may anticipate a large sale for the report. Address George H. Smith, Providence, R. I.

Holloway's Pills as a Spring Medicine.—The moist and tepid air of Spring engenders a variety of diseases. Dyspeptics and persons of bilious habit are always unpleasantly affected by it. They feel depressed, debilitated, sluggish and lethargic. A single dose of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS will often work a complete and salutary change in their condition—toning the stomach, regulating the liver, invigorating the nerves, and invigorating the whole animal machinery. If the first dose does not suffice, a second or third will always produce the desired effect. Sold by all Druggists. mh17

Occupational Ailments.

Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanatomo roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopoeia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters, nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when lo this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among officinal or advertised medicines.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautifully black or brown. CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs."

TO STONE CONTRACTORS.

PROPOSALS for furnishing the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS.

Sealed Proposals will be received at the Office of the Superintendent of Streets, City Hall, Boston, Mass., until March 17th, 1870, for supplying the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS during the year 1870. The blocks to be of the following dimensions, viz:—

Width, 3½ to 4½ in. Length, 6 to 8 in. Dep th, 7 to 8 inches.

All the edges to be sharp and straight, forming right angles at their intersections both horizontally and vertically. The faces to be straight, split, and free from bunches or depressions.

Proposals to state the price per thousand blocks delivered on such wharf in the city proper, South and East Boston, as may be designated from time to time by the Superintendent of Streets. Also, the number of blocks which the proposer will deliver per month during the year. A sample of the blocks must accompany the proposal.

KITTERY March 15th.

Not wishing to cast any reflections on the Honorable Selectmen of Kittery, we would enquire if they receive any revenue from the Rum business which is carried on so extensively at Kittery Foreside at present—the saloons being furnished with black-walnut counters, $30 mirrors hanging on the wall inside said bars, with a Town Constable to attend bar from Saturday night until Monday morning. For years, the Rum business has never been carried on so extensively as at the present day on Kittery Fore side. Please insert this, and Oblige your subscribers, and also help the public in general.

FRIENDS OF TEMPERANCE.

Communication.

THE LECTURE on Political Economy, by George W. Haven, Esq., of this city, delivered before the Mercantile Library Association, Tuesday evening, was listened to by a large audience, comprising many of our most intelligent citizens, with a closeness of attention denoting an appreciative comprehension of the profound subject as he skillfully and gracefully unfolded it.

Population, as controlled and limited by fundamental law, was treated of in a philosophical and statesmanlike manner, evincing a thorough knowledge of the most enlightened theories of the students of social science, ancient and modern; and presenting some startling truths, which might well claim the careful consideration of every thoughtful mind.

The lecturer's idea in regard to the increase of population was forcibly illustrated by reference to the man who would count the cost, before beginning to build his "tower."—Mr. Haven speaks in a very easy and natural style, and is possessed of great magnetic power; and although he makes no special effort at oratorical display, holds an audience in motionless attention. Why do we not have such men in our legislative halls, and in the councils of the nation? X.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE GAZETTE.—It is said that the first newspaper published was issued at Venice, in Europe, in 1630. The first in America was the News Letter, published in Boston in 1704. The first in New Hampshire was The New Hampshire Gazette. The following explanatory expression followed its title: "Containing the freshest advices, Foreign and Domestic." It first appeared on a half-sheet of foolscap in quarto. The date of the first number was Oct. 7, 1756. It is now in the 114th year of its publication, and is the oldest paper in our country.

The Founder.—Daniel Fowle established it. He was a native of Charlestown, Mass., and served apprenticeship at printing in Boston; and afterwards worked in an office at book and newspaper publishing. In 1754 a pamphlet appeared called "The Monster of Monsters," reflecting severely on some members of the General Court. It was suspected that he printed it;—he was arrested, tried and imprisoned. He afterwards published a pamphlet condemning the proceedings. It was entitled, "Total Eclipse of Liberty." He resolved that he would not live in that Province, and receiving encouragement from persons in Portsmouth, he moved what printing materials he had to this place.

The time when the Gazette was commenced.—New Hampshire was then a royal Province, and George II was in the 29th year of his reign. The unfortunate House of Stuart had ended 42 years before, and Britain had much recovered from the disasters to which it had been subject during the reigns of several of the princes of that line. Geo. II, guided by Pitt, the first Earl of Chatham, raised the kingdom almost to the height of earthly glory. Still, aside from Pitt, great men did not exist in this reign. Addison and Newton had passed away before George II came into power; Sam'l Johnson, Burke, Nelson and Fox flourished a generation later.

When the Gazette was commenced, the royal Governor of the Province was Benning Wentworth. He was in office 26 years, and the paper was started in the 16th year of his administration. This Governor was as popular in the Province as any it before had. A town in Grafton County was named in honor of him; also a pond in Raymond. And it is said in the History of Hampton, that in 1763, Gen. Jonathan Moulton, having a fat ox, weighing 1400 pounds, drove him to Portsmouth with an elegant blue flag raised on his horns, and made a present of him to the Governor. The Governor in return gave him the charter of a tract of land of 19,000 acres, which was afterwards incorporated as New Hampton.

The Gazette was commenced 20 years before the Declaration of Independence, and 33 years before Washington became President. New Hampshire had not been divided into Counties. What is now the County of Rockingham had 26 towns; it now has 36. This part of the Province was the most densely populated, and several of the towns had a large number of inhabitants. Portsmouth might have had 3,000, as at the first Census, eleven years later, it had 4,466.

Some events during its publication.—A newspaper published so long has given a vast amount of news, valuable reading matter and good instruction. During its publication, Great Britain has had five Sovereigns, and our country 20 years of Presidents. We have had two wars with England, one with Mexico, and the late war of the rebellion. There have been the inventions of steam navigation, railroads, the magnetic telegraph, and the submarine telegraph. The system of education has been brought to a commendable state of perfection. Agriculture and the arts in general have made a mighty advance. The volumes of the New Hampshire Gazette, complete, would be almost a Library. If any person or any Institution has them, they are to be valued above all price. Long may the paper live. J. F.

AN EXCELLENT APPOINTMENT.—Mr. Calvin Brown, who will be remembered by many of the citizens of Portsmouth as an accomplished Civil Engineer, has lately been appointed to the Navy Yard at Mare Island, California.

Mr. Brown has been several times attached to this Yard on Special duty; in 1852 he was relieved here by Engineer Chandler and ordered to the Norfolk Yard, where he remained until the rebels took that Station, when he was ordered to California. A short time after his arrival, he resigned his position in the Navy, to accept the Superintendence of the construction of the extensive work for supplying San Francisco with pure water, and when his services could be had, the Republican State Central Committee of California earnestly recommended his appointment as Civil Engineer in the Navy again.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other.

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $150,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.

P.S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawóm

THE IMPROMPTU MARRIAGE.

"For heaven's sake, Susy, do be serious, if you can, for five minutes. Pray, pray, cease this trifling which is but cruel playing with my feelings, and let us treat this subject as it deserves, soberly and seriously."

"Well, there, then!" cried the laughing, black-eyed girl to whom Charles Westerly spoke. "There then, is that grave enough? See, the corners of my mouth are duly turned down, and my eyes rolled up, and I am as sober as a patient who has caught sight of the dentist's instruments. Do I suit you so?"

"You suit me anyhow, and you know it well, you witch!" cried Charles, gazing with a smile at the pretty face puckered up in its affectation of demureness. But he was not to be driven from his point, as he resumed gravely, after a pause—"The time has come, Susy, when I feel I have a right to demand an explicit answer to my suit. You have trifled with my earnest feelings long enough. I have grown restless under my letters."

"Shake them off, then Charles!" interrupted the saucy girl, with a defiant toss of her head, which plainly said, "I defy you to do it."

"I cannot, Susy, and you know it," replied the hapless lover, impatiently.

"That being the case," said Susy, "take my advice—wear them gracefully, and don't pull and jerk so; it only makes them hurt you."

The young man turned away, and walked silently up and down the room, evidently fretting and fuming internally. Susy, meantime, looked out of the window and yawned. Charles continued his moody walk.

"Oh! what a beautiful bird is on the lilac tree!" cried Susy, suddenly. "Do come and see it."

Charles mechanically approached the window and looked out.

"Don't you think, Charley," said Susy, laying her hand on his arm, and looking up eagerly in this face; "don't you think you could manage to——"

"What, Susy?" asked Charles, all his tenderness awakened by her manner. "What?"

"Drop a pinch of salt on his back?" returned the provoking girl, with an affectation of simplicity; "for then, you know, you could easily catch it?"

His answer was to turn angrily away.

His walk this time was longer than before, and his cogitations were more earnest; for he did not heed any of Susy's artfully artless devices to allure his notice. At last he stopped abruptly before her, and said:

"Susy, for three long years I have been your suitor, without either confession of love or promise of marriage on your part. Often as I have declared to know your sentiment toward me, you have always coquettishly refused me an answer. This state of things must cease. I love you better than my life; but I will no longer be your plaything. To-morrow you are going away, to be absent for months, and if you cannot, this very day, throw aside your coquetry, and give me an honest 'yes' for my answer, I shall consider that I have received a 'no,' and act accordingly."

"And how would that be? What would you do?" asked Miss Susy, curiously.

"Begin by tearing your false and worthless image from my heart!" cried Charles, furiously.

"It would be a curious piece of business, Charley; and you would not succeed either," said Susy.

"I should and would succeed," said Charles, "as you shall see, if you wish, cruel, heartless girl!"

"But I don't wish, Charley, dear—I love dearly to have you love me," said Susy.

"Why, then," cried the foolish youth, quite won over again, "why, then, dearest Susy, will you not consent?"

"Remember, I said I liked to be loved," replied Susy; "I did not say anything about loving. But pray, how long did you say you had been courting me, in that pretty little speech of yours?"

"Three long years," replied Charles.

"Neatly and accurately quoted, Charley. But you know my cousin Rachel was only won after five years' courtship. You don't suppose I am going to rate myself any cheaper than she did, do you? Suppose we drop this tiresome subject for two years; perhaps by that time I may be able to work myself up to the falling-in-love point—there is no knowing what wonders time may effect."

"If you are not in love now, you never will be," returned Charles, sturdily; "and I will have my answer now or never."

"Never, then," laughed Susy. But she had gone a step too far. Her often severely tried lover was now too much in earnest to bear her trifling any longer.

"Never be it, then!" he cried; and seizing his hat he strode from the room.

Susy listened to his receding footsteps with dismay. Had she, indeed, by her incorrigible love of coquetry, lost him? It smote her to the soul to think so. As she heard him open the front door; impelled by a feeling of despair, she raised the window sash, and, leaning forward, whispered:

"Charley, Charley! you will be at the boat to-morow to bid me good-bye, won't you? Surely we are still friends?"

As she spoke she tore a rose from her bosom and threw it to him. It lodged on his arm, but he brushed it away as though it had been poison and passed on without looking up.

Susy spent the remainder of the day in tears. Early the next day the bustle of departure began. Susy was going to accompany her widowed and invalid mother on a trip for her health. As they reached the wharf and descended from the carriage, Susy's eyes made themselves busy searching for a wished-for face; but it was nowhere to be seen.

The steamboat lay panting and puffing, seemingly impatient to be let loose. Susy's mother, aided by the servant man who accompanied them, had already crossed the gangway which lay between the wharf and the boat and Susy was reluctantly following, when the sound of a voice behind her—the very voice she had longed to hear—startled her. She turned to look round, and missing her footing fell into the water.

Another instant and Charles had thrown off his coat, and calling out loudly, "Tell the Captain not to allow the wheel to stir, and to lower me a rope!" he sprang into the water. But of her whom he was risking his life to save, he was unable to perceive any trace.

Judging that the current of the river might have carried her a little forward, he swam around the wheel, but still he saw her not, and despair seized his heart as he conjectured that she might be under the boat. He strained his eyes to see through the water, and at length discerned, far below the surface, what seemed the end of a floating garment lodged between the wheel and the rounded bottom of the boat.

If this were indeed the unfortunate girl, the least movement of the wheel must inevitably crush her, and Charles, in his terror, fancied it was already beginning to turn. He dived and clutched at the garment, but missed it. He rose panting and almost exhausted; but scarcely waiting to get breath, he again plunged below. This time his efforts were rewarded with success, at least so far that he was able to bring Susy's form to the surface of the water; but she seemed totally lifeless. Charles was now so nearly exhausted that he had only sufficient presence of mind left to clasp Susy convulsively to him while he kept himself afloat by holding on to the wheel.

But this, his last hope of support, seemed also to fail him soon, as he perceived that it was now really beginning to turn slowly round. By a desperate effort he struck his foot against one of the paddles so as to push himself as far from the danger as possible. As he did so something touched his head, and his hand grasped a rope. New life seemed now infused into him. He gathered all his energies, and fastened the rope round Susy's waist—consciousness then entirely forsook him. In the meantime the witnesses of the scene, after giving Charles' instructions to the captain, had watched his struggles and exertions with breathless interest. The friendly rope had been flung to him again and again, but in the excitement of his feelings, and his semi-sensibility, he had been incapable of availing himself of the proffered aid.

At last, perceiving that he was quite exhausted, and must inevitably soon let go his hold on the wheel, and then probably sink to rise no more, the captain judged it best to run the risk of moving off, so that a small boat could be sent to the rescue. The result of this hazardous experiment was successful. Susy was raised by means of the rope, and a boat reached Charles in time to save him also.

Both sufferers were taken on board the steamboat, which now moved off to make up for lost time.

And thus, when our hero regained his consciousness he found himself many miles from home. Of course his first inquiry was for Susy, and when informed that she was rapidly recovering, his happiness seemed complete. He showed his contentment by falling into a deep, quiet sleep.

About sunset a message came to him that Miss B——desired to see him. He found her lying on a sofa in the captain's stateroom which had been given up to her. Her mother was sitting beside her. She looked very pale, and somewhat suffering, but she held out her hand to him very gratefully, while the tears stood in her eyes.

"Charles," said she, without offering a word of thanks, "I want to see a clergyman. "Is there one on board?"

"I will go and see," said Charles, moving to the door; but a dreadful thought striking him, he turned, exclaiming, "Susy, you do not think that——"

"That I am going to die?" said she, anticipating him. "No, Charles; but I want to see a clergyman.

Charles went, and soon returned, accompanied by a minister.

"I thank you, sir, for coming to me," said she to the latter as she entered. "I have a strange request to make of you. Would you object, sir, in the presence of my mother, to unite me to that gentleman?"

If the minister was astonished at this request, Charles was infinitely more so.

"What did you say, Susy?" said he. "Did I hear aright?"

"I believe so," said Susy, smiling at his eager amazement. "Does the scheme meet your approval?"

"It was heaven-inspired," cried the poor fellow, frantic with joy—but a shade coming over his radiant face, he added, gravely, "But, Susy, have you considered? Remember, I want your love, not your gratitude. I will be satisfied with nothing less."

"Do not be concerned about that, dear Charley," replied Susy, gazing at him very tenderly through her tears; "be assured you have them both, and had, the first long, long, before you had the last."

"But, Susy, you said only yesterday——"

"Never mind what I said yesterday," interrupted Susy, with some of her old spirit breaking out, "Just mind what I say to-day. If I was a fool once, is that any reason I must be one always? But, indeed, Charles," she added more softly, "I have always meant to be your wife—the only scruple I have is that I am not half good enough for you."

It is needless to say how the discussion ended. The reader has already divined that Charles continued his journey; and thus in the course of one eventful day he risked a life, saved a life, made an impromptu marriage, and set out on a most unexpected wedding trip.

AYER'S

HAIR VIGOR,

For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.

A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.

Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.

If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I know my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent, to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

Price 50 cts. Sold by the Druggists, Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. jal3d&w1m

A NOCTURNAL ROMANCE.

The Owl and the Pussy Cat went to sea,
In a beautiful pea-green boat;
They took some honey and plenty of money,
Wrapped up in a five pound note.
The Owl looked up to the moon above,
And sang to a small guitar,
"O lovely Pussy! O Pussy, my love!
What a beautiful Pussy you are,—
You are!
What a beautiful Pussy you are!"

Pussy said to the Owl, "You elegant fowl!
How wonderful sweet you sing!
O let us be married—too long we have tarried—
But what shall we do for a ring?"
They sailed away for a year and a day,
To the land where the Bong-tree grows,
And there in the wood, a piggy-wiggy stood,
With a ring in the end of his nose,—
His nose,—
With a ring in the end of his nose.

"Dear Pig, are you willing to sell for one shilling
Your ring?" Said the piggy, "I will."
So they took it away and were married next day
By the turkey who lives on the hill.
They dined on mince and slices of quince,
Which they ate with a neat wooden spoon,
And hand in hand on the edge of the sand
They danced by the light of the moon—
The moon,
They danced by the light of the moon.

THE INCOME TAX.—A writer in the New York Times, complains of the decision of Commissioner Delano, who says, "Interest paid on a mortgage given to secure the purchase money of the homestead, cannot be deducted from the tax,"—but "Rent" of a homestead may be deducted.

The same writer also begs leave, as he says to the editor of the Times, "to differ from your conclusions that to popularize the tax it must be lowered. The whole principle of the tax is wrong. I have never talked with a man yet who did not express his preference to pay a much larger tax, if collected in a different way, than to submit to the inquisitorial process of the present law. It is an offence to all the decent and moral sensibilities of the community. The returns are used as instruments of annoyance and oppression, and the whole proceeding is a manufactory of fraud and wrong."

It does seem that the interest, and the rent, as mentioned, are nearly the same thing, and might be so treated. But we do not see how, or why, the income tax is more inquisitorial than our old State Tax on Money on Hand or at Interest. We have no doubt the Income Tax, in many cases, is evaded and lied about; but it is no new or peculiar thing for some rich people, and some not very rich, to conceal some property, and even tell utter falsehoods, to reduce their taxes.—It is proposed, in renewing the tax for one year, to make the rate 3 per cent. instead of 5, and to exempt $2000 instead of $1000, of income, from taxation. — And it strikes us, that the man who has more than $2000 income in a year, ought not to grumble at being taxed for the overplus! The tax-payer's own statement, on oath, regulates the amount of tax;—and if the man of large income perjures his soul to get clear of a few shillings tax, he is a more profane person than Esau, who for a morsel of meat sold his birth right. U. T.

RURAL ITEMS.—Many English farmers feed no hay to their work horses, but keep them in high working order with straw, roots and shorts. The equivalent of twelve tons of hay can be produced on one acre in roots.

Sweet apples are excellent for milch cows, when fed in connection with cut feed, or hay. Four quarts fed twice daily after other feed will be more satisfactory than eight quarts fed at one time.

Some one has recommended giving a cow from which the greatest quantity of milk is expected, a pailful of slightly warm water, in which a quart of bran has been mixed and a little salt added. This is to be given three times daily.

A writer in Mark Lane Express strongly advocates working bulls. In his own case he used bridle, collar and saddle. He says it is remarkable how soon a surly bull may be taught obedience by a man of good common sense, courage and firmness.

Sawdust mixed with sulphuric acid is recommended as a means of keeping stables sweet and wholesome. The acid should be diluted with forty times its bulk of water before it is applied to the sawdust.

Skillful fatteners are far less common than good grain growers. Recent experiments have proved that animals cannot take on flesh rapidly unless the temperature is nearly uniform, and between fifty and sixty degrees.

Dr. Voelcker says, "Placed in a heap with ashes or sands, occasionally moistened with liquid manure or water, bone enters into putrefaction and becomes a more soluble and energetic manure than ordinary bone dust."

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,
DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about twelve months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.
About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.
Very respectfully yours, &c.,

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,
DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. Yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.
Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Heimbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to state that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.
At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found unmistakable relief and a permanent beneficial benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,
D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:
Mr. H. T. Helmbold.
DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.
I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.
I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, many diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.
Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.
August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.
Mr. H. T. Helmbold,
DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was laid unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Inclosed please find our rate of advertising.—Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

Dr. Helmbold,
DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.
It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, however, I had finished the second, that I had made up my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.
On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make the water, but could not. About one hour after this I fried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet out, stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.
I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement sent me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time. (A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,
Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chambermaid who has charge of the bedding.
I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from habit, may be spared punishment, and a life of hard labor (the weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, that such valuable remedies may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,
COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.
DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, diseased kidneys, affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.
Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Fluid Buchu.
I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and consequently had no faith, in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was from this consideration that I sought your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me that it was just the combination I wanted, and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.
From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought the improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to delay for a time longer, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.
I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.
Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

The Independent advocates the nomination of Susan B. Anthony for governor New York.

Gold, Thursday, 112 1-2.

The Maryland Republicans expect to carry that State at their next election by the aid of the colored voters, on whom the 15th amendment confers the right of suffrage.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, Wednesday, the Georgia bill being under consideration, Mr. Revels, of Mississippi, spoke in behalf of the colored citizens whose only representative he is on the floor of the Senate. He appealed for the protection to his race and argued against the Bingham amendment. He was listened to throughout, with great attention by the Senators and the occupants of the crowded galleries.

Mr. Morton, in complimenting Mr. Revels on his speech, expressed the opinion that in the exchange which had been made by which the gentleman occupied the place of Jefferson Davis, the Senate lost nothing in intelligence, while it gained much in patriotism and loyalty.

In the House, half of the committee on military affairs reported a resolution for the expulsion of Mr. R. R. Butler of Tennessee, for selling a cadetship; the other half of the committee reported a resolution of censure.

ZEALOUS ZEROITES. — Four young ladies were recently baptized in Rum river at Anoka, Minnesota, when the thermometer marked ten degrees below zero.

THE ONEIDA AND THE BOMBAY—THE CONDUCT OF CAPT. EYRE.—The fate of the Oneida has naturally thrilled the community with horror and unspeakable reprobation of the conduct of Capt. Eyre. It matters not to whom is attributable the blame of the collision. There is yet something of greater importance than the conduct of this man to be considered. What was the cause of the haste which may or may not have been the occasion of the collision, but was assuredly that of the abandonment? The Bombay carried the mail. In this responsibility commanders of mail packets are apt to shield themselves against all reproaches for not deviating from the strict letter of their obligations.

This catastrophe has brought to my mind a similar case, wherein the consequences might have been of the same kind, though not of the like extent, but for an escape almost miraculous. In May, 1854, being then in command of a small steamer, bound from New York to the Mediterranean, we were off Nantucket Shoals on the second day of the passage. It was afternoon, and we were enveloped in a thick fog. Suddenly we heard the noise of paddles a little on our port bow. Our helm was at once put hard aport, but before we could get a sufficient distance from danger, a large United States mail steamer was seen scarcely her length off, running at full speed in a course which in a few seconds more would have struck us at right angles, and she would inevitably have had us all under her keel. Fortunately we were then seen, for our steam whistle must have been unheard.

The great ship's helm was ported hard, but not in time to avoid a raking collision. As she tore along, she ripped off our main and mizzen rigging, rail, plank-sheer and twenty or thirty sheets of copper, cutting through the planks of the side within a quarter of an inch, careening our lee-rail under water. She then passed on, and in another moment was lost in the fog. I will charitably believe that our whistle, bells and united shouts were unheard, although there was no wind. And so as Capt. Eyre has enough for which to answer, I will believe that having steamed to windward against a strong breeze, he did not hear the Oneida's guns, so distinctly heard far to leeward. At all events that American mail steamer passed on without stopping to see what damage she had done. So did this British mail steamer. We pursued our voyage and arrived safely at Gibraltar. The Oneida with her more numerous crew went to the bottom.

Each of the commanders of the mail-packets were alike guilty of the crime of abandonment. The lesson to be learned is, that there should be a relaxation of the obligations binding the Captains of mail steam-ships.

I have not sufficient vindictiveness toward Capt. ———, to induce me to publish his name, for I believe he was acting in accordance with what he supposed to be the wishes of his Company. And, while I cannot but blame them both alike, I will say the same for Capt. Eyre.—Cor. N. Y. Times.

CHRONICLES OF OLD TIMES.

BY UNCLE TOBY.

The Portsmouth Privateers of 1812.

NUMBER ELEVEN.

The privateer Harlequin, Capt. Elihu D. Brown, sailed from this port Oct. 20, 1814.—She was mostly owned by Federalists. In the early part of the war, being opposed to the war itself, they did not generally engage in privateering. But they had come into it gradually, in several ways. Some owners of shares in privateers, and of seamen's shares, would be in want of money, and offer great bargains, or be urgent on a federal friend, and so make a sale. This was true in many cases, after the great fire here, in December, 1813, which destroyed one quarter part of the town, without insurance, making many poor who had been rich. Then again, peaceful business of all kinds was extremely dull here in 1814; and why might not this vessel,—being splendidly found, and well manned, by many men who had been officers,—why might she not be as lucky as the Fox, or the Thomas, or the Harpy?

She was not very lucky, however, but was very speedily taken. She sailed from this port, Oct. 20, Thursday afternoon, and was captured the following Sunday.

The first notice we see of her fate, is in the Oracle of Dec. 17, 1814, which reads as follows:—

The privateer sch. Harlequin, formerly of Portsmouth, is advertised for Liverpool, (Eng.,) in the Halifax papers.

We are informed that the privateer M'Donough, Capt. J. Weeks, of Kennebunk, was in Halifax on the 15th ult., having been captured when 30 hours out of port by an English frigate; that a fleet under convoy was to sail for England on the 16th, and the M'Donough's with the privateer Harlequin's crews, were to be sent off with them as prisoners.

In the next Oracle, viz., Dec. 24, we have the following official document, which speaks for itself:

Loss of the Harlequin—(Official.)—The following particulars of the loss of the private armed schooner Harlequin, E. D. Brown, Esq., of this port, have been received by the agents, from her late commander:

Thursday, Oct. 20, 1814,. (common day,) 4 P. M., sailed from Portsmouth harbor. Friday morning, at daylight, near Cashe's Ledge, saw a sail bearing N. N. W., ship rigged, under easy sail, —supposed her at first to be a ship of war,—made sail, stood S. E.,—she appeared to take no notice of us, set her top-gallant sails and stood to the N. E., from which circumstance we suspected her to be a merchantman bound into the Bay of Fundy, but did not chase in consequence of being in the vicinity of many of the enemy's cruisers.

Saturday, 3 A. M., saw four sail from the mast head (square rigged vessels) standing north, to appearance all merchant vessels. At 9 A. M., finding that no one of them shew a disposition to chase us, we made sail in chase of them —at 4 P. M., saw their hulls from the deck, and that one of them was a man-of-war brig, and another a large ship—gave up the chase.

Sunday, 8 A. M., wind S. S. E., and weather overcast, saw a vessel from the mast head, bearing south, standing towards us—at half past 8 saw her topsails from the deck, when she hauled her wind to the eastward and made all sail on a wind,—hauled our wind and made sail in chase, supposing her to be a ship which belonged to the convoy we chased on Saturday. At 10 A. M., we had fore-reached on her one point, and weathered away on her so as to see the top of her bulwarks, but the weather growing thick, could not discover her character otherwise than by her maneuvres,—we therefore kept on to the eastward until a quarter past 10 A. M., and finding that she still kept on to the westward, concluded that she was not a vessel of war,—tacked, and continued the chase.

At noon the weather grew very thick, with rain—lost sight of the chase—kept off one point, and set the squaresail, to prevent the chase from escaping by bearing off before the wind,—at quarter past 3 P. M., saw the chase half a point on our weather bow, and found that we were nearing him very fast,—at 25 minutes past 3, discovered that the chase was standing towards us, in squaresail, —hauled on a wind, and tacked, when our antagonist showed an English red ensign, hauled up his courses, and made a signal to us,—from this maneuvre, and his large appearance, we supposed him to be a large transport or troop ship preparing to fight us; we therefore prepared for action and shew our colors, at the same time keeping under full sail as a precaution, lest we should be deceived in the appearance of the vessel, though no guns were in sight; our antagonist then boarded his tacks and fired a shot at us,—we sprung a luff to bring our guns to bear on him, but could not succeed without heaving our topsail aback,—kept our luffs springing that he might forereach to the range of our guns,—fired one gun across his bow, when we received several shot from him,—kept away a good full in order to forereach on him to get the weather gage, when a shot cut our gib hanlyards; being then within musket-shot, we discovered to our surprise that the vessel we were going to engage was a ship of the line,—and having our gib hanlyards shot away, we bore off and set the squaresail by the yardropes, the hanlyards being shot away; got off before the wind, when our antagonist opened a heavy fire of cannon and musketry, and a shower of grape cut away our main hanlyards. This rendering fruitless all further attempts to escape, our sails soon being becalmed by those of the enemy, we were compelled to surrender to H. B. ship of the line Bulwark, Admiral Milne, commander. We had no one hurt on board.

[Letters from Capt. Brown mention that the Harlequin was a remarkably fast sailer.]

There was a common report here, (before the above letter was received,) that the Harlequin surrendered without any firing from the 74,—only at the sight of her ports. But the letter disproves it.

We have been told, recently, on what seems good authority, that Capt. Brown, on Saturday night, suspected the 74 might be a man-of-war, and so was cautious; but some of the crew were impatient, and after dark a voice came from the masthead, asking, "Who's a coward?" — Answer from deck, "Old Brown." Next day, when fairly caught, it is said he repeated the dialogue.

It is said, also, on the same authority, that the commander of the 74, on Saturday, seeing how the Harlequin was managed, charged his officers not to show a gun, nor to have many men in sight; and to make every apparent effort to get away. And after dark he had a boat filled with combustibles, set on fire and turned adrift;—and then altered his ship's course, as if he wished to escape. This stratagem was successful:—and one of the shot from the 74 cut off the main-peak tie of the Harlequin, which diminished her speed,—and aided in her capture.

A CRUEL HOAX.—Some wretch telegraphed from London, on Wednesday, that the missing steamer City of Boston had arrived. It was then contradicted and re-affirmed, but a later dispatch denies the truth of the report. A reward of $500 is offered for the detection of the wretch who concocted the cruel lie. At Boston, Gilmore's Band appeared on State Street and played several tunes of rejoicing, and when the report proved to be false, the Band played dirges. The thousands of friends who had acquaintance and relatives aboard the missing steamer, had their hopes raised to be speedily dashed to the ground.

☞ The U. S. S. Alaska, Capt. Blake, is to sail from New York for Cape Town to-day, if good weather.

☞ Rev. C. C. Shackford has recently delivered lectures on Shakespeare's Hamlet, in Boston, to critical acceptance.

—Senator Patterson spoke at a meeting in the interest of the American Tract Society, held in Washington, Sunday evening.

New Publications Received.

The Battle of the Books, recorded by an Unknown Writer—edited and published by Gall Hamilton. This is a volume of 288 pages, elegantly printed at the Riverside Press, and handsomely bound (our copy of it) in green. The author is not green;—but we found the book rather hard and dry reading. Her talent, wit, coarseness, are apparent in the battle,—but the book, being intended for satire on her former publishers, can have only a limited and temporary interest.

I'm Waiting, my Darling, for Thee, and Under the Snow, are two Songs, both composed by Geo. T. Evans, and published by M. Gray, San Fran., Cal.

Blackwood's Magazine for February, (American reprint,) has an article on Democracy beyond the seas, in which the review, like some persons in this country, seems much afraid of democratic despotism. There is also a bitter article against the Calumniators of Lord Bryon, viz., Mrs. Stowe and (we suppose) Lady Bryon. Calumny (?) against such a man!

AN EMINENT DIVINE SAYS, "I have been using the Peruvian Syrup. It gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, elasticity of muscle." J. P. Time tests the Merits of all Things.

☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

Has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to Americans. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the missionary and the traveler, on sea and land, and no one should travel on our Lakes or Rivers without it.

It is a speedy and safe remedy for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, wounds and various other injuries, as well as for dysentery, diarrhœa, and bowel complaints generally, and is admirably suited for every race of men on the face of the globe.

Be sure you call for and get the genuine Pain Killer, as many worthless nostrums are attempted to be sold on the great reputation of this valuable medicine.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle. 1mdawmh16

Holloway's Pills as a Spring Medicine.—The moist and tepid air of Spring engenders a variety of diseases. Dyspeptics and persons of bilious habit are always unpleasantly affected by it. They feel depressed, debilitated, sluggish and lethargic. A single dose of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS will often work a complete and salutary change in their condition—toning the stomach, regulating the liver, bracing the nerves, and invigorating the whole animal machinery. If the first dose does not suffice, a second or third will always produce the desired effect. Sold by all Druggists. mh17

Occupational Ailments.

Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanatives and barks and herbs. The pharmacopœia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters, nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among official or advertised medicines.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautifully black or brown. What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung disease in use."

ISAAC A. DOBAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says; "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

NATHANIEL HARRIS, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says; I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs.

Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about

☞ Mr. Trafton's Promenade concert is postponed until after his sixth Bal Masque, which takes place next Tuesday evening. Tickets are for sale at No. 45 Congress Street.

NAVY YARD MATTERS.—One Pattern Maker, 10 Boiler Makers, 11 Machinists, 1 Painter, 22 Laborers. 1 Moulder and 4 Blacksmiths were discharged from Bureau of Steam Engineering on Thursday; and 122 workmen in Bureau of Construction.

☞ Mr. John Lydston, of this city, who was one of the passengers wrecked in the Golden City, has arrived home from Panama. He reports that although all the passengers got ashore, twenty of them are still missing and have probably died of thirst on the march. They had plenty to eat, but hard-tack could hardly be swallowed, so parched were their throats.

☞ The storm of Wednesday night was very severe from the southeast, and the snow and sleet left good sleighing on Thursday morning, which the sun and warmth soon began to dissipate. The tide was unusually high at noon of Thursday, overflowing many of the lower wharves. A shoals boat which left this city Wednesday afternoon, was obliged to put back here.

☞ Admiral Ellms of the Haytien Navy, formerly of this city, was supposed to have been lost in the iron-clad Atlanta. Mrs. Ellms sailed with her husband, and it was thought that both had been drowned. The New York Herald, however, states that it appears that a short time after the execution of Salnave, the Atlanta, under the name of the Triumpho, arrived off the harbor of Port au Prince, but the officer in charge hearing that the purchaser had been executed and no one came to claim the vessel, departed and rendezvoused around the Bahamas or some of the West Indian Archipelogo, and consequently, it would be very difficult to hear from her. She is believed to be all right, and no doubt by this time negotiations for her purchase have been entered into by Saget, the successor of the unhappy Salnave. There need therefore be no anxiety regarding her, as she now probably is safely riding at anchor in some snug West Indian harbor.

☞ Mr. Edward E. Bradbury, who was in charge of the boat which rescued the three persons from drowning on Wednesday afternoon, when their overloaded boat swamped in attempting to cross the Piscataqua, is a Mate on board the Vandalia,—and the son, we are informed, of a former Boston editor; he has an honorable war record, and wears an empty sleeve,—a trophy which he won in the national service during the rebellion.—When the boat which afterwards sunk was starting on her unlucky trip, Mr. Bradbury remarked to another officer that she would fill before getting across, and that he meant to follow her, and stand by to pick up her passengers,—which he did. It was fortunate for the wet trio that Mr. B. had such forethought, or their accident might have terminated far more seriously than it did.

☞ The Washington Chronicle is giving brief biographies of the brave Naval Officers buried in the Oneida,—from which we learn that Paymaster Tullock was born in 1844, in New York city, where his parents were temporarily residing; and attended school at Portsmouth, Concord, the N. H. Conf. Seminary, and Phillips Exeter Academy, at all of which he was a good student. He designed to study law, but war changed his desire, and after serving as clerk in the office of his father as Navy Agent, he was appointed Act. Asst. Paymaster in 1863, and has been on duty almost incessantly ever since. He was appointed Asst. Paymaster in the regular Navy in 1866, and confirmed a full Paymaster by the Senate, Mch. 3, 1869. He shrank from no exposure, and never shirked duty. During his brief periods of relief from on shipboard, he acted as Judge Advocate of Naval Courts Martial at Norfolk and Philadelphia, to great satisfaction. He died bravely, as did all that noble band. Honored be their memory.

New Hampshire Items.

It is reported that a lady in a town in this State, who carries on a farm and is a capital financier, recently wrote a letter to a friend containing the following paragraph: "That last snow storm was an awful one, and Mr. Jones, who has been preaching here, got snowed in at our house for five days. He's a very hearty eater, but you'd better believe we kept him praying while he staid."

In Newmarket, about two weeks since a juggler came to town and gave notice that he would do wonders. One was that the spirit of a departed soldier, who went to the war, from Exeter, and died on the battle-field, would sing through him, and would also play on a melodeon and E flat cornet, while he would be tied hand and foot in his cabinet; but his tricks were exposed and he took a French leave, and giving the janitor of the hall leg bail for his trouble of lighting and warming,

Mr. Frank R. Farnsworth, of Lyme, who was attacked and fearfully wounded by an immense boar on the 1st inst., died on the 7th in great agony.

A correspondent of the Lake Village Times, writing from Bartlett, says the average depth of the snow there is five or six feet, and in some places it is piled up ten or fifteen feet, the roads and fences being entirely obliterated. "Snow shoeing" is at present the ordinary method of travel. So deep is the snow that at a funeral the other day, it was found to be three feet above most of the gravestones, and the coffin was drawn to the grave on a hand sled, so impracticable was it to make a carriage road.

Isaiah Berry, one of the wealthiest and most intelligent farmers in Pittsfield, sixty-seven years old, took his first ride in the cars last week.

On the question of the division of the county, Cheshire county cast 76 yeas and 2632 nays. There were 469 yeas and 1179 nays on the Constitutional Convention vote, according to the Republican.

Joshua Merrill of Holderness, a farmer of sixty years of age, dropped dead in his barn, on the 11th, from heart disease.

☞ The Dover Daily Bee is a penny paper, less than half the size of the Chronicle, and is starting on a very quiet and modest scale—we think altogether too quiet. It is printed in the afternoon, like every other Daily in the State except the Chronicle. Printers are not fond of issuing morning papers if they can help it; but for our part, we wouldn't give a snap for an evening issue, especially in the country. With the Enquirer, Gazette, Star, the new Local Record, and now the Daily Bee,—Dover is getting to be as full of papers as Portsmouth has usually been. Strange to say, Newburyport has but one, the staunch old Herald, a morning Daily and Semi-Weekly.

For the Chronicle.

PROBLEM.—Suppose the inhabitants of a certain town wish to choose six Selectmen. There are two parties nearly equally divided. The first party select as their regular candidates, A B C D E and F. The second party select, G H I J K and L, for their candidates. For the sake of simplicity, let there be but 21 legal voters in the town. Each ballot shall contain six and only six names on it. In order for any candidate to be elected his name must be on eleven different ballots. With these conditions, how many of the 12 candidates is it possible to choose? Z.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can be hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 237 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."

2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."

3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.

P.S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawlm

THE TOMATO, AND ITS CULTURE.

This fruit, long known as "the love apple," and said to have come from the far south, has rapidly gained favor wherever grown. It is susceptible of great improvement, though it has generally received less attention than most garden vegetables. While under careful culture they have been long in reaching their present state, the tomato has been a comparatively short time under culture, and yet, nature has done so much for it that it already holds high rank! among our finest fruits of the garden. Many medical men claim for it valuable hygienic qualities, and the human system—that most perfect of all laboratories—has confirmed the decision. It is delicately acid, cooling and healthful.

Since this fruit must be brought to perfection, why grow coarse, insipidly, spongy, ill-flavored tomatoes, when by attending to a few simple but important things, the finest qualities may be had?

The temptation of growers for market, to sell the earliest at a large price is so great, that little seed is saved except from those maturing later; doubtless under the impression that the seed is just as good. But this is a great mistake. The seed from the fruit which ripens earliest any season will be the earliest and best the next year. There is no doubt that the tomato has been vastly improved by careful culture (and can be still further) in the desirable qualities of earliness, productiveness, size, solidity, fewness of seeds, beauty of form, thinness of skin, delicacy of flavor and richness of color.

1st. Plants should be grown in warm, light, rich soil, from the seeds of the earliest ripened fruit having most, if not all valuable qualities mentioned.

2d. They should be grown early.

For family use, the plants may be started in a little box in a warm room; and for field culture in a hot-bed or green house. In quite a small box all the plants any family need may be grown. A few plants well cared for will be worth a great deal more than a large number ill-grown, such as we so often see crowded to suffocation and death in dealer's hot-beds. Such long weakly things can have no value. The little box need be no more than two feet long, a foot wide and a few inches deep, covered with glass to counteract the dryness of the atmosphere of the room. Put the box in the sunshine, keep the room warm and carefully ventilated. Do not be in too great haste to germinate the seeds; but once started, see that the plants get no check from want of care.

When the plants are two or three inches high they may be put into small pots to be afterward transplanted into larger ones, or into a hot-bed. The transplanting of them at least twice, or even three or four times before putting them in the open groude, (which should not be done till all appearance of frost has gone, unless they are protected when necessary,) will hasten early ripening. Each time, before transplanting, the soil should be well watered so that a ball of earth may be removed with each plant, and this is particularly desirable when they are being put in the open ground and thus their growth will not be checked.

During all this time let them have all the light and fresh air that they can stand; use mild days, but beware of cold and frost. A uniform warm temperature is desirable, but not so hot as to make the plants grow too tall and sickly. If convenient, the plants, some time before being set in the open ground, may be put into a cold frame protecting them at first as much as may be necessary.

If the above plan be followed faithfully you will have an abundance of fine healthy plants, when everybody else is scouring the country for what is not always to be found—good tomato plants.

Once in the open ground they will delight and flourish in a rather light than heavy, and rich, but not overrich, soil, and if on the southeastern exposure of a hill side, where they will be protected from the cold winds, and enjoy the sunshine, all the better.

They should not be less than four feet apart. Keep the soil friable. Let no weeds grow. Hoe early and often, and they cannot take possession of the soil.

For a late crop the seed may be sown in the open ground in spring. When planted in their place, they will bear till the frost comes, and longer if protected.

As the greater part of the fruit on the tomato vine is borne near the ground it will be found that the shortening of the vines will cause nutrition to flow to fruit instead of making branches. Don't be afraid to cut out all suckers and non-bearing branches, and to short en those that wander. The writer knows that the advantages of pruning are questioned by some, but he has learned by experience, whatever may be the rationale of the matter, the results are in favor of rather severe pruning.

The fruit may be kept clean and prevented from premature decay by spreading brush, salt hay, or other such material under the vines, or by training them. But if the soil be light and dry, this will not be necessary, especially for a general crop. In garden culture, if it be thought best to train the vines, a simple way is to set poles twelve feet apart, the tops five feet high. Attach wires horizontally to them, which will form a cheap trellis for the vines, thus exposing them to the free action of the sun and air. The flavor of the fruit thus grown will be finer than that ripened on the ground.

A great deal might be said on varieties; but after having tried the most popular ones the writer now grows "Lester's Perfected Tomato" in preference to all others. Though not one of the newest varieties claiming attention—having been favorably known for some years—but as many mixed and spurious seeds have been grown and sold under this name, which misrepresent the fruit and the gentleman who introduced it, the writer has taken pains to secure the genuine seed. He grows "Lester's Perfected Tomato," first, because he thinks it the best, and second, because he farms for profit as well as for pleasure.

Pains have been taken by the writer to grow what he considers the best variety of tomato, and as he feels that he can sell many times the quantity of seeds on hand, (at 25 cts. the paper) he has nothing to gain by endeavoring to give undue prominence to the variety spoken of. Those, however, who may differ with him on the subject of varieties will, it is hoped, not find the other portion of his article unworthy of attention. J. PAYNE LOWE, P. O. Box 3242, New York.

"STEEPLE JACKS" are workmen who, by an ingenious device, ascend to the side or to the top of a high chimney or tall steeple, without building staging from the ground or roof. The London Builder narrates, that some of the factory chimneys at New-Swindon having got out of repair, the company resolved to employ a "Steeple Jack," who accordingly made his appearance at New-Swindon and set to work. His plan of proceeding was to fly an Indian kite, with two strings attached. The kite rises nearly in a perpendicular direction, and when above the chimney-top is guided over it. The second string is then pulled, and thus a complete communication is formed over the chimney.

By means of the string, a double copper wire is drawn up, and by this wire some pulleys and tackling. "Steeple Jack" then ascends, hand over hand, and places an iron band around the chimney, which he secures tightly. Planks are then drawn up and laid upon iron projecting from the band; and thus in a short time a scaffolding sufficient for his purpose is erected, at a cost very much less than that of a regular builder's. "Jack" had two or three assistants, and managed in his aerial manner, to pull down one of the factory chimneys, which had become so badly out of repair as to require rebuilding. This scaffolding looks, at a distance, like a huge India rubber band around the chimney, with ropes depending from it.

An exciting occurrence displaying great intrepidity, and involving the utmost peril to the person concerned, took place lately at Milbank Chemical Works, Garngad road, Glasgow. Messrs. Burns & Son, of Ayr, who have been employed at similar duty at Townhead and other establishments, had been engaged to paint a stack at the works mentioned, measuring 260 feet in height. The preliminary process of flying the kite was gone through no fewer than fifteen times. But on each occasion it failed, in consequence of the string being burnt through by the gas and flames emitted from the stack.

About an hour and twenty minutes were spent in these fruitless endeavors, when Mr. Burns, resolving that, whatever personal risk might be incurred, the object must be accomplished, determined for this purpose to ascend the stack himself. Accordingly, in spite of the remonstrances of his son, he proceeded to mount by the aid of the conducting-rod. But no sooner had he got safely at the top than the rope was again burnt through, and he was left hanging by the hands. Not a moment was to be lost. The son flew the kite in about five minutes afterward; and having succeeded in once more fixing the rope, the father was got down. He was, however, in an extremely exhausted condition; and notwithstanding the leathern gloves he wore, he was much burned about the hands, while his left side was considerably scorched.

POPPING THE QUESTION.—"Why don't you get married?" said a bouncing girl, with a laughing eye, to a smooth faced, innocent looking youth.

"Well I—" said the youth, stopping short with a gasp, and fixing his eyes on vacancy with a puzzled and foolish expression.

"Well, go on," said the fair cross-questioner, inclining, almost imperceptibly, nearer to the young man. "Now just tell me right out—you what?"

"Why, I—pshaw, I don't know."

"You do know, I say you do; now come, John, I want to know."

"Oh, I can't tell you."

"I say you can. Why, you know I'll never mention it; and you may tell me, of course, you know, for haven't I always been your friend?"

"Well, you have, I know," replied the poor bolesguered youth.

"And I'm sure I always thought you liked me," went on the maiden, in tender and mellow accents.

"Oh, I do, upon my word; yes, indeed I do, Maria," said the unsophisticated youth, very warmly; and he found that Maria had unconsciously placed her hand in his open palm.

Then there was silence.

—The finding of insects in a black knot in the plum tree, no more proves them to be the cause of it, than finding rats in a corn-crib, proves that they are the origin of the corn. It is well settled that the black knot is caused by a fungus. The remedy is, cutting them out with a knife when first forming.

—A cadaverous old horse that was awaiting his fate at the hand of some New York soap-fat boiler, broke away from his stable recently, and, crushing open the door of a neighboring tenement, pensively walked up three flights of stairs, where he poked his head out of a window and took a long and contented gaze at the scenery.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color. A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and efficacious for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume. Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., PRACTICAL AND ANALYTICAL CHEMISTS, LOWELL, MASS., PRICE ONE DOLLAR. Sold by WM. R. PRESTON, and all Druggists in Portsmouth and everywhere. f12d&w1y

A HUMBUG. How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right. It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me. But I know my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my valuable Liniment, who had refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash. I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, Cramp and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c. Price 50 cts. Sold by the Druggists, Depot 10 Park Place, N. Y. ja13dawlm

THE TWO WORKERS.

Two workers in one field
Toiled on from day to day,
Both had the same hard labor,
Both had the same small pay;
With the same blue sky above,
The same green grass below,
One soul was full of love,
The other full of woe.

One leaped up with the light,
With the soaring of the lark.
One felt it ever night,
For his soul was ever dark.
One heart was hard as stone,
One heart was ever gay;
One worked with many a groan,
One whistled all the day.

One had a flower-clad cot,
Besides a merry mill,
Wife and children near the spot
Made it sweeter, fairer still;
One a wretched hovel had,
Full of discord, dirt and din,
No wonder he seemed mad,
Wife and children starved within.

Still they worked in the same field,
Toiled on from day to day,
Both had the same hard labor,
Both had the same small pay;
But they worked not with one will,
The reason let me tell—
Lo! the one drank at the still,
And the other at the well.

☞ Gov. Claflin of Massachusetts is a thorough going temperance man, (teetotaller,) in deed as well as word; and although a gentleman of great wealth, and living in fine style, and showing much public hospitality, yet places no wine or liquors before his guests. At a recent elegant party of a dozen gentlemen or so, consisting of his Council and other State dignitaries, and friends, at his residence in Walnut Street, Boston, —although the table was loaded with every luxury for about a dozen courses, no wine or strong drink was provided.

And at his Reception on Wednesday evening, which was attended by hundreds of leading citizens of Massachusetts and some from other States, (including Gov. Stearns and ex-Gov. Harriman of New Hampshire,) another elegant and costly repast was served, on temperance principles. The Governor is no lover of tobacco either, but he does provide cigars for his company.

The last two Governors of New Hampshire, Smyth and Harriman, were also uncommonly free from the vicious habits of tobacco and rum,—as is also the present incumbent, so far as we know. But the previous chief magistrates to those named, both of this State and Massachusetts, Gilmore and Andrews we never doubted, both shortened their lives and impaired their usefulness by intemperate eating and drinking.

STIMULANTS IN MILK FEVER.—The publication of the alcoholic cure of cows suffering under this terrible and hitherto fatal complaint, has brought forth a great deal of discussion in the England agricultural papers. The veterinarians feel aggrieved that the old treatment is found fault with, and the cow-feeders come out strong with the actual results of their alcoholic treatment. Several London cow-keepers have appeared in print, and state that their universal practice in such cases is to administer large and continuous doses of spirit, and with good success. Indeed, some go further, and declare that spirit is an almost certain cure for pleuro-pneumonia as well as milk fever. Now, the best phase of the cure seems that it can be tried at any time while life continues in the animal. This being the case, it will, no doubt, be extensively adopted. There is no difficulty, unfortunately, in getting any amount of whiskey in any part of the province, and it certainly is a much better use for it to apply to sick animals, than to brutalize the animal's master or owner.—Canada Farmer.

A CARD.—We have just published a new series of anti-tobacco Tracts, entitled "What Scientific Men say about Tobacco." Many persons wishing to do good, would gladly spread these productions over the nation, but they are too poor to pay for them.—Hence we beg all such friends, to understand, that if they will send a little postage money in their orders, the tracts they shall have, "without money, and without price," so long as "the cruse of oil" does not fail. GEO. TRASK, Fitchburg, Mass., March 1870.

—Another case of spontaneous combustion is reported by L'Union Medicale, in an article from the pen of Dr. Bertholle. The subject of it was a woman thirty-seven years old, who was addicted to alcoholic drinks. She was found in her room with the viscera and some of the limbs consumed, the hair and clothes having escaped. The very minute description of the state in which the deceased was found shows that ignition could not have been communicated from without.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the effect of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and delicate constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, mucoid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It is also best recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. B. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.

About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without Buchu in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.

Very respectfully yours, &c.,
ECCLES & HINKLE, Druggists.

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.

H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,

DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.

Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.

Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting more eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from agravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered excessively for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.

At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such noticeable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,
D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:

Mr. H. T. Helmbold.

DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used solid bulk of your Fluid Extract for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.

I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.

I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.

Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.
August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.

Mr. H. T. Helmbold,

DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Inclosed please find our rate of advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

Dr. Helmbold, BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.

DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know exactly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquored medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.

I thought it soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it through and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me so much? Well, I began taking it, and before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I walked it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had made up my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.

On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" was doing its work, although I was feeling so bad. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that has passed, which is eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone secured wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.

I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Bristol, also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wishes to see this wonder, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD L. HOWARD,

N. Y. S. VOL. INSTITUTE,
Corner of 5th av. and 76th st., Central Park,
(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)

Dr. H. T. Helmbold,

Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu presented to the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant Jr. A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamberman who has charge of the dormitory.

I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a little sufferer from the ills of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more than wakeness than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) most unjustly inflicted upon them. Speaking for one on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,

COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.

H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.

DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.

Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.

I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no Remedies hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you advertised that it was composed of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me that it was a safe combination, and advised its use, and with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.

From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and therefore concluded to defer, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.

I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.

Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

PLANTATION BITTERS.
S. T. — 1860 — X.
This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid, it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. For sale by all druggists.

Cut and Made.

A negro judge in Alabama, when his first case came on and everything was ready, was told by a lawyer that he had neglected to charge the jury. He rose up, put on his spectacles, and said: "Gemmen of de jury, I charge you half a dollar apiece, and you must pay it before de case goes on."

St. Patrick's Day was generally celebrated in the large cities, by processions and speeches.

Mr. Dale, agent of the Inman Steamship Line, is still confident that the City of Boston is safe, and that the news from her will be received from some quarter before many days. The steamships which have arrived during the past week all report heavy fields of ice in low latitudes, the steamship Nebraska meeting it in lat. 44 deg. A propeller could easily be broken in attempting to force a vessel through these fields of drifting ice, and it is not improbable that an accident of this kind has happened to both the City of Boston and the Samaria.

ANECDOTES OF WEBSTER.—A gentleman who was employed in a store in this city when Daniel Webster lived here, tells us an incident or two worth relating. Webster's habits evyn then indicated looseness and carelessness of small things, especially financial matters. He was remiss in collecting and paying, for himself or others. On one occasion, a man had left with him a lot of bills to collect for an estate; and after repeatedly urging either their payment or the return of the bills, suit was threatened. This was deprecated by Mr. Webster, who after some parley, and the administrator stating that he more than half suspected the money had been collected and was in the office now, Mr. W. said he did not know anything about it, but bade the importunate gent search—and sure enough, in various coats and hats, hanging and lying around, he found all the bills paid, with the requisite amount of money wrapped in a memorandum of each; and after getting all he wanted, passed quite an amount over to Mr. Webster.

The great Daniel was as liberal as he was careless. One day a gentleman was visiting at his house, and together they walked down to market to get something for dinner, for which purpose Mrs. Webster handed her husband a bank bill, which he thrust into his vest pocket and walked off. On the way they met a petitioner for alms, and Daniel pulled out his market money, handed it to the applicant, and passed on; and when he had made his selection at the butcher's, found he had no money, and turned to his friend accompanying, and borrowed the amount of him—which of course he never repaid, and thus obliged his guest to pay for his own dinner.

TROTTING RULES. — I once saw a Grand Horse Trot at the Piscataqua Agricultural Society's Fair,—the first trotting match I ever witnessed,—and tho' the grounds were beautiful, the day fine, the attendance large, the animals elegant and swift, and the racing spirited, I left the Fair Grounds a disappointed man. I had seen many English running races, some of them for large prizes, where forty of fifty horses would start together,—yet this trotting race would have pleased me much more than any running match I had ever seen, but for one thing—the yelling of the drivers, which was simply infernal.

Five horses started in this race, but two of them, a red and a grey one, quickly left the others astern, the red leading by half a ship's length. Soon, however, the grey began to lessen the distance between himself and the leader, gradually gathering on him until his head was about abeam of the red horse's driver; when that gentleman, apparently smitten with terror lest he should "lose the heat," leaned over in his cockle-shell of a go-cart as far as he could without tumbling out altogether, so that his face was within about six feet of the grey horse's ear, and poured forth the anguish of his soul in an unearthly howl of mortal agony—"Hi-i-e-yah!-oo-o-oy!"

The astounded grey horse bounded into the air as though a powder magazine had exploded beneath him, landed on his hinder hoofs when he came down, and danced about, pawing the air as though he would fain soar far above a world where such hideous noises were tolerated. The red horse's driver, shocked at the effect of his first yell, yelled again, twice as loud as the first time, and then calmly trotted his horse in, the winner of the heat.

But the red horse's driver was not the only one to yell—each of the others did his share at it. I was at a loss to understand the reason of so much noise, and asked a gentleman, "What were those fellows bellowing so for? Are they all drunk?" He smiled at my innocent simplicity, and replied, "O, that is only a trick of the trade—they were trying to 'break' each other's horses." I fear that I must at that time have been classed among those whose petitions are not heard; for though I fervently wished that each individual howler might "break" his own neck instead of his neighbor's horse, I am sorry to say that they unfortunately all left the race-course alive:—that was where my disappointment came in.

Now, there is to be no more of that hideous noise among drivers; the Trotting Association has decided against it; and if their decision is sustained and enforced, in this particular, it will do more to popularize horse-trotting than almost any other one rule that could be made. Perhaps regular horse men considered it all right; but the great mass of spectators at races are not regular horse men,—and had rather see one race fairly contested, than fifty won by trickery and jockeying. The selling of races, or foul driving, they might know little about; but the shrieks of the drivers were plain to the most limited hearing, and the whole noisy performance thoroughly disgusting to nine of every ten spectators, at almost any race. If the new Trotting Rules force drivers to pay less attention to other men's horses, and to moderate their vocal transports, the people will enjoy races very much better than they have, whatever the jockeys may think about it. PAKEHA.

CONGRESS.—In the House, on Thursday, the resolution expelling R. R. Butler of Tennessee for receiving $1000 for the appointment of a cadet, outside his district, was defeated, 101 voting for expulsion and 68 against, a two-thirds' vote being necessary. Mr. Ela of N. H. voted nay; Mr. Lynch of Maine voted yes. The House refused to entertain a motion that he be requested to resign, and then passed a vote of censure, unanimously.

☞ One of the would be robbers of the South Berwick Bank, it appears, boarded for several days at the hotel in that town, and the other stayed in this city. The landlord at So. Berwick had begun to doubt the fellow there. The case was very well managed, and came very near being successful; for the villains entered the bank and got well up to the counter, before the watchman sleeping there awoke and put his foot on a spring which started an alarm bell outside, and alarmed the neighbors. A pity he hadn't been able to shoot them both down. Strangers (or citizens, as to that matter,) without visible occupation or visible means of support, may well be doubted and watched.

THE ELECTION.—The Concord Statesman, as usual, has the latest returns, complete and accurate. It gives Gov. Stearns 34,852, Bedel 25,057, Flint 7325, Barrows and scattering 1161. Stearns' majority, 1264. No returns from Wentworth's Location, which gave Bedel 13 votes, last year.

The town of Hudson returns 32 votes for Onslow Stearns, which, being only the dropping or obscurity of the letter r, are manifestly not scattering, but by all precedent, will be counted for Onslow Stearns. This would make a difference of 64.

326 members are elected to the House —200 Republicans and 126 Democrats. Republican majority, 74. Eight towns, entitled to 14 representatives, have failed to elect this year. They were represented in the House last year by 7 Republicans and 7 Democrats. A full House should have numbered 340 members.

The Republicans elect their officers in all the counties except Carroll, Grafton and Coos, and the registers in Rockingham and Belknap.

The Councilors elect are;— Moses Humphrey, in Dist. No. 1; Daniel Barnard in No. 3; and Samuel W. Hale in No. 4. In No. 2 there is no choice. Ezra Gould, the Republican candidate, fails, by 36 votes of a majority over all. In No. 5, Nathan H. Weeks, Democrat, is elected by about 400 majority.

The following are returns of the votes for Senators.

PAIN KILLER. Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors, 1840. PROVIDENCE, R. I. 1870.

Time tests the Merits of all Things. ☞ FOR THIRTY YEARS! ☜ PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

Has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to Americans. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the missionary and the traveler, on sea and land, and no one should travel on our LAKES or RIVERS without it.

It is a speedy and safe remedy for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, wounds and various other injuries, as well as for dysentery, diarrhœa, and bowel complaints generally, and is admirably suited for every race of men on the face of the globe.

Be sure you call for and get the genuine Pain Killer, as many worthless nostrums are attempted to be sold on the great reputation of this valuable medicine.

☞ Directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle. 1mdawmh16

Holloway's Pills as a Spring Medicine.—The moist and tepid air of Spring engenders a variety of diseases. Dyspeptics and persons of bilious habit are always unpleasantly affected by it. They feel depressed, debilitated, sluggish and lethargic. A single dose of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS will often work a complete and salutary change in their condition—toning the stomach, regulating the liver, bracing the nerves, and invigorating the whole animal machinery. If the first dose does not suffice, a second or third will always produce the desired effect. Sold by all Druggists. mh17

For Moth Patches, Freckles and Tan, USE "PERRY'S MOTH & FRECKLE LOTION." The only Reliable and Harmless Remedy known to Science for removing brown discolorations from the Face. Prepared only by Dr. B. C. PERRY, 49 Bond St., N. Y. Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Pimples on the Face. For Comedones, Black-Heads, Flesh Worms or Grubs, Pimply Eruptions and Blotched Disfigurations on the Face, use Perry's Comedone and Pimple Remedy. Reliable, Harmless, and contains no Lead poison. Depot, 49 Bond St., N. Y. Sold by all Druggists everywhere. 4mdawmh10

Occupational Ailments. Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanatous roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopœia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters, nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurant and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among official or advertised medicines.

Batchelor's Hair Dye. This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautifully black or brown. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory 6 Bond Street, New York.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS. Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chemistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen PROF. CHILTON'S TESTIMONY. Founded on a careful analysis, and certifying that Cristadoro's Excelsior Hair Dye is not only a first-class article for changing the color of the hair, but ABSOLUTELY SAFE. CRISTADORO'S HAIR PRESERVATION, as a Dressing, acts like a charm on the Hair after Dyeing. TRY IT. ja13dawlm

CURE FOR CONSUMPTION. What the Doctors Say: AMOS WCOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I do not hesitate there is no better medicine for lung disease in use." ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known." NATHANIEL ALLEN, M. D., of Middlebury, Vermont, says: I have no doubt it will soon become a classical remedial agent for the cure of all diseases of the Throat, Bronchial Tubes and the Lungs. Physicians do not recommend a medicine which has no merits, what they say about ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM, Can be taken as a fact. Let all afflicted test it at once. ANOTHER BOUNTY CLAIM ADJUSTED. The State of New Hampshire has received through Naval Paymaster Putnam, at this Station, the sum of $7643.-46, Government Bounty for men transferred from New Hampshire Regiments to the Naval service during the rebellion, these Bounties having been advanced by the State. A part of this sum, about $1000, belongs to Portsmouth.

☞ The very able and logical Address on Amusements, delivered by Rev. Mr. DeNormandie, which we published in the Chronicle on Wednesday, has attracted a good deal of attention, and meets with general approval. So great was the demand for extra copies of the paper containing it, that our edition of the Chronicle was soon exhausted; and we could only promise disappointed applicants copies of the Gazette next week containing it.

ALDERMEN.—Thursday evening, the Com. on Claims reported on Dr. Dearborn's bill for attendance on Miss Amazeen in small pox, that be be paid $30 in full for the bill of $50. Adopted.

The Com. on Fire Dept. were requested to report the cost of three Fire Extinguishers for the City—and given a week further to report on the re-organization of the Fire Dept.

The reports of the Coms. on the location for School-house, the exchange of City Bonds, and the road case of Wm. Hammond, were deferred for a week.

☞ James Young, a marine, serving on board the Receiving Ship Vandalia, was arrested, Friday afternoon, on a warrant issued by three women, who all claim to be his legal wives. James, who by the way is a disciple of Brigham Young, has just concluded his honeymoon with a fourth wife, but as the laws of New Hampshire forbid a person from having more than one female attached to him, Young will of course remain in durance vile until the case is properly tested. As his funds are inadequate to carry on the defence, will not some of his friends telegraph to the Chief at Salt Lake and through him obtain the necessary means!

OLD SIGNS AND OLD TIMES.—There has been a hotel called Piscataqua House, in this city, for many years,—in different establishments, at different times. The first, at least of late years, was the change from the old title of the old Farmers' Hotel, on Pleasant Street, by Gen. Josiah G. Hadley, who was engaged in the hotel business here from 1829 up to a very recent date, with good success and to general satisfaction. Col. Wm. S. Hadley has also been interested in various hotels, and was always a skillful and successful caterer. Only a couple of years ago or so, the Messrs. Hadley owned or were keeping four of the principal hotels in the city; now we believe they are entirely clear of the business—Col. Hadley having just taken down his sign of Piscataqua House, and now using the premises merely as a private residence.

We are not what the world calls old; but as we sat at our office window, which we have occupied for nearly eighteen years, and looking across the way, at the late hotel last referred to, saw that sign come down, various reminiscences rose up before us. Nearly 25 years ago, we set our first type in that building, in the chamber over what is now Mr. S. W. Moses' store. Mr. Samuel S. Fabyan was printing the Washingtonian, and that excellent printer, the late Daniel L. Huntress, was our instructor. Afterwards, Col. Hadley kept hotel, (the Granite House, we believe,) where Mr. Moses now keeps a grocery and we boarded with him,—and paid only $2.50 per week, and finally $4 for two of us, young men.

Still later, after Col. Hadley had exchanged, and moved his hotel business to the southerly half of the same building, Mr. Thomas Rand kept a boarding house above, and we roomed with Charley Rand, afterwards so gloriously famous in the California Vigilance Committee cases, (being put under bonds of a million dollars or more,) and who finally died for his country in the Rebellion.

Mr. C. Ingalls and his interesting family were also of that household—and advance information given us by him as clerk for the builders of the Dry Dock, enabled the late Mr. James Nowell, and other friends of freedom to secure the escape of a runaway slave who had secreted himself in a schooner load of lumber from the South, and who was taken from the vessel as she lay below, and run to Canada through this city. Alas, that so many of that little circle should so soon be gathered beneath the sod. Others of these Bald boys have since made their mark, and are still active and successful as hotel keepers—and one other has a good record in the war.

But long, long before all this, in boyhood's days—this same Mr. Thomas Rand kept the grocery in all the lower story of the building—and well do we remember buying goods of him; while in the basement, the same W. S. Hadley furnished victualling for the hungry multitude. How things have changed since that day! and what will another quarter of a century show? Who of us shall see? F.

Communication.

Messrs. Editors:—In the Chronicle of Thursday, I find mention made of the rescue from drowning, of three people, by Mr. Bradbury and a crew from the Vandalia. In this mention I think any thing but full justice was done Mr. B., and I beg leave to give the facts of the case now in details.

The wherry containing Mr. Pierce, Mr. Whittier and Mrs. Holcomb, put out from one of the wharves on the Portsmouth side a little before the Vandalia's boat arrived at the Navy Landing. She was so deeply laden with the three people, a cooking stove and other household implements, that Mr. Bradbury's quick seaman's eye discovered the danger, and he mentioned it to an other officer who was with him in the boat, saying that on his return to the Vandalia he would follow the wherry, and, if possible, save the people in it when the boat swamped. After making the landing he shoved off as quickly as possible, and going considerably out of his way, followed the wherry; and it was fortunate he did so, for when about midway of the river and but three or four boat lengths ahead of the Vandalia's boat, the wherry went down, leaving the woman and two men struggling in the water. The Vandalia's crew trailed their oars and Mr. B. put the boat alongside the strugglers, who were seized and hauled into the boat.

The saving of these people was not an accident, but due entirely to the forethought and good judgment of Mr. Bradbury. Had he not forseen their danger, and gone very much out of his way for the express purpose of saving them, they would unquestionably all have been drowned.

Mr. Bradbury is well known here, having been attached to the Vandalia since last May. He is from Boston, where he was born and educated; his father was the publisher and proprietor of the Boston Bee. Before the war he was in the merchant service, where he became proficient in his profession. He entered the naval service in February, 1862, since which time he has served in the Kensington, Morgan, Rhode Island, Miantonomah, Idaho, Shenandoah,—Vermont and Vandalia. He was one of the storming party in the battle of Fort Fisher, and also participated in the battles of Vicksburg, Sabine Pass, Tensas River, Alabama River and Mobile Bay, in the latter of which actions he lost his right arm. He was one of those selected to accompay Assistant Secretary Fox on his mission as bearer of a message from Congress to the Emperor of Russia. Mr. B. certainly deserves something more than a passing notice as a reward for his thoughtfulness and foresight on the occasion mentioned in your paper of the 17th. F. P.

☞ There have been 35 Presidents of the Mechanic Association in this city,—and Mr. Dame, the present incumbent, and one of the most efficient of all, is endeavoring to procure likenesses of as many of the list as practicable; and several have already been placed in the rooms of the Association.

☞ We are having more real Winter in March, than the regular appointed wintry months gave us. Thursday night's blocking storm left quite a burden of snow, much drifted; and for the 18th of the month, things did not look promising for an early Spring.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
February 15th, 1870.
The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD LOANS have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.
Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other.
The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.
Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.
Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.
The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.
Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.
Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.
The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.
The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or
The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or
The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.
The three classes will be known respectively as:
1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."
2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."
3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.
They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.
The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.
The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.
A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.
The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.
Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.
The present price is 90 and accrued interest.
A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be, at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.
Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.
P.S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.
☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawlm

Morning Chronicle.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

BOSTON, March 17.

It came at last—our long-expected snow storm—on Sunday. Perhaps you had an inkling of the fact before. Shortly after midnight on Saturday the storm began in earnest, and by daylight had grown in violence so that it had things pretty much its own way. Through the day the streets as well as the churches were almost deserted, and the chief signs of life were the whistles of the engines on the different railroads, as they strove to keep those avenues clear for travel, and the snow plows struggling to keep our street railroads open. All night long, with six horses and a dozen men to each, the plows on the horse railroads were hard at work, and succeeded in keeping those roads clear; but 'twas love's labor lost, for since Monday morning at an early hour, no horse car has passed Scollay's Building, a point where an average of about 1400 cars usually pass each day,—the cleaning of sidewalks and leveling of snow to make the streets passable for other vehicles, rendering them sealed to the passage of horse cars.

The warm sun of two days past has rapidly settled the snow, while an army of men, horses and carts have been busily engaged transferring the drifts from our crowded thoroughfares to the Common. On the Common, the scene was a busy one. The "boys in blue," and some few who had worn the gray, were at once carried back to the days when brother fought brother, when kindred fought kin. Hundreds of carts would be massed while unloading the snow, for the warm atmosphere gave it an adhesive quality which made it as necessary to shovel it out of as to shovel it into those vehicles.

The moon of Tuesday evening was as delusive to the world in general as it generally is to lovers in particular. Bright and fair it threw its rays far adown squalid alleys—tinging with silver lives that had been moulded in clay. Yet Wednesday morning brought a leaden sky, and the evening a more cruel storm than that of Sunday. I was forced by business to cross the Common in the early evening. The wind at times was frightful in its violence, but at all times grand. Through the grand old trees it roared with a thunder far exceeding that of the sea 'gainst shore—'twas as though the railway trains of heaven were passing on the trestle-work of the trees overhead. [That's an entirely new simile, and I flatter myself it's "very neat."] Umbrellas were at a discount, for they went down. The storm was much colder than on Sunday, and it was difficult to tell whether it snowed, hailed or rained.

Coming from Portland to this city by the popular "sea shore" line, we notice on turn-outs at most of the stations cars marked E. R. R. It wont do to omit the periods in reading this, for it is seldom that the management of the Eastern Railroad do err in their attempts to accommodate their patrons. The fine new cars, Nos. 80 and 81, just put upon the road, are as rich and convenient specimens of passenger carriages as will be met with on any road in the country, but the imprint of the company's manufacture upon the door-is a bungling piece of work, and I would suggest that it be entirely obliterated or else replaced by a simpler and more regular style of lettering. At present it looks as though they were manufactured at the car moths of the company as much as car works, while punctuation and the relative position of the letters one to another is entirely disregarded. This may seem a small matter, but all else about the cars is so chaste, so bright, so elegant, that this one blot staring me in the face for fifty miles came to be oppressive. It is said that eight more of these elegant cars will be added to the rolling stock of the road before the summer travel opens, and that new depots are to be erected shortly at Lynn, Marblehead, Gloucester and Salisbury. Although only the first of these will interest Portsmouth people directly, yet it is a satisfaction to know that in its minor details the Eastern is such a road as all those upon its line may well be proud of.

Many a pulse beat high yesterday when first the safety of the Steamship City of Boston was announced. The loss of the ship Santee and the U. S. S. Oneida had made those well acquainted in your city highly sympathetic with all who had lost friends who went down to the sea in ships. Later in the day came telegrams that it was "a cruel hoax." Cruel! ah, God, that the author of it might suffer as the widowed wives, as the fatherless children, when the blank, dead fact stared them in the face, after the brief ray of sunlight had shone on them through a cruel falsehood.

Police officer J. J. McNamara, who so courageously braved the assault of a party of roughs a few weeks since, alone and unaided, and who was acquitted blameless of the death of one of them, is receiving a proper share of appreciation. At the late Grand Army Fair in Boylston Hall he received a fine revolver by a large popular vote, and on Tuesday evening he was presented with a magnificent and costly watch by the residents on his route. A few such lessons as that administered by officer McNamara might teach the young roughs who infect all our large cities a lesson worth their learning. They prowl in gangs, and seldom molest other than a single person, for fear of testimony, being as ready to swear away a life in court as to take or mar it in pursuit of their career of brutality and insolence. When they are made to know that prompt retribution will follow their outrages upon the peace of the community, and that the man who administers the deserved rebuke will be upheld, then our streets will be safe for peaceable passers, and not till then.

The wearing of the green is the order for to-day. Our streets resound to the strains of martial music, as the sturdy sons of Hibernia celebrate the natal day of their patron saint. A worse condition of the streets for walking was never known in Boston, but the sturdy men who belong to the various Irish organizations fearlessly encounter it—on foot, in carriages and insleighs. M.

THE NEW TROTTING RULES.—We have received from Mr. George H. Smith, the Secretary of the National Association for the promotion of the trotting turf, a copy of the pamphlet containing the proceedings of the Convention, the rules, regulations and by-laws, and the betting rules. In glancing over the trotting rules, the first material alteration we find is in regard to time on short tracks. By the old common law of the turf, which was mainly the result of common sense and past experience, time on a short track was deemed no time at all, for the reason that it was not the time of a mile. It is now enacted that it shall be held to constitute a good bar.

The next change is in regard to withdrawn horses. It is enacted that no horse shall be drawn after having appeared on the course saddled or harnessed for the race, without permission of the judges. This is a wise provision. It will prevent the dodges by which the public have often been disgusted and the unwary deceived. The rule against fraudulent entries, disguising horses, etc., is positive and stringent, and in enacting that the instrument of the fraudulent parties, the horse, shall be expelled, as well as themselves, the Convention did a good thing. The owners of the Dutchmans, Strideaways, etc., must now take care that they do not let them get into the hands of rascals.

In order to preserve due decorum it is enacted that the use of abusive language to the judges or officers of the course shall be punished with a fine not exceeding $100, by suspension or expulsion. The adoption of the system of fines and suspensions is a good thing. In regard to judges it is enacted that they shall be competent and shall understand the rules. This is very good, but how are these facts to be ascertained? The trouble has been that men were selected for judges who knew nothing at all about it, and this will be so again unless the selecting bodies do their duty manfully. No man is to be a judge who is interested directly or indirectly in any horse in the race.

The rule as to the power of judges is very long and seems to us to be somewhat cumbrous. We hope it will work well. The clause which expressly forbids the judges to abate the penalty when they have found that the act incurring it has been done, was very much needed. No more loud shouting! The stentorian brigade must prepare to roar as gently as suck-doves. Twenty-five dollars fine for loud shouting or unnecessary noise.

In regard to horses breaking, a large discretion is vested in the judges, and this is wise. They may distance a running horse when the case is flagrant, and they may fine the rider or driver $100 for not pulling the horse to his trot or pace. Where there is collision or break-down without fault of the party broken down, the heat is to be no heat for the horses not in fault. Outside interference will also render a heat null and void.

In reference to heats there is no change, except that in mile heats, three in five, when eight or more horses start, there shall be no ruling out for not winning a heat in five, nor making a dead heat in five. In our opinion this is a change for the worse. One of the greatest evils connected with the modern system of trotting is the going over of races beyond to-day to be finished to-morrow. This letting horses continue in after they have been defeated five, six, seven or eight heats in succession, seems to us to be calculated to increase and intensify the mischief.

When a heat is taken away from the horse that comes in ahead, there is to be no time. We established this some time ago in the teeth of strong opposition. The Convention has extended the principle by providing that in such cases the judges may waive distance except for foul riding or driving. This is wise and proper. It is enacted that where eight or more horses contend in a race, the length of the distance shall be increased one-half—thus in mile heats, three in five, the distance will be one hundred yards, but when eight or more start, one hundred and fifty yards, coupled with the provision that no horse shall be ruled out for not winning a heat in five when eight or more start; the result of this will certainly be to keep all the horses in the race to the end of it, even when there are nine or ten heats. If this does not turn out to be a bore and a nuisance to the public, we shall be mistaken. In matches against time the horse may have three trials.—Wilkes' Spirit of the Times.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for useliness by this application. Instead of falling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

BEAUTIUL BEER.

Oh, the beer! The beautiful beer!
Filling the head and the heart with cheer,
Down in the cellar in William street,
Down in the mouths of the men you meet,
Flashing, Splashing, Splashing along—
Beautiful beer, it can do no wrong,
Flying to kiss a waiter girl's cheek—
Sticking to lips in a frolicsome freak;
Beautiful beer, from the powers, you know,
Better than whiskey—purer than snow.

O, the beer! The beautiful beer!
How the big glasses are clinking in here,
Whirling about in the jolliest fun—
I'll drink in my glee with every one!
Frothing, Foaming, Hovering nigh,
It approaches the lips and sparkles the eye!
The proprietor's dog, with a bark and a bound,
Snaps at the fellows that stagger around.
The town is alive both far and near,
To welcome the drawing of beautiful beer.

How the wild boys go swaying along,
Hailing each other with humor and song;
How the gay street-cars, like meteors, flash by,
Bright for the moment, then lost to the eye;
Ringing, Rolling, Rumbling they go,
Always on time, to a second, you know:
While the lager is flowing, like rain from the sky,
To be eagerly drank by the crowd rushing by,
As they hurry along, with impatient feet,
To blend with society further down street.

Once I was frothy as beer—but I fell—
Fell like flat lager that hasn't kept well,
Fell to be "broke" in the horrible street,
Fell to be scoffed at and called a dead beat!
Pleading, Swearing, Feeling so dry,
Selling my brains to whoever would buy,
Writing all day for a morsel of bread,
Preferring to live rather than to be dead.
Merciful sakes! Have I come to this here?
And yet I was once like the beautiful beer.

Once I was lively and frothy as beer,
With an eye like an owl and a heart like a steer.
Once I was liked for my prodigal ways,
Flattered and sought for the coins I could raise;
Gold, Greenbacks, Silver, all,
Beer and my lunch have I lost by my fall.
And all my old chums that go staggering by,
Will take a wide swoop, lest I wander too nigh
And ask them to lend me a "stamp" for a year,
To get me a glass of the beautiful beer.

How strange it should seem that this beautiful beer,
Should thus tempt a fellow with nowhere to steer.
How strange it should be when the night comes again,
If the whiskey and beer struck my desperate brain;
Tumbling, Sleeping, Lying alone,
Too stupid for swearing, too drunk for a moan,
To be heard in the streets of the crazy town,
So sea sick on lager that wouldn't stay down;
To be and so lie till the morning appear,
As drunk as a lord on beautiful beer.

BASE BALL GOSSIP.—Tom Pratt, of the Tri-mountains of Boston, is going to remove to Philadelphia.

The Cincinnati Club has eight hundred members.

Six of the "Red Stockings" of Cincinnati, struck with the same bat during 45 games last season, and the bat being broken is now on exhibition in a store in New York city.

The Atlantics of Brooklyn will be prepared to uphold their rights to the championship with the strongest nine they ever placed in the field. The following are the players and their position; Ferguson, (Captain), catcher; Zettlein, pitcher; Stuart, Pike and Smith on the bases; Pearce at short stop; and Chapman, George Hall and McDonald in the out-field. Among the substitutes will be Galvin, Kenny and Munn.

The Chicago Club have completed their nine with the exception of pitcher, and they find it a difficult matter to secure a player for the position.

The Red Stockings of Cincinnati feel assured that 1870 will show a stronger nine, a more fully organized body, and better club than that of the season just terminated.

All the fraternity will rejoice to learn that there is to be a grand base ball tournament every year henceforth, in which the contested questions of the right ownership of the whip-pennant will be satisfactorily settled. The idea is to have a week's play in which the four leading clubs of the country would meet each other, thereby playing six games, the winner of the greatest number to be declared the champions of the season.

H. T. HELMBOLD'S
CONCENTRATED
FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,
THE GREAT DIURETIC.

The proprietor trusts that his Remedies, from the fact of their being advertised, may not be classed as Patent Medicines.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU is a pharmaceutical preparation. The proper name is given, and it is the most active which can be made. It is endorsed as a cure by all medical works for such diseases as recommended by the proprietor. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and is taken by adults and children. It is tonic, diuretic, blood-purifying, and invigorating. Enfeebled and debilitated constitutions of both sexes will find it far more strengthening than any of the preparations of bark or iron.

See medical properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:—

BUCHU.—Its odor is strong, diffusive, and somewhat aromatic; its taste is bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the urinary organs, such as gravel, chronic catarrh of the bladder, morbid irritation of the prostate gland, and retention or the incontinence of urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in dyspepsia, chronic rheumatism, cutaneous affections, and dropsy.

Cure of Gravel of Five Years Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

SAVANNAH, TENN., May 14, 1869.
Dr. H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,
DEAR SIR: We introduced your "Fluid Extract Buchu" in this county about eight months ago, and are happy to state that it is meeting with universal favor. We wish to inform you of one instance (among many) where your "Buchu" has worked wonders. A man in our county, named J. L. Estell, had been suffering about five years with gravel.
About six weeks ago he bought of us one bottle of your "Buchu," and before he was through with one bottle he passed a gravel that weighs eight grains, which we now have on exhibition in our drug store. He says that he will never be without the "Buchu" in his house again. Your preparations are gaining favor every day.
Very respectfully yours, &c.,

Cure of Bladder and Kidney Affection of long Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

WESTPORT, CONN., Sept. 9, 1869.
H. T. Helmbold, Esq.,
DEAR SIR: I commenced taking your "Extract of Buchu" about two weeks since for an affection of the bladder and kidneys. I have suffered by spells very much for a few days past. But yesterday relief came through the effect of your "Buchu." A stone passed from my bladder about the size of a large pea, and I now feel perfectly well and entirely free from the pain that I have suffered with "so hard." I attribute my cure to your medicine entirely, and would recommend all persons similarly affected to try it. I have great faith in its curative powers.
Yours truly, THOMAS J. BENNETT.

Cure of Kidney and Bladder Affection of a Patient Seventy-eight years of Age. Thanks to Mr. Helmbold.

GIRARD, PA., March 31, 1869.
Editor Cosmopolite: I desire, as an unsolicited tribute to the merits of Helmbold's Buchu, and for the benefit of those similarly afflicted as myself, to say that after consulting many eminent physicians, and trying nearly all the best advertised Remedies, in the vain hope of finding relief from aggravated kidney and bladder diseases, from which I have suffered incessantly for many years, good fortune finally suggested to me Helmbold's Buchu, which I commenced using with little faith, and no apparent beneficial results for about a month.
At the expiration of that time, however, I thought I commenced to experience slight relief, which encouraged me to persevere in its use, and now, at the expiration of four months, although I am an infirm old man, nearly 78 years of age, and consequently medicines cannot be expected to favorably affect me as they otherwise would, I have found such unspeakable relief and permanent benefit from Mr. Helmbold's valuable discovery, that I feel I ought to publicly record the fact, as an acknowledgment to him, and a valuable suggestion to the public. Yours respectfully,
D. M. LAREN.

DR. KEYSER
is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical College, and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia. Hear him:
Mr. H. T. Helmbold:
DEAR SIR: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used, or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys, and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts.
I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves—tincture, fluid extracts—and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Twelve years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits; and, without prejudice or partiality, I give yours precedence over all others.
I value your Buchu for its effect on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu or any other proprietary compound of whatever name.
Respectfully yours, &c.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D.,
140 Wood Street, Pittsburgh, Penn.
August 11, 1865.

GREAT SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Jan. 28, 1868.
Mr. H. T. Helmbold,
DEAR SIR: Your communication requesting our terms for advertising was duly received, but from a prejudice I had formed against advertising "cures for secret diseases," it was left unanswered. During an accidental conversation in a drug store the other evening, my mind was changed on the character of your Buchu. It was then highly commended for other diseases by two physicians present. Inclosed please find our rate of advertising. Yours, T. B. H. STENHOUSE,
Ed'r and Prop'r of Telegraph.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.
TESTIMONIALS.

A Permanent Cure of Gravel of twelve Years' Standing. Stone Passed and to be Seen.

BURNSIDE, CONN., Dec. 15, 1869.
Dr. Helmbold.
DEAR SIR: It is with much pleasure that I write you upon facts respecting myself. I do not know hardly how to express myself. I have been for the last ten or twelve years the greatest sufferer man could be and live; but more sometimes than others. The complaint was the "Kidneys" and "Bladder." I have been sometimes from twelve to fourteen hours, and wanted to make water every minute, but could not. Have consulted doctors, both in Massachusetts and this State, and taken pills, I may say by the quart, also liquors; medicines, but found no relief from any, and got worse the last six months. I was so that I could scarcely get about, I could not rest night or day.
It would soon have been "all up" with me if I had not seen your advertisement headed "Kidneys." I read it, and thought I would try it. I purchased a bottle, but, mind you, had not much faith in it. Why should I, when I had been trying so many things that cost me much? Well, I began taking it, before I had taken the first bottle I felt bad; but I finished it and got another. By the time I took half of the second I still got worse (apparently.) When I weided it seemed as if my right kidney was falling from its place, and I felt really bad. I felt so, before I had finished the second, that I had made up my mind it was of no use trying any more—and all this time the "Buchu" was doing its work, but I did not know it, so I gave it up and went to Hartford on Saturday to one of the best doctors in the city. He said it was the neck of the bladder, and I should have to undergo an operation. He gave me medicine, and I went home quite downhearted.
On Sunday I was unable to go to church. I had not taken any of his medicine, but on my return continued using the "Buchu," and in the afternoon I had a desire to make water, but could not. About one hour after this I tried again, with the same result; but the next time I took the vessel it was the same as turning a faucet and stopping it off again. It was so for three times, and the third time there was something came through the passage and struck against the side of the vessel. I examined it, and it is the ugliest stone or gravel you ever saw, covered over with little pieces which collected together. It looks the color of a mud turtle, and is as hard as flint. So you see the "Buchu" is doing its work, although I was feeling so badly. I procured another bottle, thinking there might be some more behind; but since that time it has passed, which in eight weeks ago last Sunday, I have been as well as ever I was in my life. I have the stone securely wrapped, and those who have seen it in this place are surprised.
I cannot tell you all, but this is a true story of my case, and you are welcome to make such use of my name as you think proper. I am pretty well known in Berkshire; also in Connecticut. The advertisement saved me. Why not publish more? If any one wants to see the stone, they can do so. I could write all day, but I think I have said enough this time, so I remain your ever well-wisher, EDWARD HOWARD,

(A Home and School for the Sons of Deceased Soldiers.)
Dr. H. T. Helmbold,
Two bottles only of the package of your valuable Buchu procured at the Institute have been used by the children, and with perfect success. In the case of our little Lieutenant A. J., his pride is no longer mortified, and he is free from the daily morning anathemas of the chamber-maid who has charge of his bedding.
I feel that a knowledge of the result of our use of your Buchu with the children under our charge may save many a Superintendent and Matron of Boarding Schools and Asylums a great amount of annoyance; and many a poor child suffering more from Weakness than from habit, may be spared punishment, that is (not knowing it as a weakness instead of a bad habit) more or less inflicted upon them. Thanking you on behalf of the children, and hoping others may be alike benefitted, I am respectfully yours,
COL. YOUNG, General Sup't and Director.

A Case of Twenty Years Standing.

PHILADELPHIA, PENN., June 25, 1867.
H. T. Helmbold, Druggist.
DEAR SIR: I have been a sufferer for upwards of twenty years with gravel, bladder, and kidney affections, during which time I have used various medicinal preparations, and been under the treatment of the most eminent physicians, experiencing but little relief.
Having seen your preparations extensively advertised, I consulted my family physician in regard to using your Extract Buchu.
I did this because I had used all kinds of advertised Remedies and had found them worthless, and some quite injurious; in fact, I despaired of ever getting well, and determined to use no medicines hereafter unless I knew of the ingredients. It was this that prompted me to use your Remedy. As you perhaps know, the active ingredients of Buchu, cubebs, and juniper berries, it occurred to me and my physician as an excellent combination; and, with his advice, after an examination of the article, and consulting again with the Druggist, I concluded to try it. I commenced to use it about eight months ago, at which time I was confined to my room.
From the first bottle I was astonished and gratified at the beneficial effect, and after using it three weeks was able to walk out. I felt much like writing to you a full statement of my case at the time, but thought my improvement might only be temporary, and wished to be conducted to better, and see if it would effect a perfect cure, knowing that it would be of greater value to you and more satisfactory to me.
I am now able to report that a cure is effected after using the remedy for five months. I have not used any now for three months, and feel as well in all respects as I ever did.
Your Buchu being devoid of any unpleasant taste and odor, a nice tonic and invigorator of the system, I do not mean to be without it whenever occasion may require its use in such affections.

PLANTATION BITTERS.
S. T. — 1860 — X.
This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid, it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits. For sale by all druggists.

MONDAY, MARCH 21, 1870.

Bits.

Gen. Walker, superintendent of the census, is making preparations to commence operations.

A youth, eighteen years old, was hanged in New York State, on Friday, for murder. On the scaffold he confessed, and repented and hoped.

Gulien C. Verplanck, scholar, jurist and author, died in New York city on Friday.

By the collision of two mail steamers in the channel off Guernsey, one, the Normandy, was sunk, and the captain and thirty others drowned.

Harper's Ferry is to be converted into a watering place, and a mammoth hotel is to be built there.

Alexander H. Stephens says that Lincoln's first inaugural address is next to Jefferson's, the finest composition of the kind ever written.

Gold, Saturday, 112 1-2.

Collector Bailey of the 32d Internal Revenue District of New York, has disappeared, leaving word that he shall never return. His accounts are straight as far as known. It is said that he is insane.

Hayti has another revolution.

Bangor had a $50,000 fire on Saturday.

At St. John, N. B., on Friday, at the commencement of the storm, a rumbling noise was heard and immediately afterwards a portion of the bottom of the harbor on the Carleton side sunk bodily, so that where before at low tide there was a beach there are now twenty feet of water. Some wharves were destroyed and lumber carried adrift.

A self-styled clergyman is badly victimizing the innocent people of New Jersey. He travels from one town to another, gets married every few days and enjoys himself generally.

CONGRESS.—In the Senate, Saturday, Mr. Conkling of New York, from the committee on the judiciary, to whom were referred the credentials of General Ames, reported the same back with a resolution that that gentlemen was not eligible to a seat in the Senate of the United States, from Mississippi.

Mr. Rice of Arkansas, is a member of the committee, said he did not concur in the report.

A memorial was presented from the chiefs of bureaus of the Navy Department, asking that hereafter they may receive the pay and allowances of a commodore on sea duty. The petition is favorably endorsed by Secretary Robeson and President Grant.

Mr. Wilson of Massachusetts offered an amendment to the Georgia bill. The discussion on the original bill was continued by Messrs. Pomeroy, Edmunds, Stewart, Schurz, Drake, Thayer, Sherman, Carpenter and Hamlin. Mr. Schurz' speech was a very able one.

☞ There is one delinquent in the Oneida disaster, whom the N. Y. Atlas thinks with Capt. Eyre, culpable but of whom the press says nothing. He is an officer of the American navy, and can be called to account before a court-martial. If the Oneida had been properly equipped at the time of the collision, all on board might have been saved. All but three of her small boats were lost in a typhoon, and Captain Williams asked for but was refused more. Who was the naval officer, with authority in these matters, that allowed a man-of-war, carrying 179 men, to start on the long homeward journey with only three boats? That is the question. He is morally responsible for the death of the brave fellows who looked first to the safety of the sick and helpless, and then sank with their ship, exhibiting a far higher type of heroism than the animal courage of the battle-field. It is the duty of the government to ascertain his name with as little delay as possible, that he may be dismissed from the service with the mark of Cain upon his brow.

SPECIE PAYMENTS. — A general resumption of specie payments, seems much nearer than has generally been supposed. An attempt to force it, would have been folly. To come wisely it must come naturally, and as the result of the laws of trade and finance. The rapid decline in gold for some time past is not to be attributed to any action on the part of our government.—Laconia Democrat.

Yet there has been a great fuss in the papers and elsewhere, because "our government" would not do some foolish thing about the paper currency, which is really the best we ever had of the kind. — And in particular, President Grant has been blamed by some papers, because he wrote that he did not wish for any change. He was satisfied that our Treasury Department was in wise and good hands.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. Isaac Farnum, ("Uncle Ensign,") of West Concord, now in his 92d year, voted on the 8th inst., for the seventieth consecutive year. He rode to town-meeting in an ancient sleigh, which has been in his possession more than sixty years, refusing a vehicle of more modern construction. The old gentleman is comparatively hale and hearty, and bids fair to appear at the polls for several years to come.

In the warrant for the Wolfeborough election was an article to reconsider the vote appropriating five per cent. for the railroad extension to Wolfeborough. The matter was postponed, and it was evident that three quarters of the people of Wolfeborough were in favor of the appropriation.

Gen. James Wilson, who is elected to the legislature from Keene, is the veritable "Long Jim Wilson" of half a century ago. He was placed at the head of the Representative ticket at the Republican caucus by acclamation and amid great enthusiasm, and was elected by an unprecedented majority. Forty-five years ago he was elected to the same office by the voters of Keene, and there are those still whose eyes sparkle as they speak of the eloquence of the youthful orator and of the enthusiasm which his words inspired among members of the old Whig party in the days when party spirit ran high and party lines were closely drawn. His popularity among the people of Old Cheshire has never been abated, although with the younger portion of the community his personal popularity and rhetorical eloquence are in a measure traditionary, owing to his long absence in California. He retains all the intellectual vigor of his youth, and his re-appearance upon the theatre of his former political triumphs is hailed with joy.

Cheshire County may be well termed the Gibraltar of New Hampshire Republicanism. The column remains substantially unbroken.—only 15 Labor Reform and 20 Barrows votes in all Cheshire County, and a net gain upon Gov. Stearns' majority of last year. That will do.—Free Press.

At the S. J. Court, Law Term, in Concord, the following divorces were granted: Rockingham County — Mary A. James v. John S. James; Levina L. Brown v. Elisha Brown.

Eli Borno of Bakersfield is 100 years old and has worked nearly every day this winter, sawing wood. He has eight children, fifty grandchildren, over two hundred great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grand children.

That rara avis, a Temperance Democrat, is returned to the Legislature by several towns this year. Swanzey, Hillsboro' and Stoddard, we believe report members of this sort. We are glad to see this, and wish that a little heaven might leaven the whole lump, and the two parties by mutual understanding unite in the enforcement of the liquor law, without seeking to make political capital either out of its enforcement or non-enforcement. Then would be realized what was fondly hoped for when the law was adopted. It was not then supposed that any party would ever take open ground, as the Democratic party has since done, in the direct opposition to a law of that kind.—Free Press.

The Universalist Society in Dover, of which Rev. Elma Hewitt is pastor, has recently freed itself from debt, which had hung over it for 26 years, amounting when paid, to $1728, a large sum for a small society,—which, however, by this act, and general increased activity and energy, bids fair to be much enlarged.

In Concord, on the evening of the 16th, the City Marshal arrested a man who registered his name at the Phenix as "L. J. Howard, Ohio," but who afterwards gave his name as "Howard J. Lee, of Corinth, Vt.," for stealing a coat from the Presby House, Bradford. He denies his guilt, and has been taken to Bradford to settle the business.

While Charles Keenan, a lumberman, was felling a tree at Wentworth's Location, on the 3d, he was severely injured in the small of the back, being struck by a branch. He was carried on a sled to Stark, twenty miles distant, and is now doing well.

Joseph Fessenden, aged 17 years, committed suicide in Wilton on the 16th inst. We learn from the Nashua Telegraph that he committed the act in the attic of the tannery of A. J. Putnam & Co., where he was employed. He left his father's house a little before six in the morning, went to the tannery, built the fires there as usual, and was found dead by the other workmen about an hour after. He had evidently mounted a barrel, tied one end of a piece of strong twine, doubled, around his neck, fastened the other end to a beam, and then kicked the barrel from under him. No cause for the act can be imagined.

As a rule, we think it will be found true that the Labor Reform party gains no substantial foothold except in towns where one or both the old parties have long been divided into factions. Lancaster and Rochester are perhaps the most notable examples.—Free Press.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

KITTERY, ME., March 19.

The "Merry Boys of Kittery" had the last of a course of Assemblies, all of a strictly moral and temperate character, on Friday evening at Armory Hall, winding up a very successful winter's entertainment with a regular good time. The Hall was finely decorated, and the ladies looked their best,—by the way, I challenge any town in New England to produce more good looking girls in proportion to its population than Kittery,—and at intermission they all went to A. A. Hayes' hall, and partook of an old-fashioned baked-beans' supper, with all the fixings,—but the "fixings" did not include any intoxicating drink. This Merry Boys' Club has done more for Temperance than anything in town this winter, in my opinion, they having voted to forbid the entrance of alcoholic poison and all partakers to their reunions, and shown that as jovial a time can be had by a sober party as by people whose brains are muddled by the fumes of liquor.

Mick McMullin, late of the U. S. S. Plymouth, got too much fusel oil on board, and some of his companions went through him to the tune of $150. Chas. Bartlett, Esq., took the matter up, and recovered enough to send the man to his home in Philadelphia, and leave him a little spare change.

Kittery's war debt is paid, and the town now owes only $323. K. M.

Correspondence of the Chronicle and Gazette.

RYE, March 15.

Messrs Editors:—I send you my solution of the Liquor problem which is exciting so much attention among the mathematicians. If it seems presumption in me to differ from the "correct" solution given by Prof. Quimby, I can only seek consolation in the fact that I have got plenty of good company.

The town goes into the rum business, and invests through its authorized Agent in Cash, $32.18; its equivalent in Liquor, $57.54; making $89.71. The $59.91 I think, is just in for a "blind." The conditions of the problem, do not lead us to infer that the town advanced any more money to its agent, or that he (the agent) paid any money out of his own pocket. Consequently the gain or loss came from the legitimate channels of trade. Now the simple question is, how much does the Town get for its original investment of $89.71? According to the statement given, it received from total amount of sales during the year, $102.97; cash value of Liquor on hand at the end of the year, $31.37; Making $134.34; Deducting the investment $89.71; leaves $44.63, what the town would have cleared if it hadn't been for the agent's salary. But they paid him $25.00 for doing the work, which deducted from $44.63, leaves $19.63 the net profit that the town made by the transaction. G. H. J.

AN IMPORTANT INVENTION.—In view of the great number of boiler explosions in the country of late, much interest attaches to the series of experiments just finished at the Washington Navy Yard, with a double action safety valve, invented by a Mr. Boden of Louisville. The first trial was hydraulic, the second by fire, and both were eminently successful. In making the latter, the boiler, having no water in it, was heated to as high a temperature as was deemed necessary, and then suddenly supplied with water through a two inch aperture. The steam formed and instantly as the outer valve rose the inner valve fell, and the necessary relief was given. This trial at the Navy Yard is the fifth to which the Boden valve has been subjected, the first having been by red heat, the second by black heat, and one having been a deliberate attempt made by a practical steamboat engineer, with the inventor's consent, to blow an old boiler to atoms. The attempt failed.

Solon Robinson, of the New York Tribune, is spending the winter on his farm in Florida. A few nights since, hearing a burglar at work on the front door of his house, he watched it, and when he saw the point of an auger come through the plank he fired. There was no farther demonstration on the part of the burglar, and the next morning a negro was found in the adjacent woods, shot through the bowels.

AN EMINENT DIVINE SAYS, "I have been using the Peruvian Syrup. It gives me new vigor, buoyancy of spirits, elasticity of muscle." J. P. PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

Has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to Americans. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the adventurer and the traveler, on sea and land, and no one should travel on our LAKES or RIVERS without it.

It is a speedy and safe remedy for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, wounds and various other injuries, as well as for dysentery, diarrhœa, and bowel complaints generally, and is admirably suited for every race of men on the face of the globe.

Be sure you call for and get the genuine Pain Killer, as many worthless nostrums are attempted to be sold on the great reputation of this valuable medicine.

Holloway's Pills as a Spring Medicine.—The moist and tepid air of Spring engenders a variety of diseases. Dyspeptics and persons of bilious habit are always unpleasantly affected by it. They feel depressed, debilitated, sluggish and lethargic. A single dose of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS will often work a complete and instantaneous change in their condition—cleansing the stomach, regulating the liver, bracing the nerves, and invigorating the whole animal machinery. If the first dose does not suffice, a second or third will always produce the desired effect. Sold by all Druggists. mh17

Occupational Ailments.

Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where ever with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of sanatous roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopœia has its tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters, nor are these the sum of its medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antiperiodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when to this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among officinal or advertised medicines.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiruly black or brown. CURE FOR CONSUMPTION.

What the Doctors Say:

AMOS WOOLLEY, M. D., of Kosciusko County, Indiana, says: "For three years past I have used ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM extensively, in my practice, and I am satisfied there is no better medicine for lung diseases in use."

ISAAC A. DORAN, M. D., of Logan County, Ohio, says: "ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM not only sells rapidly but gives perfect satisfaction in every case within my knowledge. Having confidence in it and knowing that it possesses valuable medicinal properties, I freely use it in my daily practice and with unbounded success. As an expectorant it is most certainly far ahead of any preparation I have ever yet known."

TO STONE CONTRACTORS.

PROPOSALS for furnishing the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS. Sealed Proposals will be received at the Office of the Superintendent of Streets, City Hall, Boston, Mass., until March 17th, 1870, for supplying the City of Boston with STONE PAVING-BLOCKS during the year 1870. The blocks to be of the following dimensions, viz:—

Width, 3½ to 4½ in. Length, 6 to 8 in. Depth, 7 to 8 inches.

All the edges to be sharp and straight, forming right angles at their intersections both horizontally and vertically. The faces to be straight, split, and free from bunches or depressions.

Proposals to state the price per thousand blocks delivered on such wharf in the city proper, South and East Boston, as may be designated from time to time by the Superintendent of Streets. Also, the number of blocks which the proposer will deliver per month during the year. A sample of the blocks must accompany the proposal.

Proposals to be addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Proposals for furnishing City of Boston with Stone Paving-Blocks."

The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals. GEO. O. CARPENTER,

14tmh2 Chairman Committee on Paving.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.—The Trustees on Thursday last, issued Circulars to the Sons of Portsmouth abroad; and on Saturday received the following letter, with the $500 enclosed:

BOSTON, March 18.

Gentlemen:—Your circular soliciting aid in founding a Free Public Library for the City of Portsmouth has been received. I thank you for giving me the privilege of contributing for the benefit of my old home.

I herewith endorse check for five hundred dollars to be applied to the above worthy object.

Resp'ty Yours, WILLIAM H. HILL.

To { ALBERT R. HATCH, GEO. L. TREADWELL, THOS. H. ODION, MARCELLUS BUFFORD, JOHN SISE, } Trustees.

DRUNKARDS showed themselves conspicuously on the streets on Saturday. A sailor with more than three sheets in the wind, was carried to the lock-up after a fierce struggle with two officers.

A woman was seen going up Islington Street, at noon, scantily dressed and staggering like an old toper.

A pedestrian of wonderful pertinacity marched up Congress Street, in the afternoon, tugging a sled. The sled ran too smoothly for him at times, and he lurched forward repeatedly, kindly allowing other people to pick him out of the slosh, on account of the slosh he had swallowed.

AUTHORS AND PUBLISHERS.—There has always been the same traditional feud between book writers and publishers, as between capitalists and laborers—and in both cases alike, the supposed antagonism is entirely fictitious and almost wholly imaginary; and the writers, at any rate, we regard as far more to blame in the matter than the publishers. Really, the interests of either of the couples are synonymous and identical; and practically, more authors are successful than publishers, and usually both together if either.

It is a little singular, that so far as we know, the only two cases in which authors have publicly quarrelled with and denounced publishers in this country, have been those of Portsmouth men, and strong-minded women the complainants. First, Fanny Fern, in her book of Ruth Hall, several years ago, pictured her original literary patron in rather an unfavorable light, in the character of Mr. Tebbetts, who was always understood to be Wm. M. Moulton, Esq., of the True Flag, a native of this city; and who, as he won for a wife, and has well retained the esteem and love of, a writer far more able and woman far more lovely than Fanny, and never had any such difference with any other author, that we ever heard of, in his long experience, we never believed very guilty of her charges of duplicity and venality.

Now, Miss Gail Hamilton comes out with a book directly charging Messrs. Fields, Osgood & Co., the great Boston publishers, (who have won world-wide renown for their liberal policy toward authors,) with she hardly knows what, and we don't see exactly what crime, ingratitude or injustice. As the Boston Advertiser says, it is difficult to see how a personal business quarrel is any matter for the public eye; but personal gossip or scandal is always sought by the public; and Nabby owns this, and professes to be actuated by a desire to benefit other authors, and cause them to look out sharper for their rights than she did.

It appears from the spiteful little volume, "Battle of the Books," (which our reviewer threw down at the end of the second chapter, with the exclamation that it was stupid, but of which we have read every word,) that relying on the reputed and well known fairness of the house, Miss Hamilton left all business management to her publishers, who at first paid her ten per cent. on the sales of her works; but in the war changed this to 15 cts. per volume, which rate was retained when the price of the book went up from $1.50 to $2 per volume. By and by, she concluded she ought to have her 10 per cent., and after considerable discussion of the matter, she called for referees, which was at once acceded to by Messrs. Field & Co., and the lady was awarded $1250,—more than the publishers deemed fair, but which still did not satisfy her. So away she goes, and writes a book, like some other enemies,—and as scolding, like crying, relieves a woman's feelings, no doubt,—let us hope she is as well as could be expected, after this delivery. But for our part, we don't believe the good name and fame of Fields, Osgood & Co. will suffer much from this tirade, nor does Miss H. win much of a victory in this "Battle of the Books," which is from the Riverside Press of Hurd & Houghton, Cambridge. Mr. Fields has recently returned from an extended trip in Europe, especially among the British authors, for the most distinguished of whom his firm are publishers; and on every hand were shown him the strongest evidences of personal regard and business esteem.

Our opinion, after reading the book dispassionately is, that Abigail will neither win pelf nor honor in this wordy battle—partly because she can get no rejoinder; and that she "owes" a good deal more (of her success) to Hunt, Parry & Co., as she styles her publishers, than they do to her, even taking her own story as all correct. Also, that while professing almost to the last, a supreme contempt for money,—we see no evidence but she likes it as well as other folks. Better, we think, had this Battle of the Books never been fought, or at any rate not been thus held in public review. This book, like Ruth Hall, is chiefly noticeable for the special tone of injured innocence which pervades it. We wonder that such strong-minded women should exhibit so little pluck.

FIRE.—Assistant Marshal Mortimer, who lives next door to Mr. Augustus K. Brown, on Jefferson Street, discovered fire in the attic of Mr. Brown's house, about half-past 7 o'clock, Sunday evening. With the assistance of the ladies of the house, and officers Shannon and Maloon, the fire was put out by the application of about 25 buckets full of water. But the alarm had been given, and the services at the Unitarian and North Churches, which were crowded, were temporarily suspended.

At the fire, Mr. Judd Randall while crossing the burnt floor to open a window, got the contents of a bucket of water on his head, and went through the floor into the chamber below, but was not injured much.

The fire probably caught from a defect in the chimney.

The Fire Department mustered in full force, and one company from the West End came down Islington and Congress Streets on the sidewalk which is most used, and several ladies and children very narrowly escaped being run over. Better try the other side of the street, next time, boys.

Officer Mortimer is as good as a regular fire engine in that neighborhood having put out a fire in the house opposite his residence, several years ago, by the application of a bucket of swill.

New Hampshire Items.

Mr. Stuart Hastings of Chesterfield committed suicide by hanging himself, a few days since, in Leavenworth, Kansas. His age was 69 years.

Milford, at its recent meeting, voted for its free library the sum of five hundred dollars.

Of the towns named, Bradford has usually been democratic, and this year gave Mr. Bedel a plurality; while Milford was and is strongly republican; Claremont is republican; Stoddard, democratic; while Chichester, usually democratic, gives, this year, Bedel 70, Stearns 74, Flint 73, Barrows 5.

In all these five towns, which cast 2100 votes this year, Mr. Barrows had 39 votes,—showing very plainly that while the temperance party, so called, was one thing, and a very small one, temperance itself was quite another, and a much larger thing.

G. W. Wales, of Concord, recently sold for Richmond Smith, a two-year old colt, known as "Oak Hill Boy," for $700, to go to Boston. Mr. Smith has sold another two-year old, to a New York gentlemen, for $500. O. D. Seavey, of the Phenix Hotel, has sold a three year old Hambletonian colt for $1500.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
February 15th, 1870.

The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD LOANS have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.

Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other

The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.

Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.

Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.

The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.

Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.

Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.

The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.

The Bonds are in denominations of

$1000, $500, and $100.

They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or

The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner, with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or

The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond, transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.

The three classes will be known respectively as:

1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."
2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."
3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.

They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.

The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.

The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.

A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.

The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $2,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.

Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.

The present price is 90 and accrued interest.

A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among the favorite securities in the market, both of this Country and Europe, will be at once appreciated and quickly absorbed.

Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.

P.S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.

☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawów

STUCK IN A SNOW-DRIFT.—The 17th of March, 1870, will be memorable for its great, drifting snow-storm, not so much in New Hampshire as in the West and Northwest. Railroads that were chuckling over an easy winter caught it. We were a passenger over the Boston, Concord and Montreal Railroad, from Haverhill toward home, reaching Plymouth on time for one of the luxurious dinners of the Pemigewasset House, as palatable in winter with few guests as when the crowds of summer make the spacious and elegant hotel the centre of Fashion, Wealth and Beauty. North of there the storm had not been troublesome, but from there no train south had been through during the day, though it was then 10 o'clock, P. M. Along the shore of the lake the snow had filled in so as to defy gougers and snow-plows pioneered by shovelers.

We passed Ashland, Meredith Village, the Lady of the Lake frozen in at the Weirs, glibly, and got within one mile of Lake Village, when we struck a drift of too much resistance, and off went gouger and engine, and we were stuck fast. The men went to work with a will, and it was thought that in an hour they would be got again upon the track. In the meantime, the storm came with relentless fury. In one hour the snow drifted in several feet deep in the rear of the cars, and word came that there was a drift ahead several hundred feet long and from six to nine feet deep. Still it was thought we should get off before night. A fresh gang of hands came from the shop in Lake Village, and worked in place of those worn out in trying to do what they had not succeeded in doing. A large gang of shovelers were at work.

Finally, after three hours' delay, a settled conviction came over the minds of the passengers that it was an all-night's job. At first they did not relish it much. Upon taking account of stock it was found there was plenty of wood, about 100 dozen of fresh eggs on the way to market, a tub of butter, and snow at hand for water. Soon the passenger cars and baggage car were turned into cook-rooms. The 4 stoves were covered with tin pails and milk-cans in which were eggs to be cooked. The process was slow. For an hour appetite came faster than the cooked eggs. The second hour the cooks beat the appetites, assisted by the railroad that sent up plenty of crackers and cheese from the village. The passengers enjoyed it like a pic-nic. They made joy out of adversity, and thought they had had a good time when the cars started after nine hours' delay. We reached Concord a little past midnight.—Manchester Mirror.

A FARM-YARD SCENE.—Josh Billings says, "Hogs are generally quadruped." It must not be thought a slander on the human race to say that the following amusing picture of animal selfishness, by a writer in Western Maryland to the American Union, reminds us strongly of the hungry scramble which general-takes place among children for scattered toys or sweetmeats, as well as among older aspirants for power and property. Benevolent man who have money to give away are apt to be set upon and chased very much like the single pig with the ear of corn.

I have been laughing heartily at a trivial circumstance. My host having an extensive farm, has any quantity of live stock travelling about loose, as is the custom here; swine being the principal pedestrians.

About sunset one of his sons goes to the corn-house and shouts a prolonged "Whoo-oo!" at the top of his voice, whereon the hogs from the distant woods and fields come quivering with speed over hills and through fences, squealing with anxiety. Old porkers, like scholars, in prospect of a meal back out of deep excavations for roots, and renew youthful agility. In a few moments the door of the granary is surrounded with a dense mob of grunters and a close semi-circle of equally anxious geese, turkeys, ducks and hens. The scramble for the ears of corn thrown out, and all the protests of anger and envy of the various creatures uniting in a grand squall, makes an animated picture of selfishness quite novel to a stranger. The colored man, to-day, happened to go into the corn-house, about the usual hour for distribution, was mistaken by the watchful creatures for the almoner, and a grand rush followed. The man having filled his sack, left without noticing his clients. Having a curiosity to examine the corn-house, I entered it, not observing how popular I was growing every moment.

The din outside reached such a height (for by this time all the denizens of the farm-yard had assembled) that I looked out, and saw quite a sea of snouts all pointing towards me and squealing their loudest, while the hens and turkeys expostulated with and fought each other for preferment. I threw out one ear of corn, and in an instant the lucky, or rather unlucky hog who seized it, was the head of a swift-moving procession of his kindred, and even geese, ducks and hens, all shrieking in their special dialect and pursuing him like the witches in Tam O'Shanter. Round the corn-house and then under it and down the road, they went, the column deploying like the tail of a peacock, all trying to get to the head-centre, where the unhappy corn-bearer, with his snout poised high, to keep the coveted morsel out of general reach, was rending the air with his half-obstructed squeals of protest. I went down to the canal on some business, and as I returned, the hog passed me at full speed, still followed by some of his perspiring attendants, and the ear of corn sticking out of his mouth like a gigantic cigar.

☞ George Wakeman, of the N. Y. World, is dead, at the age of 29.

NEEDED IMPROVEMENTS.—The subject of city improvements is always a sore topic to a certain class of property holders. There is always some reason why the needed and admitted improvements should not be made this year. The building of sewers, sidewalks, bridges and school houses always find objectors, who cannot see the need of so much hurry and rush, and with huge bugbears of heavy taxes and a large city debt, they fight the more timid of our City Government, and the needed improvements are passed over to the next year.

This is not true economy or good policy. A bridge over Smith's Hollow, connecting Franklin Square with the turnpike, would have given us $20,000 more of taxable property this spring, and laid the foundation for as much more next year. We can never grow without we furnish facilities for growing. The bridge over the Cocheco, near the High School, had better been built last year than this. Waldron St., would have shown a marked improvement in it's real estate value for taxable purposes this spring had this been done.

There will probably be found this year in the City Council those who cannot see the necessity of these bridges or how they will benefit Dover, and will advise their being laid over to next year. A subscription to pay their fare to Nashua, Manchester or Concord, would be a good investment for those of our citizens who are really interested in the growth of the City.—Dover Local Record.

BLEEDING FROM THE NOSE.—Two years ago, while going down Broadway, in New York, blood commenced running from my nose quite freely. I stepped aside and applied my handkerchief, intending to repair to the nearest hotel, when a gentleman accosted me, saying: "Just put a piece of paper in your mouth, chew it rapidly, and it will stop your nose bleeding." Thanking him rather doubtfully, I did as he suggested, and the flow of blood ceased almost immediately. I have seen the remedy tried since quite frequently, and always with success.—Doubtless any substance would answer the same purpose as paper, the stoppage of the flow of blood being caused doubtless by the rapid motion of the jaws, and the counter action of the muscles and arteries connecting the jaws and nose.

Physicians say that placing a small roll of paper or muslin above the front teeth, under the upper lip, and pressing hard on the same, will arrest bleeding from the nose—checking the passage of blood through the arteries leading to the nose.—Exs.

CAN ANY TELL?—Can any one tell how men that cannot absolutely pay small bills, can always find plenty of money to buy liquor and treat when among friends?

Can any one tell, how many young men who dodge their washerwoman, and who are always behind with their landlord, can play billiards night and day, and are always ready for a game of poker or seven up?

Can any one tell me how it is with some men who owe their butchers, for their rent, owe for tailoring, for shoes, etc., can yet have everything that's nice, eat oysters at night, wear fine clothes, and have all the delicacies of the season? Can any one tell how many men live and support their families who have no income and don't work, while others who are industrious and always employed, almost starve?

Can any one tell how a man who is too poor to pay four or five cents a week for a newspaper, can spend four or five times as much for cigars and tobacco, to say nothing of drink?

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY ALMSHOUSE. There are at this institution 139 inmates. Twelve have deceased since its opening. The inmates are kindly and comfortably provided for with food and raiment. Every one who can read is provided with a Bible or Testament. The children have attended the district school in the vicinity. The County Commissioners together with Superintendent of the Almshouse, Mr. Philbrick and his family, are doing all in their power for the best good of the inmates, who are privileged to hold a prayer meeting among themselves. Christian friends also, have established a public religious meeting on the second Lord's day of each month, with the consent and approbation of the Commissioners and the Superintendent of the Almshouse.—News Letter.

WHAT MEN OF SCIENCE SAY ABOUT TOBACCO.—What is Tobacco? "It is," says the Encylopedia Americana, "a nauseous and poisonous weed, of an acrid taste and disagreeable odor; in short, whose only properties are deleterious." Dr. Bigelow, in his American Medical Botany, says, "In its external and sensible properties there is no plant which has less to recommend it than the common tobacco. A small quantity taken into the stomach excites violent vomiting, attended with other alarming symptoms."

Tobacco is, in fact, a violent, absolute poison. A very moderate quantity introduced into the system—even applying the moistened leaves over the stomach,—has been known very suddenly to extinguish life.

—How many times in the course of a life time does the reader ask the following question or make the following reply. "Has anybody been here for me?" "Not a soul." What answer could be more irrelevant? and yet every one accepts it as being entirely correct and satisfactory.

WHO SAYS FARMING IS NOT PROFITABLE.—Dr. Dalrymple, the great farmer of Minnesota, is said to have made $150,000 clear gain in three years of farming. Mr. D. knows how to farm, has the right land and the right tools, and hence his great success.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is soon restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remains can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of forcing the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

The Chronicle.

REV. DR. BELLOWS insists that Mr. Beecher is a Unitarian, and the latter returns the compliment by affirming that Dr. Bellows is Orthodox. At the recent meeting of the Hudson River Unitarian Conference, Dr. Bellows said:

"Beecher may say what he will—the general tone of his preaching does not differ materially from what we wish to promulgate. I want no better Unitarian than he is. The Orthodox preaching of to-day is so great an improvement on what it used to be, that much labor is taken out of our hands."

To which Mr. Beecher's organ, the Christian Union, replies that, in thus speaking,

"Dr. Bellows comes over to the Orthodox ground, and he must allow us to rejoice over this new testimony to the power of truth upon the human soul. But he ought to shake off bad company.

It is somewhat questionable which of the two B's comes over the most. But it is a very plain fact, that sectarian barriers are less and less regarded, by thinking men of all opinions. Those who regard them most, have never thought very deeply, and have formed no opinion, but have received or assented to one which somebody else has formed and promulgated.

POLITICAL SCRAPS from the Laconia Democrat.—No. 6.—In this Senatorial District, but for the Labor Reform vote, John C. Moulton, Esq., the Democratic nominee, would have been elected by 600 majority. Mr. Blair, the republican candidate, and who will be elected by the Legislature, will owe his success, to his political opponents, the Temperance men and Labor Reformers.

A reward ought to be offered to any one who will discover that "balance of power" that the third party was to hold in the Legislature. It did loom up big to certain eyes. How is it now? Are its results as magnificient as was anticipated.

Prior to the election we heard some wonderful stories about the wonderful things that would happen in Strafford county on election day, how the republican party would be left like the little end of nothing whittled down smaller. That was the prediction. Those who foretold that result will never be commissioned as prophets, for now, for the first time, that county has an entire republican delegation in the Legislature.

A VERY PRUDENT WOMAN.—A California widower of mature years proposed to a young and blooming widow, and was accepted. Before the day appointed for the ceremony, however, the lady dashed the cup of joy from the lips of the lover by informing him that she had "taken a notion to change her mind. She had, in her travels for several days past, heard remarks concerning him which created some suspicions in her mind, and she did not like to be almost starved to death or kept without a dime, as she heard his first wife had been." After the ardent lover asseverated and entreated a long time in vain, she agreed to marry him if he would give her a security against ill-treatment. Resort was had to counsel, and a document was drawn up and signed by the bridegroom securing $5,000 to the lady in case of ill-treatment or desertion. They were then united by the matrimonial bond without further delay.

☞ Rev. Mr. Murray, of Park Street Church, Boston, has preached ten or twelve Sermons, in Music Hall, on Sunday evenings, during the winter season. The Universalist newspaper copies the Boston Journal report of the 10th sermon, with strong approval. The whole twelve are to be issued immediately, in one volume, published by Fields, Osgood & Co. It will doubtless be a useful and saleable book.

☞ An old man named Rose was found dead in his residence in Lynn, Thursday night, by police officers, and is thought to have died from the effects of liquor. His wife, who is 20 years his junior, was in the room with him, and why she had not said anything about his death does not appear. A coroner's jury is to investigate the case. He was worth some money, which it is understood was willed to his wife.

☞ A Concord physician informs the Statesman that the winter now past, and the spring thus far, are remarkable for the prevalence of lung fevers and death from congestion of the lungs. It behooves people to be careful, and not expose themselves to chills. Keep on thick clothing until it becomes uncomfortable.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON,
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made thirty-rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

New Publications Received.

The March Monthly Part of Oliver Optic's Magazine is full of interesting and instructive reading, and the full page illustrations are excellent and add greatly to its attractiveness.

The Lady's Friend for April, has for a frontispiece, a fine engraving, "On Guard," and a rich table of literary contents.—Deacon & Peterson publishers, Philadelphia.—Mr. Batchelder has it.

The Bright Side.—The March number of this popular children's paper, just received, presents an unusual variety of contents. There are over twenty different articles, all original, and some of quite superior merit. Its success has been very remarkable, 25,000 circulation being already secured; the publishers say they intend to make it 100,000 by the time it is one year old, which will be next July. They offer to send the four numbers for March, April, May and June, free to all who subscribe before July first. Terms, 50 cents a year. Specimen copy free. John B. Alden & Co., publishers, Chicago, Ill.

The Merchants and Bankers' Almanac for 1870, is a splendid octavo volume, published in New York at the office of the Bankers' Magazine; and sold by A. Williams & Co., Boston, and Foster Shores & Co. Portsmouth. Price $2. It abounds in important lists of Banks, Bankers and Cashiers, lists of prices of Gold and Merchandise, and other matter for the banker and the merchant. "Rightfully considered, no principle is more conservative than that which identifies the laborer with the capitalist."

Blackwood's Magazine for March has an article on The Antagonism of Race and Colour; or White, Red, Black, and Yellow in America. It is written, of course, from a British standpoint, and suggests that the Chinese will make excellent servants, which we hope may prove true; but it seems to be very generally forgotten, on both sides of the water, that he who waits upon his own wants, is the best served.

The Atlantic Monthly and Our Young Folks, for April, are good numbers. Firm Fields, Osgood & Co., the publishers.

—The upper ten of London regard it as bad etiquette to ride to church on Sunday, whenever it is possible to walk.

TEMPERANCE IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.—If any friend or foe, in the State or out of it, should imagine that all interest in the subject of temperance has died out here, he would (says Uncle Toby) greatly deceive himself. The constant ravages of intemperance,—and the ruin of thousands of our young men who fancy themselves quite safe from drunkenness while their sober friends see them almost ready to drop into the drunkard's grave,—force all thinking minds and benevolent hearts, to consider the subject, and ask, with great concern, what shall we do? what can be done? The answer is not always easy, nor always uniform; and the real temperance men are not always united in their views.

A portion of them, last year, thought that the appointment of a State Constable was the disideratum;—but when this question was submitted to the popular vote, only about 6000 men voted for it, and 12,000 against it. Some of the 12,000, we think many of them, were total abstinents, and prohibitionists, who did not think it expedient or needful to have a State Constable.

A portion of the 6000 voters were indignant at defeat, as they said by republican votes; and got up the Barrows Temperance Ticket; but instead of the 6000 Constable votes, Mr. Barrows got only about 1200, that is, less than 3 per cent. of the whole vote. If this were the extent of temperance feeling, sad indeed would it be. But it is not so. Most men, sober and same, saw no good end to be answered by it, and voted accordingly.

Now, since election, we see recorded some facts of another character. We take several of them from the Concord Patriot.

"Since election day a petition has been circulated in the thickly-settled portion of Bradford asking the Selectmen to prohibit the sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage in the town. Though the movement is a new one, full half the voters have already signed it, and every one will be urgen to do so. The movement has no squinting toward politics, but it is said to embrace men of all parties and classes who think that damage has been done by the traffic, which it largely lies within their power to prevent in the future.

At the town meeting of Milford a petition signed by six hundred and fifteen ladies was presented by the Ladies' Temperance Committee, saying they had done what they could by moral suasion to persuade rumsellers to cease their traffic, but their efforts have proved unavailing, and they would place the business in the hands of the legal voters. David Heald, a thorough temperance man, was appointed an agent to prosecute all unlawful liquor sellers.

Claremont, Stoddard, Chichester and other towns ordered their Selectmen to prosecute violations of the liquor law. Such action is more conducive to the cause of temperance than all the temperance societies and State constables that time ever got together."

There are some noteworthy features in the above extracts. One of the most prominent is the fact that the Patriot, editorially, endorses the prohibitory law, and pronounces it more useful than all the Temperance Societies! tho' the usual course has been, to praise moral suasion and denounce the legal as useless or worse: and though the Prohibitory Law was one of the fruits or consequences of the Washingtonian and other Temperance Societies.

By the way, we should call the 615 ladies in Milford, rather a strong Temperance Society; and half the legal voters in Bradford, of all parties, are not a very weak Temperance Society there: but we are not strenuous about a name, and if the name of Temperance Society does not please anybody, he need not use it, if he will be temperate and promote temperance.

The mixture of parties, and the absence of party lines, in these movements, is another feature, and a pleasant one.

Of the towns named, Bradford has usually been democratic, and this year gave Mr. Bedel a plurality; while Milford was and is strongly republican; Claremont is republican; Stoddard, democratic; while Chichester, usually democratic, gives, this year, Bedel 70, Stearns 74, Flint 73, Barrows 5.

In all these five towns, which cast 2100 votes this year, Mr. Barrows had 39 votes,—showing very plainly that while the temperance party, so called, was one thing, and a very small one, temperance itself was quite another, and a much larger thing.

—In the discussions at the late Farmer's Convention, at Lewiston, Maine, much was said in relation to the new manner of curing grass by wilting it only, and then storing away as compactly as possible in large quantities. Several gentlemen of the highest respectability stated this to be their practice, and that grass so cured was worth more than when made by two or three days' drying; one of whom, Capt. Taylor, of Winthrop, said it was worth twenty-five per cent. more than grass exposed to the sun a part of two days.

—The Ashtabula (Ohio) Sentinel says the great danger of the country just now is not the Chinese immigrants, but American laziness. No native American wants to do any hard work any longer; he imposes it on machinery or foreigners. He won't serve an apprenticeship to any manual art, or dig, delve, or mine, wash, cook, or plough, milk cows or bear childrcn, if he can possibly get any one else to do it for him.

BRIGHTON CATTLE MARKET.

FOR THE WEEK ENDING THURSDAY, MARCH 17.

[Reported for the Boston Journal.]

At market for the current week—Cattle 4680; Sheep and Lambs 7679; Swine 500; number of Western Cattle 1057; Eastern Cattle 97; Northern Cattle and Working Oxen 471. Cattle left over 55.

Prices Beef Cattle—Extra $12 75 @ $13 25; first quality $12 00 @ $12 50; second quality $11 25 @ $11 75; third quality $10 00 @ $11 00; poorest grade of coarse Oxen, Bulls, &c., $7 50 @ $9 50 ℔ cwt, (the total weight of hides, tallow and dressed beef.)

Brighton Hides 8 @ 8½ ¢ ℔; Country Hides 7¼ @ 8¢ ℔ lb.

Brighton Tallow 6¼ @ 7¼c per lb: Country Tallow 6 @ 7c ℔ lb.

Lamb Skins $1 @ $1 50 each; Sheep Skins $1 @ $1 50 each; Calf Skins 16 @ 18c ℔ lb.

The supply of Cattle from the West was not quite so large as that of last week. The quality upon an average, was better. Prices for Beeves have fallen off from ¼ @ ½c ℔ lb. There were a few very nice Cattle from the Western part of the State sold at 13 @ 13½c ℔ lb. There were but few of the Western Cattle sold as high as 13c ℔ lb. From Maine the supply was light, and most of the Cattle suitable for work. About 300 Canada Cattle were brought into market, mostly of a common grade.

Store Cattle—Most of the small Cattle that are in a fair condition are bought up to slaughter. There are but few Stores in market except Working Oxen and Milch Cows.

Working Oxen—There is a fair supply in market. We quote sales at $205, $210, $185, $160, $155, $220, $175, $200, $250, $255 ℔ pair. The trade for workers was very dull.

Milch Cows—Extra $85 @ $115; ordinary $50 @ $75; Store Cows $35 @ $55 ℔ head. Most of the Cows offered for sale are of a common grade. Prices depend a great deal upon the fancy of the purchaser. There are but very few of the fancy breeds of Cows offered in market for sale.

Sheep and Lambs—There was a good supply of Sheep from the West, most of which were bought at the West by agents and shipped direct to the butchers. We quote extra lots at $4 50 @ $8 ℔ head; ordinary lots $2 50 & 425 ℔ head, or from 4 @ 8½c ℔ lb. Lambs $5 @ $8 ℔ head.

Swine—Wholesale 10 @ 11c ℔ lb; retail 11 @ 14c ℔ lb; select lots 12c. The trade for Store Pigs has been very dull of late, and this week there is but a light demand.

GRAPE BITTERS.—Every one knows the value of the grape, as a lucious and healthy fruit. Speer's "Standard Wine Bitters" is the ultimate of the grape: in its properties, mildly stimulating, diuretic, sudorific and tonic. More than seven-eighths of them is the pure juice of the grape, simply made bitter by the Peruvian Bark, Chamomile Flowers, Snake Root, Calamus, Wild Cherry Bark, &c.

Sold by Druggists.

DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY is "a combination and a form indeed" for healing and curing diseases of the throat, lungs, and chest. It cures a cough by loosening and cleansing the lungs, and allaying irritation; thus removing the cause, in stead of drying up a cough and leaving the cause behind.

A STOVE FOR THE TIMES!!!

THE SAMPLE COOK, FOR WOOD OR COAL.

With or Without Extension Tops.

A first class Stove at a Very Low Price.

A NEW ARTICLE RECENTLY BROUGHT OUT!

The Neatest Stove in the Market.

The fall of Gold calls for lower-priced goods, and to meet this demand the SAMPLE COOK is offered to the public. The rapid sale it has already met proves it to be what is wanted at the present time.

It has a large, quick oven; is economical, convenient, and durable. There is a sifting-grate in the hearth which can be arranged for broiling meats, without allowing the smoke to escape into the room,—a very desirable feature.

A slow-baking stove is not worth house-room. Housekeepers who wish to purchase one that is warranted to bake quick, with little fuel, and keep fire the year round, should buy a SAMPLE COOK. For Sale by SWEETSER & CLARK,

SPECIAL NOTICES.

PAIN KILLER.

Perry Davis & Son, Proprietors, 1840. PROVIDENCE, R. I. 1870.

Time tests the Merits of all Things.

FOR THIRTY YEARS!

PERRY DAVIS' PAIN KILLER

Has been tested in every variety of climate, and by almost every nation known to Americans. It is the almost constant companion and inestimable friend of the missionary and the traveler, on sea and land, and no one should travel on our LAKES or RIVERS without it.

It is a speedy and safe remedy for burns, scalds, cuts, bruises, wounds and various other injuries, as well as for dysentery, diarrhœa, and bowel complaints generally, and is admirably suited for every race of men on the face of the globe.

Be sure you call for and get the genuine Pain Killer, as many worthless nostrums are attempted to be sold on the great reputation of this valuable medicine.

Directions accompany each bottle.

Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

Price 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00 per Bottle.

Holloway's Pills as a Spring Medicine.—The moist and tepid air of Spring engenders a variety of diseases. Dyspeptics and persons of bilious habit are always unpleasantly affected by it. They feel depressed, debilitated, sluggish and lethargic. A single dose of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS will often work a complete and salutary change in their condition—toning the stomach, regulating the liver, bracing the nerves, and invigorating the whole animal machinery. If the first dose does not suffice, a second or third will always produce the desired effect. Sold by all Druggists. mh17

Occupational Ailments.

Fresh, pure air is a vitalizing elixir. Whoever is debarred by circumstances from unrestricted access to this invisible, but powerful stimulant needs a medicinal invigorant of some kind. The great object should be to choose the best. Popularity is a pretty good guarantee of merit in this scrutinizing and intelligent age, and tried by this criterion HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS stands first among the invigorating and regulating medicines of the present day. To the wants of persons engaged in indoor employments, especially in crowded factories where even with the best possible ventilation the atmosphere is always in some degree polluted, this salubrious vegetable tonic is peculiarly adapted.

The nature of the ingredients is no mystery, it consists of an absolutely pure diffusive stimulant, tinctured—or rather surcharged—with the fluid extracts of canaiba roots and barks and herbs. The pharmacopœia has not the tinctures, but what are they? The juice of only a single root or bark or plant is present in each. Not one of them combines the three properties of a tonic, an alterative and an aperient. All these elements are blended in the Bitters, nor are these the sole merits medicinal recommendations. It is also a blood depurent and an antispasmodic.

The baleful effect which air that has been partially exhausted of its oxygen by frequent breathing produces on the vital organization, is notorious, and when lo this devitalized atmosphere is superadded the mephitic vapor of hot air furnaces, it becomes deleterious, and depressing in the extreme. To enable the system to bear up, even for a few hours each day against the debilitating influence of a vitiated atmosphere, a wholesome tonic and alterative is urgently required. This grand desideratum is supplied in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, which as a strength-sustaining, health-protecting agent has no rival either among official or advertised medicines.

Batchelor's Hair Dye.

This splendid Hair Dye is the best in the world; the only true and perfect Dye; harmless, reliable instantaneous; no disappointment; no ridiculous tints; remedies the ill effects of bad dyes; invigorates and leaves the Hair soft and beautiously black or brown. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers, and properly applied at the Wig Factory 6 Bond Street, New York.

ASTONISHING REVELATIONS.

Two scientific publications are in the field against the hair dyes of which lead is the basis, The "New York Medical Gazette" and "The Journal of Chemistry" bitterly denounce them. Yet the hair may be safely dyed. Have you seen PROF. CHILTON'S TESTIMONY.

ALLCOCK'S POROUS PLASTERS.

Sudden severe pains of the side and back, stitches, spasms, etc. These affections are most troublesome to persons past middle age. Will even come on in bed; are very painful and often dangerous. In damp weather they are more frequent than in dry. These plasters give relief at once, and need to be always in the drawer, handy.

PAIN OF THE SIDE CURED.

Allentown, Penn., April 4, 1865.

Messrs. T. Allcock & Co.

Dear Sirs: My daughter used one of your Porous Plasters. She had a very bad pain in her side, and it cured her in one week. Yours truly, JOHN V. N. HUNTER.

A HUMBUG.

How often we hear this expression from persons reading advertisements of Patent Medicines, and in nine cases out of ten they may be right.

It is over 22 years since I introduced DR. TOBIAS' VENETIAN LINIMENT, to the public. I had no money to advertise it, so I left it for sale with a few druggists and storekeepers through a small section of the country, many taking it with great reluctance; but I told them to let any one have it, and if it did not do all I stated on my pamphlet, no one need pay for it. In some stores two or three bottles were taken on trial by persons present. I was, by many, thought crazy, and that would be the last they would see of me.

But I knew my medicine was no humbug. In about two months I began to receive orders for more Liniment, some calling it my value!! Ever since, who has refused to sign a receipt when I left it at their store. Now my sales are millions of bottles yearly, and all for cash.

I warrant it superior to any other medicine for the cure of Croup, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Colic, Vomiting, Spasms, and Sea-sickness, as an internal remedy. It is perfectly innocent to take internally—see oath accompanying each bottle—and externally for Chronic, Rheumatism, Headache, Mumps, Frosted Feet, Bruises, Sprains, Old Sores, Swellings, Sore Throats, &c., &c.

☞ Trafton's sixth Bal Masque comes off this evening at Congress Hall, and will doubtless be fully attended. Tickets may be had at the door.

☞ Twenty-seven carpenters, seven hole-borers and six laborers were discharged from the Construction Department at the Navy Yard on Monday.

☞ Among the Trustees of the Public Library in Concord, are Hon. Amos Hadley, and Haven Pickering, Esq., formerly a school-teacher in this city.

ANOTHER CONTRIBUTION.—Hon. J. H. Bailey has contributed $100 towards the Public Library Fund, which seems in a fair way for success, now that a general movement for the worthy object has been made.

☞ A. C. H. answers the voting problem correctly. If there are six offices to be filled, twelve candidates and 21 voters, eleven of the twelve can be chosen, receiving eleven votes each. The defeated candidate receives 5 votes.

☞ The public are invited to the last lecture of the Mercantile Course, to be delivered by Albert R. Hatch, Esq., this (Tuesday) evening at quarter to 8 o'clock. Subject, "The Limits of Legislation."

FIRE AT KITTERY POINT.—Sunday evening, the 20th inst., between 7 and 8 o'clock, a barn belonging to Mr. John S. Hunt, on Gerrish's Island, was destroyed by fire, with its contents, comprising one horse, eight head of cattle and about seven tons of hay. Mr. H. was in the house, which was only a few rods from the barn, at the time, but did not discover the fire in season to save any of his stock. We understand that the barn and hay were insured for $600 in the Pacific Insurance Co. of San Francisco. No insurance on the stock. The origin of the fire Mr. H. cannot explain. He says that he had not been in the barn during the afternoon; his son having taken care of the cattle and then gone to meeting. M.

EXETER, March 21.

EXETER HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.—Subject, "Grain."—Saturday evening, March 19. Little wheat is raised by members of the Society. Some few raise winter wheat on burnt ground with very good success; but most prefer winter rye for burnt or new ground. Fair crop of rye, 25 bushels to acre.

Jacob P. Cilley raised 75 bushels of White Bedford oats on two acres, weighing 35 lbs. to the bushel; none blighted—all plump and full. This variety grows short, never lodges, and does not sap the ground like some other kinds he has tried. Straw as good to feed to cattle as barley straw—they eat up nearly every blade, and seem to relish it. Thinks the Bedford the best kind of oats he ever raised.

G. Gilman raised Nova Scotia White oats. Yield abundant, weight heavy. Shall sow Surprise oats this Spring.

C. W. Treadwell sowed one pint of Norway oats, which produced two bushels. Thinks the stalks of the Norway are too tall and stout to be of much use for feeding stock. Much prefers shorter and smaller straw.

W. M. Hunnewell raised six rowed barley. Land well dressed,—raised 60 bushels on 1 1-2 acres. It grew very rank and stout, in consequence of which it lodged very badly, and the crop was therefore less than it would have been had it remained standing. It ripened two weeks earlier than his neighbors', and ripened very evenly. Thinks six rowed preferable to two or three rowed. Prefers barley to lay down with to any other grain. C.

N. E. HISTORIC-GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY.—The Quarter Century Celebration of the Incorporation of this Society took place on Friday, March 18th, at Boston. An Address was delivered at Horticultural Hall, by Rev. Edmund F. Slafter, upon the past history and future work of the Society.

☞ The Dover Bee gives promise of being a lively daily. It is to be enlarged, and deserves to be sustained by liberal advertising.

☞ The Boston Transcript well says, the result of the New Hampshire election has not been encouraging to mongrel parties in other States.

OFFICE OF FISK & HATCH,
BANKERS AND DEALERS IN GOVERNMENT SECURITIES,
No. 5 NASSAU STREET, NEW YORK,
February 15th, 1870.
The remarkable success which attended our negotiation of the Loans of the CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY and the WESTERN PACIFIC RAILROAD Loans have maintained in the markets, both in this country and Europe, have shown that the First Mortgage Bonds of wisely located and honorably-managed Railroads are promptly recognized and readily taken as the most suitable, safe, and advantageous form of investment, yielding a more liberal income than can hereafter be derived from Government Bonds, and available to take their place.
Assured that, in the selection and negotiation of superior Railroad Loans, we are meeting a great public want, and rendering a valuable service—both to the holders of Capital and to those great National works of internal improvement whose intrinsic merit and substantial character entitle them to the use of Capital and the confidence of investors—we now offer with special confidence and satisfaction the
FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS
OF THE
Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad Company
The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, connecting the Atlantic coast and the magnificent harbors of the Chesapeake Bay with the Ohio River at a point of reliable navigation, and thus, with the entire Railroad system and water transportation of the great West and Southwest, forms the additional East and West Trunk Line, so imperatively demanded for the accommodation of the immense and rapidly-growing transportation between the Atlantic seaboard and Europe on the one hand, and the great producing regions of the Ohio and Mississippi Valleys on the other
The importance of this Road as a new outlet from the West to the sea magnifies it into one of national consequence, and insures to it an extensive through traffic from the day of its completion; while, in the development of the extensive agricultural and mineral resources of Virginia and West Virginia, it possesses, along its own line, the elements of a large and profitable local business.
Thus the great interests, both general and local, which demand the completion of the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD to the Ohio River, afford the surest guarantee of its success and value, and render it the most important and substantial Railroad enterprise now in progress in this Country.
Its superiority as an East and West route, and the promise of an immense and profitable trade awaiting its completion, have drawn to it the attention and co-operation of prominent Capitalists and Railroad men of this City, of sound judgment and known integrity, whose connection with it, together with that of eminent citizens and business men of Virginia and West Virginia, insures an energetic, honorable and successful management.
The Road is completed and in operation from Richmond to the celebrated White Sulphur Springs of West Virginia, 227 miles, and there remain but 200 miles (now partially constructed) to be completed, to carry it to the proposed terminus on the Ohio river at, or near, the mouth of the Big Sandy river, 150 miles above Cincinnati, and 250 miles below Pittsburg.
Lines are now projected or in progress through Ohio and Kentucky to this point, which will connect the Chesapeake and Ohio with the entire Railroad systems of the West and Southwest, and with the Pacific Railroad.
Its valuable franchises and superior advantages will place the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO RAILROAD COMPANY among the richest and most powerful and trustworthy corporations of the country; and there exists a present value in completed road and work done, equal to the entire amount of the mortgage.
The details of the Loan have been arranged with special reference to the wants of all classes of investors, and combine the various features of convenience, safety, and protection against loss or fraud.
The Bonds are in denominations of
$1000, $500, and $100.
They will be issued as Coupon Bonds, payable to Bearer, and may be held in that form; or
The Bond may be registered in the name of the owner with the coupons remaining payable to bearer attached, the principal being then transferable only on the books of the Company, unless re-assigned to bearer; or
The coupons may be detached and cancelled, the Bond made a permanent Registered Bond; transferable only on the books of the Company, and the interest made payable only the registered owner or his attorney.
The three classes will be known respectively as:
1st. "Coupon Bonds payable to Bearer."
2d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons attached."
3d. "Registered Bonds with Coupons detached," and should be so designated by Correspondents in specifying the class of Bonds desired.
They have thirty years to run from January 15, 1870, with interest at six per cent per annum from November 1, 1869. PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD IN THE CITY OF NEW-YORK.
The interest is payable in MAY and NOVEMBER, that it may take the place of that of the earlier issues of Five-Twenties, and suit the convenience of our friends who already hold Central and Western Pacific Bonds, with interest payable in January and July, and who may desire, in making additional investments, to have their interest receivable at different seasons of the year.
The Loan is secured by a mortgage upon the entire Line of Road from Richmond to the Ohio River, with the equipment and all other property and appurtenances connected therewith.
A SINKING FUND OF $100,000 PER ANNUM IS PROVIDED FOR THE REDEMPTION OF THE BONDS, TO TAKE EFFECT ONE YEAR AFTER THE COMPLETION OF THE ROAD.
The mortgage is for $15,000,000, of which $8,000,000 will be reserved and held in trust for the redemption of outstanding Bonds of the Virginia Central Railroad Company, now merged in the CHESAPEAKE AND OHIO.
Of the remaining $13,000,000, a sufficient amount will be sold to complete the road to the Ohio river, perfect and improve the portion now in operation, and thoroughly equip the whole for a large and effective traffic.
The present price is 90 and accrued interest.
A Loan so amply secured, so carefully guarded and so certain hereafter to command a prominent place among our favorite securities in the market, bids fair to [illegible] with the best [illegible] offered to [illegible] investors.
Very respectfully,
FISK & HATCH,
Bankers.
P.S.—We have issued pamphlets containing full particulars, statistical details, maps, etc., which will be furnished upon application.
☞ We buy and sell Government Bonds, (and receive the accounts of Banks, Bankers, Corporations, and others, subject to check at sight, and allow interest on daily balances. 22dawlm

JOSH BILLINGS' VIEWS OF PITTSBURG.—You may be surprised to hear from me at this place, but there is no radikal cause of alarm.

I am here on a peaceful mission, having been invited by the grand army of mastyrs to read my lektur on some natrol history.

This lektur on natral history is a instructive biography on which I treat the bugs, beasts, bearesses, and little fishes as the we had been lifelong acquaintances. I warrant this lektur for 90 days.

Pittsburgh is located on the land side of the Ohio river, and kontains a population fully equal to its size.

To a stranger, the bizzness done here would seem tew be all smoke, but it is really the most manufaktring place in Amerika.

The principal krop raised here, out of the ground, is kole. The atmosphere is composed of oxigin and coal dust, which gives the face of natur, and man and lovely woman a brunette look.

The best steddy bizzness for a nu beginner to get into here is the clothes washing bizzness, a common paper collar hax tew be washed four times a day, and even then shows signs oph colour.

Pittsburgh is celebrated for the wealth and refinement of its inhabitants and the buty of its wimmin sex. I saw more pretty sex here in 20 minuits than I ever did in the whole of my eventful life. If I was an inconsolable widdower, I should at one move to Pittsburgh and cummence married life agin.

Yesterday I saw mi first stern wheel steambote. I thought for sum time that it was a stationary saw mill, in the middle of the river, but after awhile discovered what a condem phool I was.

If I was going to live my life over agin (which I have not yet decided to do,) I should like to hatch out a nu lektur on natural history, and read it for the first time in Pittsburg.

I hav done a good deal of lekturing for the last few years (more perhaps than haz been healthy for my final salvashun), but i never lektured at an audience in mi life whar the whole conglomerated mass seemed to look upon me as their best friend so much as they did last night.

I really thought I was in kamp meeting and had stuck sum suddenlie.

Sum shouted, and sum cried and sum seized themselves by the hair of the heds, and if i hadn't been a well ballanced man—which i attribute to parting mi hair so much in the middle of mi hed—I should hav bin hove from mi usual center, and bin guilty of sum one-sidedness, which might have passed for affektashun.

There is only one kritter that affectashun is handy and bekuming to, and she iz a kat.

I hav known a kat to klean the kream all oph from the buzzum of a pan ov milk and then limp into the sitting room on all four leggs and lay down in the korner of the fire-place, so melankolly, as tho she hadn't a friend on the face of the earth.

I never knu a kat to do a square thing yet.

I leave here in the morning for Wheeling, to read my lektur surnamed "Milk." From Wheeling I wheel to Boston, the kapital of Massachysetts, and the literary amphitheater of Amerika.

The world certainly wags, for Wendal Phillips, the great negr-man sir, kan deliver a lektur at Charleston, South Caroling, now without losing his life, and other things dear to him, and even Josh Billings, the unearthly spellar, kan explain at tremont temple, in Boston, the ruling pashun of the lawless cockroach, without being fined 10 dollars for dislokating one of the pet ordinances of the city.

Truly the world duz move, not only on its axes, but on its hinges, and doors are being open that were supposed to be locked and the key hove away forever.

I begin tew think that the lion and the lam may sometime hereafter lay down together and rize separately. But i would not advise the lam to be in a hurry to try the experiment, for the lam kin afford to wait.

HINTS ABOUT FLOWERS.—House plants ought to be stimulated gently once or twice a week. Rain water, so refreshing to summer flowers, always contains ammonia, which also abounds in all liquid manures. If you take one ounce of pulverized carbonate of ammonia, dissolved in one gallon of water, it will make spring water even more stimulating to your plants than rain water. If you water your plants once in two weeks with guano water (one table-spoonful to a pail of water) they will grow more thrifty. Chicken manure, dissolved in water, is excellent.

Always keep the soil in your flower-pots loose. A common hair-pin used daily, will stir the earth sufficiently. We keep one always at hand in one of our flower-pots.

Now is the time to look over new seed catalogues, and make your selections for spring use. Verbenas, pansies, Japan pinks, &c., that flower early, should be planted either the last of this month or the very first of next. If you did not provide yourself with good soil before the earth froze, you will have to obtain some from a gardener to plant your seeds.—Oliver Optic's Mag.

—The Episcopalians have a "Clergyman's Mutual Insurance League," numbering 529 members. On the death of any member his brethren each send two dollars to the heirs. The second death lately occurred, and the entire amount was forwarded within a month.

—The next meeting of the Agamenticus Preachers' Association will be held at South Eliot, commencing Monday evening, April 11th.

The case of Mrs. Eliza Sanford of Boston, against the town of Candia, was terminated at Manchester, on Thursday. The case occupied three days, and the jury found a verdict for the town. The action was for injuries alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff in October, 1867, on account of a defect in the highway.

The Congregational Church at Great Falls, have voted to call Rev. Clark Carter, of Farmington, Mass., to supply their pulpit.

An incendiary fire in Lothrop's clothing store, at Great Falls, last Friday morning, did damage to the amount of $1000. Insured for $1500.

A petition is in circulation, in Lancaster and other towns—thus far signed by nearly every person to whom it has been presented, irrespective of party—to abolish the Inspectorship of Customs made vacant by the decease of the late Mr. Blood. This is a move in the right direction; there is no need of this office, more than a light house in Barrington, and it should not be continued.

For the third time since 1861, Lancaster is unrepresented in the State Legislature. As in Rochester, four distinct parties were in the field and no compromise could be made between different organizations to combine on any individuals. The process of adjournment to defeat an election, was first introduced in 1861, by those republicans who bolted from the support of the caucus nominees, and since that time it has been indiscriminately used, frequently to the defeat of its original sponsors.

Isaac Clement of Concord killed a 10 months pig which dressed 410 lbs.

Brakeman Geo. Sawyer, of the C. & P. Railroad, recently married, was presented with a silver salver, pitcher and goblets, one evening last week, by his friends in Concord.

One Eastman, confined in Lancaster jail for horse stealing, being the same person whose exploits in trading wagons was chronicled last fall, escaped Friday night, by sawing off the iron grating of his cell window, but was rearrested at White River Junction. He walked to West Concord after his escape, and hired a man to take him to the train at St. Johnsbury. He is understood to have been leaky on the ride as his companion informed the authorities of his whereabouts. The bars were cut with a saw made from a jacknife, which in four weeks, by the aid of two bricks, he ground down thin enough.

A special train of eight cars on Sunday morning last, conveyed the employees of the B. & M. Railroad to Lawrence to attend the funeral of Mr. N. G. Paul, who died last week, aged about 55 years. Mr. P. had been in the employ of the Maine Railroad Co., with the exception of three or four years, for over thirty years. He was master mechanic of the motive power of the whole road, having the entire charge of nearly fifty locomotives, and of the force of engineers and firemen. He was born at South Newmarket, and moved to Lawrence from Great Falls in 1849.

The Great Falls Journal says, the snow storm of Wednesday and Thursday was severe. The roads are blocked up so that the stages cannot get through. Ross' stage came down Wednesday and started on the return trip Thursday, and got about 4 miles above the village, but was obliged to return on account of the immense drifts, some of them 10 feet deep. The Conway train, Thursday, came through drifts higher than the snow-plow.

A FAMOUS SHIP.—Hiero, king of Syracuse, built a ship, which, in several points, may have surpassed some of our modern floating palaces. The celebrated geometrician Archimedes superintended the construction. It had only twenty banks of oars; but we can gain a better idea of the size of this ship, as compared with those common in that age, from the fact that the timber for it would have been sufficient for sixty triremes—the most common ships of war, with three banks of oars. Various kinds of wood, and other articles for finishing, were brought from Gaul, Spain, and Italy. The floors of several of the rooms were composed of all kinds of stones inlaid; and on this mosaic the whole story of the Iliad was depicted in a marvellous manner. "In the furniture, the ceilings, and the doors, everything," says the historian, "was finished in the same admirable manner."

Then there was a gymnasium, and walks, and a garden with all sorts of plants, and a temple with a floor of agate and other most beautiful stones, and with doors of citron wood and ivory, while the adornment was completed with pictures and statues. The drawing-rooms and bathing-rooms were beautifully variegated with Tauromenian marble. The arrangements for various kinds of freight and for engines of war were ample. They put on board sixty thousand measures of corn, ten thousand jars of Sicilian salt fish, twenty thousand talents' weight of wool,—nearly six hundred tons,—and of other cargo twenty thousand talents' weight also. Besides this, there were provisions for the crew.—Oliver Optic's Mag.

VEGETABLE CATHARTIC PILL
LORRAINE'S VEGETABLE PILL,
—OR—
LA MEDICINE CURATIVE.
Mild, Certain, Safe, Efficient. It is far the best Cathartic remedy yet discovered, and at once relieves and invigorates all the vital functions, without causing injury to any of them. The most complete success has long attended its use in many localities; and it is now offered to the general public with the conviction that it can never fail to accomplish all that is claimed for it. It produces little or no pain; leaves the organs free from irritation, and never over taxes or excites the nervous system. In all diseases of the skin, blood, stomach, bowels, liver, kidney's,—of children, and in many difficulties peculiar to women, it brings prompt relief and certain cure. The best physicians recommend and prescribe it; and no person who once uses this, will voluntarily return to the use of any other cathartic.

AYER'S
HAIR VIGOR,
For Restoring Gray Hair to its Natural Vitality and Color.
A Dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for Preserving the Hair. Faded or gray Hair is even restored to its original color, with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use.
Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and dead. But much can generally be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor, can only benefit but not harm it.
If wanted merely for a HAIR DRESSING, nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

COURAGE.

BY MRS. OELIA THAXTER.

Because I hold it sinful to despond,
And will not let the bitterness of life
Blind me with burning tears, but look beyond
Its tumult and its strife;—
Because I lift my head above the mist,
Where the sun shines and the broad breezes
By every ray and every rain-drop kissed, [blow,
That God's love doth bestow;—
Think you I find no bitterness at all,
No burden to be borne, like Christian's pack?
Think you there are no ready tears to fall,
Because I keep them back?
Why should I hug life's ills with cold reserve,
To curse myself and all who love me? Nay!
A thousand times more good than I deserve,
God gives me every day.
And in each one of these rebellious tears,
Kept bravely back, he makes a rainbow shine,
Grateful I take his slightest gifts; no fears,
Nor any doubts are mine.
Dark skies must clear; and when the clouds are
One golden day redeems the weary year; [past,
Patient I listen, sure that sweet at last
Will sound his voice of cheer.
Then vex me not with chiding. Let me be.
I must be glad and grateful to the end,
I grudge you not your cold and darkness,—me
The powers of light befriend.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

SAN FRANCISCO BAY VIEWED.—From the southern slope of the Potrero Hills, we can take in a wider extent of the Bay scenery than from any other point. Beneath the hill is the Cordage Manufactory, where Manila hemp is made up into whale line, bale rope, etc. The second long bridge commences on rising ground at one side of the ropewalk, and passes over it. Near the water is a large cooperage, and on the other side of the ropewalk is a cove, on the beach of which the Chinese fishermen have their boats hauled up and their huts erected; they are now sitting round mending their nets. These fishermen sell to peddlers, who, with a pole over their shoulders, and a bushel basket on each end, carry the fish to their customers in the city. Other peddlers of this class carry vegetables in one basket and "fishee" in the other, and perambulate the streets, crying out, "me sellee bellee sheep,—you likee buy?" They carry enormous loads, and their bamboos spring with a tilting motion as they step à la dog-trot, swinging round corners and into alley-ways, to the disgust of the Erin-born.

Looking over the big cut, some fifty feet deep, made through a sort of soapstone for a car track, we see the Kentucky St. Methodist Church; and on the receding hill side is quite a village. Near the water is the Powder Magazine, and adjoining is North's Shipyard, where small vessels can be drawn up and overhauled. Over the rising ground to the left are the Rolling Mills. They were started in May, 1866, with a capital of $1,000,000; employ 150 men, and manufacture railroad iron, bolts, shafts, and everything made in such establishments. One of our street railroads runs on rails rolled here, and has one of the best tracks in the city. The mills are extensive, and have a wharf which extends out far enough for vessels to land cargoes of scrap iron, or take on board the manufactured article.

The bridge from the ropewalk connects the Potrero and South San Francisco. At the further end are seen slaughter-houses, and near by them the eight-hour Mechanic Mills. There, on the hill side, is a little cluster of houses called Kitchenville, from the manner in which the houses were built. The humble owners, having but small means, built the Ells (or kitchens) first, and when their savings permitted, finished the main part of their houses.

On the side hill back of Kitchenville, there is a large framed building, with ample grounds; it is the Foundling and Orphan Asylum. The larger portion of this part of the city is owned by Homestead Associations, and the balance is in the hands of speculators. It is about five miles from the City Hall to San Bruno, by the old road, but the cars now bring these suburban portions of the city into convenient distances, by shortening the time of reaching them. At Hunter's Point is an immense Dry Dock, capable of taking in ships of the largest size. The caisson which closes the outer end is made tight with rubber set by tidal pressure to a granite face; the dock is dry, and is a model of its kind. With two 300 horse-power engines, and 8-feet Ruby pumps, the dock can be emptied in an hour and three-quarters, the pumps throwing 40,000 gallons of water per minute. At the wharf outside is moored the Floating Dock. This sinks to the depth of 20 feet, and can take in a 1500 ton ship.

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.
R. H. EDDY,
SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,
Late Agent of the United States Patent Office, Washington, under the Act of 1837,
NO. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.
After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all papers or drawings for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made into American and Foreign works, to determine the validity and utility of Patents or inventions, and legal and other advice rendered on all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.
No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.
During eight months the subscriber, in the course of his large practice, made on twice rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided IN HIS FAVOR by the Commissioner of Patents.
TESTIMONIALS.
"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents."
"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.
"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me THIRTEEN applications, in all but ONE of which patents have been granted, and that one is now pending. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGHART."

In an account of a ball in Hartford, the Times newspaper of that city mentioned a young lady who wore "a double shirt neatly trimmed with narrow satin ribbon."

It is stated that the frauds of Bailey, the absconding Collector, reach half a millions of dollars, including among other items ten thousand dollars of fees to gangers of spirits. It is also stated that his bondsmen have offered twenty thousand dollars for his arrest.

General Dudley, U. S. A., died at Louisville, Saturday.

Associate Justice Strong has been assigned to the Third Judicial District, embracing Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and Delaware. Associate Justice Bradley will be assigned to the Fifth Judicial District, comprising Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. This district has for some time past been attached to the Sixth District, to which Judge Swayne has recently been re-assigned.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWS.—The Senate has confirmed the nomination of N. B. Littig as Chief Engineer in the Navy. Mr. Littig was lost in the Oneida.

The House military committee are inclined to advise the dismissal of all boys at West Point and Annapolis, who were not actual residents of the districts to which they are credited. The committee will censure Commander Upshur for the course he pursued in getting his son appointed to the naval academy by buying off another boy to whom Mr. Hodge of South Carolina had given the nomination, and they may call on the Secretary of the Navy to organize a court-martial to see if he should not be dismissed.

The Secretary of the Navy sent to the House the affidavit of Paymaster Thomas H. Looker, affirming the genuineness of Admiral Farragut's signature in a recent letter giving his views on the line and staff question, which he (Farragut) subsequently denied, and wherein he (Looker) says he wrote the letter himself, saw Farragut sign it, and was willing to swear to the signature at all times and in the most solemn manner. Looker says the Admiral simply has forgotten, and, not remembering the facts, and being sick failed to recognize his signature. This is the plain and honest interpretation of the matter.

The Reconstruction Committee propose to take hold of Utah after getting through with Tennessee, and reconstruct that territory upon a monogamic basis.

The House Committee on Naval Affairs agreed to report in favor of abolishing the Brooklyn Navy Yard, and transferring its stores and material to existing yards.

The Cosmopolitan, Feb. 26, No. 1, of a new paper, which hails from New York, and is a handsome sheet; but has no publisher's name in it; does not say how often it is printed; and mentions no price for itself;—but it has three columns of advertising for an Insurance Company.

The Galaxy for April is published, and is an admirable specimen of the happy combination of fresh vivacity and substantial interest which this magazine has managed to hit. There is a harrowing and exasperating instalment of Mr. Charles Reade's novel; the beginning of another "Editor's Tale," by Mr. Anthony Trollope; the third chapter of the pleasant Havana story; "Pine Plank," by James T. McKay. For more solid matter, there is a rambling paper on "Mr. Raymond and Journalism," by Louis J. Jennings; an essay on the Empress Eugenie, by Justin McCarthy; a translation of "Hamlet" into prose, with a running analysis by Richard Grant White; a criticism of Mr. Fechter; a paper on "The Future of New York; besides the usual editorial department.

☞ The Boston Crockery Ware Importers have made a move in the right direction; they being awake to the exigency of the times, have again reduced their prices to correspond with the present low rate of gold. We would advise all classes of merchants to follow their example.

For the Chronicle and Gazette.

A BENEFACTOR IN DISGUISE.—There is a vessel in the British navy— Her Britannic Majesty's line-of-battle ship Rodney—which is universally spoken of among British man-o'-war's-men by the euphoneous title of "The Hanging Rodney;" which name tradition says she acquired in the following manner:

Many years ago, when the British "articles of war" were much more severe and bloody than at present, and the most trivial offence was visited with "death, or other punishment," the Rodney was stationed in the Mediterranean, under command of a captain who owed his rank to his wealth and prospective nobility, rather than to his services or ability as a sailor. [N. B. This is not intended as a reflection on any of our line officers.] This naval hero took the notion into his head to inflict the death penalty in every case in which the articles of war empowered him so to do, "for the good of the service;" and, as a consequence, he made the times rather lively for his old sailors, of whom he hung about three a day, on an average.

Now this captain was a gentleman of great benevolence and humanity, so he could not bear to have his sailors die hungry; it was therefore a standing order for the boatswain's mates every morning to give the call, "All you who are going to be hung at eight bells, get your breakfasts at seven!" This thoughtful kindness of the captain's gave the morning's hangees time to have a drink of coffee and a smoke, when they were considered as duly prepared for whipping up to the yardarm.

So many of the seamen were expended in the course of a few months, that the British Admiralty ordered the enterprising captain home, and a court-martial was convened to sit on him. [A British naval court-martial is rather a farce, though hardly such a libel on justice, or such an outrage to decency and insult to common sense as an American one.] The facts were easily proved against him; in fact, he admitted them at once. When called upon for his defence, he merely threw upon the table his official copy of the articles of war, remarking, "There is my defence; if your rules are bloodthirsty and inhuman, that is not my fault; I did not make them." He was honorably discharged, as he had in no wise exceeded his powers; but the "articles of war" were revised, and to some extent humanized. So British navy-seamen today speak of the Hanging Rodney's captain with affection, as a benefactor in disguise.—I do not vouch for the entire truth of this story, but it has been told me as I have told it here, scores of times.
